Boston Land Company.—The report of the Boston Land Company for the year ended December 31, 1883, shows sales during the year of 45 lots, comprising 231,652 square feet, at an average price of 10·14c., an increase of 1·89c. over the average price in 1882. The sales of the past six years have been 1,114,404 feet at an average price of 6·45c. Thirty-six buildings have been erected on the property, including business structures and a schoolhouse. Negotiations are pending for the sale of other business lots at Winthrop Junction. Various street and other improvements have been made. The income from interest, sales of grass, rents, &c., has exceeded the current expense by the sum of $2,758, and, with amount of land sales, results in an addition to the cash or available assets of $19,732. The total amount of these assets, exclusive of land, and easily convertible into cash, is $170,323, or about $2 13 per share of the capital stock. A very large portion of the land originally acquired, deducting the area reserved for streets still remains. The company owes no debt, and there is no encumbrance whatever upon the property. The future policy of the company will be to divide such portions of the cash assets as may be consistent with the maintenance of regular dividends and the preservation of the share value of the residue of the landed property. The assets of the company December 31 were $170,323, an increase of $19,732 during the year. The receipts of the year were $23,622, including a balance of $2,293 January 1, 1883, and the disbursements the same, including a balance of $6,673 January 1, 1884.

Marquette Houghton & Ontonagon.—The reports in relation to a forfeiture of the Marquette Houghton & Ontonagon land grant are in relation to a "right" to a land grant, which land grant the Marquette Houghton & Ontonagon Railroad Company can have if it builds to Ontonagon. The Marquette Houghton & Ontonagon earned first by construction some years since its original land grant, which it sold to the Brasseys of England for $2,500,000 in 1881. The railroad has just earned another land grant of 80,000 acres by the construction of its Houghton branch. It has the right to earn a third land grant by building to Ontonagon. This land grant is estimated to be worth $1,500,000, but the construction of the road would cost nearly a million, and its operation, it is figured, would be a continuous loss. Therefore the railroad company has accounted this as of only contingent future value, worth about the amount of effort taken now and then to secure an extension of time for the building of the road. The grant is from the United States, but the State of Michigan is trustee for it, and has extended the time for the building of the road, but another extension may be asked.—Boston Transcript.

Pittsburg Fort Wayne & Chicago.—A special meeting of the stock and bond holders of the Pittsburg Fort Wayne & Chicago Railroad Company will be held at Pittsburg April 3, to vote upon a proposition to create a bonded indebtedness of the company, in accordance with the plan for substituting mortgage bonds for the company's guaranteed stock. If adopted, it will give to the holders of the Fort Wayne guaranteed stock, mortgage bonds bearing the same interest, and having the same long period to run as the existing lease of the road to the Pennsylvania Railroad Company.

Cochran, a gentleman of excellent social standing and business experience, has been appointed manager for Maryland, with headquarters at Baltimore. Mr. William C. Johnston, Jr., formerly with the Equitable Life Assurance Society, has been appointed manager for Eastern Massachusetts, with headquarters at Boston. Mr. L. G. Pitman is manager of the Boston city office. Mr. W. R. Smith, recently with the New York Life, has been appointed special agent for Eastern Pennsylvania, with headquarters at Philadelphia.

—The Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company, of Newark, presents its thirty-ninth annual report in to-day's CHRONICLE. $2,190,984 have been paid in death claims during the year 1883. The report shows a handsome balance January 1, 1884 of nearly thirty-six million dollars, or a net surplus over all liabilities, at the present market value of securities, of $2,863,000. The New York agency is at 137 Broadway.

— The Washington Life Insurance Company has issued its twenty-fourth annual report. It will be found in the advertising columns of the CHRONICLE. The confidence had in this company is shown by the business done during the year just closed. 2,644 new policies were issued, aggregating $6,389,000. The net assets are given as $6,537,879, showing an increase during the year of about half a million dollars.

— Attention is called to the card of Messrs. Caldwell, Washburn & Townsend in the CHRONICLE. This house has recently taken enlarged and comfortable offices at No. 5 Wall Street, this city. Notwithstanding the quiet times in the Street, this firm is reported as doing a pretty active business, with a goodly number of customers.

— Attention is called to the statement of the Commercia Mutual Insurance Company in the columns of the CHRONICLE to-day. This company is among the oldest and best known marine and inland companies, and those desiring policies will do well to notice the figures they present.

NEW YORK, FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 1—5 P. M.

The Money Market and Financial Situation.—There has been a re-action of sentiment in some respects from the depression of the previous week in the markets for all securities. The prices to which a good many stocks and bonds declined about ten days or two weeks ago were the lowest touched for years, and caused apprehensions which have since given place to greater confidence, because there were no resulting failures. The effect has been to revive at least the investment of capital in railroad bonds, which had been checked.

The prices of commodities, on the other hand, show no indications of advancing. But the recent reduction of wages in the various prominent lines of manufacture, like the Fall River print factories, shows that manufacturers and middle men are accommodating themselves, temporarily at least, to the prices prevailing. The decline, however, seems to have spent its effects in causing mercantile failures, which have greatly diminished in the last two weeks. On the whole, the general situation, though unsatisfactory in view of diminishing exports, low prices, and the dulness of interior trade, is a much more re-assuring one than that of two weeks ago.

The advance of 8 cents on the pound sterling in the quotations for demand sterling bills since the beginning of the year, brings the rate up close to the specie-exporting point, and this, in the present light export movement of breadstuffs and provisions, is a rather unfavorable feature in the situation.

There seems to be no decrease in the supply of loanable funds in the market, and nothing to indicate any speedy improvement in the abnormally low rates for money. Call loans on stock collaterals have ruled at 1½ to 2 per cent per annum during the whole week. Time loans on similar collaterals are to be had at 4@4½ per cent for three or six months. Mercantile discounts remain unchanged at 4 and 4½ per cent for the best double-name paper for 60 days and 4 months, and 5 and 5½ for single-name paper for the same time.

The domestic exchanges in almost every quarter are in favor of New York, and the tendency of money is still to concentrate here.

The last weekly statement of the New York banks, like that of each of the three preceding weeks, showed a large increase of deposits and a corresponding increase of legal tenders and specie, the surplus reserve having risen to $19,478,775, against $10,007,575 at the corresponding date last year.

The Bank of England weekly statement shows a loss of £56,000 in specie and a reduction in the reserve to 41 9-16 from 41¾ in the previous week. The rate of discount remains unchanged at 3 per cent. The Bank of France exhibits a gain of 1,862,000 francs in gold and a loss of 1,056,000 francs in silver.

The following table shows the changes from the previous week and a comparison with the two preceding years in the averages of the New York Clearing House banks.

Exchange.—The market for sterling has been firmer during the week, owing to the comparatively light supply of commercial bills against exports of breadstuffs and cotton. The posted rates have advanced ½ cent on the pound sterling to 4 86½ and 4 89. The rates for actual business on Friday, Feb. 1st, were as follows, viz.: Sixty days, 4 85½@4 85¾; demand, 4 88@4 88¼; cables, 4 88½@4 88¾; commercial bills sold at 4 84@4 84½.

Quotations for foreign exchange are as follows, the prices being the posted rates of leading bankers:

State and Railroad Bonds.—The business in railroad bonds in the last week has been of a very fair volume, and of a much better character than in the week preceding. There were less violent fluctuations in prices, and a more general upward tendency. The West Shore 5s were less active; the range of their prices from Saturday morning, the 26th, to last night, was as follows, viz.: 51¾, 51, 55, 52, 53, 52⅞. The Northern Pacific and Texas Pacific issues were among the most active after the West Shores, the former selling at 96⅜@99@97⅞@100@99⅞, and the latter at 41@40½@44@43@43¼ for the land grant incomes and 72⅝@74¾@x71¼@71@72 for the Rio Grande division firsts. The range of other bonds was as follows: Erie second consols at 89½@89¼@92¼; Wabash general mortgage 6s at 60¼@65@63@63½; Atlantic & Pacific incomes at 17½@19½@19; Chesapeake & Ohio currency 6s at 46½@49@48⅝; Canada Southern firsts at 95½@96½; Denver & Rio Grande Western firsts at 66½@69; East Tennessee 5s at 71⅜@71⅛@72¼@72; Kansas & Texas general mortgage 6s at 79¼@79@81@80⅞; New York Chicago & St. Louis firsts at 100⅞@100½@101¾@101⅝; New Orleans & Pacific firsts at 82@83; Oregon Railway & Navigation firsts at 103½@105@104¾; Oregon Short Line 6s at 91½@94 and ex-interest at 90½@90; Oregon & Trans-Continental firsts at 70@73@69½@72@71¼; St. Paul & Manitoba consols at 99@98¾@100@99¾; St. Paul & Omaha consols at 108½@109½; Fort Worth & Denver City 6s at 68@67⅞@69@68¾; Iron Mountain 5s at 69½@71; Rochester & Pittsburg incomes at 55@60.

State issues received more attention during the past week than for a long time, and transactions were well distributed. Sales included Louisiana consols at 76, do. ex-matured coupon at 67, North Carolina 4s at 83@83½, Rhode Island 6s at 118, Georgia 7s gold at 112, South Carolina 6s, Brown consolidated, at 105, Missouri 6s of 1888 at 109, Alabama class A at 81@82, do. class B at 100, Tennessee 6s, old, at 37¾@38, do. compromise at 44@43⅞, do. new at 38, and Arkansas 7s, issued to Little Rock Pine Bluffs & New Orleans Railroad, at 20.

Railroad and Miscellaneous Stocks.—There has been a general advance in the stock market during the last week, caused chiefly by the covering of shorts, who had largely oversold the majority of the leading active stocks during the preceding weeks. The efforts to depress prices had been aided to a large degree by the apprehensions of failures, etc., which prevailed. But with the recovery of confidence prices rapidly advanced, and the shorts were obliged to cover their outstanding contracts. Oregon Navigation and the Northern Pacifics were particularly conspicuous in this respect early in the week, the former scoring an advance of 30 points on comparatively small sales (with a premium of 9 per cent paid for cash stock), and Northern Pacific rising 8 points. On Tuesday Manitoba also jumped up some 9 points on covering; and later on, Union Pacific, Louisville & Nashville and Delaware Lackawanna & Western were made leaders in a very pronounced upward movement. The effect on the general market was to establish a higher range of prices pretty nearly all around. The following are the principal net changes for the week: advanced—Burlington & Quincy, 2⅛; Canada Southern, 2¾; Delaware Lackawanna & Western, 5⅝; Lake Shore, 4⅛; Louisville & Nashville, 4⅝; Missouri Pacific, 3¼; Northwestern, 3⅝; do. preferred, 3¾; Northern Pacific, 2¼; do. preferred, 4¾; Oregon Railway & Navigation, 10; Oregon & Trans-Continental, 6⅞; Pacific Mail, 4⅛; Milwaukee & St. Paul, 3⅛; St. Paul & Omaha, 2; do. preferred, 3; St. Paul & Manitoba, 6; Texas & Pacific, 3; Union Pacific, 4¼; Wabash, 1½; do. preferred, 2¼; and Western Union, 3⅛. Declined—Canadian Pacific, 1⅞.

ANNUAL REPORTS.

New York Ontario & Western Railway.

(For the year ending Sept. 30, 1883.)

The pamphlet report just issued by the company gives the statements and report of operations as made to the Board of Railroad Commissioners for the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, 1883. Mr. Winslow, the President, says in his report dated Jan. 16, 1884:

"The difficulties referred to in the last report in the construction of the railway between Middletown and Weehawken were, after great and unexpected delays, successfully overcome, and the line opened for traffic on the 4th day of June, 1883. The terminal facilities at Weehawken were not, however, in condition to be used for freight business until the middle of September, 1883, and for passenger business until Jan. 1, 1884. The company, therefore, entered into an arrangement with the Pennsylvania Railroad Company for the use of the terminus at Jersey City, and with the New York Susquehanna & Western Railroad Company for a connection with the Pennsylvania Railroad terminus. These connections, while they enabled the company to transact its business in a manner satisfactory to its patrons, added largely to the expenses of operation for the last quarter of the year. The line was opened for business as soon as the track was in a safe condition to operate, but with incomplete station facilities. This, together with the want of its own terminal accommodations, prevented the company from increasing its traffic as it will now be enabled to do with a first-class completed road and terminus.

"The New York West Shore & Buffalo Railway was opened for traffic between New York and Buffalo on the 1st day of January, 1884. The entire New York business of this great trunk line, which is pronounced by expert railroad managers to be the most perfectly and substantially constructed railroad in this country, and which has recently been admitted to the Trunk Line Pool upon a percentage which is a recognition of the important position it is to hold in respect to through traffic, will pass over the portion of the line in which you are interested between Cornwall and Weehawken, and is an assurance of a large and profitable business at an early date.

"The unfunded debt of the company, which is stated in the report to the Railroad Commissioners to be $2,311,893 on the 30th of September, 1883, has been reduced to $1,221,106, in which amount is included all sums due and claims for which the company may in any way be liable under its construction contracts.

"One-half (23,600 shares) of the capital stock of the West Shore & Ontario Terminal Company is owned by this company, and jointly with the New York West Shore & Buffalo Railway Company it is lessee of all the terminal property at Weehawken and in New York.

"The floating debt should be funded at the earliest practicable date, and a mortgage to secure bonds should be placed upon the property with the consent of the stockholders, as required by the terms of the charter; or income bonds be issued sufficient in amount to procure the money needed. Unless some action of this kind is taken, the company in the present artificial depression in railroad properties may be unable to provide for the unfunded debt without great sacrifice of its personal property and injury to its traffic."

Following are the statistics of operations and earnings, and the general balance for three years:

"Estimating the unimproved portion of our property by the acre, at a price corresponding to that for which the best tracts of land have been sold on the north side of Sheepshead Bay, and which are considered of much less value per acre than our own, and comparing it also with the recent sales of lands belonging to the town of Gravesend, at the west end of Coney Island, it must be of great value to the company in the near future."

GENERAL INVESTMENT NEWS.

Baltimore & Ohio Telegraph Co.—The National Telegraph Company has passed into the control of the Baltimore & Ohio Telegraph Company. The latter is owned by the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad. The negotiations leading up to the sale of the National were completed Jan. 29 by the payment of the price in cash by the Baltimore & Ohio, and the formal transfer thereupon took place. How much money was paid is not positively known. Mr. D. H. Bates, President and General Manager of the Baltimore & Ohio Telegraph Company, said that the National is thoroughly equipped, with 4,000 miles of wire and 1,000 miles of poles. It has four wires between New York and Chicago, extending along the lines of the West Shore and the Nickel Plate, by way of Albany, Utica, Syracuse, Rochester, Buffalo and Cleveland. The Baltimore & Ohio secures all the plant, together with the capital stock, amounting to $1,000,000, and the franchises and contracts of the National.

Mr. Robert Garrett, Vice-President of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, was in New York, and in reply to the inquiries of a

New York Herald reporter he said, as to the Baltimore & Ohio Telegraph, that plans were in process of execution that would bring it in competition with the Western Union at all important points.

"Our policy," he said, "is to go after commercial business, and our lines are being extended as rapidly as possible so as to reach all the large towns and cities. Our telegraph system is already extensive, but up to recently it has been confined to the lines of the railroad routes of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad and its connections. What we are now doing will make a complete and perfectly equipped general system of telegraph, covering the entire area of commercial business, North and South as well as East and West."

"What is the present extent of the Baltimore & Ohio telegraph system?" was asked.

"We have already," said Mr. Garrett, "a very complete system reaching all points along the lines of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, extending from New York City to Baltimore, Washington, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Louisville, Chicago, and intermediate points. We have at present eleven wires between New York and Chicago, all new and of the best material. This independent system has been operated by the Baltimore & Ohio Telegraph for over two years, with satisfactory results. We are satisfied that a large net revenue can be derived by extending the system so as to make it a general one, reaching all sections that can furnish commercial business. We shall have lines to Boston and other points in New England; lines to Saratoga, Albany, Rochester, Syracuse and other points in New York State; we shall have lines through the oil regions and will extend our Northwestern system so as to reach Milwaukee, St. Paul, Minneapolis and other points in the Northwest as far west as Bismarck and as far north as Winnipeg. We shall go south along the Mississippi Valley to New Orleans and Galveston." * * *

"The contract for building the Northwestern extension was awarded last Saturday. One large extension of our telegraph system we have already secured by the purchase, just concluded, of the telegraph line along the West Shore and Nickel Plate roads. We bought it outright, and it belongs to the Baltimore & Ohio Telegraph. This line is believed to be the best there is between New York City and Chicago. The whole system is under the superintendence of Mr. David H. Bates, late Vice-President of the Western Union, who is now the General Manager of the Baltimore & Ohio Telegraph. Mr. William G. Jones, late Western Union Manager at Philadelphia, takes charge of our office there. Mr. J. P. Bach leaves the Western Union to superintend the building of new lines for us. Mr. John E. Zeublin, who was the Superintendent of the Pennsylvania and New Jersey district of the Western Union, takes charge of our Western division, with headquarters at Chicago." * * *

"The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad controls the telegraph company and advances it the necessary capital. You know the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad has never practiced stock watering, but, after declaring a ten per cent dividend, credits its investments of earnings to a surplus fund. This surplus fund now amounts to $14,763,479, while the capital stock of the road amounts only to $14,783,700. This enables the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad to build its Philadelphia extension and expand its telegraph system at the same time without floating any stock or straining its credit. I have a great respect for Mr. Gould's opinion," Mr. Garrett went on, "and when we were associated with him in the American Union enterprise he used to argue, when the stock of the Western Union amounted to $41,000,000, that that company was so enormously overcapitalized that an opposition company could earn dividends at rates that would not pay the Western Union. Now that the stock of the Western Union has been swollen to $80,000,000, plus, I believe its cable, Mutual Union and other guarantees, we think Mr. Gould's argument is stronger than ever, and that the Baltimore & Ohio telegraph, built for cash and with no watered stock to carry, will realize satisfactory profits for us, while giving the public the benefit of telegraphic competition."

THE NEW CABLE.

"That competition will not be confined to land business, I am advised that the cable steamer Faraday will shortly start for this side to begin laying the new Atlantic cable the latter part of February, and by the 1st of August next the new cable will be ready for business. This new cable, laid at a cost of $5,500,000, will be in a position to push an active competition with the present cables, represented as they are by a capital stock aggregating $70,000,000."

—It is reported that the amount paid for the National was $800,000, $400,000 each for the West Shore and Nickel Plate lines. Of the amount paid for the West Shore line, a large part was received by Receiver Green, of the North River Construction Company, which owned most of the stock. This payment will relieve the construction company of some of its immediate obligations.

Boston and Providence.—At Boston, January 31, a special meeting of the stockholders of the Boston & Providence Railroad was held to decide as to the acceptance of the proposition made by the city of Providence in reference to terminal facilities and improvements in that city. President Whitney stated that the cost of the improvements to the Boston & Providence would be $545,000; to the New York & New England, $600,000, and to the Providence & Worcester and the Stonington lines each $900,000. It was voted, 7,309 shares to 15, that the directors be empowered to make all contracts and secure such legislation as may be needed for reconstructing the stations and improving the terminal facilities, and to issue bonds or notes for a period of not exceeding twenty years to the amount of $600,000. The President stated that the money would not be needed for a year.

Chicago Milwaukee & St. Paul.—The following is an official report of the earnings and the operating expenses of the Chicago Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway Company for the years 1883 and 1883:

East Tennessee Virginia & Georgia.—This company's statement for December and the six months of its fiscal year from July 1 to December 31 gives the following figures:

| | December. | | Six months | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| | 1883. | 1882. | 1883. | 1882. |
| Earnings | $374,915 | $411,341 | $2,[illegible]85 | $1,[illegible]34 |
| Expenses | 243,519 | 284,336 | 1,236,922 | 1,[illegible]19 |
| Net earnings | $131,395 | $127,005 | $1,072,[illegible]3 | $[illegible]15 |
| Per cent of exp's | 64·9 | 62·8 | 53·6 | 61·1 |

For the six months this shows an increase of $367,521, or 18·9 per cent, in gross earnings, with an increase of $54,063, or 4·3 per cent, in expenses; the result being a gain in net earnings of $316,518, or 41·8 per cent, which was made with a comparatively small increase in mileage.

Fitchburg.—The stockholders of the Fitchburg Railroad Company held their annual meeting in Boston. The old board of directors was re-elected.

It was voted that the directors are hereby authorized to issue coupon or registered bonds or sealed votes at their election, from time to time, in addition to bonds already issued, to an amount not exceeding $500,000, for the purpose of funding the floating debt, and for the payment of money borrowed for any lawful purpose in sums of not less than $1,000 each, payable at such periods as may be desirable, but none of them for less than 12 months or for more than 20 years from the date thereof, and bearing interest not exceeding 4½ per cent per annum, payable semi annually, all in the manner provided by law; that Harris B. Stearns be appointed to approve each of said bonds or notes, and to certify that the same is properly issued and recorded; that the issue of $1,000,000 Vermont & Massachusetts Railroad bonds, dated May 1, 1883, at 5 per cent per annum instead of 6 per cent, as provided in the lease of the Vermont & Massachusetts Railroad to the Fitchburg Railroad Company, is approved by this corporation. The directors afterwards held a meeting, at which the executive officers of last year were re-elected.

Iron Product of the United States in 1883.—The Bulletin of the American Iron and Steel Association has the following: "The total production of pig iron in the United States in 1883 was 5,146,972 net tons, against a total production of 5,178,122 net tons in 1882, showing a decrease in 1883 of only 31,150 net tons." * * * "The production of pig iron in 1883, taken in connection with the statistics of the production of Bessemer steel in the same year, which we publish elsewhere, shows that 1883 was not the bad year for the American iron trade that it is sometimes represented to have been. It was a year of low prices, but not of greatly reduced production. The production of pig iron in the last five years was as follows, in both net and gross tons.

| 1880 | 4,295,414 | 3,835,191 |
| 1881 | 4,641,761 | 4,144,242 |
| 1882 | 5,178,122 | 4,623,323 |
| 1883 | 5,146,972 | 4,595,310 |

"In the following table we give details of the production of pig iron in 1882 and 1883 according to fuel used, and also a comparative statement of the number of furnaces in blast on Jan. 1, 1883, July 1, 1883, and Jan. 1, 1884:

| | In Blast. | | Furnaces Jan. 1 '84. | | | Production. | |
| | Jan. 1, | July 1, | | | | Tons of 2,000 lbs. | |
| Fuel used. | 1883. | 1883. | In. | Out. | Total. | 1882. | 1883. |
| Anthracite | 161 | 125 | 118 | 104 | 222 | 2,642,138 | 1,885,596 |
| Charcoal | 129 | 98 | 81 | 156 | 240 | 697,906 | 571,726 |
| Bituminous | 127 | 111 | 105 | 116 | 221 | 2,138,078 | 2,689,650 |
| Total | 417 | 334 | 307 | 376 | 683 | 5,178,122 | 5,146,972 |

"At the close of 1882 there were in the United States 687 completed blast furnaces, and at the same time there were 27 furnaces in course of erection. During 1883 there were 13 new furnaces completed—10 coke, 2 charcoal, and 1 anthracite, and 17 furnaces were either burned or abandoned—12 charcoal, 4 anthracite and 1 bituminous. At the close of 1883 we had 633 completed furnaces in the country, and the information which we have received shows that at that time there were in course of erection 19 furnaces—12 coke, 3 charcoal and 4 anthracite some of which are included above in the furnaces under construction at the close of 1882.

"Statistics of the stocks of domestic pig iron on hand and unsold in the hands of the manufacturers or their agents on the 1st of January, 1884, have also been fully reported to us. These statistics we give in comparison with corresponding statistics for other recent periods. On the 1st of January, 1883, the stocks of unsold pig iron amounted to 429,694 net tons; on the 1st of July following to 592,020 net tons; on the 1st of November following to 434,236 net tons; and on the 1st of January, 1884, to 533,800 net tons. There was an increase of 162,326 tons from Jan. 1, 1883, to July 1; a decrease of 107,784 tons from July 1 to Nov. 1, and an increase of 49,564 tons from Nov. 1 to Jan. 1, 1884.

"PRODUCTION OF BESSEMER STEEL IN 1883.

"We have received complete statistical reports from the companies owning the fifteen Bessemer steel works which were in operation in the United States in 1883. From these reports we learn that the quantity of Bessemer steel ingots produced in the United States last year was 1,654,627 net tons, against 1,696,450 tons in 1882, showing a decrease of only 41,823 tons. This is a much smaller decrease than has been generally supposed. It was, however, the first decrease that has occurred in the history of the Bessemer steel industry of this country. The production of Bessemer steel ingots in the United States from 1874 to 1883 has been as follows, in net tons:

| | | | |
| 1874 | 191,933 | 1879 | 928,972 |
| 1875 | 373,517 | 1880 | 1,203,173 |
| 1876 | 525,996 | 1881 | 1,[illegible]39,157 |
| 1877 | 560,587 | 1882 | 1,696,450 |
| 1878 | 732,226 | 1883 | 1,654,627 |

"The quantity of Bessemer steel rails produced in 1883 by fourteen of the works above referred to (one of the companies not producing rails) was 1,253,925 net tons, against 1,334,349 net tons similarly produced in 1882, showing a decrease of 80,424 tons. It will be seen that in 1883 a much larger proportion of the ingots produced passed into miscellaneous steel products than in 1882.

"Changing to gross tons the net tons of steel rails produced in our Bessemer steel works in 1882 and 1883, we have 1,191,383 gross tons produced in 1882 and 1,119,576 gross tons produced in 1883.

"The figures given for 1882 do not cover the total production of steel rails in the United States in that year, as there were 103,806 net tons of Bessemer rails rolled in iron rolling mills, chiefly from imported steel blooms, and there were also 22,765 net tons of open-hearth steel rails rolled, making a total production in 1882 of 1,460,920 net tons of steel rails. In 1883 we rolled very few tons of Bessemer steel rails in iron rolling mills, either from imported or domestic blooms, and we probably made fewer open-hearth steel rails in 1883 than in 1882; in the absence as yet of complete statistical returns, we estimate the total production from these two sources at considerably less than 50,000 net tons. Adding, say, 46,075 tons from these sources to the 1,253,925 net tons of Bessemer steel rails ascertained to have been rolled in 1883 by our Bessemer steel works, we have a probable total of 1,300 000 net tons of steel rails rolled in the United States in 1883, or 160,920 tons less than in 1882."

Keokuk & Des Moines.—A financial statement of the Keokuk & Des Moines Railroad, which is a leased line of the Rock Island Company, for the year ending Sept. 30, 1883, shows as follows: Gross earnings, $534,466; rental, 25 per cent, guaranteed by the Rock Island, $133,616; interest, $137,500; deficit paid by the Rock Island Road, $3,833.

Merchants' Telegraph & Cable Company.—The Merchants' Telegraph & Cable Company has filed articles of association in the County Clerk's office. The incorporators of the new line are Thomas L. James, Anderson Fowler, C. D. Bordon, Edward A. Quintard, David Bingham, William A. Cole, Edwin R. Livermore, Henry W. O. Edye, Adolph D. Strauss, John H. Herbert, John F. Plummer, Edward H Tobey and Vernon H. Brown. The immediate purpose of this company is to lay a cable line from New York City to London. The line will be a direct one, though the point of landing it on the English coast has not yet been selected. The organization originated in the Produce Exchange, and is principally intended to supply the needs of the members in the way of direct international communication. The articles provide for the future construction of lines to France and Germany. The capital stock is $13,000 in 130 shares of $100 each. Provision is made for an increase of the capital to an amount not exceeding $20,000,000.

Mexican Central.—The following circular has been issued:

BOSTON, Jan. 24, 1884.

To the Stock and Bond Holders of the Company (Mexican Central):

GENTLEMEN—From the best estimates that could be made when Circular No. 4 was issued, January 25, 1883, I was confident that the amount then raised would be sufficient to complete the main line and to continue the work on the cross lines in a moderate manner. I am now compelled to inform you that our expectations have been disappointed, and that it is necessary to raise $1,0 0,000 to complete the main line. There are two prominent reasons for our discrepancy: First—The cost of the southern end exceeds our estimates. Second—The company has paid for supplies now on hand necessary to operate the road at both ends, such as are usually carried in material account, over $1,000,000 above the needs of construction and not included in the original estimates. After careful consideration, the Board has decided not to raise this amount by the sacrifice of surplus securities; but to borrow $1,000,000 for one year, believing that, when the road is open for business, the value of our securities will be assured. I inclose the form of subscription and you are invited to send us your name for such amount as you may be willing to take. All subscriptions must be made in sums of $2 0 0 or multiples thereof, and be received at this office on or before February 8, 1884. Yours truly,

THOMAS NICKERSON, President.

The Boston Herald says: The agreement is in the usual form: "In consideration of $1, &c., we agree to loan, &c., upon the following terms: (1) This agreement shall be void unless the aggregate of the sums subscribed below is $1,000,000. (2) The several sums shall be paid as follows: Fifty per cent February 11, 1884, and the balance as called by the Treasurer of said company within ten days' notice. (3) The company shall give its notes for these loans, all maturing at the same date, one year from February 11, 1884, with interest at 6 per cent per annum and a commission of 5 per cent on the amount loaned, both payable, one-half August 11, 1884, and the remainder with the principal at the maturity of the loan; provided, however, that the company may at its option anticipate payment of the whole of said loan, with corresponding rebate of said 6 per cent interest, but without reduction of said commission. The company will give the respective lenders collateral security as follows: For each $10,000 loaned, $25,000 (par) of its first mortgage 7 per cent bonds, $15,000 (par) of its stock and $5,000 (par) of its 3 per cent income bonds, and in the same proportion for a greater or less amount. (4) The company hereby gives each lender the option, at any time between July 1 and November 1, 1884, to take its first mortgage 7 per cent bonds at 65 and accrued interest, to the full amount of his loan or any part thereof. It is understood that this subscription will insure the completion of the main line, continuance of work in a moderate way upon the branch lines, and the payment of the July coupons Seven miles of track have been added to the northern division since the last report. All the rails and supplies needed to finish the main line are said to be on the ground.

New York & New England.—This is one of the best located railroads in the country, its lines reaching from Boston, Providence and Norwich on the east through the city of Hartford to Fishkill on the Hudson. It is the only road with connections for through traffic that crosses the Hudson River south of Albany. At Newburg it connects both with the Erie and the West Shore roads. At or near Brewsters station the road meets two lines running into New York City, viz., the New York & Harlem and the New York City & Northern, by either of which a passenger route from New York to Boston could be formed. Its bonded debt is comparatively small. The New York Lake Erie & Western Railroad Company made a definite offer to lease the road and guarantee all its fixed charges, paying over to the New York & New-England Company all the surplus net earnings yearly if there were any. In the face of these circumstances and the fact that all floating obligations are not supposed to exceed $2,000,000, the apparent helplessness of the corporation and the price of its stock at 13 are matters of surprise to outsiders. It would appear that in declining the lease to Erie, by which the bondholders were assured of their interest and the stockholders protected from foreclosure, the managers of this road took upon themselves the responsibility of doing something better.

At Boston, January 31, the management of the New York & New England Railroad Company appeared before the railroad committee and asked for a bill that will allow the issue of $5,000,000 of preferred stock. This is to be paid for wholly in cash or $50 in cash and two shares of common stock. The second mortgage bonds may also be exchanged for preferred stock. Receiver Clarke said that while the fixed charges of the road cannot perhaps be earned at present, he believed that in the course of several years this desirable object could be realized.

New York Ontario & Western.—It is stated that the directors of this railroad company have under discussion a plan to issue a four-million-dollar 5 per cent mortgage bond. The proposed plan necessarily requires the consent of the stockholders, and it provides that the preferred stock may be exchanged into the new bonds or the preferred holders may take its bonds at a price.

—The argument on the motion for a receivership of the Ontario & Western Road has been postponed to the 5th of February.

New York West Shore & Buffalo.—The directors of the West Shore Railroad Company have selected a committee to examine into the accounts between the Construction Company and the West Shore Company, with a view to a settlement, and the following gentlemen are on the committee, viz: Judge James Emott, John G. Stevens, President of the United Railways of New Jersey, and Stuyvesant Fish, Vice-President of the Illinois Central Railway Company.

—West Shore bonds have been strong at times, on a rumor which was at least plausible. It was stated that agents of Mr. Vanderbilt made a proposition for the purchase of the control of West Shore. The proposition is said to be that the bonded debt of West Shore, now $50,000,000, shall be cut down to $25,000,000, on which amount New York Central will either guarantee interest at 5 per cent or issue its own 5 per cent bonds in payment therefor. The remaining $25,000,000 bonds is, under the proposition, to be converted into preferred stock.

Norfolk & Western Railroad Company.—The statement of earnings and expenses for December, and for the year, have been as follows:

| | December. | | Year. | Year. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| | 1883. | 1882. | 1883. | 1882. |
| Gross earnings | $232,752 | $229,758 | $2,812,776 | $2,429,740 |
| Net earnings | $85,987 | $101,182 | $1,303,203 | $1,107,163 |

Oregon & Trans-Continental.—The particulars of the financial negotiation of this company, recently made, show that the syndicate includes the names of Messrs. J. Pierrepont Morgan, Cyrus W. Field, Jay Gould, Russell Sage and Frank Work, of New York; A. J. Drexel and J. Lowber Welch, of Philadelphia, and T. Jefferson Coolidge, of Boston. These gentlemen take 10,000 shares Oregon Navigation at 75, 30,000 shares Northern Pacific preferred at 36 and 30,000 shares of the common at 16. They also lend the company $1,200,000 for six months at 6 per cent, with 20,000 shares of Oregon Navigation at 60, no additional margin to be called for. This gives the Oregon & Trans-Continental Company about $3,500,000, which will pay off all pressing obligations and leave a good cash balance in the treasury. This will probably lead to a revision of the Northern Pacific directory and place in the Board one or more of the parties who represent the new interest.

Philadelphia & Reading.—At Philadelphia, Jan. 28, the special meeting of stockholders of the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad Company to vote upon the question of a dividend was held at the company's general office. After the meeting was called to order ex-President Gowen stated that it had been expected that something would be said or done now with regard to the collateral trust loan; but that the sole object of the meeting was to vote upon the desirability of declaring a dividend after certain obligations had been disposed of. He said that the loan had not been offered to anybody; that it was not wise to attempt to place it in the present disturbed condition of the stock market; that he had no doubt of the ability of the company to get the money. The papers for the loan have not even been drawn, and the matter will not be acted upon by the directors for two or three weeks. It was the object at present to know whether or not the stockholders desire to have a dividend if the loan shall be negotiated.

The following resolution, which had been proposed at the annual meeting, was then voted upon:

That it is the opinion of the shareholders that upon the successful issue of the collateral trust loan referred to in the report of the managers and the realization of the proceeds thereof by the managers, for the purpose of retiring the outstanding income bonds, called 1, and paying the balance of the purchase money due upon 50,000 shares of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey stock, (dividend of 21 per cent, representing the arrears on it, to be made in cash upon the preferred stock of the company, and a dividend of three per cent in cash be made upon the common stock of the company.

The resolution as read was defeated, 193,283 votes being cast in its favor and 195,447 votes against it. Of the majority, however, 28,925 votes were cast in favor of a dividend upon the preferred stock, making the vote on that point 222,207 in favor of and 166,522 against it.

The Philadelphia North American says: "The dividend of 21 per cent, or $325,878, on the preferred stock can, therefore, be declared as soon as the collateral trust loan can be placed and the income mortgage be retired. Mr. Gowen's proxies numbered 1,621, and 1,546 of these were in favor of the dividend. Mr. Gowen said, after adjournment: 'All the large shareholders made up their minds in the last few days that if the company kept its money and applied it to the lifting of the debt, they would get more in the end from the increase in the value of the stock than a dividend would give them now.' The smaller stockholders appear to have generally favored a dividend, as a division of the total vote therefor by the number of Mr. Gowen's proxies in favor—1,546—shows an average holding of 143 shares. The vote against the dividend was largely cast by those who were present in person."

—The gross receipts from the P. & R. railroads, canals, steam colliers and coal barges in December were $1,561,802 and the net receipts $615,262. The gross receipts of the Philadelphia & Reading Coal & Iron Co. in December were $1,110,456 and net loss $106,110. The total receipts of both companies together (not including Central of New Jersey, leased) for December 1883 and 1883, were as follows:

| | Gross Receipts. | | Net Receipts. | |
| | 1883. | 1882. | 1883. | 1882. |
| December | $2,672,258 | $2,865,201 | $599,152 | $843,783 |

The above statement does not include the Central Railroad of New Jersey, leased and operated by the Philadelphia & Reading, and the exhibit for that company is as follows for December:

CENTRAL RAILROAD OF NEW JERSEY.

| 1883. | Gross receipts. | Net receipts. | Rental. | Loss to lessee. |

Pittsburg Southern.—Suits have been begun by the trustees under the several mortgages of this company to foreclose these mortgages. There are two mortgages, one for $450,000 and the other for $250,000, and all the bonds are held by the Baltimore & Ohio Co. The Baltimore & Ohio now controls and operates the road, and a foreclosure is intended to transfer a full title to the property to that company.

Pittsburg Wheeling & Kentucky.—The stockholders of this company have authorized the issue of $500,000 consolidated bonds, of which $200,000 are to be reserved to pay the outstanding first mortgage bonds. The balance of the new issue will be used to pay for the Benwood Extension and for improvements on the property in Wheeling.

Poughkeepsie Hartford & Boston.—This road was sold in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Jan. 26, under foreclosure of the second mortgage for $500,000. The section of nine miles from Boston Corners, N. Y., to State Line Junction was bought for $50,000 by the Hartford & Connecticut Western Company, which has for some time leased that part of the road. The remainder of the road, from Poughkeepsie to Boston Corners, 37 miles, was bought for $10,000 by G. B. Pelton as agent for the bondholders, the purchase being subject to the lien of the $35,000 first mortgage bonds, and also to the ownership of the five miles from Stissing to Pine Plains by the Newburg Dutchess & Connecticut Company. The purchasing bondholders will organize a new company.

Rome Watertown & Ogdensburg.—The receipts and expenses of this company for December, and for the three months ending Dec. 31, in 1882 and 1883, were as follows:

| | December. | | 3 mos.—Oct.-Dec. | |
| | 1883. | 1882. | 1883. | 1882. |
| Receipts | $133,375 | $131,876 | $456,154 | $459,912 |
| Operating exp. and taxes | 86,013 | 101,292 | 287,893 | 329,440 |

West Jersey.—For the twelve months of 1883 the total receipts were $1,227,654, an increase of $118,944 over the previous year, and the expenses were $785,757, as compared with $654,744 in 1882, an increase of $131,013. The total expenses and obligations in 1883 were $1,067,055, as against $921,388 in 1882, an increase of $145,667. The net income of the West Jersey Railroad for 1883, after payment of all obligations was $160,599, or over 11 per cent on its capital stock, a decrease of $27,423 as compared with the previous year. This decrease is owing to extraordinary expenses incurred in the purchase of new equipment, the building of a new station, &c.

—The West Jersey & Atlantic Railroad reports its gross receipts for the year ending December 31, 1883, as $190,664. The expenses were $123,111 and the net earnings $67,553, an increase of $10,144 as compared with 1882. The first dividend declared by this company—4 per cent—was paid out of the net earnings of 1883.

Union Pacific.—The Union Pacific Railway Company soon opens its new line between Denver and Leadville. The new line from Denver to Leadville is 151 miles in length, a saving of twenty miles over the old route, and making the Leadville line shorter than that of the Denver & Rio Grande by 126 miles.

COMMERCIAL EPITOME.

FRIDAY NIGHT, Feb 1, 1884.

The state of trade shows some improvement. Apprehensions of serious difficulties in railroad matters have abated, and the weather has become less severe. Some important failures have occurred, and troubles with labor still disturb manufactures; but confidence is again reviving, and will undoubtedly increase, unless checked by unexpected events. Legislation affecting manufacturers and commerce is still undeveloped at Washington. No one anticipates any radical or sweeping measure.

The following is a statement of the stocks of leading articles of domestic and foreign merchandise at dates given:

The market for futures opened strong, and on Saturday last there was a considerable advance. Monday opened dearer, then declined, but at the close again advanced. Tuesday was lower. Wednesday was variable, closing slightly dearer, but Thursday was again slightly lower. To-day there was some advance. The close, compared with last Friday, was at 3@4 points higher for this crop and 4@5 points for the next crop. There were on Saturday last free notices for delivery on February contrats and on Monday "short notices" were sold from 10·75c. down to 10 69c. The prospect of an increased movement of the crop was an element of weakness on Tuesday, but the firmness of "spots" here and at New Orleans was an element of strength on Wednesday. On Thursday the apprehension of free tenders on February contracts at Liverpool, and the weakness of that market, depressed futures here. To-day the receipts at the ports fell below estimates and Liverpool was steadier, but the speculation with us was very dull. Cotton on the spot has been very firmly held in the belief that stocks at this port are not likely to further increase. Quotations were advanced 1-16c. on Tuesday. To-day the market was dull, middling uplands closing at 10¾c.

The total sales for forward delivery for the week are 398,200 bales. For immediate delivery the total sales foot up this week 2,310 bales, including —— for export, 1,287 for consumption, 623 for speculation and 300 in transit. Of the above, —— bales were to arrive. The following are the official quotations for each day of the past week.

The imports into Continental ports this week have been 74,000 bales.

The above figures indicate an increase in the cotton in sight to-night of 143,986 bales as compared with the same date of 1883, an increase of 255,988 bales as compared with the corresponding date of 1882 and an increase of 533,596 bales as compared with 1881.

AT THE INTERIOR TOWNS the movement—that is the receipts for the week and since Sept. 1, the shipments for the week, and the stocks to-night, and the same items for the corresponding period of 1882-83—is set out in detail in the following statemen t bales less than at the same period last year. The receipts at the same towns have been 31,159 bales less than the same week last year, and since September 1 the receipts at all the towns are 398,162 bales less than for the same time in 1882-83.

Receipts from the Plantations.—The following table is prepared for the purpose of indicating the actual movement each week from the plantations. Receipts at the outports are sometimes misleading, as they are made up more largely one year than another at the expense of the interior stocks. We reach therefore, a safer conclusion through a comparative statement like the following. In reply to frequent inquiries we will add that these figures, of course, do not include overland receipts or Southern consumption; they are simply a statement of the weekly movement from the plantations of that part of the crop which finally reaches the market through the out-ports.

The above statement shows—1. That the total receipts from the plantations since September 1, 1883, were 4,231,914 bales; in 1882-83 were 4,650,985 bales; in 1881-82 were 4,132,132 bales.

2.—That, although the receipts at the out-ports the past week were 112,110 bales, the actual movement from plantations was only 80,964 bales, the balance being taken from the stocks at the interior towns. Last year the receipts from the plantations for the same week were 168,090 bales and for 1882 they were 84,090 bales.

Amount of Cotton in Sight February 1.—In the table below we give the receipts from plantations in another form, and add to them the net overland movement to January 1, and also the takings by Southern spinners to the same date, so as to give substantially the amount of cotton now in sight.

It will be seen by the above that the decrease in amount in sight to-night, as compared with last year, is 456,738 bales, the increase as compared with 1881-82 is 181,687 bales, and the decrease from 1880-81 is 60,006 bales.

BOMBAY RECEIPTS AND SHIPMENTS FOR FOUR YEARS.

| Year | Shipments this week. | | | Shipments since Jan. 1. | | | Receipts. | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| 1884 | 7,000 | 16,000 | 23,000 | 53,000 | 72,000 | 125,000 | 36,000 | 193,000 |
| 1883 | 11,000 | 39,000 | 50,000 | 39,000 | 67,000 | 106,000 | 38,000 | 165,000 |
| 1882 | 16,000 | 22,000 | 38,000 | 82,000 | 57,000 | 139,000 | 14,000 | 188,000 |
| 1881 | 13,000 | 6,000 | 19,000 | 26,000 | 22,000 | 48,000 | 25,000 | 113,000 |

According to the foregoing, Bombay appears to show a decrease compared with last year in the week's receipts of 2,000 bales, and a decrease in shipments of 27,000 bales, and the shipments since January 1 show an increase of 19,000 bales. The movement at Calcutta, Madras and other India ports for the last reported week and since the 1st of January, for two years has been as follows. "Other ports" cover Ceylon, Tuticorin, Kurrachee and Coconada.

| | Shipments for the week. | | | Shipments since January 1. | | |
| | Great Britain. | Conti-nent. | Total. | Great Britain. | Continent. | Total. |
| Calcutta— | | | | | | |

| 1884 | 800 | ..... | 800 | 2,500 | ..... | 2,500 |
| 1883 | 1,000 | 800 | 1,800 | 2,000 | 800 | 2,800 |
| Total all— | | | | | | |
| 1884 | 7,000 | 100 | 7,100 | 19,900 | 900 | 20,800 |
| 1883 | 8,000 | 800 | 8,800 | 29,000 | 3 300 | 32,300 |

EXPORTS TO EUROPE FROM ALL INDIA.

| Shipments to all Europe from— | 1884. | | 1883. | | 1882. | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | This week. | Since Jan. 1. | This week. | Since Jan. 1. | This week. | Since Jan. 1 |
| Bombay | 23,000 | 125,000 | 50,000 | 106,000 | 38,000 | 139,000 |
| All other ports | 7,100 | 20,800 | 8,800 | 32,300 | 14,200 | 47,400 |
| Total | 30,100 | 145,800 | 58,800 | 138,300 | 49,200 | 186,400 |

This last statement affords a very interesting comparison of the total movement for the three years at all India ports.

ALEXANDRIA RECEIPTS AND SHIPMENTS.—Through arrangements we have made with Messrs. Davies, Benachi & Co., of Liverpool and Alexandria, we now receive a weekly cable of the movements of cotton at Alexandria, Egypt. The following are the receipts and shipments for the past week and for the corresponding week of the previous two years.

This statement shows that the receipts for the week ending Jan. 30 were 60,000 cantars and the shipments to all Europe were 11,000 bales.

MANCHESTER MARKET.—Our report received from Manchester to-night states that the market is quiet with a reduction in the price of cloth. We give the prices of day below, and leave previous weeks prices for comparison.

NEW YORK COTTON EXCHANGE.—The meeting of the members appointed to be held on Jan. 30 for the purpose of discussing a change of the commission law has been postponed to Tuesday, Feb. 5.

It is announced that the Real Estate and Traders' Exchange has arranged to take up the cotton business under the title of Cotton Bureau, the tariff of commissions to be satisfactory both to principal and broker and Mr. Daniel W. Talcott of long experience in the cotton trade to be chairman. Perhaps this will help to pass the proposed reduction of the terms of the commission law at present existing in the Cotton Exchange.

COMPARATIVE PORT RECEIPTS AND DAILY CROP MOVEMENT.—A comparison of the port movement by weeks is not accurate as the weeks in different years do not end on the same day of the month. We have consequently added to our other standing tables a daily and monthly statement, that the reader may constantly have before him the data for seeing the exact relative movement for the years named. The movement each month since September 1, 1883, has been as follows.

| Monthly Receipts. | Year Beginning September 1. | | | | | |

| P rc'tage of tot. port receipts Jan. 31... | 70·39 | | 75·27 | 68 53 | 75·34 | 73·52 |

This statement shows that up to Jan. 31 the receipts at the ports this year were 299,634 bales less than in 1882 and 226,117 bales more than at the same time in 1881. By adding to the above totals to Jan. 31 the daily receipts since that time, we shall be able to reach an exact comparison of the movement for the different years.

This statement shows that the receipts since Sept. 1 up to to-night are now 307, 908 bales less than they were to the same day of the month in 1883 and 227,175 bales more than they were to the same day of the month in 1882. We add to the table the percentages of total port receipts which had been received to February 1 in each of the years named.

East India Crop.—From Messrs. Wallace & Co.'s Cotton Report, dated Bombay, December 28th, 1883, we have the following: "Crop reports continue favorable, but blight is reported to have appeared in the Dharwar district, and the crop there is suffering slightly. The weather in the Oomrawuttee, Broach and Dhollerah districts has lately been all that could be desired, and satisfactory crops of the two latter, both as regards quantity and quality, may be looked for, unless the weather should take a turn for the worse."

Jute Butts, Bagging, &c.—The demand for bagging has been fairly active for small parcels and considerable stock is being placed. Prices are firmly maintained by sellers and only when a quantity is taken can a concession be obtained. There have been sales of 1,500 rolls, various grades, within the range, the market closing at 9½c. for 1½ lbs., 10c. for 1¾ lbs., 10¾c. for 2 lbs. and 11½c. for standard grades. Butts are in good demand for spot parcels and we hear of 2,000 bales, paper quality, at 2⅜@2½c. and some 1,500, bagging grade, at 2¾@2⅞c. At the close holders are quoting these figures, though a few are disposed to accept 2⅝c. for a quantity of bagging. To arrive a shade under is said to have been accepted, but the quantity was not stated.

Shipping News.—The exports of cotton from the United States the past week, as per latest mail returns, have reached 112,952 bales. Philadelphia—For Liverpool—Jan. 25—Steamer Lord Gough, 3,044....Jan. 29—Steamer Ohio, 1,965.

Below we give all news received to date of disasters to vessels carrying cotton from United States ports, &c.:

Queen, steamer (Br.), before reported ashore at Nargen. Two hundred and nine bales cotton arrived at Reval, Jan. 15, from steamer Queen. On Jan. 16 about 985 bales remained on board the steamer.
Strathleven, steamer (Br.), for Liverpool, before reported on fire at Tybee. A survey was held on the 23d, and the vessel found to have been slightly damaged. The surveyors recommended that she finish loading and sail for destination. Only about 1,000 bales had been discharged. 484 bales of cotton, damaged by fire and water, were sold on the 30th for the benefit of all concerned. The steamer left Tybee and went up to Savannah on the 24th, where she will finish loading. Her repairs will be made in England.
Bjornstjerno Bjornsen, bark (Nor.), Larsen, from Charleston, Dec. 26, for Liverpool, was totally wrecked at the mouth of the Mersey, Jan. 27. The crew, with the exception of the carpenter, were saved.
Solid, bark (Nor.), before reported on fire at Galveston while loading for Liverpool. The bark Solid was libelled, Jan. 25, at the suit of fifteen cotton-screw men, in a claim for salvage. Last week, while the Solid was taking on cargo a lantern was dropped by one of the screw-men, and the flame was communicated to two bales of cotton (before reported). The captain and his crew and the screw-men turned to, threw water into the hold, and got the two bales out. In all, less than half a dozen bales were required to be taken out. The libel is brought for the services rendered. The libellants place a value of $65,000 upon the bark and her cargo.

BREADSTUFFS.

FRIDAY, P. M., Feb. 1, 1884.

Flour has been firmer at times, but has latterly been weak, owing to dulness of trade; that is to say, the demand has been light, both from exporters and home buyers, and, the supply here being large, the market has accordingly been more or less depressed for several days past. The most of the trade is in winter wheat flour, which is not nearly so plentiful as spring wheat milled; but only the better grades are wanted. The stock of all kinds of spring wheat flour is large and it is to a great extent neglected. There has been some export trade done, but mainly for West India account, the European demand being insignificant. Such grades, however, as No. 2, superfine and shipping extra are not so well held as recently, the better descriptions of flour being the least depressed. To-day the market, as a whole, was dull and easy.

Wheat has latterly been less active, both for export and on speculation, and prices have slowly declined. There has been a decrease of 434,843 bushels in the supply here within a week, and also some diminution in the visible stock in the country at large; but these facts have had little, if any, influence. The fluctuations in prices here are indeed largely governed by those in Chicago, and that market is influenced by all sorts of rumors, groundless or otherwise, which are at all likely to affect the situation. Prices in Europe have fallen somewhat, however, and this fact, having a direct bearing on the export trade, has increased the dulness and added another depressing influence. The large supplies, both here and in Europe, are nevertheless the greatest embarrassment under which the market now labors. To-day there was a moderate trade at irregular prices, the opening figures being a fraction lower, though later there was a recovery and a slight advance. The closing prices for No. 2 red were firm at $1 09 in elevator, $1 05 for February, $1 07¼ for March, $1 09⅝ for April, $1 12⅛ for May and $1 13 for June, these prices being 1c. to 1½c. lower for options than those of a week ago.

Indian corn has been dull and lower. The greatest obstacle to any permanent recovery in prices is the dulness of the foreign trade. The visible supply has increased 518,908 bushels; but this fact has no such effect as the slackness of the export demand. The speculative interest, moreover, has noticeably decreased of late, and the market as a whole seems to be without sustaining influences. To-day there was a moderate trade at steady prices on the spot and at slightly lower prices for future delivery, though the decline was followed by some reaction. The market closed firm for No. 2 mixed at 60⅞c. for February, 61¾c. for March, 63¼c. for April and 64⅞c. for May, these figures being ⅞c.@1¼c. lower than those of a week ago.

Rye and barley have been moderately active at firm prices. Oats have at times been very dull, though within a day or two the trade has increased somewhat. Prices have declined. To-day, however, the market was firm, though only moderately active.

THE DRY GOODS TRADE.

Friday, P. M., Feb. 1, 1884.

The past week has developed no material change in the general condition of the dry goods trade. The demand at first hands was characterized by a good deal of irregularity. Fabrics adapted to the coming season, as dress goods, ginghams, wash fabrics, lawns, piques, &c., were distributed with considerable freedom, and printed calicoes were in fair request. Clothing woolens ruled very quiet, and there was only a slight improvement in the demand for imported fabrics. Lower prices enabled agents representing certain well known makes of domestic cotton goods to effect liberal sales; but little if any profit from these transactions was derived by manufacturers, and the general demand for cotton goods was comparatively light. The jobbing trade has been sluggish as a rule, comparatively few retail buyers having thus far appeared in the market. Toward the close of the week there was a somewhat improved undertone, caused by the determination of cotton goods manufacturers to curtail production; and if this course is persisted in, it will greatly tend to restore confidence in values and lead to a more satisfactory business in the near future.

Domestic Cotton Goods.—The exports of cotton goods were only 951 packages for the week. Of these 226 were sent to U. S. of Colombia, 230 to Venezuela, 119 to China, 114 to Hayti, and smaller lots to other foreign markets. There was a large movement in certain makes of brown and colored cottons (from this city and direct from the mills) as the result of very low prices; but other staple cotton goods were only in moderate demand, and the market closed in a somewhat unsettled condition, though it can hardly be doubted that bottom figures have been reached for many fabrics, and some goods are not unlikely to appreciate shortly because of the lessened production referred to above. Print cloths were in fair demand and slightly dearer, owing to the probability of an early strike among the operatives in Fall River, arising from a contemplated reduction of wages. Extra 64x64 print cloths closed at 3½c. plus 1 per cent and 56x60s at 3 1-16c.@3⅛c. Prints were in moderate demand, but less active than expected, and there was a good steady business in ginghams, chambrays, seersuckers, printed piques, lawns, wash fabrics, white goods and cotton hosiery.

Domestic Woolen Goods.—There was a well-sustained demand for miscellaneous woolens, as ladies' cloths, stockinettes, Jersey cloths, all-wool and worsted dress fabrics, &c., and though buyers were cautious in their operations, transactions were large in the aggregate, owing to the great number of selections that were made. Men's-wear woolens were for the most part quiet in first hands, and the jobbing trade was sluggish. Spring cassimeres and worsteds were in light request for freshening assortments, but by no means active. Heavy worsteds were opened by a few of the agents, and some fair orders (for future delivery) were placed by clothiers at about 5 per cent below last year's prices. Overcoatings have been looked after, but few sales are thus far reported. Heavy cassimeres have not been shown by agents save in exceptional cases, and very little business in goods of this class has thus far been accomplished. Satinets have met with moderate attention, and a limited distribution of Kentucky jeans was made by agents. Carpets were in fair request and steady in price, while flannels and blankets were mostly quiet.

Foreign Dry Goods.—Business in foreign goods was by no means active, though a trifle better than of late. Fancy summer silks were in fair request, but other silks ruled quiet, and velvets were lightly dealt in. British dress goods were distributed in fair quantities, but fine Continental fabrics remained quiet. White goods, embroideries, ribbons and imitation laces were in fair demand, as were hosiery and fabric gloves, and spring cloakings and ladies' cloths were more sought after by intending buyers.

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION.

The past week has made but little history, events of public importance being few and, with one or two exceptions, not unexpected. Following the succession of disagreeable surprises which have of late so deeply disturbed confidence, this condition has been peculiarly wholesome. All business circles have felt its quieting influence, and though there has been no striking change in commercial or financial affairs, the better feeling almost everywhere prevailing, proves how infectious the Wall street fever is. Too much, however, must not be predicated on the changed tone. Any revival, to be permanent, will be of slow growth, and until the evidences of health are more assured it would be unsafe to anticipate events.

In the meantime it is seen, and more and more clearly each succeeding day, how much in the future depends upon Congressional action. The week has been conspicuous for the prominence which circumstances have given to such agency. For instance, Mr. Morrison's tariff bill has suggested anew the question of tax reduction, and its urgency as a relief to the industrial situation has been peculiarly enforced by the publication of the first of February Treasury statements. We wish Congress could understand how imperative this call of the commercial classes is. As all taxes, direct and indirect, come out of the gains of industry, they become peculiarly burdensome, even suppressive, when those gains are at a minimum. And yet while the public is in that condition, our surplus revenues are suffered to pile up in a marvelous manner, the available balance now being 151½ millions, against 122 millions a year ago, the debt decrease being reported 11¾ million dollars in December and 12 millions in January; notwithstanding all this, the effort at Washington appears to be largely directed in devising new ways of spending the surplus rather than in relieving our industries by wiping it out. A good indication of what we are to expect in the way of future revenue under present taxes can be obtained from the following statement of the Government receipts for January and the first seven months of the fiscal year, which we have received through the kindness of the Secretary of the Treasury.

These figures, rightly interpreted, indicate that the surplus is to be even larger than Secretary Folger's estimate. The January internal revenue receipts are, for well known reasons, comparatively small, and no guide for future months; while the customs receipts in that month were only $831,000 less than in the same month of 1883. With the further decrease in appropriations, sure to be reached this year, tax reduction for the next fiscal year will have to deal with a surplus of at least 120 millions. We are not writing in favor of Mr. Morrison's bill—its effect being as yet not clearly defined—but in favor of some bill which shall deal with those questions. It is to be said of Mr. Morrison's mode of reduction that at first sight it would seem to be just, assuming as it does that during the years since 1861, while the present system has been built up, a proper relation between different articles protected must have been attained, and hence that a percentage or horizontal reduction preserves those relations.

But there is still another direction in which the events of the week afford a new and pressing appeal to Congress for help on behalf of our languishing industries. The event we refer to is the further rise in foreign exchange to within one per cent of the gold shipping point, and the assistance Congress can grant, is in the speedy suspension of silver coinage. We showed very clearly last week in this column how our present policy is influencing the foreign exchanges to rule against us, driving gold out of the country by overvaluing silver and forcing its representatives into circulation by putting a premium on silver certificates. The Secretary of the Treasury is not to blame for his regulation respecting silver certificates, for if the law requires silver dollars to be coined, Mr. Folger must provide a way for getting them or their representatives out so as to secure the means for further purchases of silver bullion. Our remarks and figures of last week indicated how this evil is acting on the exchange market, through our foreign trade movement. We might have added that the fear of a silver basis for our currency—the inevitable ultimate end of the policy we are pursuing—is operating in like manner by driving foreign capital from us, while the final result is aided and hastened by locking up about 128 millions of silver dollars and bullion in the Treasury, all of which we might export and receive gold in its stead.

What is the condition to-day. What we call money goes a begging in New York, securing perhaps 1½ per cent, or, deducting the State tax on foreign capital, say 1 per cent net, notwithstanding 151½ millions of money are locked up in the Treasury. The Bank of England to protect its gold put up its rate of interest to 3½ per cent Wednesday, the open market rate following closely on towards the official minimum. All the Continental banks except the Bank of France were at 3½ per cent, or higher, before, and probably will now move upward in response to the higher English rate. Specie is not only leaving London for the Continent, but even for Australia, that wide-awake colony, more clever than we, putting a true value upon it. The political troubles in the Soudan are likely to result in sending more troops in that direction, which may cause a drain to Egypt also. Furthermore the gold which is being shipped from London comes partly from the rather meagre stock the Bank of England holds, but largely from the interior stock of Great Britain, which has not been replenished to any considerable extent for years, Great Britain's net imports of gold in 1883 being only £641,944, although the Bank reserve increased during the year nearly 2 millions sterling; since the first of January the supplies required for export have, as stated, also been drawn mainly from the interior. When we consider all these facts, and further that the Bank has but little gold to spare, and that the available interior stocks must by this time be somewhat reduced, we have the explanation of the advance of the official rate to 3½ per cent, and the rise here in sight bills and cable transfers which has been the feature of the market.

Of course the question as to the probability of gold exports is variously answered by different bankers. The conditions we have recited above all favor such a movement. But it is by no means certain that if the drain is begun it will be continued to any considerable extent. The fear of that result, and its possible consequences if prolonged, have hitherto depressed our industries, being an important influence in producing the condition we are suffering under. It is not unlikely when shipments begin that the first result will be seen in the stock market and later on in our imports and general trade. Of one thing we may be sure, there will be no enterprise developed so long as we are coining silver dollars, and thereby increasing the distrust that very act has created. The evil has gone too far to encourage capital in making any but the shortest flights.

In the absence of any startling disclosures, the stock market has displayed no little strength all this week. Of course the movement has been variable, one hour up and perhaps the next down; but the general result has been towards better prices, especially for dividend paying properties. This has taken place in the face of repeated rumors that all the trunk lines were cutting rates, and that the Western roads were sure to do likewise. In fact, on Wednesday it was announced that the Rock Island and Northwestern had given notice of their withdrawal from the Northwestern and Central Iowa traffic associations. Still, the prevailing belief has been one of confidence in peaceful results, and Mr. Vanderbilt's expressed opinion, and the apparent settlement on Thursday of the trunk line difficulties, showed such to be the intention of the leaders in the market. In fact, yesterday it was reported, but not confirmed, that Messrs. Vanderbilt and Gould were asking for proxies for the Rock Island election. The object of this was stated to be for the purpose of assuring a settlement of the differences in the West, it being claimed that the present management of the Rock Island was committed to the opposite policy. Another rumor of yesterday, subsequently contradicted, however, but which had a favorable effect on the market, was that Mr. Vanderbilt had been elected a director in the St. Paul. Altogether yesterday's market was the strongest of the week, and the close was buoyant.

| Years. | Gross Receipts. | Expenses. | Net Earnings. | Interest, Rentals, &c. | Balance. |

We here see that from a deficit on its operations of $630,643 in 1879, the company has risen to a surplus of $1,995,842, equal to nearly 10 per cent on its 20 millions stock outstanding. This surplus, however, is not quite equal to that of 1881, which was $107,000 more. And yet meanwhile earnings have increased nearly three million dollars. The explanation is found not in augmented charges for interest and rentals, which indeed it will be observed remained nearly constant during the whole of the period under review, but in heavier expenses. Most all returns we have had of recent years have presented much the same general feature, but it is possible that there may be an exceptional cause for the heavier expenses on the Delaware & Hudson. In the report for 1882 it was stated that expenses in that year had been largely increased by improvements made on the railroads—the company operating the Albany & Susquehanna, the Rensselaer & Saratoga, and New York & Canada under lease—and it is not unlikely that the same policy was pursued through 1883, thus making the cost of operating larger than it otherwise would be.

But the point of most striking importance in the above exhibit, as well as of most general interest since it emphasizes the wonderful growth that has taken place in our trades and industries, is found in the item of gross receipts. These receipts in 1878 aggregated only 9¼ million dollars; in 1883, they reached over 17¾ million dollars. As is known, the company carries coal north and east, and any increase in its coal business operates to swell income and profits in a double way—first through the receipts of the coal sold, and second through the increased traffic that the railroad lines derive from these sales. The gain from both sources has been very heavy, and to show the part played by each, we give below the different items separately during the last five years.

| Years. | From Coal. | From Railroads. | Miscellaneous. | Total. |
| 1883 | $9,827,874 | $7,417,643 | $596,982 | $17,842,499 |
| 1882 | 9,141,389 | 5,935,670 | 496,868 | 15,573,927 |
| 1881 | 8,946,554 | 5,404,840 | 577,613 | 14,929,007 |

Thus the company received almost as much from coal sales alone in 1883, as it did from all sources combined in 1879. A feature in the financial condition of the property is perhaps worthy of mention here. The company's debt at present amounts to $18,763,000, and its stock to 20 millions. A part of the debt maturing in 1884, and several millions more in 1891, it was resolved to redeem the same, and substitute stock therefor, stockholders to be given the privilege of subscribing for the additional capital at par. The privilege on account of the 3½ million bonds to be redeemed in 1884, was offered last year and taken, and is now being paid for in instalments. Accordingly, after June next, the capital will be 23½ millions, instead of 20 millions, and the debt only 15¼ millions. When the plan has been carried out in its entirety—in 1891—the stock will be 30 millions, and the debt 10 millions. As the debt bears the same rate of interest as the dividends on the stock—7 per cent—the change will make no difference in the company's yearly outlay at present, but the idea is to still further strengthen the financial position of the property.

Money continues abundant, not only here but at all the leading centres, and the market is without special feature. The following statement, made up from returns collected by us, exhibits the week's receipts and shipments of currency and gold by the New York banks.

The above shows the actual changes in the bank holdings of gold and currency caused by this movement to and from the interior. In addition to that movement, the banks have gained $2,900,000 through the operations of the Sub-Treasury. Adding that item therefore to the above, we have the following, which should indicate the total gain to the New York Clearing House banks of gold and currency for the week covered by the bank statement to be issued to-day.

The Bank of England lost £104,000 bullion during the week. This represents £45,000 received from the interior and £149,000 exported. The Bank of France shows a gain of 14,187,000 francs gold and 4,574,000 francs silver, and the Bank of Germany since the last return has gained 8,920,000 marks. The following indicates the amount of bullion in the principal European banks this week and at the corresponding date last year.

RAILROAD EARNINGS IN JANUARY.

In interpreting our statement of earnings for the month of January, it will be well to bear in mind that the railroads have had quite a number of adverse circumstances to contend with this year, which have unfavorably affected the volume of their traffic. There has been no abatement of the prevailing depression in business, and this has operated not only to reduce general and miscellaneous freight, but also, in some cases, the number of passengers. In the second place, the shipments of produce from farmers' hands have been of only moderate proportions, since there has been hardly any foreign demand for our cereals, and the accumulation of stocks at interior markets is so heavy that some of the Western railroads have had to notify shippers that they could no longer guarantee elevator accommodation for the grain forwarded. Then the weather was hardly what could have been desired, especially during the early days of the month, when the severe cold and ice temporarily interfered with railroad operations in various sections of the country. In the Northwest, however, excepting these few days, there was quite an improvement in this respect on January, 1883, when the weather conditions were scarcely less unfavorable than they had been two years previously—in the memorable winter of 1881. In the South and Southwest railroads have suffered from the diminished supply of cotton traffic offering, and this has been an unfavorable feature of no small moment, particularly with roads which are chiefly dependent upon this one kind of traffic. Finally, January earnings were quite heavy all over the country, not only last year (when the Western roads, for reasons stated, formed the only exception to the rule), but during every year since 1879—the total increasing uninterruptedly.

In the light of such conditions, it will not, we think, be denied that the exhibit below is more satisfactory than there was reason to suppose it would be. The decrease is small—hardly more than nominal in amount—the falling off of course being largest on roads affected by poor crops, either grain or cotton. It is to be remembered that a loss thus resulting is less serious than a falling off in other items of freight, since it has no element of permanency, a poor crop generally giving place to a better in a succeeding season. Great difficulty is experienced, however, in securing particulars with regard to the sources of traffic, since full details are hardly ever furnished by the railroads. Still, it is reasonably clear that in many cases the secret of decreased receipts is not explainable from any one cause. Such roads, for instance, as the Grand Trunk of Canada, the Flint & Pere Marquette, the Cincinnati Washington & Baltimore, and the St. Louis & Cairo, show somewhat smaller passenger earnings than in 1883. In that fact we have evidence that the prevailing depression in business is not without its effect upon railroad receipts. The following table gives earnings and mileage of each road.

* Three weeks only of January in each year.
† For four weeks ended January 26.

The best exhibit, as will be seen, is made by the roads in the Northwest, which last year, as already stated, suffered quite a falling off in earnings on account of the severe weather prevailing. Most of the roads in that section had a decrease this year for the first week, when there was a period of exceptionally cold weather, but the loss was recovered subsequently, and for the month they nearly all record an increase. The Chicago Milwaukee & St. Paul gains $108,000 this year, which is $33,000 more than its loss of a year ago. The Chicago & Northwestern gains $105,000, but this falls far short of its loss of 1883, which was $287,000. The St. Paul & Omaha records an increase of $31,000; the decrease in 1883 was only half that amount. The Burlington Cedar Rapids & Northern suffered a pretty heavy diminution in 1883—over $55,000. This year it has lost $4,600 additional during the first three weeks. The St. Paul & Duluth has receipts a trifle above those of January, 1883, which in turn were greater than those of 1882. The St. Paul Minneapolis & Manitoba, which for some time has recorded a heavy falling off in earnings on account of the opening of the Canadian Pacific and the diminished immigration into Manitoba, this month suffers a loss of only $40,000; in January, 1883, the gain was $94,000. The Central Iowa, on its increased mileage, gains $33,000, but lost $15,000 a year ago. Northwestern roads as a rule must have had a heavier grain movement than a year ago, judging from the following table of the receipts of flour and grain at the leading western ports during the four weeks ended January 26. It will be noticed that the increase in receipts is almost wholly at Chicago, to which point Northwestern roads carry the bulk of their grain traffic.

Turning to the roads between Chicago and the Ohio River, the record shows quite generally lower earnings this year. The Chicago & Eastern Illinois has a decrease of about $13,000, in addition to the decrease of $7,000 in January, 1883. The Illinois Central has a decrease for the month of $187,000, but this includes the Southern line, on which there is reason to believe, as we shall show further below by the cotton movement, the greater part of the decrease occurred. On the main line last year there was a decrease of $32,658, while the Southern line gained $151,405, making the net increase $118,747, or nearly $70,000 less than the loss this year. Although, as stated, the decrease can be explained by reference to the cotton movement on the Southern division, it is to be regretted that the managers of the Illinois Central should refuse to furnish the details, particularly as the Illinois Central is a road which up to the present year has always been managed without the least mystery or concealment and has had the entire confidence of investors. It is well known that the two divisions are not by any means affected by the same conditions, which makes it more important that the public should be permitted to see the result on each. The Peoria Decatur & Evansville has an increase, but it does not equal the loss of January, 1883. The grain movement at Peoria was somewhat larger this year than in 1883. The Cincinnati Indianapolis St. Louis & Chicago, the Cincinnati Washington & Baltimore, the Cleveland Akron, & Columbus, the Indiana Bloomington & Western, the Lake Erie & Western, and the St. Louis Alton & Terre Haute, all exhibit a decrease. Some of these, however, made gains in 1883, though as a rule less in amount than the present loss. They all lie in a section of country afflicted with poor crops. The Ohio Central, in the same territory, records a gain of about $8,000 this year, but the road last year, in contrast to the other lines, had quite a large decrease—$12,000 in amount.

We have none of the great east-and-west trunk lines in our list, but the statements of the tonnage east from Chicago would seem to indicate that through traffic was smaller than in 1883. In this connection our table shows that the Canadian line—the Grand Trunk—lost quite heavily during the month, its earnings for the four weeks this year having been only $1,068,000, against $1,322,000 in the corresponding period of 1883, while the connecting line—the Chicago & Grand Trunk—suffered a decrease of $22,000. It is a fact worthy of note that no part of the decrease on the latter, and only a small portion of that on the former, is to be ascribed to a falling off in passenger earnings. No doubt the Grand Trunk is affected to some extent by the less favorable traffic conditions existing in Michigan, that State having suffered a reduction of its yield of cereals this year, and the depression in business operating against the lumber interests of the peninsula. We have three Michigan roads in our table, and of these two exhibit a decrease in earnings—namely, the Flint & Pere Marquette, and the Detroit Lansing & Northern. In Wisconsin, the Milwaukee Lake Shore & Western has a continuous increase.

The roads that make particularly good exhibits are those in, or connecting with, the Southwest, but not engaged to any extent in the transportation of cotton. The St. Louis & San Francisco gained over $24,000 a year ago, but now has gained nearly $42,000 more. The Chicago & Alton, which runs to St. Louis and Kansas City, adds $14,000 to its gain of over $60,000 in 1883. In only one single month during the whole of 1883 and 1882 has this road failed to show improvement on the year preceding. The Kansas City Fort Scott & Gulf, which through the completion of the Kansas City Springfield & Memphis has a line all the way from Kansas City to Memphis, is beginning to obtain the results of its improved position in a large increase in earnings. As we go further South, however, and reach the roads concerned in the movement of cotton—particularly those in Texas—we find a different state of things. All these lines had exceedingly heavy earnings in 1883, and on the Gould roads the gain then was something extraordinary, amounting for the fourth week of January to almost $400,000, and for the month to as much as $850,000. In the face of such figures, and of the very heavy decrease in the cotton movement, a falling off in earnings this year does not seem remarkable. On the Gould roads the figures for the month have not yet come to hand, and those for the separate weeks are now withheld; but we have a Texas road in the Gulf Colorado & Santa Fe, and this records a loss of $13,137 for the first three weeks, wholly in freight, passenger earnings showing an increase. What an important part the cotton movement played in the falling off in earnings of Texas roads is indicated in the following table of the receipts of the staple, showing that Galveston received hardly one half as much cotton as it did in January, 1883.

The decrease at New Orleans is even greater than at Galveston, and it will be noticed that there are only two unimportant exceptions to a general decrease in all sections of the South, making it apparent that almost all Southern roads had to contend with this drawback. The falling off at New Orleans tells us where the Illinois Central lost in business, and why it is likely that the Southern division, and not the Northern division, of this road sustained the greater part of the decrease in earnings shown above. This line delivered 60,914 bales of cotton at New Orleans, in January, 1883, and only 24,258 bales, in January, 1884, or 60 per cent less. The New Orleans & Northeastern (recently opened) delivered as much as 16,517 bales, part of which may have been taken from the Illinois Central line. The diminished receipts of cotton at Mobile account for the falling off in the earnings of the Mobile & Ohio, but this falling off amounts to only $30,000, while in 1883 there was a gain of $56,000. Despite the contraction in the movement, the road still carried more cotton than in 1882. The Louisville & Nashville is less of a cotton road than most other Southern lines, but it has a loss of $82,000, though this is on a gain of $154,000 in 1883. An ice blockade at Evansville is said to have interfered with the transfer of freight at that point, and to be in part responsible for the decrease in earnings this year. Aside from those mentioned, most Southern roads make quite favorable comparisons with 1883, notwithstanding the smaller cotton movement, as witness the returns of the East Tennessee, the Norfolk & Western, the Shenandoah Valley, the Richmond & Danville and the Chesapeake & Ohio.

Our table of net earnings comprises this time December and the full twelve months of the year. As far as it goes, the exhibit is quite satisfactory, but the number of roads included in the table is less than in our ordinary monthly statements, since many companies prefer to withhold the report for December, in order to bring into it corrections on account of former months, and also some miscellaneous items of small amount omitted in the monthly totals, the idea being to make the aggregate of the monthly figures the correct total for the year. It will be observed that there are few roads in the table that have failed to do as well as in 1882, and that quite a number — particularly Southern roads — have made noteworthy gains. Subjoined are the figures.

OVERLAND MOVEMENT TO FEBRUARY 1, 1884.

A still further decrease in the gross rail shipments, as compared with the figures of 1883, is shown in January, the total for the month reaching 135,608 bales, against 156,563 bales for the same month last year and 108,693 bales in January, 1882. For the five months of this season the aggregate figures are 678,573 bales in 1883–4, against 770,339 bales in 1882–83 and 766,222 bales during the corresponding period in the preceding year, the falling off from last year being 91,766 bales and from 1881–82 being 87,649 bales. Much more favorable results, however, are seen in the net movement, which for January shows an excess over the same month of the two previous seasons, the increase over 1882 being particularly marked, the month's total reaching 62,256 bales this year, against 59,238 bales in 1883 and only 13,768 bales in 1882. This increased movement may surprise the trade, as it was expected that the falling off would more nearly correspond to the falling off in the port receipts. But it will be noticed later on that this has been at the expense of stocks at interior towns. For the five months up to date the net movement this year now shows a decrease from the figures of last year of 27,649 bales, and an increase over the preceding season of 107,393 bales. Our usual table of amounts forwarded over the different routes is as follows.

The shipments between towns, it will be noticed, are very much in excess of previous years; this item consists in great part of shipments from Cairo to St. Louis, which being counted at St. Louis have to be deducted here.

RECEIPTS, EXPORTS AND SPINNERS' TAKINGS.

Ports receipts for January record a further decrease from the figures of last year, as the weekly returns have made evident. All the important Southern ports participate in this, Galveston and Wilmington showing a falling off of over 50 per cent, Mobile about 50 per cent and New Orleans 37 per cent. The total net port receipts to February 1 are 299,634 bales behind 1882–83, but are in excess of the figures of 1881–82 by 226,117 bales. The volume of foreign exports in January is less than last year, the difference now reaching 296,942 bales. Port stocks continue large, but the stocks at interior towns have been drawn upon heavily during the month. Our usual table of receipts, exports and stocks is given below.

Using the facts disclosed by the foregoing statements, we shall find that the portion of the crop which has reached a market through the outports and overland, and the Southern consumption since September 1 this year and the two previous years, is as follows.

| Receipts at the ports to Feb. 1.....bales. | 3,967,666 | 4,267,300 | 3,741,547 |
| Net shipments overland during same time | 444,671 | 472,320 | 337,278 |
| Total receipts.....bales. | 4,412,337 | 4,739,620 | 4,078,827 |
| Southern consumption since September 1. | 150,000 | 160,000 | 125,000 |
| Total to Feb. 1.....bales. | 4,562,337 | 4,899,620 | 4,203,827 |

The amount of cotton marketed since September 1 in 1883-84 is thus seen to be 337,283 bales less than in 1882-83 and 358,510 bales more than in 1881-82. To determine the portion which has gone into the hands of Northern spinners during the same period, we have prepared the following.

| | | |
| Total receipts to Feb. 1, 1884, as above.....bales. | | 4,562,337 |
| Stock on hand commencement of year (Sept. 1, 1883)— | | |
| At Northern ports..... | 135,180 | |
| At Southern ports..... | 96,926 —232,106 | |
| At Providence, &c., Northern interior markets. | 5,011— | 237,117 |
| Total supply to February 1, 1884..... | | 4,799,454 |
| Of this supply there has been exported to foreign ports since Sept. 1, 1883. | 2,509,096 | |
| Less foreign cotton included..... | 3,169—2,505,927 | |
| Sent to Canada direct from West..... | 9,948 | |
| Burnt North and South..... | 12,351 | |
| Stock on hand end of month (Feb. 1, 1884)— | | |
| At Northern ports.....bales. | 364,860 | |
| At Southern ports..... | 710,959—1,075,819 | |
| At Providence, &c., Northern interior markets | 13,206—3,617,251 | |
| Total takings by spinners since September 1, 1883..... | | 1,182,203 |
| Taken by Southern spinners..... | | 150,000 |
| Taken by Northern spinners since September 1, 1883..... | | 1,032,203 |
| Taken by Northern spinners same time in 1882-83..... | | 1,125,928 |
| Decrease in takings by Northern spinners this year..bales. | | 93,725 |

The above indicates that Northern spinners had up to February 1 taken 1,032,203 bales, a decrease from the corresponding period of 1882-83 of 93,725 bales and from the same months of 1881-82 of 130,880.

AMOUNT OF CROP NOW IN SIGHT.

In the foregoing we have the number of bales which has already been marketed this year and the two previous seasons. An additional fact of interest is the total of the crop which was in sight on Feb. 1, compared with previous years. We reach that point by adding to the above the stock remaining at that date at the interior towns, less stock held by them at the beginning of the season. In this manner we find the result for three years on Feb. 1 to be as follows.

| Total marketed, as above....bales. | 4,562,337 | 4,899,620 | 4,203,827 |
| Interior stocks in excess of Sept. 1 | 250,000 | 325,000 | 350,000 |
| Total in sight.....bales. | 4,812,337 | 5,224,620 | 4,553,827 |

This indicates that the movement up to Feb. 1 of the present year is 412,283 bales less than in 1882–83 and 258,510 bales more than in 1881–82. But, comparing with Jan. 1, we find that the total month's movement from the plantations is only 454,000 bales in 1884, against 803,000 in 1883 and 455,000 in 1882; or, in other words, no more has come in sight this year in January than came in sight during the same month of the short crop season of 1881–82 :

WEIGHT OF BALES.

To furnish a more exact measure of the receipts up to February 1, we give below our usual table of the weight of bales. We give for comparison the figures for the same time in the two previous seasons.

It will be noticed that the movement up to February 1 shows a decrease in the average weight as compared with the same periods of the last two years, the average this year being 481·75 lbs. per bale, against 489·70 lbs. per bale for the same time in 1882-83 and 473·93 in 1881-82.

THE COTTON GOODS TRADE IN JANUARY.

There was a light and disappointing demand for cotton goods during the first half of January at the important centres, and stocks in agents' hands increased steadily. An auction sale of Whittenton and Oakland Mills ticks, denims and cheviots was held in this city on the 16th inst., and the goods were readily sold, but at prices so low that a heavy loss was sustained by the mills. After the auction sale agents representing some of the leading Eastern mills determined to reduce their stocks of brown and colored cottons, and in furtherance of this object exceptionally low prices were made for brown sheetings, denims, ducks, ticks, stripes, checks, &c., of the most popular brands. This action resulted in very heavy sales of the above fabrics, but the prices realized were so unsatisfactory that many of the mills have wisely curtailed production for a time; this tendency to decrease production imparted a slightly firmer tone to the market for some makes. Five and four-yard sheetings were reduced in price about the middle of the month, and toward the close standard sheetings were marked down to 7¼ cents. Bleached goods remain unchanged at the decline of last December.

Print cloths were in fair demand and fractionally dearer the latter part of the month, owing to the probability of an early strike among the Fall River operatives against a contemplated reduction of wages. In our cotton department will be found a resolution relating to 64x64s, which will be enforced on and after April 1.

Our usual table showing the prices of low middling cotton, 64x64 printing cloths, and standard sheetings, each day of the month, is as follows :

ELLISON & CO.'S ANNUAL REVIEW OF THE COTTON TRADE FOR THE YEAR 1883.

[CONDUCTED BY THOMAS ELLISON.]

Although during the past year a larger business was done than in any previous year, the result was very far from being satisfactory. Spinners did fairly well in the first few months, but as the year advanced their profits gradually diminished, until in some instances they altogether disappeared. Manufacturers have done badly throughout, and towards the close the situation became so unbearable that many looms were stopped—say some 50,000 to 60,000, out of a total of 550,000 in the United Kingdom. The opening and closing prices of middling upland, 32's cop twist, and 8¼ lb. shirtings, were as follows :

| | Middling Upland. | 32's Cop Twist. Range. | 32's Cop Twist. Average. | 8¼ lb. Shirtings. Range. | 8¼ lb. Shirtings. Av. pr. lb. |
| | d. | d. d. | d. | s. d. s. d. | d. |
| Dec. 31 | 5 7/8 | 8 1/4 to 8 7/8 | 8 9/16 | 5 7 1/2 to 7 6 | 9 1/2 |

We see here that while cotton has advanced ⅛d. per lb. yarn has declined 3-16d. and shirtings 11-16d. per lb. The secret of this unsatisfactory exhibit is that producers have kept the markets of the world in a chronic state of over supply. Prices were so low, it was said, that a further depreciation was unlikely to occur, while a revived and increased demand was sooner or later certain to come. But the markets were already so well stocked that the production could only be sold by being forced off at low, and mostly unremunerative, prices. There were always more sellers than buyers, and the latter had, therefore, the greater voice in the fixing of prices.

In reference to the exceptionally unsatisfactory condition of the manufacturing section of the industry, it is a matter of common observation that this department of the trade is the first to feel the approach of a period of depression; in fact, even when there is a large and apparently remunerative business going on, and when the spinning mills are declaring good dividends, manufacturers frequently complain that their special section is doing very badly. For the past two years, for instance, the market reports have been continually telling us that though the position of spinners was fairly satisfactory, that of manufacturers was not only the reverse of this, but was going from bad to worse. The explanation is very simple. In the first place, it costs considerably less to put up an increased number of looms than it does to bring into operation an equivalent number of spindles, while it also requires a much smaller amount of floating capital to work a weaving shed than it does to conduct a spinning mill of corresponding dimensions. Moreover, weaving can be profitably conducted on a much smaller scale than is possible in the case of spinning. An operative weaver who has saved a few pounds can hire both looms and power, and with the assistance of a Manchester cloth agent can commence business on a very small capital. If times are good he makes money and invests it in the hire or purchase of more looms; if business becomes bad he fails, pays a dividend, and goes on again; or his looms, after standing idle for a while, pass into the hands of another weaver. To put up a spinning mill, however, requires a large capital, both fixed and floating; and it is not possible for a small spinner to commence business with hired spindles, in imitation of the small weaver, who, by renting a few looms, becomes a full-blown manufacturer. It is easy to understand, therefore, how, when the margin of profit is satisfactory, an increased number of looms can be brought into operation more quickly than can an increased number of spindles; it is equally easy to grasp the reason why competition among manufacturers is much keener than it is among spinners, and why spinners can retain a margin of profit for some time after that of the manufacturer has vanished.

But the principal reason why the manufacturer is frequently at a disadvantage, compared with the spinner, is the fact that the latter has several markets in which he can sell his yarn, while the former has practically only one in which to sell his cloth. The spinner disposes of the bulk of his yarn to the home manufacturer of calico, but he also sells a not inconsiderable quantity to the Yorkshire and other manufacturers of mixed fabrics, and to thread makers, while he disposes of a still greater quantity for export to Continental, East Indian, and other markets. As it only rarely happens that the whole of his customers simultaneously slacken their operations, he is less frequently under the necessity of forcing sales than is the case with the manufacturer. The result is that the weaver has often to sell his cloth in a weak market and buy his yarn in a firm one. So long as the manufacturer keeps his looms going he must have yarn no matter what the price, but in dull times, when demand is small and stock large, he must, if he wishes to sell, take the best price the buyer of calico can be persuaded to give. Eventually he may be compelled to stop his looms. Thereupon will follow a diminished demand for yarn, which, if it continues long enough, will cause spinners first to reduce their prices and then to curtail their production. Simultaneous "short time" among both spindles and looms will lead to a reduction of surplus stocks, and by-and-by bring about a revived demand, first for goods and then for yarn. During the first portion of the revival, manufacturers will do better than spinners; but when the whole of the looms have got to work the spinners will once more be able to make their own terms as to price.

Imports, Deliveries, &c., for Great Britain.

Import.—Although the last American crop exceeded the previous one by over one and a half million bales, the import into Great Britain in 1883 was 155,760 bales larger than in 1882. This is in a great measure due to the fact that a larger quantity than usual of the last crop was received before the close of 1882; the import in the last three months of that year being 862,050 bales against only 705,260 in 1883. From Egypt there came an increase of 37,450 bales, of which 28,210 came in the last three months of the year. The Brazils figure for a decrease of 19,860 bales; and there is a reduction of 9,700 bales in the arrivals from Peru, West Indies, &c. The large speculative business done in Surats in 1882 attracted superabundant supplies to Liverpool in that year at the expense of the Continent, to which a large part of the excess eventually found its way. In 1883 the trade fell back to its normal channels, and the import of East Indian cotton accordingly showed a decrease of 363,760 bales compared with 1882, against an increase of 514,510 bales in the latter year over 1881.

Export.—As Continental merchants and spinners have imported very largely direct from the countries of growth, their takings from Great Britain show a decrease of 63,690 bales—namely, 46,730 American, 9,150 Brazilian, 4,390 Egyptian, 1,340 West Indian, and 3,080 East Indian.

Stocks in the Ports.—The stocks in Liverpool and London at the end of 1883 were 45,710 bales smaller than at the close of 1882. There was an excess of 22,300 American, 31,760 Brazilian and 26,250 Egyptian, but a deficit of 1,020 West Indian, &c., and 125,000 East Indian.

Stocks held by Spinners.—The stocks held at the mills we estimate as follows, compared with 1882, 1881, 1880, and 1879:

| 1883 | 105,000 | 10,000 | 30,000 | 2,000 | 10,000 | 137,000 |
| 1882 | 120,000 | 5,000 | 10,000 | 2,000 | 15,000 | 152,000 |
| 1881 | 176,000 | 2,000 | 25,000 | 2,000 | 5,000 | 210,000 |
| 1880 | 130,000 | 3,000 | 30,000 | 2,000 | 5,000 | 170,000 |
| 1879 | 80,000 | 2,000 | 35,000 | 2,000 | 6,000 | 125,000 |

| | U. S. | Brazil | Egypt. | W.I., &c | E. Ind. | All k'ds |
| 1883 lbs. | 454 | 170 | 656 | 171 | 382 | 432 |
| 1882 lbs. | 447 | 173 | 658 | 1 0 | 378 | 418 |
| 1881 lbs. | 453 | 180 | 651 | 170 | 384 | 434 |
| 1880 lbs. | 454 | 190 | 622 | 152 | 363 | 436 |

The average weight of cotton exported was 395 pounds, against 387 pounds in 1882, 400 pounds in 1881 and 378 pounds in 1880; and of cotton consumed 435 pounds, against 429 pounds in 1882, 443 pounds in 1881 and 444 pounds in 1880.

Home Consumption.—The deliveries to home consumers were 3,474,150 bales, or 124,010 bales more than in 1882. The actual consumption was 3,469,150 bales, or 61,010 more than in 1882 there being an increase of 5,000 bales in the stocks at the mills.

Weight of Imports, Deliveries, &c.—The following is an account of the weight of each description of cotton imported, exported and consumed in 1883, and the quantities left in the ports at the end of the year:

CONSUMPTION OF GREAT BRITAIN FOR TEN YEARS.

The following is a comparative statement of the consumption of cotton in Great Britain for the past ten years:

| | Bales. | Pounds. | | Bales. | Pounds. |
| 1883 | 3,469,150 | 1,510,599,900 | 1878 | 2,682,310 | 1,176,151,070 |
| 1882 | 3,408,140 | 1,461,440,980 | 1877 | 3,020,510 | 1,337,373,530 |
| 1881 | 3,244,370 | 1,439,393,160 | 1876 | 3,048,960 | 1,324,376,750 |
| 1880 | 3,078,260 | 1,372,636,630 | 1875 | 3,115,120 | 1,330,388,870 |
| 1879 | 2,707,360 | 1,173,325,990 | 1874 | 3,228,130 | 1,266,129,250 |

In order to give a correct comparison of the amount of cotton consumed, we have reduced the bales to the uniform weight of 400 pounds each, as follows:

| | Total. | Per week. | | Total. | Per week |
| 1883 | 3,776,500 | 72,620 | 1878 | 2,941,120 | 56,560 |
| 1882 | 3,653,640 | 70,260 | 1877 | 3,024,430 | 59,510 |
| 1881 | 3,598,480 | 69,200 | 1876 | 3,185,940 | 61,260 |
| 1880 | 3,431,590 | 65,920 | 1875 | 3,075,970 | 59,160 |
| 1879 | 2,933,310 | 56,410 | 1874 | 3,165,320 | 60,870 |

The figures for 1883 show an increase of 2,360 bales per week, or 3·3 per cent. In 1882 there was an increase of 1,260 bales week, or 1·5 per cent over 1881.

AVERAGE VALUE PER POUND OF IMPORTS, &c.

On page 6 we give a tabular statement of the value of raw cotton imported, exported, consumed, &c., for the past ten years. The average per pound for each year we estimate as follows:

| Import | 6 | 6¼ | 6 3/16 | 6 1/2 | 6¼ | 6 1/16 | 6¼ | 6⅛ | 7 1/16 | 7½ |

IMPORTS, DELIVERIES, &c., FOR THE CONTINENT.

IMPORTS.—The import into Continental ports direct from the countries of growth (exclusive of 13,500 bales re-exported to Great Britain), compared with the arrivals in 1882, shows an increase of 352,850 American and 183,230 East Indian, but a decrease of 950 Smyrna, &c., 1,770 Brazilian, 16,500 West India, &c., and 22,320 Egyptian, making a net increase of 494,540 bales. There was a decrease of 64,690 bales in the import from Great Britain, so that the net increase in import was 429,850 bales.

STOCKS.—The stocks in the ports at the close of the year, compared with those of twelve months previously, showed an increase of 73,190 American, 440 Brazilian, 610 Smyrna and 2,310 West Indian, and a decrease of 180 Egyptian and 16,080 East Indian, or a net increase of 60,290 bales.

DELIVERIES.—The deliveries to consumers amounted to 3,411,180 bales, against 3,032,080 bales in 1882, showing an increase of 379,100 bales. The average weekly deliveries were 66,176 bales in 1884, against 58,309 in 1882, an increase of 7,868 bales per week. The weight of cotton delivered was 1,457,558,530 pounds in 1883, against 1,255,549,010 pounds in 1882, the average weight of the bales delivered being 427·2 pounds in 1883 and 414·1 in 1882.

IMPORTS, DELIVERIES AND STOCKS FOR EUROPE, 1883 AND 1882.

The following is a comparative statement of the total imports, &c., for the whole of Europe in each of the past two years:

| | Import. | | Deliveries. | | Stocks 31st Dec. | |

MOVEMENTS DURING THE SEASON OCTOBER 1 TO DECEMBER 31.

The deliveries to English and Continental spinners during the first three months of the season compare as follows with the corresponding figures for the previous two seasons, in 1000's of bales and pounds:

| | Great Britain. | | | Continent. | | |
| | 1883. | 1882. | 1881. | 1883. | 1882. | 1881. |
| Number of bales | 805 | 847 | 937 | 746 | 752 | 680 |
| Avge. weight, lbs. | 428 | 415 | 443 | 433 | 436 | 440 |
| Total weight, lbs. | 383,077,368 | 351,605,023 | 415,092,324 | 324,766,328 | 328,090,299 | 299,367,718 |
| Bales of 400 lbs | 957 | 879 | 1,037 | 812 | 820 | 748 |

In dividing the Continental import of East India cotton in 1882, 50,000 bales belonging to the first nine months of the year were inadvertently credited to the last three months. In this way the total deliveries of all kinds in the first three months of the season 1882–83 were given as 802,500 bales, instead of 752,500. This was rectified in our Annual Report for the season, issued last October.

The present rate of consumption in Great Britain we estimate at 73,000 bales of 400 pounds per week, against 72,000 last year and 70,000 the year before; and for the Continent at 67,000 against 63,000 and 58,000 respectively.

On the basis of the foregoing estimates the movements for the 13 weeks of the season have been as follows, in 1,000's of bales of the uniform weight of 400 pounds:

| | Great Britain. | | | Continent. | | |
| | 1883. | 1882. | 1881. | 1883. | 1882. | 1881. |
| Surplus stock, Oct. 1 | 98 | 82 | 25 | 314 | 139 | 240 |
| Deliveries to Dec. 31 | 957 | 921 | 1,037 | 812 | 820 | 748 |
| Supply | 1,055 | 1,003 | 1,062 | 1,156 | 959 | 988 |
| Consumption, 13 weeks | 949 | 936 | 910 | 871 | 810 | 754 |
| Surplus stock, Dec. 31 | 106 | 67 | 152 | 285 | 140 | 234 |

The total surplus stock at the mills in Europe are 391,000 bales, against 207,000 in 1882 and 386,000 in 1881. These figures, added to the visible supply, compare as follows:

| | 1883. | 1882. | 1881. |
| Total visible supply | 3,451,000 | 3,122,000 | 3,063,000 |
| Surplus stock at mills | 391,000 | 207,000 | 386,000 |

Showing an excess of 513,000 bales compared with last year and one of 413,000 compared with two years ago.

PROSPECTS.

As expressed in previous reports, we have hitherto regarded six million bales as rather a minimum estimate of the probable out-turn of the American crop. At the moment it certainly looks as if this figure would not be reached. For this reason there has recently been an almost universal disposition, on the part of those who believed in over six million bales, to reduce their expectations to the neighborhood of five and three-quarter million bales, or less. The consensus of opinion on this point is altogether too important to be entirely disregarded; but at the same time it should not be forgotten that on previous occasions the majority have often been wrong. The interior and port movements have, since the middle of November, been so erratic that they have not afforded any reliable clue to the size of the crop. Down to the end of December they pointed to a much larger yield than could possibly be calculated upon, in view of the "short crop" tenor of the advices received from every respectable house in the South; since then they have indicated a yield much smaller than the smallest figure yet put forth. The differences of opinion expressed by those who profess to know all about it are as perplexing as the eccentricities of the movements at the ports; so that from whatever point of view we regard the question, it is impossible to say whether the crop shall exceed, or fall short of, six millions, though it is unquestionable that at present the balance of public opinion is on the side of the lower figures. As a rule, the estimates published by the Washington Agricultural Bureau have in previous years been below those put forth by the best private authorities; they have, for the most part, also been smaller than the eventual out-turn of the crop. This season the Bureau estimate of six millions, or more, is larger than the computations most current, and much larger than the figures adopted by many respectable houses in America; whether it will also turn out to be larger than the crop itself remains to be seen. Meanwhile we shall accept it as a fair estimate on which to base an examination of the prospects of supply for the remaining nine months of the current season

In the following statement will be found an account of the actual movements of the crop, in 1,000's of bales, up to the close of December, with an estimate of those for the remainder of the season, on the supposition that the total crop will be 6,000,000 bales:

| | 1883-4. | 1882-3. | 1881-2. |

| Overland to Northern mills, Dec. 31 | 382 | 413 | 323 |

| Total crop | 6,000 | 6,992 | 5,435 |

The actual figures for the previous two seasons are added for the purpose of comparison. This is also done in the following account of the probable distribution of the crop:

| | 1883-4. | 1882-3. | 1881-2. |
| Export to Europe to Dec. 31 | 1,860 | 2,090 | 1,506 |

| Taken from stock in ports | 50 | ..... | 90 |
| Total crop, as above | 6,000 | 6,992 | 5,435 |

We have assumed that the deliveries to American spinners will be 143,000 bales less than last season, on the supposition that the consumption will be 100,000 bales less, and that the stocks at the mills will be reduced 43,000 bales; being the quantity added to stock last season.

The probable import into Europe in the nine months ended September 30 we estimate as follows:

| Shipments January 1 to August 31 | 2,150 | 2,606 | 2,047 |
| Afloat January 1 | 635 | 683 | 529 |
| Indicated import January 1 to Sept. 30 | 2,785 | 3,289 | 2,576 |
| Actual import January 1 to Sept. 30 | ..... | 3,281 | 2,621 |

The cotton afloat figures given in our table of Visible Supply are made up to the last Friday of each year, namely, Dec. 28, 1883, Dec. 29, 1882, and Dec. 30, 1881: to those figures are, therefore, added the shipments for the last three days of 1883, the last two days of 1882 and the last day of 1881.

As nearly as can be ascertained the shipments from India, in time to arrive here by the end of September, will be from 100,000 to 150,000 less than in the corresponding period of last year, say an average of 125,000; but as we commence the year with 29,000 bales more afloat, we shall calculate upon a reduction of only 100,000 bales, say 1,288,000, against 1,388,000 last year.

The Egyptian crop is turning out smaller than was expected, and is now generally estimated at only 2,750,000 cantars, or about 400,000 bales, against 3,000,000 cantars or 430,000 bales expected at the opening of the season. Of the total crop of 400,000 bales, 154,000 bales (exclusive of cotton afloat) were received into Europe by the 31st December, leaving 246,000 to come in between December 31 and September 30, against 225,000 last season.

The Brazilian supply is always more or less a matter of the merest guess work. We estimated the imports for the first nine months of last year at 288,000 bales, and they came to 279,000. This year we place them at 250,000, as some decrease is expected. From Smyrna, &c., we may get 20,000 bales, as against 19,000 last year, and from the West Indies, &c., 50,000 bales, against 52,000 bales.

A recapitulation of the foregoing figures affords the following comparison with the particulars for the previous two years, in 1,000's of bales:

| Bales of 400 lbs. each | 5,970 | 6,660 | 5,765 |
| Mill stocks 1st January | 391 | 207 | 386 |
| Total available supply in bales of 400 lbs. | 6,361 | 6,867 | 6,151 |

For the first thirteen weeks of the season we have estimated the consumption of Europe at 140,000 bales of 400 lbs. per week; but it is doubtful if this rate can be kept up for the remainder of the season. It may, indeed, have been somewhat less than this figure during the last few weeks of the old year, owing to the diminished demand for yarn occasioned by the stoppage of about 50,000 looms in Northeast Lancashire. Short time is also being worked in Russia, where the state of trade is exceedingly bad. Altogether it is doubtful if the average rate of consumption for the first nine months of 1884 will exceed 137,000 to 138,000 bales of 400 lbs. per week, or from 2,000 to 3,000 bales per week less than in the first three months of the season. At present it probably does not exceed 134,000 to 135,000 bales, as the 50,000 looms stopped represent a week's consumption of about 5,000 bales of cotton. This may be recovered later on, but in the meantime 137,000 to 138,000 bales is a full estimate of the probable rate of consumption for the remainder of the current season.

On this basis the movements for the nine months will be as follows, in bales of 400 lbs.:

| Available supply as above | 6,361,000 | 6,867,000 | 6,151,000 |
| Less stock in mills Sept. 30 | 216,000 | 442,000 | 216,000 |
| Less stock in ports Sept. 30 | 783,000 | 991,000 | 761,000 |
| Total stock Sept. 30 | 999,000 | 1,433,000 | 977,000 |
| Total consumption | 5,362,000 | 5,434,000 | 5,174,000 |
| Average per week | 137,500 | 139,800 | 132,600 |

It will be seen from the foregoing statement that by reducing the port and mill stocks to a little over the level touched on the 30th September, 1882, there will remain sufficient cotton to provide for an average weekly consumption for all Europe of 137,500 bales of 400 lbs., against 139,800 last season, and 132,600 bales in the season before. Bearing in mind the diminished demand for yarn, which, though not at present apparent, must be felt before the close of the season, in consequence of the stoppage of looms to which reference has already been made, it seems to us that a reduction of 2,300 bales per week, or a total of 89,700 bales, is a very moderate estimate, especially as it is well known that the stocks of cotton goods throughout the world are very large. In this connection it may not be amiss to draw attention to the extraordinary expansion which has, during recent years, taken place in the production of cotton goods in Europe, as indicated in the consumption of cotton in the present season and previous nine seasons, in bales of 400 lbs.

These figures account for the unremunerative character of the manufacturing branches of the business during the past two years, which has at last led to a forced curtailment in the rate of production. But for this circumstance the diminished supply of the raw material would not be regarded with such philosophical indifference as it is at present by those immediately interested; and although cotton looks strong statistically, its strength may be frittered away during the course of the season by the action of other causes quite as potent, though not so patent, as figures.

With an American crop of 6,000,000 bales, therefore, we might not see any very important permanent change in prices, though, of course, we should witness numerous fluctuations arising out of the varying moods of public opinion; but no doubt more buoyancy would be witnessed if it should become apparent that the crop will not exceed 5,750,000 bales, though even in this event a great deal will depend upon the extent and duration of the present financial crisis in America, and upon the extent to which the large business recently done in Manchester was anticipatory or speculative.

ELLISON & Co., Cotton Brokers.

7 RUMFORD STREET, LIVERPOOL, Jan. 23, 1884.

P. S.—For the first three weeks of this year English spinners have taken 365,000 bales, equal to about 385,000 bales of 400 lbs. The consumption has not exceeded 71,000 bales per week, owing to short time, or a total of 213,000 bales, so that 72,000 bales have been added to the surplus stocks at the mills.

—Attention is called to the card of the Union Trust Company of Philadelphia, which appears in the advertising columns of the CHRONICLE. The Board of Directors is composed of men who stand high in the commercial and financial world, and whose names have secured to the Union Trust a large and growing business.

—The annual statement of the Equitable Life Assurance Company will be found in another column. The showing is in every respect a very creditable one. The items, as given tell the story of an enormous business which has been done, resulting at the close of the year in an increase in the net assets of over five millions of dollars. The assurance written in 1883 amounted to $81,000,000, being twenty millions more than in 1882.

—A press dispatch from Dallas, Tex., Feb. 7, says information has been received here that George B. Loving, of this State, now in England representing the Texas Investment Company, has sold a large amount of ranche property situated in four adjoining counties on Double Mountain Fork, Brazos River, for $2,500,000.

[From our own correspondent.]

LONDON, Saturday, Jan. 19, 1884.

The money market has presented a firmer appearance during the past week, partly owing to the fact that the demand for the means of remittance to the East has been unusually heavy, and partly to an export of gold to Australia amounting to about £300,000. With regard to the latter transaction, there is much difference of opinion, and the reason for the movement has, thus far, been concealed. To send gold to a country producing that commodity is an operation somewhat inexplicable, but there is an object in doing so. It may arise out of the fact that the employment of money in this country has been attended with results so very unremunerative of late that capital is being sent elsewhere in order to obtain better returns. In Australia, at the present time, the moving of the crops necessitates the employment of a considerable amount of floating capital, but it is quite natural to contend that the Australian banks would be able to provide in the usual way. The motive in sending the gold is kept a great secret, and there is evidently some ulterior object in view. It is said that further supplies of gold will be sent in the same direction, and this would certainly lead to some embarrassment if it were continued on any considerable scale. The New York exchange is now in our favor, and if further supplies of gold were purchased here on Australian account, it is more than probable that gold will have to be shipped to this country from the United States. The uncertainties which have existed of late have been therefore augmented, and it seems that if these movements are the result of fancy, with a view to increasing the value of money, the latest results will be very unsatisfactory, as trade, which requires encouragement, will be hampered, and a more critical condition of things will be brought about.

For money during the week there has been a good demand, and the rates of discount have decidedly improved. The Bank of England return is more favorable, and it shows that the Bank has been repaid some heavy loans, granted both to the Government and to the public. The reserve has increased to a moderate extent, and the proportion of reserve to liabilities has improved from 36·49 per cent to 40·39 per cent.

The following are the quotations for money and the interest allowed by the discount houses to-day and same day of the previous five weeks:

The following, relating to the bullion market, is from Messrs. Pixley & Abell's circular.

Gold—The demand for gold has continued and bars and sovereigns, to the value of £572,000, have been taken from the Bank since our last for transmission to South America, Egypt, India and the Continent. The sovereigns (in the arrivals of the week), which amount to £90,000, have been sent into the Bank. We have received £27,960 from West Indies and Brazils, and £79,860 from Australia, making £107,820. The Peninsular & Oriental steamers have taken £10,000 to India and £300,000 to Australia, and the La Plata £3,000 to the Brazils.

Silver—A rise in the Indian Exchanges has caused a demand for silver, and the price has risen for the time, the amounts on offer being so small; 50⅞d. was paid yesterday for what arrived from the River Plate, but the rate is not quite so firm to-day. The arrivals of the week comprise £3,000 from Chile, £30,000 from West Indies, £51,000 New York, £15,000 from River Plate, making £164,000. The Siam has taken £13,000 to Bombay.

Mexican Dollars—49⅝d. has been paid for a few small amounts that have arrived by the General Werder from New York. We cannot give this week the shipments to the East.

Messrs. J. Henry Schroder & Co. announce that they are authorized to offer for sale 8,000 first debentures of £100 each of the Alabama New Orleans Texas & Pacific Junction Railway Company, Limited, bearing interest from October 1, 1883, at the rate of 6 per cent per annum, and payable April 1 and October 1. The principal is repayable April 1, 1907, at par, but redeemable by the company previously at £115 on the nominal value. The price of subscription is £92 10s. for £100 debenture.

The committee of the ten Associated Australian banks, as agents for the Government of Victoria, announce that they have been authorized to negotiate a Victoria 4 per cent for £4,000,000. This, however, is not an addition to the debt of the colony, as it replaces a 6 per cent loan of £3,824,100 paid off on October 1 last year, and provides funds for the redemption of a further amount of 6 per cents. In 1882 the Government of the colony raised by the 4 per cent redemption loan a sum of about £2,000,000; and it is stated that, without increasing its nominal indebtedness, there will be an annual saving in interest of £92,732. No tender will be accepted at less than par.

Tenders for the City of Cape Town 5 per cent debentures for £100,000 were opened on Wednesday at the Standard Bank of British South Africa. They reached a total of £401,100, at prices ranging from the minimum of £98 to £104. Tenders at and above £100 10s. will receive allotment in full, and those at £100 9s. about 78 per cent. The average price was £100 16s.

Messrs. de Murrieta & Co. announce on behalf of the contractors of the Buenos Ayres & Pacific Railway Company that they are prepared to receive subscriptions to an issue of £400,000 debenture stock of that line, which the National Government of the Argentine Republic guaranteed 7 per cent. for twenty years. The total amount authorized is £1,312,310. Price of issue, £111 10s for £100 stock.

Business in the wool trade has been resumed in the manufacturing districts very much on the same lines which prevailed during the latter period of 1883, and in no quarter does the turn-over appear to show symptoms indicating any restriction in the rate of consumption. Margins of profit, however, still remain exceedingly narrow, and the characteristics of the trade generally exhibit those hand-to-mouth conditions which, if likely to show promptly the effect of the pressure of any surplus supply of raw material, would probably equally readily respond to the influence of an improving demand. In the coarse-wool market there is reason to believe that the higher scale of consumption lately prevailing—which would certainly have been before this more easily recognizable in the quotations for such produce but for the considerable accumulations of English staple of several previous clips—still holds, but it will be borne in mind that the home production of the current year will be to some extent enlarged by the increase in the number of lambs shown by the last agricultural returns, the produce of which will be available for the first time during the forthcoming spring.

The trade for wheat remains in a most depressed state, owing to the heavy supplies offering. Prices are weaker, and it is to be feared that as a further reduction is probable, failures will become numerous. Millers are buying very strictly, indeed to supply actual wants.

The following are the quantities of wheat flour (estimated in quarters) and Indian corn afloat to the United Kingdom:

| | At present. | Last week. | Last year. | 1882. |
| Wheat qrs. | 1,820,000 | 1,909,000 | 2,082,000 | 2,274,000 |
| Flour | 258,000 | 210,000 | 218,000 | 155,000 |
| Indian corn | 227,000 | 255,000 | 196,500 | 253,000 |

The extent of the sales of home-grown wheat, barley and oats in the 187 leading markets of England and Wales, during the first twenty weeks of the season, is shown in the following statement:

SALES.

| | 1883-84. | 1882-83. | 1881-82. | 1880-81 |

| Oats..... | 236,362 | 100,007 | 122,944 | 82,634 |

The following are the average prices for the season (per qr):

| Oats..... | 19 10 | 20 10 | 20 10 | 21 4 |

Converting quarters of wheat into hundred-weights, the totals for the whole kingdom are estimated as follows:

| | 1883-84. | 1882-83. | 1881-82. | 1880-81. |
| Wheat.....cwt. | 18,514,100 | 16,397,800 | 15,950,100 | 13,980,220 |

*This aggregate is arrived at by multiplying the sales in the 187 markets above by $3\frac{1}{3}$, and that result is reduced to cwt. by multiplying it by $4\frac{1}{3}$. This proportion between the 187 markets and the totals for the kingdom is adopted by the London grain trade and is accepted by it as producing a result approximately correct.

The following return shows the extent of the imports of cereal produce into the United Kingdom during the first twenty weeks of the season, the average price of home-grown wheat, the visible supply of wheat in the United States, and the quantity of produce afloat to the United Kingdom, compared with previous seasons:

NEW YORK, FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 8, 1884—5 P. M.

The Money Market and Financial Situation.—The re-action of sentiment noted a week ago in connection with the markets for securities has been to a large extent local and temporary. It has been confined mainly to the New York market for railway stocks and bonds, and has not been altogether sustained without break during the week. The most significant feature in finances is one of a more general character, indicating some derangement of the usual monetary conditions of other countries. The advance in rates of interest in London to relatively higher figures than in New York has finally brought the price of sterling exchange up to about the specie-exporting point, though the more potent cause behind this was the decrease of our exports of domestic products and the consequent scarcity of commercial bills against exports.

But the advance in rates of interest in London is due to an outflow of specie from there to various countries, largely to France, and, strangely enough, also to some extent to Australia. The French Government is putting out a new loan of about $60,000,000, which has taken some French capital back to Paris from London. As for the Australian movement, while it is not large, it yet indicates a marked change in the ordinary course of affairs, since Australia has always figured as a heavy producer of gold and not as a consumer. Whether or not the change is likely to become permanent, so as to cut off this source of European gold supply, is perhaps a question; but its significance to all Europe can not be gainsaid. And it is not a matter of indifference either to the United States, particularly at this juncture of our foreign trade affairs. The low rates of interest in the principal American financial centres are not the effect of increased floating capital, but of the stagnation of enterprise and the dulness and small profits of general trade. And trade is no better in Great Britain than here. The arbitrary advance in the rate of discount by the Bank of England is made only to prevent the outflow of specie, to which her markets have become so keenly sensitive.

The New York money market continues superabundantly supplied with loanable funds, and rates of interest keep at the lowest figures, viz.: 2 and 1½ per cent for call loans on stock collaterals, and 4½ for time loans on the same collaterals; mercantile discounts also remain at the same low rates, viz.: 4 and 4½ per cent for first-class double names for 60 days and 4 months, and 5 and 5½ per cent for the best single names. The only contingency in the near future that would have any effect on the money market, is the possible export of gold. The actual rate for demand sterling being now 4 88½@4 88¾, a further slight advance would bring the quotation up to a figure that would permit of the export of gold without loss, after paying insurance and other necessary expenses.

The Bank of England weekly statement exhibits a loss of £104,000 in specie and a reduction in the reserve to 40½ per cent, as compared with 41 9-16 per cent in the preceding week. The Bank rate of discount was this week increased ½ per cent to 3½, owing to the outflow of specie to the Continent, and recently also to Australia, as already stated. The Bank of France weekly statement showed an increase of 14,187,000 francs in gold and 4,574,000 francs in silver. The Bank of Germany showed a gain of 8,920,000 marks for the week.

The interior exchanges are less favorable to New York than a week ago. At Chicago, New York exchange is now par. instead of 60c. premium as a week ago.

The following table shows the changes from the previous week and a comparison with the two preceding years in the averages of the New York Clearing House banks.

Exchange.—The market for sterling has steadily hardened during the week, owing to the scarcity of commercial bills. Speculation in breadstuffs in this country has advanced prices, particularly of wheat, so much above the foreign markets that even the high rates for exchange are no inducement to exporters to make shipments. The posted rates for sterling on Friday, the 8th, were 4 86½ and 4 89½, against 4 86½ and 4 89 on the previous Friday. The actual rates on the 8th were as follows, viz.: Sixty days, 4 85½@4 85¾; demand, 4 88½@4 88¾; cables, 4 89@4 89½; commercial bills, 4 84½.

United States Bonds.—Government bonds have fluctuated but little during the week, and prices remain practically unchanged.

The closing prices at the N. Y. Board have been as follows:

State and Railroad Bonds.—The market for railroad bonds has been stronger than the market for stocks, and there has not only been a well-distributed business, but prices have advanced from ½ to 3 per cent, and in one instance—Texas & Pacific land grant incomes—5 per cent. The exceptions to the general advance have been the Northern Pacific and Oregon & Trans-Continental firsts and Wabash general mortgages. The speculative activity in New York West Shore & Buffalo 5s has diminished, but the prices have advanced. A plan for relieving the road is now under consideration which it is thought will be adopted. The following is the range of prices during the week for the most active issues: New York West Shore & Buffalo 5s at 53¼, 51⅛, 55; Texas & Pacific land grant incomes at 44, 51, 49; do. Rio Grande division firsts at 72, 71⅛, 73, 72, 72½; Northern Pacific firsts at 100, 99½, 100, 99⅝, 99¾; Oregon & Trans-Continental firsts at 72, 68, 70; Burlington & Quincy debentures at 94, 93¾, 95; Canada Southern firsts at 96½, 97⅛; Central Iowa firsts at 98, 100; Chesapeake & Ohio firsts, series B, at 98, 100; do. currency 6s at 49¾, 49½, 52; Denver & Rio Grande consols at 85, 88; Kansas & Texas general mortgage 6s at 81¼, 81, 82, 81¾; Metropolitan Elevated seconds at 91½, 91, 94; New Orleans & Pacific firsts at 83½@83@85; Rochester & Pittsburg firsts at 105, 107½; Richmond & Danville 6s at 94, 95½; East Tennessee incomes at 29, 30; Wabash general mortgage 6s at 65, 65½, 64; Iron Mountain 5s at 71, 73.

State issues were quiet and strong; sales included North Carolina 4s at 83¼ and 83; Tennessee 6s old at 38¾, do. compromise at 44@44¼; Arkansas 6s, funded, at 13, and Arkansas 7s, Central RR. issue, at 20½.

Railroad and Miscellaneous Stocks.—The policy of compelling the shorts to cover their outstanding contracts which was pursued with first one and then another of a number of stocks last week was not so well followed out this week, and on Tuesday and Wednesday and Thursday prices generally ruled lower. On Friday, however, there was an upward re-action which left the general market higher than on the preceding Friday. The coal shares were exceptionally strong throughout the week, and show the largest net advances, one of the elements of their strength being a rumor that Mr. Vanderbilt was seeking control of the Delaware Lackawanna & Western, with the purpose of forming a great coal combination. The general upward movement on Friday was influenced by the restoration of rates by the trunk-line roads, and the signing of a new agreement to maintain them. The rates on Utah business had been restored several days before, but on the other hand the Rock Island and the Northwestern have given notice of withdrawal from the Northwestern Traffic Association and the Central Iowa Traffic Association, and the troubles between the Union Pacific and the Burlington & Quincy in Nebraska remain unadjusted yet. These latter facts, however, have had comparatively little effect upon the market, since it is generally believed that a peaceful way out of the difficulties will sooner or later be found. Central Pacific suddenly developed weakness on Thursday, and closes lower than a week ago, as do also Oregon Trans-Continental, Louisville & Nashville, and Pacific Mail.

ANNUAL REPORTS.

South Carolina Railway.

(For the year ending December 31, 1883.)

This company is out promptly with a preliminary report of its operations in 1883. The President, Mr. H. P. Talmadge, remarks:

"The increased expense of maintaining road is more than accounted for by the greater length of bridges and trestles rebuilt during the year. The increase of taxes is due to the fact that in this year, for the first time since it was built, the entire length of road has been assessed. Hitherto the Columbia and Camden branches, 106 miles in all, have been exempt. There has been no change in the valuation, which is $14,000 per mile, and the taxes for 1884 will vary but slightly from 1883. The increase in expense of operating road is due to a large increase of tonnage and train mileage during the year, and the increase in car mileage paid is due to a similar increase of through business coming in foreign cars, and is partly offset by larger car mileage received.

"The reason why freight earnings show no corresponding increase is that the falling off in local cotton from the upper part of the State of South Carolina in the months of October, November and December caused a loss of revenue sufficient to overbalance the gain up to October 1. The tonnage carried in these three months, notwithstanding the deficiency in cotton, was greater than in the corresponding months in 1882, and prevented any reduction in operating expenses even in these months. The heavy falling off in our cotton receipts from the territory referred to is due to the smallness of the crop in that section, and not to diversion of business. The earnings of the New York and Charleston Warehouse and Steam Navigation Company for the year were made with only half the capacity that now exists, and will certainly be much exceeded in 1884."

St. Louis Vandalia & Terre Haute Railroad.

(For the year ending October 31, 1883.)

This railroad, which is leased to the Terre Haute & Indianapolis Railroad Company, forms the main route of the Pennsylvania system to the city of St. Louis. The report of Mr. Thomas D. Messler, President, contains the following:

| The gross earnings of the road, as reported by the lessee, were | $1,700,954 |
| Thirty per cent of which, being rental, was | $510,286 |
| The year's charges against this sum were | 357,910 |
| Leaving a surplus for the year of | $152,375 |
| Against this surplus there has been a further charge for suspended taxes relating to the years 1873, 1874 and 1875 of | 25,096 |
| Leaving a surplus over all charges of | $127,288 |

| Total expenses | $1,306,067 |
| Percentage of earnings (70) allowed therefor | 1,190,667 |
| Loss for 1883 | $115,399 |
| Loss for 1882 | 70,272 |
| Increase of loss in 1883 | $45,127 |

The gain in the freight earnings of $76,711 resulted from both local and through traffic. The local increased 6 31 per cent; this revenue did not keep pace with the increase in tonnage for the reason that the rate per ton per mile was reduced 16 72 per cent.

While there was a gain of $51,752, or 8 31 per cent, in the earnings from through freight, there was a decrease of 29,016 tons in this class of tonnage. The increase in the earnings from through freight was therefore due to the average rate secured on this traffic in 1883, an increase of 17·57 per cent over 1882. The falling off in through tonnage and ton mileage was due principally to the operations of the east-bound pool, under which a considerable amount of this class of freight was turned over to other railroads, which had not secured the percentage of tonnage allotted to them, the effect of which was to increase the average rate received, as above noted.

There was a gratifying increase in the coal tonnage, from 327,184 tons in 1882 to 378,113 tons in 1883, an increase of 50,934 tons. The receipts from this source were $186,159, as against $173,882 in 1882, being an increase of $12,277.

On passenger business, the decrease in through competitive passengers is due to the policy of paying no commissions to ticket agents of foreign lines, and to the higher differential fare charged by this company, in comparison with other lines, under the passenger pooling arrangement. The average rate received on through travel was 2·272 cents in 1883, as against 2·096 cents in 1882, an increase of 8·40 per cent. Of the total passenger earnings, $184,049 were derived from the local travel and $270,930 from through travel.

No change has been made in the capital stock, funded debt, or other liabilities, excepting a slight decrease in the amount of coupons for interest not presented for payment. The balance due by the lessee was increased from $215,530 October 31, 1882, to $342,076 October 31, 1883. From this there was payable at November 1, 1883, $91,000 for interest on the second mortgage bonds, leaving a net balance of $251,076, besides the balance in the hands of the Treasurer of $3,144.

The following are statistics of traffic and earnings for four years past, prepared for the Chronicle:

Of the balance Dec. 31, 1883, $309,651 remains on hand in income account, and the remaining $117,706 represents $122,000 preferred stock received for lands and canceled. The gross earnings from the operation of the railroad were $1,328,527 in 1883, $1,109,840 in 1882, $732,630 in 1881, and $596,112 in 1880. During 1883 the work of re-laying the main track throughout with steel rails was completed; the entire branch to Taylor's Falls, 21 miles, was purchased (an undivided half being previously owned); a branch to Grantsburg, 17 miles, was built, which was opened for business last month, making the present mileage operated 225 miles, and $133,713 was expended for improvement, construction and equipment. The deferred receipts from land and stumpage sales outstanding December 31, 1883, were $405,547, and 1,206,867 acres of land remained on hand unsold. The equipment trust has gradually been paid off out of the earnings, and upon the payment of the small balance due May 1 next the company acquires full ownership of the entire equipment held in trust, and the trust ceases. A condensed balance-sheet as of December 31, 1883, is given below, but the 1,206,867 acres of land of the company are not included among assets therein stated:

Alabama New Orleans Texas & Pacific Junction.—This company, which controls the route between Cincinnati and New Orleans, recently announced in London a subscription for £800,000 in 6 per cent first mortgage debentures having twenty-five years to run. These bonds make a total of £1,500,000 issued by the company, and were offered to subscribers at 92½.

British Exports of Rails.—For the year the exports of iron and steel rails from Great Britain to the United States and to all countries have been, in tons of 2,240 pounds:

Canadian Pacific.—The debate on the Canadian Pacific resolutions, granting a loan of $22,500,000 to the company, to aid in the construction of the line, was begun this week in the Dominion Parliament, by Sir Charles Tupper, Minister of Railways. He showed that the guarantee of 3 per cent on $65,000,000 of Canadian Pacific stock gave no relief to the company, owing to the "bearing" of the stock on the New York and London markets, and the hostility of rival corporations, as well as that of the Opposition party. The company had $8,000,000 locked up in the hands of the Government, and over $2,000,000 more coming due on the guarantee. The company could finish the road in 1891, as prescribed by contract, but as it was necessary, so as not to allow traffic being diverted to the neighboring republic by the Northern Pacific and other roads, to finish the railway in 1886, the Government had to come to the assistance of the company. Should the company fail to meet its obligations with the Government, then the country was amply protected, and would be gainers instead of losers thereby.

Chicago & Northwestern.—The Chicago & Northwestern Company has made its report for the calendar year to the Wisconsin Railroad Commissioners. It shows:

| Gross earnings | $25,024,666 |
| Operating expenses, 60 per cent, including $629,207 for taxes and $3,249,052 construction account | 15,048,064 |
| Net | $9,975,102 |
| Fixed charges | 4,144,260 |

| Dividends | 2,933,684 |
| Surplus | $2,597,158 |

Nothing is said about rentals, which last year amounted to $1,570,048, which amount, deducted from the above surplus, would make it for 1883 $1,026,210.

Chicago St. Louis & Pittsburg.—Notice is given to the holders of the following prior lien bonds of this company, viz.: Toledo Logansport & Burlington first mortgage, Toledo Logansport & Burlington income, that this company will be prepared to pay off in cash the principal and accrued interest of the above named bonds at the Union Trust Company of New York on and after February 1, 1884.

Danville Olney & Ohio.—The Boston Herald says: "The situation as regards the Danville Olney & Ohio River road controversy appears to be this: The Corbin party is moving for the removal of Receiver Howard and the appointment of a receiver more friendly to their cause. The Ware party has been moving for a foreclosure, and both parties are working to secure the support of the bondholders. There are $869,500 bonds and certificates outstanding, of which the Corbin party have $318,000 actually in possession and $142,000 pledged. Of the latter $73,500 is in the control of the committee or in the hands of Mr. Rufus Coffin by power of attorney."

Indianapolis Decatur & Springfield.—A number of holders of the second mortgage bonds of the Indianapolis Decatur & Springfield Railway Company held a meeting Feb. 5, and received a statement from the trustees under the mortgage of their action during the past year. T. B. Aitken, of this city, presided. The meeting was private. At its close it was stated that the trustees reported that the receipts of the road during the past year were $224,554 and the disbursements $194,492. A committee was appointed to advise with the directors of the road as to its prospects and report at a future meeting. This committee consists of J. D. Probst, J. J. Crane and C. G. Lincoln. Holders of the preferred stock and second mortgage bonds of this company have been given notice that on and after Feb. 11 the securities named may be re-converted into the original second mortgage bonds for which they were issued. The original second mortgage is dated July 1, 1876, and is for $2,669,000. The bonds run 30 years and bear 7 per cent interest. The road is now leased to the Indiana Bloomington & Western.

Kentucky Central.—This railroad company, of which Mr. C. P. Huntington is President, is in want of more money. At Cincinnati, on Feb. 3, an informal meeting of bond and stock holders of the Kentucky Central was held for the purpose of devising ways and means for raising money. It was finally agreed to request the holders of the stock to subscribe 10 per cent, that is $10 a share, which would produce about $600,000. Of the $6,000,000 of consolidated bonds issued by the company, $600,000 are unsold; but of that amount $222,000 are to be held in reserve for the purpose of retiring the third mortgage 7 per cent bonds due June 1, 1885. The remaining $337,000 of the consolidated bonds it is proposed to sell, and from that sale about $275,000 might be realized. A number of the stockholders are also bondholders, and it was decided at the meeting to request the bondholders to scale down the interest on their bonds for three years, and take 4 per cent instead of 6. It is proposed to do this in order to secure money for completing the Livingston extension and putting betterments on the road. How the minority stock and bond holders will act in the matter is a question yet to be decided.

The News-Journal, of Cincinnati, recently gave the following summary concerning this road: "The total mileage of the road, including the Livingston extension and the Maysville branch, is 220 miles, thirty-nine of which are leased from the Louisville & Nashville Company for ninety-nine years from January 1, 1883, for $24,000 per annum, with a right to purchase at any time for $400,000. The bonded debt of the Maysville road is $400,000 of 7 per cent first mortgage bonds. The consolidated six per cent bonds amount to $6,600,000. The Maysville road is not covered by the 6 per cents, nor have any of them been set aside to pay the bonded debt of that line. The indebtedness of the main line and Livingston extension is separate and distinct from the bonded debt of the Maysville branch and the obligations growing out of the thirty-nine miles of leased line. Out of the $6,600,000, $6,000,000 have been sold, leaving $600,000 in the treasury, of which $221,000 are held to liquidate the $221,000 of 7 per cents, which will be due in 1885. This leaves $370,000 6 per cents subject to sale. The share capital is the same in amount as the consolidated bond debt, but the stock has no value except as a voting power. Thus, it will be seen, the entire authorized bonded debt of the system is $7,000,000, besides the rental, which in reality places the bonded liabilities of the company at $7,400,000. Now, it is conceded that the Livingston extension, together with the immediate demands of the other mileage for iron structures, station houses, motive power, permanent and movable equipment, &c., will require an expenditure within the next twelve months of at least $1,000,000, and that the $379,000 of 6 per cents is all the company has in the way of money or securities with which to meet these demands."

Louisiana State Bonds.—A report from New Orleans, Feb. 1, said: "The State to-day defaulted in the payment of interest due on the three per cent bonds known as the 'baby' bonds. It would require about $18,000 to pay the coupons due to-day on the bonds, most of which are held here. The fiscal agent explains that, owing to the late decision of the Supreme Court, making the bonds not only receivable for property sold for back taxes, but also for costs, penalties and interest, little cash is being received to the credit of this fund. While the settlements of the tax collectors with the Auditor and Treasurer during the present week have amounted to over $30,000, only $72 was received for interest on the 'baby' bonds. Therefore the State National Bank, the fiscal agency, now having over $40,000 in on redeemed coupons of the 'baby' bonds, did not feel justified in cashing any more coupons of the bonds."

N. Y. West Shore & Buffalo.—The Evening Post says: "We understand that measures are on foot to raise $1,500,000 for general purposes, and about $3,000,000 for additional equipment required by the company's traffic. The latter sum, it is ascertained, can be raised without difficulty on car trust bonds, provided the $1,500,000 is obtained to relieve the company from embarrassment and put the road in a condition of efficiency. It is stated that this additional sum can be obtained on condition that certain changes are made in the management. The business of the road is said to be increasing. Satisfactory traffic arragements have been made with the Grand Trunk and Great Western railways, and also with the Hoosac Tunnel line, so that through trains are now running for freight and passengers between Chicago and New York and Chicago & Boston. The fixed charges of the company are under $3,000,000. It is part of the financial plan to fund three of the coupons of the West Shore bonds."

Ocean Cables.—The Merchants' Telegraph and Cable Company met to perfect an organization, the following directors being present: The Hon. Thomas L. James, Anderson Fowler, M. D. C. Borden, E. A. Quintard, David Bingham, W. A. Cole, E. R. Livermore, Henry W. O. Dodge, A. D. Straus, John H. Herbert, Henry O. Edye, George F. Plummer, Edward A. Tobey and Vernon H. Brown. Officers were elected as follows: President, Thomas L. James; Vice-President, Anderson Fowler; Treasurer, E. R. Livermore; Secretary, Amos Rogers; Counsel, Wayne MacVeagh; Executive Committee—A. D. Straus, Henry O. Edye, John F. Plummer, E. A. Quintard and W. A. Cole: Finance Committee—David Bingham, Anderson Fowler and E. R. Livermore. The new company proposes to push forward the work of laying two cables between New York and London direct. The cables are to cost less than any of those that have been previously laid across the Atlantic, and are known as "light cables." They will be constructed differently from those now in use, in that the outside wrappings of hemp are to be twisted in such a manner as to prevent any injury in the paying out. The iron armor or covering of the present cable will also be dispensed with in the deep sea, and only used when the ocean currents are strong and near the shore, where the wear and tear of tide and storm is liable to injure the cables. The composition, with the hemp that forms the outer covering, has been found to be impervious to the action of the sea water. The two cables will cost $6,000,000, and they are to be constructed within a year. Over 85 per cent of the cable business is said to emanate from this city, and by far the larger portion of this is of a business nature, of which the new company hopes to obtain a large portion, as its object is to furnish a trustworthy business cable.—N. Y. Times.

Oregon Railway & Navigation Co.—This company recently authorized a new consolidated mortgage on its railroad property, at the rate of $20,000 a mile of both finished and contemplated road. It was proposed to issue under the mortgage $14,280,000 of bonds, bearing 5 per cent interest and running forty years, but of this amount enough bonds were to be reserved to retire nearly $6,000,000 of first mortgage bonds and $1,200,000 of scrip certificates issued as dividends on the stock. The execution of the mortgage has been postponed by reason of legal difficulties. The N. Y. Tribune says: "It is understood that the balance of the bonds (about $7,000,000) had been negotiated with Baring Brothers of London, on the condition that the mortgage should be approved by Charles F. Southmayd, of Evarts, Southmayd & Choate. After an examination lasting several days, Mr. Southmayd declined to approve the mortgage on account of a law relating to mortgages which was passed by the Oregon Legislature at its last session. It is understood that this statute prohibits mortgages extending from one county to another, and that, as no exceptions were made, it is held to apply to railroad corporations. With this cloud on the title, the Barings have refused to take the new bonds.

"It was said yesterday, in behalf of the Oregon Railway & Navigation Company, that the statute was not intended to include railroad corporations; that the legislation was for the taxation of money loaned on mortgage and an attempt to separate mortgage and equity rights in real property. No change in the law can be made for a year, however, for the Oregon Legislature is not in session."

Richmond & Alleghany.—The following is a plan for re-adjustment of the stock, bonds and obligations of this company: First—Holders of first mortgage bonds to accept interest at 3½ per cent per annum upon their bonds from July, 1883, to January 1, 1887, inclusive, payments of coupons maturing thereafter to be paid in full; thenceforward fixed charges to be $350,000 per annum, payable semi-annually, being the interest on the first mortgage bonds. Second—Holders of second mortgage bonds to surrender unpaid coupons, and to convert principal of bonds, dollar for dollar, into an issue of preferred stock, not to exceed $5,000,000 in amount, and to be preferred as to dividends at the rate of 6 per cent per annum, and after dividend at same rate has been declared and paid upon common stock, preferred and common stock to share equally in further dividends; the preferred and common stock to have co-ordinate voting power, the second mortgage to be canceled and discharged of record, and no mortgage obligation in excess of the amount of present first mortgage shall ever be issued by the company, without the consent of the holders of two-thirds of all the stock. Third—The floating debt, amounting to about $350,000, to be paid in cash from contributions by holders of stock or others. Fourth—Holders of stock to pay an assessment of 10 per cent par value to provide funds to pay balance of floating debt. For money thus contributed there shall be issued preferred stock at 50 per cent of par value. If the requisite amount of subscribers be not obtained to the agreement on or before November 15, 1884, the agreement shall be null and void. Erwin Davis, James B. Colgate, John J. McCook, James T. Closson and George F. Baker are appointed a committee to carry out the above plan. Some of the first mortgage bondholders will probably hold a meeting soon, at which some changes will be suggested.

St. Louis Hannibal & Keokuk.—At St. Louis, February 7, Erwin I. Case, of Peoria, was appointed by Judge Treat, of the United States District Court, receiver of the St. Louis Hannibal & Keokuk Railroad. He is placed under bond of $100,000, with John I. Blair and Samuel Dodd as his sureties. The mortgage was executed in 1877, and covers all of the 81¾ miles of the road, which is a feeder of the Wabash Railway and extends from Hannibal to Gilmore Springs. The principal bondholders are John I. Blair, who holds $424,000, and the trustees of the estate of Moses Taylor, who hold $428,000.

Toledo Cincinnati & St. Louis.—Mr. John Felt Osgood, who has returned from his inspection of the Toledo Cincinnati & St. Louis Railroad, says that the system is in a poor condition; that fully 240 miles of track—which is now laid with light iron—will have to be re-constructed, and that other improvements also are greatly needed. The experts who accompanied Mr. Osgood are engaged in preparing their report, and not until this is completed will it be possible to say what amount of receiver's certificates will be required to put the line into suitable condition for profitable operation. Owing to the extreme cold weather of last month, and other causes, the earnings for that period are understood to have fallen off considerably.—Boston Advertiser.

Union Canal.—At the annual meeting in Philadelphia, Feb. 5, of the Union Canal Company, a corporation controlled by the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad Company, a committee was appointed to consider what is best for the interest of the bondholders in connection with the $2,000,000 first mortgage of the company. This loan fell due in November, and steps have been taken to foreclose the mortgage.

Wabash St. Louis & Pacific.—A special meeting of the stockholders of the Wabash St. Louis & Pacific Railroad has been called for March 22, for the purpose, it is said, of confirming the action of the directors on the collateral trust bonds, which were issued last July. It is stated that the Wabash Company has made a sale at 90 of $5,000,000 of the new collateral trust bonds, guaranteed by the Iron Mountain Company. About $4,000,000 of this money is to be applied to the payment of the company's floating debt.

COMMERCIAL EPITOME.

FRIDAY NIGHT, Feb. 8, 1884.

The weather is milder, and in the Southern States quite spring-like. The rapid melting of the accumulated snow, with the fall of rain, has caused disastrous floods in the Ohio Valley. The labor troubles among the cotton operatives have increased; but in other branches of industry throughout the country lower wages have been accepted in many cases. A return of confidence in railroad securities is having a favorable effect upon general trade. The early spring business does not, however, promise to be large. A bill making very moderate reduction in import taxes has been introduced into the lower house of Congress and will soon come up for discussion.

During the greater part of the week provisions have been well sustained, and a higher plane of values has been attained. Latterly a disposition to realize brought about irregularity, and to-day there was a decline in lard. Pork has been the mainstay of the market, remaining throughout at firm figures. To-day mess sold at $16 50@$16 62½ and clear back at $18 75@$20. Lard had an early decline, which was followed by a slight reaction, and the final was steady, February being quoted at 9·70c.; March, 9·72@9·75c.; April, 9 82@9·84c.; May, 9 91@9·93c.; June, 5·97@9 99c.; July, 10@10·05c. On the spot Western was quoted 9 75c.; refined for the Continent, 9·95c.; South America, 10c. Beef remains steady, though quiet, at $24@$26 for city extra India mess. Beef hams are firm at $26@$26 50. Butter has had a decline, and the best creameries are now 37c. Cheese, on the contrary, has been advanced to 14@14¼c. for the best factories. Tallow is now dull and easy at 7⅜@7½c. Stearine, though quiet, remains steady at 10¼c. for prime. Oleomargarine, 8⅞@9c.

Rio coffee has been quiet for future delivery and latterly rather weak, closing dull at 10 75c. for February, 10·80c. for March, 10·95c. for April, 11c. for May and 11·05c. for June; on the spot, the market was firm but quiet until to-day, when a fair trade was done at 12¾c. for fair cargoes; mild grades have sold freely, especially Padang and Maracaibo, at firm prices. Tea has been fairly active, and though weak at one time, the close was firm, both on the spot and for future delivery. Spices have been quiet and steady. Foreign fruits have been quiet and raisins lower. Rice has been fairly active and steady. Molasses has been steady and New Orleans fairly active. Raw sugar has been firm, with rather more activity, on the basis of 5⅞c. for fair refining and 6¾c.@6 13-16c. for 96-degrees test centrifugal; refined has been in better demand at times, and closed firm at 8¼c. for crushed, 8c. for powdered and 7¾c. for granulated.

There has been only a moderate trade in Kentucky tobacco, but prices rule steady; lugs, 7@8c.; leaf, 8½@10½c.; sales, 290 hhds., mostly for export. The exports since the first inst. are 1,579 hhds. In seed leaf, only a small business has been reported at steady figures. Sales for the week, 1,680 cases, including 630 cases crop 1882 Pennsylvania assorted, 11@20c., wrappers, 18@24c.; 450 cases 1881 crop Pennsylvania, 6½@10c.; 250 cases crop 1882, State, 13c; 100 cases crop 1882 Wisconsin Havana seed, 18@25c.; 100 cases crop 1882, New England, 10@20c.; and 100 cases crop 1882, Ohio, 9@15c.; also 600 bales Havana, 80c.@$1 15, and 400 bales Sumatra at $1 20@$1 50.

The legitimate business in naval stores has been upset by the opening of the Naval Stores Exchange, where considerable speculation has been indulged in. Spirits turpentine selling for April at 37¾c., and good strained rosin, for the same month, at $1 54; on the spot, they are respectively 36c. and $1 50. Refined petroleum has been advanced by the demands of shippers, who desired to take advantage of the present low rates for ocean charter room; 9⅝c. is now the price for 70 test for this and early next month's delivery. Crude oil certificates have been depressed by the free flowing of the Porter, Balltown No. 17 and new wells in the Cranberry districts; to-day there was a small failure, and the lowest figure was $1 08⅞ and the closing $1 09⅛@$1 09¼. American pig iron is firm, and a healthy trade for consumption is in progress. Steel rails are firm, 40,000 tons selling at the mills at $34@$36.

In ocean freights the movement of berth room has been insignificant. Rates have latterly shown weakness and have declined. Oil charters have been further depressed, 2s. being accepted to Antwerp. To-day grain was taken to Liverpool by steam at 3¼c.; flour, 15s.; bacon, 17s. 6d.@20s.; cheese, 25s.; cotton, 3-16d; grain to London by steam, 3d.; do. to Avon-mouth by steam, 3½d.; do. to Antwerp by steam, 3¼@4d.; refined petroleum to London, Bremen or Antwerp, 2s.; crude do. to Havre, 2s. 4½d.; grain by steam from Baltimore to Cork for orders, 3s. @3s. 3d. per quarter.

The speculation in cotton for future delivery at this market the past week has not been active, and prices, without showing wide fluctuations, have been variable, with some irregularity. Such strength as has been exhibited apparently resulted from mere manipulation, directed mainly toward March contracts, aided to some extent by the rapid reduction of stocks in Southern markets, the exports having been very heavy early in the week. The depressing influences have been the labor troubles in Lancashire and New England, the increase in the crop movement, as shown by the enlarged receipts at some of the principal interior towns, and the return of milder weather at the South, promising an early planting season for the next crop. There was an important decline in the course of Saturday and Monday; Tuesday was firmer; Wednesday was variable, and closed irregular; Thursday had a buoyant opening, but the early advance was more than lost at the close. To-day the opening was firm, but the liberal interior movement of the crop checked the demand, prices gave way, and the close was quiet at a further decline, making a reduction for the week of 4 points for February, 7 points for March, 12@15 points for the remainder of this crop and 12@16 points for the next crop. Cotton on the spot was dull and unchanged until yesterday, when some variations were made in nominal quotations; of white cotton, strict good middling was advanced 1/8c.; and of stained, low middling advanced 1/8c., but middling declined 1/8c. To-day the market was quiet and unchanged; middling uplands, 10 3/4c.

The total sales for forward delivery for the week are 343,200 bales. For immediate delivery the total sales foot up this week 1,402 bales, including —— for export, 742 for consumption, 660 for speculation and —— in transit. Of the above, —— bales were to arrive. THE VISIBLE SUPPLY OF COTTON to-night, as made up by cable and telegraph, is as follows. The Continental stocks, as well as those for Great Britain and the afloat, are this week's returns, and consequently all the European figures are brought down to Thursday evening. But to make the totals the complete figures for to-night (Feb. 8), we add the item of exports from the United States, including in it the exports of Friday only.

RECEIPTS FROM THE PLANTATIONS.—The following table is prepared for the purpose of indicating the actual movement each week from the plantations. Receipts at the outports are sometimes misleading, as they are made up more largely one year than another at the expense of the interior stocks. We reach therefore, a safer conclusion through a comparative statement like the following. In reply to frequent inquiries we will add that these figures, of course, do not include overland receipts or Southern consumption; they are simply a statement of the weekly movement from the plantations of that part of the crop which finally reaches the market through the out-ports.

The above statement shows—1. That the total receipts from the plantations since September 1, 1883, were 4,326,116 bales; in 1882-83 were 4,812,914 bales; in 1881-82 were 4,209,420 bales.

2.—That, although the receipts at the out-ports the past week were 111,481 bales, the actual movement from plantations was only 94,292 bales, the balance being taken from the stocks at the interior towns. Last year the receipts from the plantations for the same week were 161,929 bales and for 1882 they were 77,288 bales.

| Receipts at the ports to Feb. 8. | 4,092,797 | 4,485,815 | 3,874,317 | 4,250,267 |
| Interior stocks on Feb. 8 in excess of September 1..... | 233,319 | 327,099 | 335,103 | 274,999 |
| Tot. receipts from plantat'ns | 4,326,116 | 4,812 914 | 4,209,420 | 4,525,266 |
| Net overland to February 1... | 444,671 | 472 32 | 337,278 | 374,919 |

It will be seen by the above that the decrease in amount in sight to-night, as compared with last year, is 524,447 bales, the increase as compared with 1881-82 is 249,089 bales, and the decrease from 1880-81 is 89,398 bales.

WEATHER REPORTS BY TELEGRAPH.—The weather has been mild and spring-like over a large portion of the South during the week, and in Texas farmers are actively preparing for the next crop. In Arkansas and Tennessee, however, there have been heavy rains, over seven inches having fallen at Helena and five and one-half inches at Pine Bluff. In consequence the roads in that section are in a very bad condition.

Galveston, Texas.—We have had drizzles on four days of the week, the rainfall reaching ten hundredths of an inch. The thermometer has averaged 65, the highest being 71 and the lowest 59.

Indianola, Texas.—There has been no rain during the week. We are having splendid weather, and farmers are active with crop preparations. The thermometer has averaged 65, ranging from 55 to 74.

Palestine, Texas.—It has been showery on two days of the week, the rainfall reaching sixty-nine hundredths of an inch. Farmers are busy plowing. The thermometer has ranged from 39 to 77, averaging 58.

New Orleans, Louisiana.—It has rained three days of the week, the rainfall reaching five hundredths of an inch. The thermometer has averaged 68.

Shreveport, Louisiana.—Telegram not received.
Vicksburg, Mississippi.—Telegram not received.
Meridian, Mississippi.—Telegram not received.
Greenville, Mississippi.—Telegram not received.
Columbus, Mississippi.—It has rained on two days of the week, the rainfall reaching four inches and ninety-eight hundredths. It is still raining, and there is much apprehension of overflow.
Little Rock, Arkansas.—There has been but one clear day during the week, the remainder being cloudy, with more or less rain every day. The rainfall reached four inches and fifty-two hundredths. Country roads are almost impassable, and the streams are very high. Average thermometer 52, highest 70 and lowest 38.
Pine Bluff, Arkansas.—The early part of the week was clear and pleasant, but it has rained constantly on three days during the latter portion. The rainfall reached five inches and fifty hundredths. The thermometer has averaged 55, ranging from 34 to 72.
Fort Smith, Arkansas.—It has rained severely on three days of the week, the rainfall reaching two inches and twenty-five hundredths. The wagon roads are in a fearful condition. The thermometer has averaged 63, the highest being 72 and the lowest 28.
Helena, Arkansas.—It has rained on three days of the week and the remainder has been cloudy. The rainfall reached seven inches and thirty-six hundredths. It has rained on sixty hours and is still raining. The thermometer has ranged from 39 to 74, averaging 55.
Monticello, Arkansas.—Telegram not received.
Memphis, Tennessee.—It has rained on six days of the week and is now raining had. The rainfall reached three inches and fifty-one hundredths. The increased receipts are due to the improved condition of the roads during the latter part of last week and the early part of this week. But the roads are in an almost impassable condition again from the late rains. The thermometer has averaged 57, the highest being 73 and the lowest 36.
Nashville, Tennessee.—It has rained on three days of the week, the rainfall reaching two inches and forty-five hundredths. The thermometer has averaged 54, ranging from 31 to 70.
Mobile, Alabama.—It has been showery on two days, and the remainder of the week has been pleasant. The rainfall reached three hundredths of an inch. The thermometer has ranged from 51 to 73, averaging 64.

Madison, Florida.—We have had no rain during the week. The thermometer has averaged 65, ranging from 43 to 84.

Columbia, South Carolina.—Telegram not received.

The following statement we have also received by telegraph, showing the height of the rivers at the points named at 3 o'clock February 7, 1884, and February 8, 1883.

| | | Feb. 7, '84. | | Feb. 8, '83. | |
| | | Feet. | Inch. | Feet. | Inch |
| New Orleans | Below high-water mark | 4 | 5 | 6 | 5 |
| Memphis | Above low-water mark. | 26 | 8 | 23 | 0 |
| Nashville | Above low-water mark. | 39 | 5 | 32 | 1 |

New Orleans reported below high-water mark of 1871 until Sept. 9, 1874, when the zero of gauge was changed to high-water mark of April 15 and 16, 1874, which is 6-10ths of a foot above 1871, or 16 feet above low-water mark at that point.

India Cotton Movement from all Ports.—We have re-arranged our India service so as to make our reports more detailed and at the same time more accurate. We had found it impossible to keep out of our figures, as cabled to us for the ports other than Bombay, cargoes which proved only to be shipments from one India port to another. The plan now followed relieves us from the danger of this inaccuracy and keeps the totals correct. We first give the Bombay statement for the week and year, bringing the figures down to February 7.

Bombay Receipts and Shipments for four years.

| Year | Shipments this week. Great Brit'n. | Shipments this week. Continent. | Shipments this week. Total. | Shipments since Jan. 1. Great Britain | Shipments since Jan. 1. Continent. | Shipments since Jan. 1. Total. | Receipts. This Week. | Receipts. Since Jan. 1. |
| 1884 | 21,000 | 11,000 | 32,000 | 74,000 | 83,000 | 157,000 | 34,000 | 227,000 |
| 1883 | 8,000 | 14,000 | 22,000 | 47,000 | 81,000 | 128,000 | 46,000 | 211,000 |
| 1882 | 27,000 | 4,000 | 31,000 | 109,000 | 61,000 | 170,000 | 47,000 | 235,000 |
| 1881 | 1,000 | 39,000 | 40,000 | 27,000 | 61,000 | 88,000 | 26,000 | 139,000 |

According to the foregoing, Bombay appears to show a decrease compared with last year in the week's receipts of 12,000 bales, and an increase in shipments of 10,000 bales, and the shipments since January 1 show an increase of 29,000 bales. The movement at Calcutta, Madras and other India ports for the last reported week and since the 1st of January, for two years has been as follows. "Other ports" cover Ceylon, Tuticorin, Kurrachee and Coconada.

| | Shipments for the week. Great Britain. | Shipments for the week. Continent. | Shipments for the week. Total. | Shipments since January 1. Great Britain. | Shipments since January 1. Continent. | Shipments since January 1. Total. |

| 1883..... | 5,500 | 3,100 | 8,600 | 34,500 | 6,400 | 40,900 |

The above totals for the week show that the movement from the ports other than Bombay is 900 bales less than same week last year. For the whole of India, therefore, the total shipments since January 1, 1884, and for the corresponding periods of the two previous years, are as follows.

Exports to Europe from all India.

| Shipments to all Europe from— | 1884. This week. | 1884. Since Jan. 1. | 1883. This week. | 1883. Since Jan. 1. | 1882. This week. | 1882. Since Jan. 1. |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Bombay ..... | 32,000 | 157,000 | 22,000 | 128,000 | 31,000 | 170,000 |
| All other ports. | 7,700 | 28,500 | 8,600 | 40,900 | 12,500 | 59,900 |
| Total ..... | 39,700 | 185,500 | 30,600 | 168,900 | 43,500 | 229,900 |

This last statement affords a very interesting comparison of the total movement for the three years at all India ports.

Alexandria Receipts and Shipments.—Through arrangements we have made with Messrs. Davies, Benachi & Co., of Liverpool and Alexandria, we now receive a weekly cable of the movements of cotton at Alexandria, Egypt. The following are the receipts and shipments for the past week and for the corresponding week of the previous two years.

| Alexandria, Egypt, February 6. | 1883-84. | 1882-83. | 1881-82. |

* A cantar is 98 lbs.

This statement shows that the receipts for the week ending Feb. 6 were 50,000 cantars and the shipments to all Europe were 18,000 bales.

Overland Movement, &c., to February 1.—In our editorial columns to-day will be found our regular statements of overland movement, receipts, exports, spinners' takings, &c., brought down to February 1.

South Carolina—Resources and Population—Institutions and Industries.—Through the courtesy of Mr. A. P. Butler, Commissioner of Agriculture, we have received a copy of the above-named publication, issued by the South Carolina State Board of Agriculture. It is in reality a complete and convenient hand book for the State, containing information and statistics on Agriculture, Manufacture, Labor, Climate, Geology, Population, Debt, Taxation, &c.

NEW YORK COTTON EXCHANGE.—COMMISSION LAW.—At the meeting last Tuesday, respecting the intended change of the law, Mr. Wm. Woodward moved that the proposed new terms be referred back to the Board, with the request to leave the existing law without alteration, but to abolish the penalty. Mr. Walter T. Miller explained that the proposed new tariff was a compromise, and a step in the right direction; if it should not work satisfactorily a further reduction might be made. Mr. D. G. Watts, while he saw the necessity for a change, did not agree with Mr. Woodward nor with the proposition now before the meeting. He suggested that a contract for 100 bales should represent 50,000 pounds; that the price difference should be raised to 2-100 and the commission be fixed at $20, without rebate. Messrs. S. Ranger, C. D. Miller, Wm. Ray, R. C. Allen and H. W. Farley were in favor of unrestricted trade. Mr. John H. Inman thought the proposed terms did not go far enough, yet he was willing to make a compromise and accept them as an instalment. Mr. Thos. A. Patterson spoke of the necessity of issuing certificates for cotton delivered on contracts and of increasing the price difference. Mr. Henry Hentz, in strong terms, repeated his protest against a change, because it would be a breach of faith toward those members who had paid $5,000 for a seat. Mr. R. C. Allen observed that the law which raised the commission for non-members from $5 to $25 was passed in April, 1881; but that the seats in question were not purchased before October, 1881, after which period the Board was bound not to sell any seats under $10,000. Mr. Henry Hentz continued by offering a resolution that non-residents should be allowed to vote by proxies. This was supported by General Bussey; but the Chairman, Mr. S. Gruner, Vice President, declared it out of order. Mr. Hentz also suggested that the difference in bidding for futures might be raised to 1-32d., the commission for residents in New York and vicinity to be fixed at 15c. for buying and selling, and the contract to represent 48,000 pounds, which would equalize the commission with the price difference. Mr. Woodward's resolution, after having been seconded, was finally passed, and the Board has named Monday, February 18, for another meeting, to discuss the plan of leaving the Commission law as it now exists, but to do away with the penalty of expulsion. It requires, of course, a two-thirds vote to carry this proposition; consequently it is likely to fail, and the matter be left, as it now is, to be agitated periodically in the future, as it has been in the past.

SOUTH CAROLINA'S COTTON MANUFACTURES.—The Charleston News & Courier, with its issue of Monday, Feb. 4, publishes a four-page supplement, giving returns of the agricultural and industrial condition in each county of the State. From the large amount of tabular matter we select the following table, for the purpose of showing the present number of cotton mills in the State, their consumption of cotton, and the product in quantity and value:

| Counties. | Number of Mills. | Cotton Consumed, Bales 500 Pounds. | Annual Product. | | Value of Annual Product. |

JUTE BUTTS, BAGGING, &c.—There is a fair demand for bagging, though the demand is of a jobbing character. Prices are steadily maintained, holders not showing any disposition to shade on the lots that are being taken, and we quote 9½c. for 1½ lbs., 10c. for 1¾ lbs., 10¾c. for 2 lbs. and 11½c. for standard grades. Butts have been in fair request, though the sales are mostly for paper grades, some 2,000 bales being placed at 2⅜c. A few small parcels of bagging are reported at 2⅞c. At the close sellers are naming 2⅜@2½c. for paper and 2¼@2⅝c. for bagging qualities. The total visible supply to the first instant, including stock on hand, is 160,811 bales. The "Blair Drummond" has arrived with 4,095 bales.

COMPARATIVE PORT RECEIPTS AND DAILY CROP MOVEMENT.—A comparison of the port movement by weeks is not accurate as the weeks in different years do not end on the same day of the month. We have consequently added to our other standing tables a daily and monthly statement, that the reader may constantly have before him the data for seeing the exact relative movement for the years named. The movement each month since September 1, 1883, has been as follows.

BREADSTUFFS.

FRIDAY, P. M., Feb. 8, 1884.

Flour has been dull and heavy. The supply of winter wheat grades is moderate, and with a better state of trade this fact might have no slight influence on prices; but for the present demand, it is ample. Choice grades of shipping flour are in the smallest supply, but even these are not held with confidence. The stock of all kinds of spring wheat grades is large, while the demand, both for export and home consumption, is light. The trade with the United Kingdom, indeed, has become so small that one of the lines between here and Glasgow will hereafter dispatch a steamer only once a fortnight, instead of weekly as heretofore. To-day the market was dull and depressed for most grades.

Wheat has sold sparingly for export, and the speculation has reached only a fair aggregate. Prices here have nevertheless advanced, owing to a rise in Chicago, where the speculation has shown signs of reviving. The advance has been favored, moreover, by a decrease in the visible supply of 1,162,079 bushels. A possibility of damage to the winter wheat through threatened floods in the Ohio Valley has also not been without some influence, while a higher temperature in other portions of the wheat belt was another fact used to manipulate the market. Yet the dulness of the export trade has still hung heavily over the market on the spot, and some increase in the already large quantity en route for Europe from the different granaries of the world has served to make the outlook even more unfavorable than heretofore, especially as the exporters aver that the prices here are from 6 to 8 cents above the parity of the Liverpool figures, after making all the usual calculations. Within a few days, therefore, the market here has become depressed, and to-day was ½c. to 3c. lower. It may be added that there have been charges of irregularities here in several cases in connection with the withdrawal of wheat from the warehouses, it being asserted that the posting of grain was recently avoided by peculiar methods on the part of the owners. The Grain Committee of the Produce Exchange dismissed the complaints made in the matter, though some members have expressed the opinion that a full investigation would have been better for all the parties concerned. No. 2 red closed at $1 11¼ in elevator, $1 06⅞ for February, $1 08½ for March, $1 10¾ for April, $1 13¼ for May, and $1 14¼ for June, these prices being 1¼c. above those of a week ago.

Indian corn has been only moderately active at the best, and at times very dull. Prices, however, have risen in sympathy with an advance at the West, though to-day there was a re-action in the tone of the market and they declined a fraction. The receipts at Chicago within a day or two have increased, and so has the visible supply. The bulls there contend that the receipts are large only because little corn is being stored in cribs by the farmers. The export trade here is very light and the speculation listless. No. 2 mixed closed at 61¾c. in elevator, 61¼c. for February, 62¼c. for March, 63¾c for April, and 65¼c. for May, these prices being ½ to ⅞c. higher than those of a week ago.

Rye and barley have been fairly active and firm. Oats have been quiet but have followed other cereals in their advance, and to-day were ½c. higher for mixed, though the trading was still within narrow limits. No. 2 mixed closed steady at 40¼c. for February, 41c. for March, 42c. for April and 42¾c for May.

THE DRY GOODS TRADE.

FRIDAY, P. M., Feb. 8, 1884.

There was a better and more hopeful feeling in the dry goods trade the past week, and a fairly satisfactory business was done in some departments. The situation in the cotton goods market has steadily improved under the influence of lessened production, and a slight advance on the most staple fabrics has been established and maintained. The movement in domestic woolens remained sluggish, but this caused no disappointment, as agents are not yet quite ready to show heavy fabrics adapted to the wants of the clothing trade. Foreign goods have met with rather more attention, but buyers are cautious, in view of the possibility of a change in the present tariff. The jobbing trade of this city was a little more active, but business at some of the Western distributing points was seriously checked by disastrous floods, which interrupted travel and transportation to some extent.

DOMESTIC COTTON GOODS.—The exports of domestics for the week were 2,320 packages, including 1,282 to Great Britain, 401 to Hayti, 167 to Santo Domingo, 132 to U. S. of Colombia, 98 to Venezuela, 83 to Mexico, &c. There was a moderately good demand for plain and colored cottons at agents' hands, and the tone of the market was decidedly firmer, with an upward tendency. Leading makes of fine brown sheetings have appreciated ¼c. per yard; some brands of wide sheetings were marked up 2½ per cent, and a small advance was made upon certain popular brands of bleached and colored cottons. On the other hand, certain staple cottons that have been relatively too high of late were slightly reduced in price in order to meet the market, but the general tendency was upward. Print cloths were unsettled by a strike at a number of Fall River mills, and almost nominal on the basis of 3⅝c. for 64x64s. Prints were in moderate demand and firm, owing to the advance in print cloths, and a fairly good distribution of ginghams, lawns, piques, wash fabrics and cotton hosiery was made by agents and large jobbers.

DOMESTIC WOOLEN GOODS.—Business in men's-wear woolens was restricted in volume. Clothiers have not shown much disposition to place orders for heavy cassimeres, &c., and agents have consequently deferred opening new goods until later on. A moderate business was done in certain makes of heavy worsteds, and some fair transactions were reported in overcoatings, but there was very little snap in the demand for any kind of clothing woolens. Ladies' cloths, tricots, stockinettes and Jersey cloths were in steady request, and choice styles of cloakings met with considerable attention. Kentucky jeans and doeskins ruled quiet with agents, and the demand for satinets was somewhat irregular, and upon the whole moderate. Dress fabrics, both all-wool and worsted, continued to move freely, and stocks are in such good shape that prices are firmly maintained on all goods of a desirable character. Carpets were in steady request, and some pretty good orders were placed for heavy shirts and drawers for future delivery.

FOREIGN DRY GOODS were in irregular demand at first hands, but there was a freer movement in some descriptions. Low prices enabled importers to effect some large sales of staple and fancy silks, and cheap mixed dress goods were in fair request. Men's-wear woolens continued sluggish, though some fair orders for heavy-weights were placed for later delivery. White goods, laces and embroideries were in fair request, but there was only a moderate call for housekeeping linens and handkerchiefs. Hosiery and gloves were fairly active in some quarters, and large lines of China mattings were distributed through the auction rooms at tolerably satisfactory prices.

Importations of Dry Goods.

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION.

Wall street has had one of its capricious fits this week. Probably there has been no time within the two years past when for the moment the general outlook would not better than now have suggested speculative confidence. To be sure, so far as the good dividend-paying properties are concerned, no sufficient reason has ever been assigned for the large decline that has in some cases taken place. But just when earnings are smallest, and promise to prove small for a time, when a very extensive flood puts a check on business already restricted, when the thaw, unless snow comes again, exposes winter wheat at a very critical period, when foreign exchange touches fearfully near the gold-shipping point and the shipment of considerable gold seems inevitable—just at that juncture away goes the whole list of stocks, good, bad and indifferent, and some of them to values higher than they have seen for many a day.

This we term capricious, and yet the general feeling on the street, is that there is more of a permanent air to the recovery than has heretofore appeared. One fact undoubtedly favors speculation, though it is by no means a new one, and that is our plethoric money market, the channels of commerce being so gorged with currency, and especially with irredeemable silver certificates (irredeemable except through the Custom House), that money is begging for even the appearance of security to base loans upon. Then, again (and this favors stock collaterals), there is among bank men rather more confidence felt in values since the late disclosures and the settlements and arrangements effected following the same, the feeling being that in that particular the worse points on the road to recovery have probably been exposed and passed; coupled with this also is the further circumstance that the bears appear to have lost their grip.

But, unfortunately, there is an evident dread which overhangs all markets, fettering if not proscribing a full return of confidence, and which is not unlikely to lead to disappointment of hopes now; and that is the continuing fear of a catastrophe through silver coinage and silver certificates, which the late rise in exchange to near the gold-shipping point suggests with new force. We have written more fully on this subject in another column. It is by no means the mere loss of a few millions of gold that excites apprehension, but it is the peculiarity in our circulating medium making that loss evidence of a disease which all history shows is inevitable under currency conditions similar to our own. For there is a law higher than thrones or Congressional edicts, pretty severe proof of which we are likely to receive later on, if we do not take the hints nature is giving us now. Of course, if this fear further depresses business, extending general exports through lower prices, while giving a new check to imports, gold shipments would be comparatively small, and the danger for the time be averted; for, unhappily, our safety, under existing currency conditions, lies in continued commercial depression.

The omission of the governors of the Bank of England, this week, to advance the rate of interest, averted for the time being the initial shipment of gold for the season. On Wednesday the rate of discount in the open market at London was full 3¼ per cent, and, with money reported in active demand, it was regarded by foreign bankers as likely that the minimum rate would be advanced to 4 per cent on Thursday, in which case sight bills, now within half a cent per pound sterling of the price at which gold can be profitably exported, would have been advanced and gold have gone out by to-day's (Saturday's) steamers. The gain of about £410,000 by the Bank of England, the rise in the rate of exchange at Paris on London to 25 francs 26 centimes, and the closing of the subscriptions to the new French loan, doubtless induced the management to make no advance, as 3¼ per cent seemed to be effective in changing to an extent the course of the gold current, though our cable advices show that only £191,000 of the week's gain by the Bank was imported, the remainder £219,000, having been received from the interior.

Still, it will not do to put any great confidence in a long continuance of the Bank rate at 3½ per cent. The small portion of the gain of gold for the week which came from abroad shows that considerable supplies from that source are by no means assured as yet. Besides, the catastrophe in the Soudan has been so startling as to make necessary a complete change in the policy of the British Government, calling for extraordinary measures and the employment of a considerable army and navy for the suppression of the rebellion. Furthermore it is thought possible that these reverses in Egypt may affect the native population of India and other British dependencies. At all events, whether that proves so or not, it seems certain that large sums of money will be required to maintain a force in Egypt sufficient to suppress the rebellion and restore order. Such expenditures coming at the present time, in addition to the strained condition of affairs resulting from a state of war, will, it is presumed, lead to a prolongation of the period of activity in money in the British metropolis and therefore to its relative dearness there compared with New York, resulting in further withdrawals from us of foreign capital, which can be more profitably employed at home, and preventing the investment of European capital in our railroad or other securities. Should there be further disaster to the British forces in Egypt, or should complications arise involving India, the effect in London would be quickly seen and felt here, as in that case English requirements for gold would be large. It is to be said also that at the moment there is apparently little probability of Europe taking enough of our breadstuffs or other staples in lieu of gold to make any great impression upon the exchange market. As to breadstuffs, the supply abroad continues abundant, and unless the demand should be urgent, owing to circumstances now unforeseen, it is unlikely that we shall be able to make liberal shipments. Of cotton we have no great surplus left for Europe. Under all these circumstances then, it is obvious that the outlook points very clearly to gold shipments, though for the present they are delayed.

With such events transpiring abroad, and such prospects affecting the movements of capital, our stock market worked its way up, as already stated. This, however, has not been an uninterrupted advance, the market being quite variable almost every day, but during the last two days closing quite strong. Undoubtedly the advance has not been due to outside buying, but in good part to manipulation, aided by rumors to the advantage of various properties. Exceptional strength has been displayed by Rock Island, based upon reports which appear to have some foundation, that Mr. Vanderbilt is seeking to obtain a larger interest in that property, immediate control being impossible, unless by resignation of some of the directors. Still, if he should be successful at the coming election, his ideas, which are adverse to those of the President now in control, would probably prevail. Lackawanna continues to be influenced by the story that Mr. Vanderbilt is also desirous of having a voice in the management of that road. The Northern Pacifics and Oregon Trans-Continental have been manipulated in the direction of higher prices, and the rise has been accompanied by the rumor that Mr. Gould had obtained control of the Northern Pacific through purchases of Oregon Trans-Continental. Union Pacific was depressed early in the week on reports that the earnings for December showed a large decrease, but subsequently the stock recovered on the statement that the net earnings were better because of a reduction in expenses. Western Union was not permitted seriously to show depression on the news of the progress made by its rival lines, and although the other Gould specialties have not materially advanced, they do not show more than fractional declines.

Chicago Burlington & Quincy comes promptly to hand with a statement of its gross and net earnings for December and the full year. We need scarcely say that the exhibit is an excellent one, and it may, perhaps, open the eyes of the managers of the famous tripartite arrangement to the fact that they have no mean rival to contend with. A road that can increase its gross earnings $4,559,564, and its net earnings $2,447,275, in a single year—for that is what the statement before us shows—evidently cannot be easily driven into subscribing to an agreement obviously detrimental to its interests. It is not to be disputed that during the years 1881 and 1882 the company's traffic remained almost stationary, and that therefore the present large increase is less significant than it otherwise would be. And yet it confutes the statements that the new mileage added to the system in recent years was proving a burden, and returning nothing for the outlay, on which predictions of evil to follow were so freely based. The truth is, the new mileage failed to make its influence on earnings perceptible during those years simply because the company suffered a large loss of traffic on its older lines, owing to deficient crops in the territory traversed by the system. Indeed, in the report for 1882 it was stated that though the increase in earnings over 1881 was only $374,349, even this would have been impossible except for the gains made on the lines west of the Missouri River, in which so much of the new mileage lies. The trouble with the lines east of the Missouri was the short crop of corn. The Chicago Burlington & Quincy is the largest corn carrier in the Northwest. No other line can compare with it in this respect. Hence when its corn tonnage fell from 40 million bushels in 1880 to 26 million in 1881, and then to 15 millions in 1882, a very heavy loss in earnings was involved, which had to be made good by gains in other items. In the past year, however, corn again reached a very large aggregate, (the road delivered, we notice, nearly 31 million bushels of the cereal at Chicago during the twelve months), and as a result we have the large increase in earnings now reported.

One does not, however, appreciate the real strength of the company's showing for 1883 until one examines the income account for the year before, and sees what was accomplished on the basis of that year's results. Then the company had a surplus of $1,611,463 ($1,329,725, of this on land account) after paying interest, dividends, rentals, &c., $631,442 for sinking funds and carrying $750,000 forward to renewal fund. The gain of $2,447,275 in net in 1883 would raise this surplus to over four millions, to be diminished by whatever increase has taken place in the requirements for interest and dividends. We have not the room now to go into an examination of the augmentation in these charges, but one has such large figures to deal with that the balance is sure to be heavy in any event.

The Erie Railroad has also issued a monthly statement this week, but it covers November, and not December. This contrasts sharply with the promptness with which the Burlington & Quincy prepares its exhibits. The Burlington has about twice as much mileage to report on as the Erie, and yet the latter requires just double the time that the former does to make up its accounts. Even the Pennsylvania issued full figures on all its lines, both East and West, comprising territory extending from the Atlantic Ocean all the way to the Mississippi River at St. Louis—the Pennsylvania issued full figures three weeks ago for December. We are pleased to hear, however, that the Erie officials think of studying the Pennsylvania's method of making up its returns, and may at some future day supply the figures with the same despatch as that company. The return for November has nothing very striking in it, except that it gives point to the remark we made in commenting upon the exceptionally large gain for October, namely that this could hardly be accepted as a criterion of the results for the months succeeding, which there was reason to suppose would make a less favorable showing. We now find a decrease of $54,127 in net for the month of November, which is nothing startling and still leaves the total for the two months $145,912 better than in the corresponding period of the year preceding, but in view of the varying results for different months, it would be more satisfactory to know also how the company had fared in December, which we think closed some 47 days ago.

Railroad reports of earnings from other roads have also been quite plentiful this week. The Chesapeake & Ohio has issued a very good exhibit (for December and the year) of its own line, and that of the Elizabethtown Lexington & Big Sandy, and the Richmond & Danville has published a return of its roads for January, which, though recording a falling off of $47,261 in net from last year, is yet more favorable than would appear on its face, since $45,000 of the decrease is said to be accounted for by an outlay of that amount for steel rails and fastenings on the Charlotte Columbia & Augusta Railroad. But particular attention has been attracted to the returns now coming in for the first week of February. In contrast with the exhibits for January, these almost all make handsome gains. Especially noteworthy, however, are the gains by Northwestern roads. Thus the St. Paul has an increase of $90,875, the Northwest an increase of $97,419, and the St. Paul & Omaha an increase of $35,500. But it should be remembered that there is a particular reason for these comparatively large gains on account of the falling off that occurred in earnings a year ago. The weather then was very bad over the whole of the Northwest, and though it was somewhat better in the remaining weeks of February, it yet compared unfavorably with the same period of 1882. This is important to bear in mind, for otherwise we may be led to expect continued heavy gains all through the succeeding weeks, which the actual results are not likely to bear out. Particularly will this be true when we come to March, for a good deal of delayed traffic was crowded into that month in 1883. To show how heavy and how uniform the decrease was in the first week in February last year, and how from week to week this decrease became less pronounced, till finally in March it developed into very heavy gains, we have prepared the following exhibit for the two months of the loss or gain on four leading roads. The plus sign refers to an increase over the year 1882, and the minus sign to a decrease.

LOSS OR GAIN IN 1883 AS COMPARED WITH 1882.

| February. | St. Paul. | Northwest. | Omaha. | Burl. Cedar Rap. & No. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| First week | −$138,643 | −$120,400 | −$27,400 | −$27,378 |
| Second week | −32,820 | −69,700 | −4,100 | −10,230 |
| Third week | −18,696 | −26,100 | −7,000 | +459 |
| Fourth week | +71,184 | +2,500 | −12,580 | −1,281 |
| Month | −$118,375 | −$162,700 | −$51,000 | −$38,630 |
| March. | | | | |
| Second week | +102,535 | +85,100 | −5,200 | +8,300 |
| Third week | +135,755 | +101,400 | +13,500 | +10,023 |
| Month | +$482,644 | +$423,000 | +$25,300 | +$28,806 |

Thus the St. Paul lost $138,000 and the Northwest $120,000 in the first week of February last year, which in either case is heavier than the gain this year. It will also be noticed that the fourth week of February already showed quite an improvement in earnings, but that throughout March the gains were rolled up without interruption, the Northwest increasing $423,000 for the month, and the St. Paul $482,000. It is with these augmented earnings that we shall have to compare later on.

The following shows relative prices in London and New York of leading securities at the opening each day.

Money continues abundant at an average of about 1½ per cent on call, and time loans have been made on stock collateral for a year at 5 per cent. Commercial paper is in fair supply and in good demand. Mail advices indicate an accumulation at the Western centres, and banks at the chief cities are seriously debating the abolition of the custom of paying interest on deposits belonging to interior institutions. There is one feature at St. Louis which is worthy of mention, and that is the reported demand from ranchmen upon banks in that city for accommodation in place of making application to neighboring banks or bankers, for which, it is stated, they have heretofore had to pay almost usurious rates. In relation to bank circulation, Comptroller Knox is quoted as saying that he has no doubt that the McPherson bill, which authorizes national banks to issue circulation equal in amount to the par value of the bonds deposited, will pass some time during the session; and he regards it as possible that the bill may be so amended as to allow 110 or 112 per cent of circulation on the 4 per cent bonds, but does not feel certain that such an amendment will be adopted. The following statement, made up from returns collected by us, exhibits the week's receipts and shipments of currency and gold by the New York banks.

The above shows the actual changes in the bank holdings of gold and currency caused by this movement to and from the interior. In addition to that movement, the banks have lost $1,800,000 through the operations of the Sub-Treasury. Adding that item therefore to the above, we have the following, which should indicate the total loss to the New York Clearing House banks of gold and currency for the week covered by the bank statement to be issued to-day.

The Bank of England reports a gain of £410,000 bullion during the week. This represents £191,000 from abroad and £219,000 received from the interior. The Bank of France shows an increase of 5,325,000 francs gold and of 475,000 francs silver, and the Bank of Germany since the last report has gained 5,543,000 marks. ## HOW MUCH GOLD WE HAVE TO LOSE.

Some seem to think we have an abundance of gold and would even be the better off for shipping a good block of it. One banker unburdens himself by saying in substance, that the banks are making loans for almost no interest, and would like to be rid of the overplus of cash, so that what was left would have a value.

Were our currency a free and not a mixed, forced one, such a suggestion as this guileless banker makes would be reasonable enough; in fact gold movements then would cause no real anxiety for they would be remedial, self-regulating, mere incidents in our commercial history occurring simply in obedience to trade requirements. But the present apprehension arises out of the fact that a gold currency is not thus restorative and automatic in its action any longer than it is wholly untrammelled, free to fix its own value and the value of all commodities. If any country by statute undervalues it, or puts it side by side with a kind of money that is less valuable, the better money as if sensitive to the affront, passes out of circulation either by being hoarded within the State so that it cannot get away, or it leaves for other countries through every avenue it can command. These are fundamental laws of currency, and history is full of illustrations of their truth. But we do not intend to weary our readers by reciting them.

Now what is our case? Congress not only has undervalued gold by affirming that 88 cents worth of silver bullion shall be equal to 100 cents worth of gold bullion, but is also forcing the less valuable into circulation by giving to the banker who will take it or take certificates (its representatives) a premium equalling the cost of exchange between New York and the West or South. That is to say, if one wishes to place in St. Louis $100,000 more or less when exchange is worth a quarter per cent, one can deposit in the Sub-Treasury here legal money and receive without charge (thereby saving the quarter per cent) a draft on that city payable in silver certificates. To transfer gold or its equivalents the rate of exchange or express charges must be paid, but in transferring silver it is saved. In no other way can Mr. Folger get out his silver dollars which Congress forces him to coin, so that he seems to be justified in the course pursued. For the banker it is an excellent money-making contrivance, and so long as the people are credulous enough to take the certificates, the little device will work. How charmingly it has hitherto operated, may be seen by looking at the item of total silver certificates issued, as given in the monthly Treasury statements. For instance, on January 1st 1880 the total issued was reported at about 8¾ millions, on January 1st 1881 it had risen to 45½ millions, on January 1st 1882 to 68½ millions, on January 1st 1883 to 73 millions, and on January 1st 1884 to 110 millions.

With such currency conditions as these prevailing, the man, and especially the banker, must be very heedless indeed who is not disturbed at every dollar's loss of the better currency, and particularly now, when our trade seems to be shaping itself so as to permit a large outflow, and the outlook in Europe gives promise that it will all be wanted. A circumstance that has helped to save us from special harm hitherto is our marvelous resources, permitting us to violate economic laws longer than older nations; that has served only in part, however, for in large measure we are indebted to the growing fear which our people, who are conservative, have felt in view of the monetary situation, and which has so depressed business as to restrict imports.

But in the meantime the evil has developed—from being not much more than a fear, it has passed into a reality. To-day the conditions are—(1) Silver certificates issued reach 110 millions, and must grow at the rate of about 25 millions a year, until the silver coinage law is suspended. (2) This forced currency can be redeemed only through the Custom Houses, and hence the plethoric condition of our money market, and hence again bankers who on that account cannot secure much more than one per cent interest here for their money, transfer their balances to London and Paris. (3) This redundancy in our currency has kept prices of our exportable products up higher than the condition of the world's markets warrant, and as a consequence our total merchandise exports were only 75½ millions in December, or about 17½ millions less than last December, and smaller than any December since 1878; furthermore, this loss in exports was caused not by a loss simply in breadstuffs, cotton, provisions, petroleum, or other large items, but seemed to extend through almost the entire list, showing that the evil had one common origin. These facts covering our experience up to this date, are simply illustrations of the ways in which trade shapes itself under the influence of an inferior currency, when side by side with a better, so that the latter may find its way out. The city of Amsterdam, under somewhat similar conditions of its trade in 1609, produced by permitting inferior gold coins to circulate by the side of money fresh from the mint, was not slow, when the evil was discovered, in finding the remedy, and adopting it too. Through the Bank of Amsterdam for that purpose established, the inferior coin was taken out of circulation and recoined, and the exchanges righted themselves very speedily. Have we enough honest men in Washington who dare to rise above the paltry political consideration of a few electoral votes, and permit us to take a similar course?

One word on the point raised respecting our large stock of gold, so large we are told that depletion is, if not necessary, quite desirable. It is an extremely difficult problem to determine how much gold there is in the country. When a force exists within ourselves repelling it, we may be satisfied that it will go out of sight and out of reach in some way—it will be hoarded by the people but, besides that, it will leave the country openly as shown in our export tables, and secretly whenever and wherever it can. Dealing however, at this time, only with the official figures, we have the following as the imports and exports of gold for the last two years.

* Excess of exports.

This statement shows that during the last two years since silver certificates became so abundant our recorded exports and imports show a net loss of about 10 million dollars gold. During the same two years we have used in the arts and manufactures, according to the Mint report, about 25 millions, and perhaps we have produced 60 millions, though that production is several millions more than Mr. Valentine's report indicates. Granting, however, the substantial accuracy of these figures we have an increase in our stock for the two years of say 25 millions. Turning now to the situation of the supply, we simply reproduce the figures in Mr. Knox's last report, there being no later ones covering the bank holdings.

Here we discover, assuming that no gold has gone out of the country except the amounts entering into our Custom House returns, that the total gold held by the people has been constantly increasing, while the amount in the public depositories all over the country has decreased considerably since 1881. But the important point is that 273 millions is the whole stock available as a basis for our greenback and bank-note currency and our daily commercial wants and for any export demand which may arise. There are outstanding 346 millions of legal tenders and 350 millions of the bank issues, say nearly 700 millions in all. Furthermore, in case of any export demand or of any want of confidence, nearly the whole burden would have to be borne by the New York banks and Sub-Treasury, as the balance of the stock in sight is scattered all over the country, with but little more at any point than needful to provide for local necessities. We do not care to pursue this point any further. In view of the facts disclosed, have we any gold to lose? In view of our currency derangements, is there any time to waste before correcting them?

CHICAGO & NORTHWEST'S CURRENT CHARGES AND EARNINGS.

The Chicago Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad Company having recently issued a statement of its income account for 1883, showing a surplus of over a million dollars above all charges and dividends, there naturally has been no little curiosity to know whether the Chicago & Northwestern, occupying substantially the same territory, is doing equally well. In its last report the Northwest returned a surplus not materially different from that now shown by the St. Paul, but this report covered the fiscal year ended May 31, since which time eight months have elapsed, while the St. Paul statement covered the calender year down to the 1st of January. Hence a comparison of results between the two companies should be made on the basis of the current fiscal year of the Northwest rather than the previous one.

The company itself gives out nothing except the weekly and monthly gross earnings. These, though useful as showing the course of traffic and business, do not fully meet the want felt, since it has been repeatedly demonstrated in recent years that expenses are of even greater importance than earnings, on account of their changing percentage. It is net earnings, therefore, rather than gross earnings, that investors seek. Formerly the company issued a brief exhibit of results at the end of the first six months, and thus gave stockholders some idea of what might be expected for the full year. But this was discontinued after a while, and since then we have endeavored in a measure to supply the deficiency, by supplementing the monthly exhibits of gross earnings with a résumé of expenses, and have published regularly at this time of the year the figures for the seven months ending with the first of January, using these as a basis for making some approximation to the year's results. In accordance with this practice we have to-day prepared the net as well as gross earnings for the period since the close of the last fiscal year (all except the month of January, for which, of course, the accounts have not yet been fully made up), and give the figures further below, in comparison with those for the corresponding months in the two years preceding. With the help of those facts we follow the plan pursued in previous years, and in doing so shall divide our inquiry into three parts: (1) With reference to the results so far as already determined; (2) with reference to the prospects for the remainder of the year; and (3) with reference to the changes that have taken place in the company's interest requirements and dividends.

As to the result for the seven months to January 1, the monthly reports of gross earnings have regularly exhibited an increase, except in the case of December, though the gains have not equalled those made by the St. Paul in the same time. But the statements of expenses which we have now obtained confirm the remark made above, that gross earnings alone afford no guide to a company's income account, for while, as stated, only one month in the seven exhibits a decrease in gross as compared with 1882, no less than three exhibit a falling off in net. Following is the showing. It should be said that net earnings are arrived at after deducting taxes as well as expenses, and that while the figures do not come from the company's office, they are nevertheless trustworthy and exact.

Dwelling for a moment on these figures, it may be remarked that the gratifying increase which has taken place in gross earnings of recent years has not been accompanied by a corresponding increase in net. On the contrary, the net are three quarters of a million smaller than two years ago, though meanwhile gross receipts have risen nearly a million and a quarter. Heavier expenses, of course, account for the change. This is not unlike what has occurred on other lines, but on the Northwest no doubt the large additions of new mileage have made the cost of operating the road more expensive, and, besides, this period in 1881 gave an exceptionally good account of itself. It is satisfactory to note that the net approximate so closely to those for the corresponding seven months of 1882, which was not a bad year. The loss is only $34,000, and this marks the full extent of the difference between this and the previous year on the results so far as yet determined.

| | Gross Earnings. | Net Earnings. | Gross Earnings. | Net Earnings | Gross Earnings. | Net Earnings |
| | $ | $ | $ | $ | $ | $ |
| January..... | 1,357,623 | 23,155 | 1,644,936 | 431,080 | 1,240,667 | 159,559 |
| February.... | 1,311,395 | 222,540 | 1,474,178 | 504,548 | 963,204 | 982 |
| March..... | 2,005,292 | 980,746 | 1,672,931 | 608,490 | 1,178,796 | 268 723 |
| April..... | 1,754,379 | 595,480 | 1,668,741 | 647,102 | 1,474,612 | 627,931 |
| May..... | 2,157,206 | 918,457 | 2,110,947 | 906,342 | 1,879,006 | 1,287,663 |

Thus net earnings for the five months, which in 1881 were only $2,344,858, in the very next year mounted to $3,097,562, and in 1883 dropped back to $2,749,378. But the year first mentioned covered the exceptionally severe winter of 1881, when, as we have before shown in these columns, the company suffered very heavy losses during the first three months, while in 1882 the winter was unusually mild and all the conditions favorable. In 1883 the conditions were in many respects similar to those that prevailed two years before, only that the weather was not quite so bad and did not obstruct operations for so long a period. January and February were the months particularly affected, especially the former, and the figures for that month, as given above, substantiate the point we have once or twice made lately, when speaking of railroad earnings in the Northwest, namely, that January, 1883, suffered hardly less from adverse meteorological conditions than did the early months of 1881. In January, it should be stated, net are reduced beyond other months because about half the entire year's taxes are paid in that month, but that does not affect the comparison with previous years, which were on the same basis, and hence the fact that in January, 1883, net earnings were almost entirely wiped out, reaching no more than $23,155, while in 1882 the amount was $431,080, and even in 1881 as much as $159,559, is significant. To put it in another way, almost the whole of the 1⅞ million dollars which the company earned in January, 1883, was used up by operating expenses and taxes. In February the comparison was still unfavorable with 1882, but not with 1881. March, however, marked a very decided improvement over both years.

From what has been said, it will be seen that the weather is an important influence in increasing or diminishing earnings during this period. Thus far this year there has been but one week—the first—when the weather was decidedly unfavorable. Hence earnings have increased—$104,678 for January, and $97,419 for the 1st week of February—and may be expected to increase to the end of February. After that, in view of the very heavy earnings in 1883, it would not be surprising to see some falling off, though as to whether this will be more than temporary must depend altogether upon the state of traffic and business. Trade is not active just at present, and this may operate to diminish the volume of general and miscellaneous freight. Passenger earnings, too, may be unfavorably affected for the same reason, and in this connection it is well to note that there was quite a gain in that item a year ago. The company also has a line into the mineral regions of the northern peninsula of Michigan, but the prospects there have not been particularly encouraging for over a year past, so it is perhaps a question whether the road has not already experienced the full measure of adverse results in that particular. There remains the yield of the crops to be considered, which furnish a large traffic to the railroads and, besides, in some measure determine the course of general trade in those sections. These have, on the whole, been somewhat less than in the preceding year, as will be seen from the following table, showing the production (per Agricultural Bureau reports) in the territory where the major part of the company's lines lie.

| State. | Wheat. | | | Corn. | | |

Taking all these circumstances together, we think it is fair to assume that the result in the present year is not likely to differ very materially from that in the five months of 1883. The total net might be increased to some extent through lower expenses, or reduced by diminished traffic. The probabilities are that the difference in either case would not be more than $100,000 or $200,000 one way or the other. Consequently, last year's aggregate in those months will furnish a good medium between two extremes.

As to the requirements for interest, rentals, and dividends, we do not think there will be any very large addition to the item of rentals. The company has increased its leased lines only in a small way, and as it paid $1,570,948 on that account in the last fiscal year, we imagine $1,600,000 will answer for the present year. In the interest account, of course, there will be some augmentation. The amount called for last year was $4,288,633, and $98,120 more for sinking funds, or $4,386,753 together. On the debt outstanding at the beginning of the fiscal year the requirement was $4,585,590, and say $100,000 additional for sinking funds, making $4,685,590. But this included only 1½ millions of the 10 million sinking fund debentures issued for the St. Paul & Omaha purchase, which have all been put out since the opening of the current fiscal year. Five per cent on the 8½ millions not included would call for $425,000 per annum. Then $975,000 of 5 per cent sinking fund bonds were listed last December, which for a full year would require $48,750 more, though they will probably count for only half a year. The sum total of these two amounts would give us $473,750 to be added to the interest charge on the debt at the beginning of the year, making the full requirement $5,159,340. One small issue of bonds matured in November, but it may be assumed that this was taken up with some other issue held for the purpose, so we need not take it into account.

Against the increased interest, however, we must allow for the dividends received by the Northwest on the St. Paul & Omaha preferred stock which it holds. It will be remembered that its purchase of the Omaha stock consisted partly of preferred shares and partly of common. The latter pays nothing, but the former affords 7 per cent, and the 53,800 shares held would yield a return of $376,600, offsetting in that amount the $5,159,340 required for interest, and making the net aggregate of the same $4,782,740. As the amount paid for this purpose in the last year was, as already stated, only $4,386,753, the company would find its net income and surplus of that year diminished by about $400,000. In this connection it will be well to know what this income and surplus was not only in the past year but in other recent years, and we therefore give the following table of the results of operations for six years past.

| Year ending May 31. | Av'ge Miles Operated. | Earnings. Gross. | Earnings. Net. | Interest, Sink. Funds and Rentals. | Net Income. | Dividends on Stock.* | Surplus. |

* Dividends allow for 3 per cent on common and 7 on preferred stock in fiscal year 1878; 4 on common and 7 on preferred in 1879; 6 on common and 7 on preferred in 1880; the same in 1881; 6½ on common and 7¼ on preferred in 1882; and 7 on common and 8 on preferred in 1883.

The dividend requirement, it will be seen, was last year $2,890,337. The company held a large amount of unissued stock in its treasury at the beginning of the year (upon which we commented last August) and this we presume it still holds, as no official announcement of the disposal of any part of it has come to our knowledge. If this supposition is correct, than only the stock of date May 31, 1883, needs to be taken into consideration. On this, $2,921,949 is required on the basis of 7 per cent dividends on the common and 8 per cent on the preferred. The increase over last year would be about $30,000.

Summarizing, we find a loss of $34,137 in net earnings for the first seven months of the year, and an increase of about $30,000 in rentals, of about $400,000 in interest, and of about $30,000 in dividends, or a total loss of, say, $500,000. The surplus of last year by the above table was $1,161,280, so that over $650,000 would remain in the present year on this basis. Tabulated, the showing would be as follows.

The above should, we think, differ from the actual result only so far as the earnings for the present five months vary from those of the corresponding five months of 1883, though if any large additional amounts of debt should be put out (which is of course unlikely), that also would affect the result. Land sales, it should be said, have been entirely disregarded in these calculations, since they never form part of the company's income account in its reports.

MR. GLADSTONE AND THE SOUDAN.

The news of the week has not diminished public interest in the Egyptian difficulty. Seldom has the British Government, or any government, been in so strange and anomalous a position; and never before, perhaps, was there such a consensus of opinion condemnatory of the government. But one judgment is pronounced by the press of Great Britain, both Liberal and Tory. Even men of science like Professor Tyndall seem to find it impossible to keep silence. From France, from Germany, from Austria, from Russia, comes but one voice, showing singular unanimity in the judgment that the British Government has been greatly remiss in its duty in the matter of the Soudan; and for this remissness the Prime Minister has been mainly held responsible.

The unfortunate position in which Mr. Gladstone is thus placed will be greatly regretted, especially on this side of the Atlantic, for our people have always been generous in their praise of Mr. Gladstone's abilities, of his indefatigable industry, and of his public-spirited and generally beneficent policy. He has given his great talents, and by far the largest part of a long life, to the service of his country. He has been a lover of peace; and while striving after the welfare of his own people, and the wide domains under British rule, he has not been exclusive in his sympathies, or in any way indifferent to the interests of other nations and of other peoples. His services to the Italian people can never be forgotten. It was he, who in 1850, sounded the bugle-note which called the world's attention to the barbarities which were practised in Neapolitan dungeons, which finally led to the fall of Ferdinand, and which paved the way for Italian unity. His efforts for political reform, his detestation of war for petty conquest, and his untiring labors in the cause of Ireland, have all been in one direction—the improvement and the comfort of the human family.

It is not, however, given to man to be perfect. No matter how endowed, no matter how well the gifts of nature may be directed, the individual man seems always to have his weak point. It may be in character, it may be in temper; it may be, as it often is, in the imperfect balance of the intellectual faculties. It sometimes reveals itself in such a way as to make it difficult to bring it under any general head. But such point of weakness there generally is, and Mr. Gladstone is no exception to the rule. His weakness, too, has on more than one occasion brought him to the verge of political bankruptcy. What that weakness is it may be difficult to name. It is not inaction; for Mr. Gladstone is, of all men, most active. It is not indecision; for he is neither slow to come to a conclusion, nor changeful when that conclusion has been reached. It is not even a want of promptitude in action; for in political conflict, as could be shown from numerous examples, he has never missed his opportunity. The famous Disraeli budget is one example; and the attempt of Lord Beaconsfield to annex Afghanistan to India is another. But by whatever name this peculiar weakness may be named, he has through it, on three separate occasions, greatly aggravated an existing evil, damaged his reputation, and narrowly escaped serious consequences.

We refer first of all to the case of Ireland. Every reader remembers how government was defied and denounced from the public platform; how sedition was openly preached; how the shot-gun and the dagger of the assassin established a reign of terror, and how the Government refused to adopt measures of severity until the world rang with the Phœnix Park tragedy. Everybody felt then, and everybody feels now, that the adoption of vigorous repressive measures at the outset, and accompanying the measures for removal of the evils complained of, would have greatly limited the area of disorder, and mightily lessened the number of victims. We refer also to the first Egyptian difficulty. It is well remembered how disorder set in in that country directly on the removal of Ismael Pasha in June, 1879; how his son and successor was, from the outset, at the mercy of Arabi Pasha and his crowd; how the government of Egypt was finally usurped, the British and French agents sent about their business, and the Khedive forced to seek shelter where best he could find it. It is remembered how England hesitated, and refused to allow others to interfere, until after the massacre of Europeans in crowds on the streets of Alexandria, when further delay would have been a crime, would have roused the indignation of the world, and would have brought about a fresh crusade. It is undeniable that intervention at an earlier stage would have been a much simpler affair, and would have been accomplished at a much smaller sacrifice, both of men and money.

The same delay and apparent want of purpose were again made visible after the insurrection was crushed. Mr. Gladstone would not swerve; he would only aid in the work of reconstruction, and give, by temporary occupation, temporary protection. The Khedive was robbed of all power, was shut off from Turkish aid on the one hand and from French aid on the other—he could do nothing without the consent of England; and yet England held that she was irresponsible. Strange inconsistency! When Hicks Pasha was sent to the Soudan to restore the Khedival authority, England was in power in Egypt, as she is in power to-day; when Hicks Pasha and his men were butchered, England, we are told by the Prime Minister, was not responsible. Then mark what follows. By orders from England, the Soudan is to be evacuated. But how? In place of sending a powerful body of men to assist in the evacuation, Baker Pasha, a brave and competent officer, is sent with a handful of Egyptians who dread the very name of the Mahdi. Baker is driven back; and the garrison at Sinkat is butchered. And now at this late hour, when the world is ringing with England's shame, a suitable expedition is to be sent to Suakim. It only needs that we hear of the murder of Gordon to complete, in connection with Egypt alone, a catalogue of horrors such as scarcely finds a parallel in history.

Ultimately, we have no doubt, the proper work will be properly done. But as in domestic affairs we have no patience with blundering help or with a blundering tradesman, even if we are assured that all will be right in the long run, so neither is it any atonement for a course of blundering in political or international affairs, that all comes out right in the end. The great statesman, like the good tradesman, avoids blunders. These three cases of sinful delay on the part of England's great Prime Minister seems to us to point to some inherent defect of character.

The Bank return published this week is more favorable than had been anticipated, although some further withdrawals of gold have taken place, partly on Australian and partly on Spanish and other account. At the same time the supply of gold held by the Bank has been augmented to the extent of £156,518 and there has also been an increase of £397,460 in the note circulation, making an increase in the total reserve of £553,978. The total gold now amounts to £21,657,054 against £21,807,705, and the total reserve to £12,650,624 against £12,377,065 in 1883. The proportion of reserve to liabilities has increased from 40·39 per cent to 41·72 per cent, and the comparison with last year is with 44½ per cent. Naturally this improved condition of things has quietened to a very considerable extent the money market and a better feeling seems to be observed, though it cannot be said that there is any activity or anything like an approach to it. The New York exchange on London remains high, being quoted to-day at 4·88 for cable transfers, but the telegrams report a better feeling in commercial circles, especially in the wheat trade, and a permanent recovery in that department would promote confidence, as great anxiety has been felt regarding it.

The Australian demand for gold which has recently arisen has not been much commented upon, chiefly because the movement has been difficult to explain. But it is undoubtedly worthy of more than a passing notice and may have the effect of working quite a change in the condition of affairs, not, it must be borne in mind, immediately, but in the ordinary course of mercantile business. Up to the present time the supply sent away is less than half a million sterling—a small amount for a country so rich in resources as the British Empire. Had the gold been forwarded to Egypt, South America, or almost any other country, little would have been said about it, but it is naturally asked why should Australia, a gold-producing country, be a buyer here. But it may be mentioned that the United States are also a producing country, and yet they have absorbed large amounts of gold of late years, and the operations which have been in progress have materially affected, on frequent occasions, the London money market to a serious extent. This demand for gold, as far as the United States were concerned, was the result of increasing prosperity, and at the present time, as far as relates to the Australian colonies, a similar opinion is advanced. Every one who studies the progress of commercial and financial affairs in the world knows full well that Australia has of late years made not only considerable, but which is a great addition, substantial, progress. The prosperous movement has not been spasmodic or ephemeral. The colonial governments have based their calculations with great judgment, and this is conclusive from the fact that the rate for colonial loans on the London market is now not more than four, instead of six, per cent a few years ago. The change is remarkable and is an important financial feature of the last few years.

The success of colonial loans may be partly, if not in a very great measure, attributed to the want of confidence which the public have shown of late in regard to foreign government loans, excepting those of the primest character. Foreign government loans—say about ten years ago—were said to stimulate our export trade, but in very many instances the results to those who took bonds in payment for goods were very disappointing, and were in some cases nearly ruinous. This cannot be said of colonial government loans. Colonial governments—as far as Australia is concerned—obtain their money at par if not above; and a distribution of the proceeds of the loans is made for structural and other works which benefit this country to a very important extent. The money raised is, therefore, doubly beneficial, as it benefits both the lender and the borrower. Money in this country is difficult to employ with adequate safety; but it seems to us that the great dangers to be avoided are that the Australian governments will be intoxicated by success, and that a time may come when a very confiding public will feel that they have exercised an amount of confidence scarcely justified by the actual condition of things.

The demand for short loans during the past week has fallen away, and the rate on the best security is only 1 to 1½ per cent per annum. The inquiry for discount accommodation has also been very quiet, but the quotations have not materially varied during the week.

The following are the quotations for money and the interest allowed by the discount houses to-day and same day of the previous five weeks:

In reference to the state of the bullion market during the past week, Messrs. Pixley & Abell remark:

Gold—Further withdrawals from the Bank have taken place, the arrivals having been very small, and quite inadequate to supply the orders which have been received. The total taken out is £250,000, and consists chiefly of bars, for Spain. We have received £46,500 from Australia.

Silver declined to 50⅜d. for a day or two after our last circular, but as the Indian Exchanges improved, and a better demand for money in the East was experienced, a recovery to the former rate of 50⅞d. took place, and at this quotation the market may be considered firm. The City of Chester has brought £40,000 from New York, and the Cotopaxi £25,270 from Chili. The P & O. steamer does not leave until Saturday, and we are, therefore, unable to state the amount of silver going to India by her.

Mexican Dollars declined to 49½d., but there is a slight recovery in value, the nearest quotation to-day being 49⅝d. per oz. The arrivals have been very small, only about £3,780 from New York.

Commercial failures continue to cause anxiety, both in the commercial and in the financial world. Stock Exchange suspensions have been more numerous of late, but they have not been serious nor important. The most important commercial difficulty announced during the week has been the suspension of Messrs. Robert Kettle & Co., yarn merchants, of Glasgow, with liabilities estimated at £250,000.

The tenders for £4,000,000 for the Victoria 4 per cent loan amounted to 526 and reached a total of £5,500,000. The prices ranged from £100 to £102 5s. Tenders at £100 2s., and above receive allotment in full, and those at £100 1s. 6d., about 90 per cent.

The Sheffield corporation invite tenders for £108,150 in 3½ per cent stock at a minimum price of £98 per bond of £100, repayable at par.

The further dividends declared during the past week and the meetings which have been held have been quite, if not more than, as satisfactory as had been anticipated.

The government of New South Wales has issued an important advertisement, in which a scheme is proposed to manufacture steel rails in the colony from New South Wales ores. The government is to try the experiment with 150,000 tons, and invites tenders for terms from iron manufacturers.

Tenders will be received at the Bank of England on the 5th of February for £1,500,000 Treasury bills.

Although wheat has been somewhat improving in value in the United States, not much effect has been produced here. The stocks here are, in fact, so large that buyers are quite indifferent about the immediate future. Sales progress with the greatest slowness, even at the current low values. It will be noticed that the average price of English wheat is only 38s. 9d. per quarter for the week, and 40s. 3d. for the season.

The following return shows the extent of the sales of home-grown wheat, barley and oats in the leading markets of England and Wales during the first twenty-one weeks of the season, together with the average prices realized, compared with previous seasons:

| | 1883-84. | 1882-83. | 1881-82. | 1880-81. |

☞ This aggregate is arrived at by multiplying the sales in the 187 markets above by 31/3, and that result is reduced to cwt. by multiplying it by 4/5. This proportion between the 187 markets and the totals for the kingdom is adopted by the London grain trade and is accepted by it as producing a result approximately correct.

Annexed is a return showing the extent of the imports of cereal produce into the United Kingdom during the first twenty-one weeks of the season, the average price of home-grown wheat, the sales of home-grown produce, the visible supply of wheat in the United States, the quantity of wheat and flour afloat to the United Kingdom, and the exports for four months, compared with previous year:

New York Stock Exchange.—The Governors of the Stock Exchange have admitted to dealings at the board the following securities:

Oregon & California Railroad Company—An additional $1,000,000 first mortgage 6 per cent gold bonds due July 1, 1921; making the total issue $8,400,000 on 421 miles of completed road.

Louisiana & Western Railroad Company—First mortgage 6 per cent bonds due July 1, 1921, $2,240,000.

Pennsylvania Company—An additional $2,500,000 of 4½ per cent gold bonds due July 1, 1921, guaranteed by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company; making the total issue $15,000,000 out of an authorized issue of $20,000,000.

Summit Branch.—The improvement in the earnings of this property is said to be in the Lykens Valley Mine, whose development has cost the Summit Branch some $1,500,000.

Toledo Cincinnati & St. Louis.—The scheme for developing the Toledo Cincinnati & St. Louis Railroad, it is said, to be shortly presented to Judges Drummond and Baxter for their approval, contemplates the issuing of $3,000,000 of receiver's certificates. Of the money thus raised $1,000,000 will be appropriated to the purchase of a sufficiency of heavy steel rail to re-lay the line. The remainder will be expended in widening the gauge to the standard, re-laying the track, providing proper equipment, and bringing the road up to first-class condition in every respect.

The Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company.—Another prosperous year is added to the history of this company. Under the able and conservative management of Mr. Greene it is yearly extending its usefulness. It will be remembered that a year or two since the management made a new departure by taking 3 per cent instead of 4 or 4½ as the interest rate upon which to base its premiums. Even on that basis, and after paying out to policy-holders during the year $5,781,851 79, its surplus is now $4,026,276 47. On the basis of 4½ per cent interest its surplus would be over 7 million dollars. We notice that the sales of real estate made during the year have realized a net profit of $61,115 29. This is a minor matter of course, but so much unfavorable comment was made a few years since respecting the company's real estate burdens, it is very satisfactory to have these recurring evidences of how valuable a part of their assets these "burdens" really are.

—Attention is called to the offices offered for rent in the new Mutual Life Building. See advertisement.

Auction Sales.—The following, seldom or never sold at the Stock Exchange, were sold at auction this week by Messrs. Adrian H. Muller & Son.

NEW YORK, FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 15, 1884—5 P. M.

The Money Market and Financial Situation.—The aspect of foreign finances is being regarded with more attention in view of its possible effects upon our own affairs. The movement of specie a week or two ago from London to Paris in connection with the new French loan, the shipments of gold from London to Australia, and lastly, but not least, the threatening aspect of the rebellious uprising in the Soudan, which will compel England to take some decisive war measures on a much larger scale than heretofore contemplated, under penalty of having her free communication with India interrupted in Egypt—all these things have combined to give more significance to the recent advance in the rate of discount by the Bank of England. It shows that the Governors of the Bank contemplate the possibilities of increased demands for gold in all these connections.

An advance in the Bank rate of discount is always intended to operate in the direction of depressing the prices of commodities, discouraging speculation and calling home foreign loans of British capital; and in these ways it is unfavorable to investments in American or any other foreign securities, and in favor of inducing the payment of foreign loans in specie rather than in commodities, thus helping to turn the exchanges and the movements of specie in favor of London. The steady advance in the New York rates for sterling since the beginning of the year has in great part been due to other causes, such as our diminished exports of domestic products, &c. If we take the seven months to the end of January, the official report just issued of the exports of breadstuffs alone from all United States ports shows a decrease of $33,400,000, as compared with the same period last year. It has been expected that this depression of our exports would be gradually overcome, and this indeed may be the case, but the present aspect of foreign finances is less favorable to that end than a few weeks ago.

The stagnation and plethora which have characterized the New York market for several months past have not become less marked in the week past. Money on call on stock collaterals has been loaned as often at 1½ per cent as at 2. Time loans on dividend-paying stocks can now be had at 3½ per cent per annum for 3, or even 6, months. The rates for mercantile discounts remain nominally unchanged at 4 and 4½ for the best double-name paper, 30 or 60 days, and 4½ and 5 for single-names.

The plethora of money also seems lately to have extended to the Western markets, and at Chicago, notwithstanding that there are large amounts locked up in grain and provisions in store, the rates for money have recently declined to 5 per cent for bank advances on such commodities.

The increased plethora of unemployed money in the New York market was shown in the last weekly bank statement in the further increase of $6,324,300 in the deposits, with an increase of only half as much in the loans, resulting in an increase of the surplus reserve to a total larger than for several years.

The weekly statement of the Bank of England indicates a movement of specie from the local circulation of Great Britain into the Bank. The statement shows a gain of £410,000, with the reserve of the Bank increased to 40 13-16 per cent from 40½ last week. The Bank of France reports a gain of 5,325,000 francs in gold and 475,000 in silver, and the Bank of Germany a gain of 5,543,000 marks.

The following table shows the changes from the previous week and a comparison with the two preceding years in the averages of the New York Clearing House banks.

Exchange.—The gradual advance in the rates for sterling since the beginning of the year has at last brought them during the past week up to the gold-exporting price. No gold has been exported yet, nor is it likely that there will be without a further advance, as the present figure on actual business barely covers the cost of the export of American double eagles, including insurance, leaving no profit on the transaction. The posted rates for sterling on Friday, the 15th, were 4 86½ and 4 90. The rates for actual business were as follows, viz.: Sixty days, 4 85½@4 85¾; demand, 4 89@4 89¼; cables, 4 89½@4 89¾. Commercial bills continue scarce at 4 84@4 84½.

Quotations for foreign exchange are as follows, the prices being the posted rates of leading bankers:

State and Railroad Bonds.—The market for railroad bonds has shown a much stronger tone during the past week. Prices have gradually crept upward for nearly all issues, while some of the speculative bonds show advances of 3 and 4 per cent, and the general course of the whole market has indicated the investment of capital in this class of securities with more confidence than has been apparent for some time.

The West Shore 5s have again been a prominent feature on account of their activity, though the range of fluctuations was very narrow during the week, viz.: 54¾, 55, 53½, 55⅛, 54¾. A committee of officials of the four corporations interested in the West Shore property has formulated a plan for the relief of the West Shore, the principal feature of which is the proposal to refund the present outstanding $25,000,000 of West Shore income bonds and $10,000,000 of West Shore & Ontario Terminal bonds into $30,000,000 of 5 per cents secured by a first mortgage on the West Shore & Ontario Terminal property and a second mortgage on the West Shore road. It is proposed to divide this $30,000,000 equally into class "A" and class "B," of which the former shall have the priority of foreclosure, thus making the class "B" in reality a second mortgage on the Terminal property and a third mortgage on the road; these bonds to be guaranteed by the West Shore and the Ontario & Western companies. It is also proposed to raise $3,000,000 by car trust bonds on that amount of new rolling stock, and also to fund three semi-annual coupons of the West Shore 5s into debenture bonds to the extent of $3,750,000.

The following shows the net result of the week's fluctuations in the most active issues of bonds.

Advanced—Canada Southern firsts, 1⅞; Burlington & Quincy debentures, 1; Central Iowa firsts, 4; Chesapeake & Ohio firsts, series B, ⅞; Central Pacific gold bonds, ⅞; East Tennessee 5s, 1; Erie second consols, 2¼; Jersey Central consols, 2; Kansas Pacific consols, 2; Milwaukee Lake Shore & Western firsts, 1¼; Northwestern debentures, ½; Oregon Railway & Navigation 6s, 2⅛; Richmond & Allegheny firsts, 3; Rome Watertown & Ogdensburg consols, 2¼ to 70¼; New York Susquehanna & Western firsts, 3⅛; New York Chicago & St. Louis seconds, 1¾; do., firsts, 3; Texas & Pacific land grant incomes, 2; Milwaukee & St. Paul, Chicago & Pacific division, firsts, 1½; Wabash general mortgage 6s, 1; Iron Mountain 5s, 1⅞; Ohio Central, incomes, 1½; and Oregon Short Line 6s, ⅞.

State issues were strong. Sales included Tennessee 6s at 39¼ for the old and 39 for the new, and 44½@45 for the compromise; North Carolina 6s special tax sold at 4½; Arkansas Central Railroad 7s at 24, and Pine Bluffs at 25; and do. 6s funded at 14½@15.

Railroad and Miscellaneous Stocks.—Although it has been generally conceded that the bull clique has had the control of the stock market during the past week, there has been no great progress made in advancing prices. On Saturday there was quite a rise, but on Monday and Tuesday and Wednesday, the market ruled lower. On Thursday and Friday it closed each day a little higher than on the preceding day, but many stocks nevertheless failed to get back to the figures of Saturday, so that on the whole, though the comparison with Friday shows a slight advance throughout the list, the last five days have not been very conspicuous in this respect. The features this week have been Rock Island, in which there is a struggle for the control between the Vanderbilt and the Cable factions. There is also believed to be a struggle for the control of Union Pacific, between the Vanderbilt and Gould interest on the one side and the New England interest on the other.

ANUAL REPORTS.

Lehigh Valley Railroad.

(For the year ending Nov. 30, 1883.)

The annual report just issued says that "the operating expenses of the year have been increased by charging to those accounts a number of extraordinary expenditures, which, without apparently increasing the earning power of the road, will, however, affect its future economical maintenance." * *

"The agreement with the Southern Central Railroad Company of New York, mentioned in our last report, was duly consummated, and we also agreed to purchase from that company an additional amount of $300,000 of their first mortgage 5 per cent bonds to enable them to make further improvements. This connection continues to be of great importance to us, affording as it does a direct communication with Lake Ontario, and enabling us to reach an area of distribution for coal which is constantly increasing.

"The earnings of the Geneva Ithaca & Sayre Railroad Company have been during the past year, for the first time since the formation of the company, sufficient to meet the running expenses and the interest upon the bonds of the Ithaca & Athens Railroad Company, one of its component parts. Considerable advances have, however, been needed to complete the substitution of steel rails upon its main line, and for other changes needed to bring the road into first-class condition. During the coming year it is intended to re-lay the Cayuga branch of 38 miles with steel rails, and re-build some of the bridges, after which we trust that company will be self-sustaining.

"The report of the Pennsylvania & New York Canal & Railroad Company, to be published herewith, will show the operations of what is now practically a part of our main line, but under a different organization. Although they have been as usual able to pay from their net earnings a dividend on the preferred stock, in addition to the interest upon their bonds, yet the completion of their second track and their tunnel near Vosburg will continue to require large advances from us for some time to come.

"No increase has been made during the past year in the number of our steam vessels on the Western lakes, but it may be necessary to greatly enlarge their capacity, by the purchase or construction either of more steamers or of tenders to those we now have, or of both. Although this will require a considerable increase in our investment, the result of that heretofore made would seem to warrant it.

"The improvements on the Tifft farm at Buffalo have been steadily progressing, and there is ample room for any expansion which may be required by the demands of future business. The plan, as adopted, contemplates a wharf frontage equal to almost eight linear miles, and will be carried out as needed." * *

"Since the last issue of stock, made at par among the stockholders in May, 1875, both the mileage of the company and its equipment have been increased more than fifty per cent, and large investments have been made, of great importance to our business, in Buffalo and at other places, as before referred to. To represent the capital so invested, and to meet other intended improvements and extensions, the board has directed the creation of an amount of common stock equal to twenty per cent of the whole stock now outstanding, to be issued pro rata to the stockholders at par, payable in five instalments, at intervals of three months. Interest at the rate of 5 per cent is to be allowed on payments, and the stock is to be entitled to dividends declared after January, 1885."

The Lehigh Valley Railroad reports never contain a balance sheet of assets and liabilities, but the other statistics are compiled in the usual form for the CHRONICLE, as follows:

Huntingdon & Broad Top Mountain.

(For the year ending December 31, 1883.)

The statements below are from the annual report, as submitted at the yearly meeting.

The freight traffic for the year was as follows:

| | 1883. | 1882. |
| Broad Top coal | 196,534 | 271 217 |
| Cumberland coal | 471,785 | 208,031 |
| Total coal | 668,319 | 479,248 |
| Other freights | 223,948 | 152,864 |
| Total | 892,267 | 632,112 |

The increase in coal was entirely from the Cumberland Region, Broad Top showing a considerable decrease. The production in the Broad Top Region in 1882 was increased, owing to the stoppage of the Cumberland mines by the long strike, thus increasing the demand for other coals. The increase in other freights was chiefly in iron ore, iron and coke.

The earnings for the year were as follows:

| | 1883. | 1882. |
|---|---|---|
| Earnings | $424,495 | $320,435 |
| Expenses | 203,444 | 144,249 |
| Net earnings | $221,051 | $176,186 |

The income account for the year was as follows:

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| Net earnings, including other receipts | | $226,008 |
| Interest | $138,097 | |
| Miscellaneous | 24,100 | |
| Dividend on preferred stock, 1½ per cent | 29,752 | —167,770 |
| Surplus for the year | | $33,759 |
| Surplus January 1, 1883 | | 49,708 |
| Surplus January 1, 1884 | | $83,467 |

The directors expect that the payment of dividends on the preferred stock at the rate of 3 per cent yearly can be continued, the surplus now on hand being sufficient to pay over three half-yearly dividends.

The report alludes to the wisdom of the lease and procurement of cars under the car trust, and to the construction of the South Pennsylvania Railroad and a new line between Ashland, Pa, and a point on the Ohio River, with which it is hoped amicable relations will be maintained.

Columbia & Greenville.

(For the year ending Sept. 30, 1883.)

This company is controlled by the Richmond & West Point Terminal Company, and for the year ending Sept. 30 the earnings, expenses, &c., were as follows, in comparison with the preceding year. The traffic for the year was as follows on the Columbia & Greenville road proper.

| Less sundry charges | 9,814 | |
| Surplus Sept. 30, 1883 | | $88,056 |

The President's report refers at considerable length to the reduction in rates, varying from 22 to 28 per cent, ordered by the South Carolina Railroad Commission, the effects of which were not felt until after the close of the fiscal year. Notwithstanding the heavy reduction in earnings the train service has been kept up, in the hope that some relief may be granted by the Legislature.

GENERAL INVESTMENT NEWS.

Atchison Topeka & Santa Fe.—The Boston Transcript says that the Atchison Co. will issue $830,000 of its authorized 6 per cent collateral trust bonds to pay for the Silver City Deming & Pacific Railroad, for which $700,000 cash was paid.

The Transcript also explains the reported large increase in December earnings by the statement that the amount due other roads on pool accounts was $430,000 for the whole year, and was only charged off in December. The actual decrease in December earnings was only $60,000 to $80,000.

Bankers & Merchants Telegraph.—Recent pending negotiations for lease by the Bankers' & Merchants' Telegraph Company of the Board of Trade wires of Chicago have been concluded. The lease is for 99 years from February 1, with a guarantee of interest on bonds and 8 per cent on the stock.

Boston Concord & Montreal.—In reply to certain rumors regarding this company and the decline in its stock, a correspondent of the Boston Journal makes the following statements as authorized by the officials: "That the earnings of the Boston Concord & Montreal Railroad for 1883 were fully up to the preceding year, and the corporation is as able now to pay dividends on its preferred stock as it has been for some time past; that, however, the expediency of declaring such dividends, in view of the indebtedness of the road, has been under consideration by the directors, and that the board is not unanimous on the subject; that those members who advocate the passing of the dividends for the present believe that such a course would strengthen the financial condition of the corporation and in the end would work no injury to the owners of preferred stock. It is further stated that the income from the Pemigewasset Road has been thus far, as was expected, not large, but that a considerable increase during the coming year is confidently predicted."

Cheasapeake & Ohio.—The comparative statement of earnings and expenses for December, and for the year, is as follows:

| | December. | | Year. | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| | 1883. | 1882. | 1883. | 1882. |
| Earnings | $306,384 | $253,355 | $3,906,791 | $3,334,976 |
| Expenses | 211,471 | 186,007 | 2,553,492 | 2,302,448 |
| Net earnings | $94,913 | $67,348 | $1,353,299 | $1,032,528 |

Chicago Burlington & Quincy.—The earnings and expenses for December and for the years 1882 and 1883, have been as follows:

| | December. | | Year | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| | 1883. | 1882. | 1883. | 1882. |
| Gross earnings | $2,170,918 | $2,027,060 | $26,110,369 | $21,550,805 |
| Net earnings | $1,171,790 | $1,260,418 | $13,329,739 | $10,682,464 |

Chicago Rock Island & Pacific.—On Thursday an order issued by Judge Donohue of the Supreme Court, returnable on Monday next, was served on Francis H. Tows, the Secretary of the Rock Island Company, and its transfer agent in this city, to show cause why the books of the company should not be exhibited to Harvey Kennedy, or a list of the shareholders furnished to him. The New York World reports that on February 8 Mr. Kennedy went to the office of the Rock Island Road, at No. 13 William Street, and asked to see a list of the stockholders. Mr. Tows said he had express orders to allow nobody to see the books. Mr. Kennedy then made a written request, in which was inclosed the law—chapter 165 of the laws of 1842—providing that the transfer agent in this State of a foreign corporation must exhibit the transfer books or a list of the stockholders to any stockholder asking for them at a reasonable time, with a penalty for refusal of $250 a day during continuance. A second refusal was made, and afterward the order above referred to was obtained.

The movement is reported on the Street to be in the interest of Mr. Vanderbilt.

Connotton Valley.—The Boston Herald says: "There are two kinds of scrip issued by this company. The white was given in payment of the assessment at the time of the last reorganization, draws interest from May 1, 1882, and is convertible into first mortgage bonds. The green scrip was for coupons, bears interest from Nov. 1, 1882, and is convertible into the same bonds; but, unfortunately, on account of the dates of the scrip, they cannot be combined for conversion. The white bears six months more interest than the green. The assent to the foreclosure and reorganization now amounts to about $800,000 bonds, but that number does not represent all who will join in the movement. There are certain round lots that can be relied upon to come in, and simply remain out because there is no need of haste, the time of assent continuing to April 1. At the same time, there is strong antagonism to the plan as advanced, which is known as the Bartlett plan, and a modification of it will in due season be urged."

Elizabethtown Lexington & Big Sandy.—The comparative statement of earnings and expenses for December, and for the year, is as follows:

| | December. | | Year. | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| | 1883. | 1882. | 1883. | 1882. |
| Earnings | $51,529 | $47,090 | $713,102 | $529,318 |
| Expenses | 40,575 | 47,619 | 496,594 | 377,848 |
| Net earnings | $10,954 | $529 | $216,508 | $151,470 |

| | For Month of December. | Quarter Ending Dec. 31. |
|---|---|---|
| Gross earnings | $58,883 | $157,110 |
| Expenses | 29,763 | 84,610 |
| Net earnings | $29,119 | $72,499 |
| Fixed charges | 14,850 | 44,550 |

Lackawanna & Pittsburg.—This company has now completed and under operation the following lines: From Lackawanna Junction, New York, to Perkinsville, 42 miles; from Swain's to Nunda, 12 miles, and from Olean to Angelica, 40 miles. The last-named line is 3 ft. gauge and the others standard gauge. The new road built by this company extends from Lackawanna Junction on the Genesee Valley road, to Angelica, 6 miles, and from Swain's to Perkinsville, on the Delaware Lackawanna & Western road, 17 miles. The company has also changed 19 miles of road from 3 ft. gauge to standard gauge, using it as a part of its main line.—R. R. Gazette.

Louisville New Orleans & Texas.—It is announced that the new line of Louisville New Orleans & Texas from Memphis to New Orleans will be in working order May 15, and thus a new and strong competitor will be opened on the Southern Division of the Illinois Central, and for the Ala. Cin. Texas & Pacific Junction. These roads will be running north from New Orleans where there was but one a year ago.

Marquette Houghton & Ontonagon.—At Washington, Feb. 13, the House Committee on Public Lands agreed to report bills declaring the forfeiture of the land grants to the Ontonagon & Brule River, Marquette & State Line, and the Marquette Houghton & Ontonagon railroads, all of Michigan. The rights of the cash and homestead entries are to be protected, preference being given to the latter. About 200,000 acres are included in the forfeiture.

Mexican Central.—The directors of the Mexican Central Railway Company, at the special meeting held in Boston, voted to increase the capital stock of the company from $25,000,000 to $26,500,000, to cover the amount of the new loan.

Mexican National.—Guillaume Reusens obtained an attachment for $25,000 upon the property in this State of the Mexican National Construction Company. Justice Donohue granted the order in a suit begun to recover the amount. The plaintiff states that he subscribed $25,000 to a $2,000,000 loan obtained by the company in May last, which was to be secured by collaterals placed in the hands of a trustee. On the final payment of his subscription, the subscriber was to receive from the trustee a certificate showing the subscriber's interest in the loan. The plaintiff alleges that on January 31 he was told that he could have a certificate made according to the indenture between the company and the trustee. The document provided that a majority of the subscribers to the fund could extend the time in which the company could pay the principal, or the interest, in case of default. Mr. Reusens declares this to be in violation of the terms of the loan, which provided that the money should be re-paid within one year from the time of the last payment, and not later than September 15, 1884.

New York City & Northern.—The New York Times reports of this company: "Arthur Leary was appointed receiver of the New York City & Northern Railroad in May, 1882, in proceedings by the New York Loan & Improvement Company to recover money loaned. Recently the Central Trust Company, as trustee, began suit for the foreclosure of a mortgage of $4 000,000, on which interest had not been paid since 1882. The Loan & Improvement Company was made a party defendant in this suit, the Central Trust Company's object being to have its mortgage declared a prior lien. A motion was made on behalf of the Central Trust Company yesterday, before Judge Donohue, in Supreme Court, Chambers, for the appointment, in the foreclosure suit, of a receiver of the mortgage property. By such an appointment Receiver Leary would be ousted. William Allen Butler, who made the motion, said he had no charge to make against Mr. Leary excepting that he was not experienced in railroad management, and had used 93 per cent of the gross receipts of the railroad in paying its operating expenses, besides piling up a new debt of $74,000." * *

"The principal opponent of the foreclosure of the mortgage is the New York Loan & Improvement Company. It asserts that not only are its rights as a lienor superior to those of the plaintiff, but that the four-million-dollar consolidated mortgage is tainted with fraud. The railroad company, it is asserted, issued its entire capital stock of $2,250,000, and created its original bonded indebtedness of $1,800,000 for the benefit of its devisers, who were interested in its insolvent predecessor, the New York & Boston Railroad Company, and who, in return for its stock and bonds, procured the conveyance to it of property and franchises of comparatively little value. Of the stock which was then entitled full, or cash, paid, $880,000 was put on the market, together with $500,000 of bonds, for the purpose of raising $800,000 to complete the road, while the remainder was distributed among the devisers of the company for their own personal benefit. Subsequently, it is asserted, the bonded indebtedness of the company was increased for the purpose of acquiring the West Side & Yonkers Railroad, and replacing its stock and bonds, and for other purposes. The defendants assert that all these proceedings were fraudulent, and that innocent holders of stock have the right, in equity, to have the mortgage set aside, and to a judgment directing the participants in the alleged fraud, who are said to have yet a majority of the bonds, to make up to the railroad company the difference between the real value of the property and franchises conveyed to it in 1878 and the par value of its capital stock. Receiver Leary denies the allegations of the plaintiff. Judge Donohue reserved his decision.

New York Lake Erie & Western.—The gross and net earnings for each month of the fiscal years 1882-3 and 1883-4 were as under. The earnings below include in 1883 the accounts of the New York Pennsylvania & Ohio. The total working expenses of this leased line are reported, and in the gross earnings 68 per cent of its receipts, since 32 per cent is paid as rental, and the net earnings of N. Y. L. E. & W. thus show a proper comparison with 1882:

| | Gross Earnings. | | Net Earnings. | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| | 1883. | 1882. | 1883. | 1882. |
| October | $2,411,146 | $1,819,010 | $843,368 | $644,328 |
| November | 2,180,982 | 1,818,823 | 703,078 | 757,206 |

New York & New England.—At Hartford, Conn., Feb. 9, before Judge Shipman, of the United States District Court, was heard the motion of Colonel Jonas H. French, that the receivership of the New York & New England Railroad be terminated or a new receiver appointed as a co-receiver, joined with Charles P. Clark. A supplemental bill, alleging the failure to pay interest on the second mortgage bonds, and asking the right to foreclose, was recorded as of Feb. 7. The hearing was adjourned to Monday, Feb. 18, when the Court will probably take final action on the receivership. An order was issued allowing Mr. Clark as receiver to pay certain classes of claims, including taxes, which are or may become liens, rents which, if unpaid, would cause forfeiture of rights or estate, sums due shippers for overcharges, to continue the work on the second track, and to defend suits brought against the corporation. It is reported that the forthcoming receiver's statement will show the financial status of affairs Dec. 31, 1883, as follows:

New York West Shore & Buffalo.—At a meeting held to devise plans for promoting the financial interests of this company, the directors appointed a committee to consider a general plan, the committee consisting of General Horace Porter, E. D. Adams, of Winslow, Lanier & Co., and Peter B. McLennan.

The Evening Post of the 15th says:

"We understand that the following plan for relieving the New York West Shore & Buffalo Railroad Company from its present embarrassments has been matured by the committee having the matter in charge, subject, of course, to the acceptance of the parties in interest:

"The first mortgage bondholders to be asked to surrender three coupons, say $3,750,000, to be held in trust uncanceled, against $3,750,000 six per cent debentures to run ten years; the company having the right to redeem them at pleasure. Make a second mortgage upon all the railway property for $30,000,000, subject to the priorities of the $50,000,000 first mortgage bonds, and of the $12,000,000 existing Terminal mortgage bonds, which latter are to be canceled and 'A' bonds delivered in exchange therefor. The second mortgage to secure two series of bonds ('A' and 'B') for $15,000,000, each bearing 5 per cent interest. The 'A' bonds to be entitled to the first income earned (fixed interest) with foreclosure provisions for their special benefit. Giving possession upon ninety days default. Two million dollars to be raised for purchase of equipment. Parties furnishing this money to own the equipment and lease it to the railway company for five years at 8 per cent interest, payable quarterly. At end of that time the company to purchase it at same price as first paid. The company to keep cars insured and repaired.

"The 'A' bonds will be a first mortgage upon the terminal property and a second mortgage on all the railway property; $10,000,000 of the 'A' bonds to be used for retiring outstanding $10,000,000 of Terminal bonds; $2,000,000 to pay off the parties furnishing equipment; $3,000,000 to be applied to construction and payment of debts. The $15,000,000 'B' bonds (entitled to 5 per cent, if earned) to go to Construction Company or so many as may be found to be justly due it. The 'B' bonds to be on equality with the 'A' bonds under the mortgage after interest has been earned and paid for two years on the first mortgage and on the 'A' bonds; that is, then entitled to fixed interest. Thus the 'A' bonds which furnish new and additional property to the company have the first lien, and the 'B' bonds furnish a security for paying the claim of the Construction Company. The 'B' $15,000,000 bonds to carry $20,000,000 of stock, or about thirteen shares to each bond, to be held together by the trustee of the second mortgage and represented by convertible certificates; conversion to be allowed after payment of interest on all second mortgage bonds for two years, and which are derived from earnings, and the company is free from floating debts. 'B' bonds draw interest only if earned. Thus the 'A' bonds, which furnish new and additional property to the company have the first lien, and the 'B' bonds carry the shares and are a fitting asset to pay the debts of and the balance due to the Construction Company. If the traffic exceeds this, the 'B' bonds, with shares attached, will have the highest market value.

"This scheme, if carried out, would make the total funded indebtedness of the West Shore Railroad about $87,000,000, of which, however, $30,000,000 would have a prior lien on the terminal property, $3,000,000 on rolling stock, and $3,750,000 would be plain debenture bonds."

It is also proposed to make some changes in the West Shore directory, and on this statement newspaper reports have been circulated that Mr. Vanderbilt would be made a director.

Northern Pacific.—It was stated in the CHRONICLE of January 26 that this company had advertised for proposals to go on with the extension of its main line westward on what is called the Cascade Division, having a terminus at Tacoma on Puget Sound. San Francisco will be reached from Tacoma by steamers owned and run by the Northern Pacific Co. President Robert Harris, when asked about the proposed extension, said they might build the new road if the Government would not interfere with the land grants. President Harris stated that the traffic agreement between the Northern Pacific and the Oregon Railway and Navigation Company had not been abrogated, but had been modified.

Pennsylvania—Lehigh Valley.—The Philadelphia Record had an article stating in effect that the Pennsylvania Co. has about consummated negotiations for a lease of the Lehigh Valley property at a guaranteed dividend of 10 per cent on the stock. It was alleged that the death of President Packer removes the obstacle which had existed, and that nothing remains but the signing of the articles.

—In Philadelphia officers of both the Lehigh Valley and Pennsylvania railroad companies deny the report that the former road has been, or is to be, leased by the latter.

Richmond & Danville.—This company has this week issued its January statement of gross and net earnings on all the lines operated by it as follows:

| | Gross Earnings. | | Net Earnings. | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| | 1884. | 1883. | 1884. | 1883. |

COMMERCIAL EPITOME.

Friday Night, Feb. 15, 1884.

The spring trade opens slowly. The floods in the Ohio Valley have risen to an unprecedented height, doing great damage to property, causing the loss of many lives and greatly retarding railroad transportation. In this city and its vicinity fogs unusually dense and prolonged have delayed the arrival and departure of shipping and steamboats. Commercial circles are quiet. Failures are not so numerous nor important as last month, and credits are improving. There is very general confidence that current values are on a sound basis. Strikes, except in the New England cotton mills, are terminating, and coal mines that had been stopped are resuming work. Altogether the position is an encouraging one, yet recuperation from the prolonged dulness will probably be slow.

There had been a strong tone to the provision market until the last two days, when heavy speculative selling at the West brought about declines. The tone of lard and pork, however, at the close is quite well sustained. To-day there were free sales of mess pork at $18@$18 25. Lard opened higher and firm, then re-acted and closed dull: February, 10·08@10·12c.; March, 10·14@10·17c.; April, 10·20@10·23c.; May 10·30@10 31c.; June, 10·37@10·40c.; July, 10·40@10·45c. Western on the spot was quoted 10·20c.; refined to the Continent, 10·50c. Bacon ruled quiet at 9¾@10c. for long clear. Beef firm at $24 50@$26 50 for city extra India mess. Beef hams steady at $26 50. Tallow remained steady at 7 7-16@7½c. Stearine firm at 10⅝@10¾c. Butter rules firm and in better demand at 35@36c. for Elgin creameries. Cheese was held firmly at 14½c. for the best State factory.

Rio Coffee has been quiet and rather easier at 12½c.@12¾c. for fair cargoes; options have been dull and without marked change, closing at 10 75c for. February, 10·80c for March. and April, 10 90c. for May and 10·95c. for June; mild grades have sold pretty well at steady prices. Tea has been active at gradually advancing prices. Spices have been quiet but steady. Foreign fruits have been dull and weak. Rice has been in fair demand and steady. Molasses has been rather more active; 50 deg. test Cuba has advanced to 25c.; New Orleans closed steady but quiet. Raw sugar has been fairly at times at firmer prices, but the market closed quiet with the London quotations weaker, and prices of refined here also rather depressed. On the 8th instant, moreover, the stock at Havana and Matanzas was 34,000 tons, against 20,000 tons at the same date last year; fair refining closed here at 5⅞c., and 96-degrees test centrifugal at 6¾c.; refined closed at 7⅞c. for powdered, 8c.@8⅛c. for crushed and 7⅝c.@7 11-16c. for granulated.

In Kentucky tobacco the legitimate trading has been limited to 195 hhds., while for speculation 325 hhds. have been taken; lugs remain steady at 7@8c.; leaf, 8½@10c.; seed leaf has been only moderately active, but values have been sustained. Sales, 1,450 cases, including 650 cases crop 1882, Pennsylvania fillers, 5c.; do. assorted, 12½@20c.; 350 cases crop 1881, Pennsylvania, 6½@10c.; 100 cases crop 1880, Pennsylvania, 5@11c; 100 cases crop 1882, New England, 11@25c.; 100 cases crop 1882, State, 14c.; and 150 cases crop 1882, sundries, 5@20c.; also 500 bales Havana at 80c.@$1 15.

In naval stores the movement, both in regular channels and on the Exchange, has been very light, and rosins show irregularity, being quoted at $1 42½@$1 47½ for strained to good strained; spirits turpentine, on the contrary, has been firm at 37½c. Refined petroleum has had a severe decline, said to be from manipulation; 70 Abel test broke yesterday from 9⅝c. to 8¾c., and a large movement was effected. Crude certificates have been on the down track, owing to the exports of larger producing wells and the power of the "short" clique here; to-day there were sales at $1 03½@$1 01½, closing $1 03⅜. Ingot copper steady at 14⅞@15c. for Lake. Wool has been more active at firm prices.

The business in ocean freight-room has been exceedingly small, and in many instances rates are nominal. There appears to be a lack of all interest from shippers. Charters have been irregular, and only a slight business in oil tonnage is noticed. Liverpool steam grain quoted 2d.; flour, 10s.; bacon, 12s. 6d.@17s. 6d; cheese, 25s.; cotton, 3-16d; grain to London by steam, 3d.; do. to Glasgow by steam, 3d.; do. to Newcastle by steam, 2¼d.; do. to Antwerp by steam, 3¼d.; refined petroleum in cases to the Levant, 18c.; crude do. to Bordeaux, 2s. 6d. per bbl.; refined do. and naphtha to Liverpool, 2s. 4½d.; refined to Danish port, 2s. 9d.; cases to Japan, 24@25c.

The speculation in cotton for future delivery at this market, during the past week, has been slow, and the course of prices has been somewhat irregular, with the changes comparatively slight. During Saturday and Monday there was a slight decline, under sales to realize, caused by the full receipts at the ports, and the depression of the markets at New Orleans and Liverpool. Tuesday opened weak, but there was a rally at the close, attributed to small receipts at Memphis and other interior towns. On Wednesday the receipts at the ports were quite small, and the opening of prices was at a further advance, but it was not sustained in the later dealings. On Thursday the strong Liverpool and Southern markets, together with the crop movement still small, caused a slight advance, which was pretty well maintained to the close, but without activity in the dealings. It may be remarked, however, that on both Wednesday and Thursday the summer months attracted more attention. To-day the opening was weak and the market dull, closing slightly lower, and, as compared with last Friday, somewhat irregular, with the variations unimportant. Cotton on the spot has been very dull. A small business was done for home consumption. There has been no change in prices, middling uplands closing nominally 10¾c.

The total sales for forward delivery for the week are 364,600 bales. For immediate delivery the total sales foot up this week 1,884 bales, including —— for export, 1,734 for consumption, 150 for speculation and —— in transit. Of the above, —— bales were to arrive. The following are the official quotations for each day of the past week.

The receipts at the same towns have been 18,279 bales less than the same week last year, and since September 1 the receipts at all the towns are 450,159 bales less than for the same time in 1882-83.

Receipts from the Plantations.—The following table is prepared for the purpose of indicating the actual movement each week from the plantations. Receipts at the outports are sometimes misleading, as they are made up more largely one year than another at the expense of the interior stocks. We reach therefore, a safer conclusion through a comparative statement like the following. In reply to frequent inquiries we will add that these figures, of course, do not include overland receipts or Southern consumption; they are simply a statement of the weekly movement from the plantations of that part of the crop which finally reaches the market through the out-ports.

The above statement shows—1. That the total receipts from the plantations since September 1, 1883, were 4,417,631 bales; in 1882-83 were 4,942,256 bales; in 1881-82 were 4,273,377 bales.

2.—That, although the receipts at the out-ports the past week were 105,921 bales, the actual movement from plantations was only 91,515 bales, the balance being taken from the stocks at the interior towns. Last year the receipts from the plantations for the same week were 129,342 bales and for 1882 they were 63,957 bales.

Amount of Cotton in Sight February 15.—In the table below we give the receipts from plantations in another form, and add to them the net overland movement to February 1, and also the takings by Southern spinners to the same date, so as to give substantially the amount of cotton now in sight.

It will be seen by the above that the decrease in amount in sight to-night, as compared with last year, is 562,274 bales, the increase as compared with 1881-82 is 276,647 bales, and the decrease from 1880-81 is 143,135 bales.

The following statement we have also received by telegraph, showing the height of the rivers at the points named at 3 o'clock February 14, 1884, and February 15, 1883.

| | | Feb. 14, '84. | | Feb. 15, '83. | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | | Feet. | Inch. | Feet. | Inch. |
| New Orleans | Below high-water mark | 3 | 2 | 5 | 1 |
| Memphis | Above low-water mark. | 33 | 2 | 30 | 7 |
| Nashville | Above low-water mark. | 46 | 7 | 41 | 4 |

New Orleans reported below high-water mark of 1871 until Sept. 9, 1874, when the zero of gauge was changed to high-water mark of April 15 and 16, 1874, which is 6-10ths of a foot above 1871, or 16 feet above low-water mark at that point.

BOMBAY RECEIPTS AND SHIPMENTS FOR FOUR YEARS.

| Year | Shipments this week. | | | Shipments since Jan. 1. | | | Receipts. | |

According to the foregoing, Bombay appears to show a decrease compared with last year in the week's receipts of 15,000 bales, and a decrease in shipments of 14,000 bales, and the shipments since January 1 show an increase of 15,000 bales. The movement at Calcutta, Madras and other India ports for the last reported week and since the 1st of January, for two years has been as follows. "Other ports" cover Ceylon, Tuticorin, Kurrachee and Coconada.

EXPORTS TO EUROPE FROM ALL INDIA.

This last statement affords a very interesting comparison of the total movement for the three years at all India ports.

ALEXANDRIA RECEIPTS AND SHIPMENTS.—Through arrangements we have made with Messrs. Davies, Benachi & Co., of Liverpool and Alexandria, we now receive a weekly cable of the movements of cotton at Alexandria, Egypt. The following are the receipt and shipments for the past week and for the corresponding week of the previous two years.

This statement shows that the receipts for the week ending Feb. 13 were 40,000 cantars and the shipments to all Europe 11,000 bales.

European Cotton Consumption to February 1.—The cable brings us to-day Mr. Ellison's cotton figures, brought down to February 1. We also give the revised totals for last year, that comparison may be made. Mr. Ellison reduces the previous consumption of Great Britain by 7,000 bales, of 400 lbs. each. In his first of January Annual Review he gave the consumption for the 13 weeks of the season at 73,000 bales, but stated that "it may, indeed, have been somewhat less than this "figure during the last few weeks of the old year, owing to the "diminished demand for yarn, occasioned by the stoppage of "about 50,000 looms in Northeast Lancashire." We have therefore deducted this 7,000 bales from the December figures, thus reducing consumption in Great Britain for that month to 71,000 bales, and for the whole of Europe to 138,000 bales. Spinners' takings in actual bales and pounds have been as follows:

| From Oct. 1 to Feb. 1. | Great Britain. | Continent. | Total. |
| For 1883-84. | | | |
| Takings by spinners...bales | 1,304,000 | 1,072,000 | 2,376,000 |
| Average weight of bales.... | 430 | 433 | 433 |
| Takings in pounds ..... | 560,720,000 | 467,392,000 | 1,028,112,000 |
| For 1882-83. | | | |
| Takings by spinners...bales | 1,260,000 | 1,153,430 | 2,413,430 |
| Average weight of bales.... | 440 | 438 | 439 |
| Takings in pounds..... | 554,400,000 | 505,202,340 | 1,059,602,340 |

According to the above, the average weight of the deliveries in Great Britain is 430 pounds per bale to February 1, against 440 pounds per bale during the same time last season. The Continental deliveries average 436 pounds, against 438 pounds last year, and for the whole of Europe the deliveries average 433 pounds per bale, against 439 pounds during the same period last season. In the following table we give the stock held by the mills, their takings and their consumption, each month since October 1, all reduced to bales of 400 pounds each for this season and last season. It is a very convenient and useful summary.

A more striking comparison with last year is reached by bringing together the above totals and adding the average weekly consumption up to this time for the two years.

The foregoing shows that the weekly consumption in Europe has been reduced to 136,000 bales of 400 pounds each, against 135,000 bales of the same weight at the corresponding time last year. The total spinners' stocks in Great Britain and on the Continent show an increase over the stocks at the same time last month, and are larger than at the same date of last season.

East India Crop.—From Messrs. Wallace & Co.'s Cotton Report, dated Bombay, January 11, we have the following: "Advices have been received from Broach, reporting the crop as not so promising; that the plants on the high lands are withering, and that if very cold weather should set in the crop will be smaller than last year. These reports have not been confirmed; on the contrary, are denied by some authorities, and as no further news as to cold weather has come in, it is presumed that the crop is progressing favorably. Similar unfavorable information has been received from Dhollerah, but not much faith is placed in the report. The quality of the Oomrawuttee arriving is still rather unsatisfacttory, but it is expected to improve shortly, when the second pickings are expected to arrive next month."

Jute Butts, Bagging, &c.—There has been a good demand for bagging during the week and parcels for the present wants of the trade are moving freely. Prices are firmly maintained and sellers are asking full rates, and the market closes at 9½c. for 1½ lbs., 10c. for 1¾ lbs., 10¾c. for 2 lbs. and 11½c. for standard grades. The demand for butts has been moderately active and a fair amount of business is reported. Few inquiries are reported for parcels to arrive, though we hear that one lot was placed, and the business doing is for spot parcels, some 1,500 bales paper grades being placed at 2⅜@2½c., while a few parcels of bagging qualities have sold at 2¾@3c.

Comparative Port Receipts and Daily Crop Movement.—A comparison of the port movement by weeks is not accurate as the weeks in different years do not end on the same day of the month. We have consequently added to our other standing tables a daily and monthly statement, that the reader may constantly have before him the data for seeing the exact relative movement for the years named. The movement each month since September 1, 1883, has been as follows.

| Perc'tage of tot. port receipts Jan. 31... | 70·89 | 79·27 | 68 53 | 75·34 | 73·52 | |

This statement shows that up to Jan. 31 the receipts at the ports this year were 299,634 bales less than in 1882 and 226,117 bales more than at the same time in 1881. By adding to the above totals to Jan. 31 the daily receipts since that time, we shall be able to reach an exact comparison of the movement for the different years.

We add to the table the percentages of total port receipts which had been received to February 15 in each of the years named.

The Exports of Cotton from New York this week show a decrease, as compared with last week, the total reaching 12,550 bales, against 14,266 bales last week. ## BREADSTUFFS.

FRIDAY, P. M., Feb. 15, 1884

Flour has latterly been more steady. The demand has not materially increased, but the receipts of winter wheat flour have been moderate, a fact which, joined with the rise in the cereal, has given a firmer tone to the market, especially as winter grades command a ready sale. Spring wheat brands on the other hand are in excessive supply and not so well sustained as winter. To-day the market was steady, but only moderately active.

Wheat has been dull for export, and, except on a single day, not at all active on speculation. Prices have advanced, but large quantities have been unloaded, both here and in Chicago, at the higher figures, the largest sales being for May delivery, the transactions here in that option on Tuesday reaching no less than 7,840,000 bushels, out of total sales for the day of 10,480,000 bushels. The rise has been due to a demand from shorts, mainly at the West, and an advance there, to which this market has responded. The reports that the winter wheat has been injured in the Ohio Valley by frosts and floods have received comparatively little credence, and it was a significant fact that on the day of the largest transactions here there was a decline in prices. To-day the market was dull and lower. No. 2 red closed at $1 13⅝ in elevator, $1 08⅝ for February, $1 09⅝ for March, $1 12⅛ for April, $1 14¾ for May and $1 15¾ for June, showing an advance for the week of 1¼c. to 1¾c.

Indian corn has generally been very quiet, both of export and on speculation, but there seems to have been some overselling here and at the West, and yesterday the shorts covered pretty freely. Prices have advanced, mainly owing to a rise at the West, but latterly the tone of the market here has become weaker. The receipts at Chicago are accumulating, and, it is said, would be much larger but for the fact that the storage facilities there are now so limited. There are still said to be large stocks in cribs along the line of railroads in Kansas and Nebraska which cannot be moved, because the warehouses and elevators at Chicago are full. To-day the market was quiet and slightly lower. No. 2 mixed closed at 63½c. in elevator, 63¾c. for February, 63⅞c. for March, 65¼c. for April, 66½c. for May and 67c. for June, these figures being 1¼c. to 2½c. higher than those of a week ago, the greatest advance being for February.

Rye and barley have been quiet but steady. Oats have sold slowly at higher prices. To-day the market was still quiet but steady. No. 2 mixed closed at 41¾c. for February, 42c. for March, 43c. for April and 43½c. for May, showing a rise of ¾c. to 1¼c. for the week.

THE DRY GOODS TRADE.

FRIDAY, P. M., Feb. 15, 1884.

There was only a moderate movement in dry goods the past week. The demand at first hands was unfavorably influenced by rainy weather and disquieting reports from the flooded districts in the Ohio Valley. There was, however, a fair business in the most staple cotton goods, and the tendency of the market was upward, an advance of from 2⅛ to 5 per cent having been made on various fabrics. Domestic woolens continued sluggish, and the demand for imported goods was somewhat irregular. The jobbing trade was devoid of animation, but retailers are beginning to arrive in considerable force, and an increased business in this department is confidently expected shortly. The aspect of the spring trade is regarded more hopefully than a short time ago, as it has been ascertained beyond reasonable doubt that the stocks carried over from last season by distributers are exceptionally small, and goods of all kinds are so cheap that the demand for consumption, it is expected, will be stimulated to an unusual degree.

DOMESTIC COTTON GOODS.—The exports of domestics for the week were 1,134 packages, including 298 to U. S. of Colombia, 247 to Great Britain, 65 to Uruguay, and relatively small parcels to other markets. Brown cottons were in fair demand by jobbers and converters, but Southern makes were less active than Eastern brands. Bleached shirtings and wide sheetings met with liberal sales, and some leading makes were advanced from 2½ to 5 per cent. For colored cottons there was only a limited inquiry (the trade being well supplied for the present), but prices ruled steady on all the best brands. Print cloths were quiet, but prices remain as last quoted (say 3⅝c. for 64x64s and 3⅛c. bid for 56x60s), the situation at Fall River having undergone no material change. Prints were in light demand, owing to the rainy weather, which also had a depressing effect upon ginghams, chambrays, seersuckers and fancy cotton dress goods. The tone of the market for plain, colored, dyed and printed cottons is decidedly firmer, and the condition of stocks in first hands is much better than a short time ago, nearly all heavy accumulations having passed into the channels of distribution.

DOMESTIC WOOLEN GOODS.—The general demand for clothing woolens continued light, but there was rather more business in a few specialties, as heavy worsteds, cotton-warp cassimeres and satinets. Wool cassimeres were mostly quiet and the demand for overcoatings was moderate. Heavy worsteds have been opened at about 5 per cent below last year's prices, and a like concession will probably be made on some makes of all-wool cassimeres; but Union cassimeres have in some instances been opened at last season's quotations. Ladies' cloths, Jersey cloths and stockinettes were in fair demand, considering the inclemency of the weather, as were all-wool and worsted dress goods and shawls. Kentucky jeans and doeskins remained quiet in first hands, and the demand for flannels was chiefly restricted to small parcels of leading makes. Some fair-sized lots of knit under-wear were sold for future delivery, and a steady though moderate business was done in carpets at unchanged prices.

FOREIGN DRY GOODS have not displayed much activity, and yet a moderately increased trade was done in certain fabrics and a fair distribution was made by importers in execution of former orders. Fancy summer silks and plain silks were in fair request, and ribbons continued to move steadily. Dress goods were in irregular demand, with most relative activity in low and medium grade fabrics. Linen goods were mostly quiet, but white goods, imitation laces and Hamburg embroideries met with fair aggregate sales, and there was a pretty good movement in hosiery and fabric gloves. Men's-wear woolens were lightly dealt in, and there was a moderate call for ladies' cloths and cloakings. Importations continue light, and staple fabrics are fairly steady in price.

A Weekly Magazine, it gives more than

"It becomes more and more necessary as the field of periodical literature broadens."—Zion's Herald, Boston.

"No other periodical gives so diversified a view of current literature, not by abridgments, but by publishing entire the best essays, criticisms, discussions, short stories, and serial romances of the day * * * It is for readers of limited leisure or purse the most convenient and available means of possessing themselves of the very best results of current criticism, philosophy, science, and literature."—Presbyterian Banner, Pittsburg.

"Through its pages alone it is possible to be as well informed in current literature as by the perusal of a long list of monthlies.'—Phila. Enquirer.

"Whatever there is of interest in the literary and scientific world is spread before its readers."—Boston Journal.

"No reader who makes himself familiar with its contents can lack the means of a sound literary culture."—New York Tribune.

"It furnishes a complete compilation of an indispensable literature."—Chicago Evening Journal

"Remarkably clear for the quality and amount of reading furnished."—Montreal Gazette.

"It is by odds the best periodical in the world."—Morning Star, Wilmington, N. C.

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION.

Very little of importance affecting commercial and financial circles, aside from the further rise in foreign exchange, has transpired this week. The flood in the Ohio Valley is slowly subsiding, but the losses it has occasioned remain not without influence on the general situation. Some improvement in mercantile affairs is anticipated, if not already indicated through the daily reports of the starting up of furnaces and machinery which have been idle for months, though at present there is but little actual evidence of an increased demand for products. A further circumstance of promise is that Congress, although no legislation has been effected, has on financial questions thus far shown in both Houses a more conservative spirit than has prevailed for many a year. There are always absurd bills introduced, but at this session all such have hitherto been stifled in committee, while measures that have shown any life or been reported are in the interest of relief. As to the questions relating to banks and bank currency, though we may not agree with the conclusions reached, there seems to be every disposition to treat them in a reasonable, unprejudiced manner. There is also a rumor now afloat that a bill is likely to pass suspending the coinage of silver dollars after two years, if within that time an international bimetallic agreement is not effected. Of course that is prolonging the evil two years more, but the suggestion of such legislation is evidence of a healthier sentiment, for any limit is better than none, both in its influence upon the decision of Europe and upon confidence here.

In the meantime the silver issue has taken a very much sharper form this week through the suggestion made to Mr. Camp, manager of the Clearing-House Association, by Assistant-Treasurer Acton, as to the effect of his paying his balances hereafter in silver dollars. The Assistant-Treasurer says his gold may prove insufficient (probably meaning that his silver is becoming very burdensome) and that he may find it necessary to draw on his pile of dollars. As Mr. Camp did not know how to answer this question, he called his committee together. They could do nothing of course except set out the terms of the agreement under which the Government entered the Clearing House, and plead the thirty days' notice, if any change in the character of the payments (such as from gold to silver) was to be made. We can, however, enlighten the Government on the course which, in the contingency suggested, would be pursued and also on its results. The banks would undoubtedly take the silver. They are not only required to do so by law, but what is of even more importance, after the Government's change of policy, any further resistance to a silver basis for our currency would be useless. We repeat, they would take the silver, and within thirty days thereafter, would be compelled to suspend gold payments, the entire stock in the country going out of circulation and becoming merchandise again. The public had a hint on Thursday of the order in which events would develop. On that morning the daily press made public the rumor respecting Mr. Acton's inquiry, and early in the day bids were made of ⅛ of 1 per cent to call gold at 101 for the remainder of the year. These transactions were, we assume, reported for speculative effect in the stock market, for no one can anticipate that the Government will take the step hinted at until it is compelled to do so and that is hardly likely to occur this year. Still the mere suggestion should warn our merchants of the danger which threatens us, and lead them to make such an appeal to Congress to suspend the coinage as it cannot avoid hearing and heeding. Our banks are powerless and their petition would be wrongly interpreted and therefore ineffectual; but a movement started by the Chamber of Commerce, especially if it should obtain the co-operation of our Commercial Exchanges, might meet with a better reception.

| | January. | 7 Months. | January. | 7 Months. | January. | 7 Months. |

| Cotton..... | 31,495,200 | 134,548,550 | 33,438,144 | 157,703,746 | 21,599,544 | 121,037,690 |
| Total .... | 52,874,158 | 305,612,446 | 60,252,546 | 348,566,937 | 46,777,447 | 320,526,597 |
| All other articles..... | ... ..... | ..... | 20,127,707 | 157,444,496 | 18,143,604 | 152,585,945 |
| Total exp'ts. | ..... | .... .... | 80,380,253 | 506,011,433 | 64,921,051 | 473,112,542 |

If in the above for this year we assume for all articles other than those specified even the smaller total had in the poor year of 1881–82, the January exports in 1884 would reach 71 millions, which will probably prove not far out of the way, and leave a balance in our favor for January of 15 or 16 millions, the same that we estimated it in our issue of the 2d of February. The February movement it is too early yet to indicate, but as up to the present time the month's imports at New York have been comparatively small, unless this feature changes materially for the closing week of the period we should have a fair balance in our favor for that month also. We note these facts as they still bear out the statement that up to this date there is no sufficient cause in the trade figures alone for the high rates of exchange which have ruled since early in January. Still, with the market strong now, with currency conditions unchanged, and with our foreign trade of a character similar to other seasons in March and subsequent months, it would seem as if the extent of our shipments of gold would be governed by the wants of Europe. In this view the improved situation in Egypt, reflected also in the London market, favors the idea that the call for the present at least may not be as urgent as some have anticipated. There is to-day very little profit in shipping gold, and a change to lower figures in the rate for money in the open market at London would endanger even this limited margin.

In the stock market there has been no change either in tone or in the tendency of prices; both have favored the speculative movement. These results have of course been secured through manipulation, by keeping the bears in almost constant fear of a twist in some of the specialties, while adroitly turning the market on the receipt of any unfavorable news, thus discouraging attempts to take advantage of adverse circumstances. This was well illustrated on Monday. The fact that the house of McGinnis Bros. & Fearing was embarrassed was well known to the leaders on both sides, for the troubles were of such a character that they could not well be concealed. The bears sought to turn their knowledge to good account, but they were defeated by the movement in Union Pacific, which was pushed upward so vigorously as to compel some of the shorts to cover and that resulted in a rise in the whole list. When Union Pacific had spent its force, Lackawanna was advanced and thus the market was kept generally strong until the last half hour of business when the bears seemed to unite for a final effort, and attacked prices so vigorously that the close was unsettled; simultaneously came the announcement of the failure above referred to which had been withheld until the last moment. Since then the favorite stocks have been Lackawanna, Reading, Union Pacific and the grangers, and at no time have the bears been successful in forcing more than fractional declines. The speculation in Union Pacific was aided by the closing of the tranfer books preparatory to the annual election; the withdrawal of stock for transfer revealed the fact that there was a large uncovered short interest in the property. Lackawanna commenced to advance on the announcement that the arbitrators to whom was referred the question as to the proportion to be allowed this road in the Trunk Line pool, had decided upon 14 per cent, which was all that the Lackawanna claimed in the beginning.

Union Pacific statement of earnings and expenses has been one of the features of the week. Owing mainly to the causes already enumerated, the showing for December had no effect on the price of the stock. It is a fair question also whether even a greater loss in earnings has not been fully discounted through the heavy decline in values during 1883. Of course increased competition is an adverse circumstance with which the road has got to contend, but it by no means follows that earnings in future months are to turn out so unfavorably as those for December. And in this connection it is to be noted that the $517,456 decrease in net profits is only to the extent of $151,790 the result of a decrease in gross earnings, the remainder being the result of larger expenses. As to this increase in expenses, we are informed that it was due in great part to an unusual outlay for renewal of rails and track, and to heavier taxes—taxes being $61,000 more than in last December. Further, we are told that the Colorado lines are in some measure responsible for the unfavorable return made. This latter is important, because it leads to the inference that now that rates have been restored on Utah and Colorado business, better results may be expected.

Another fact to be remembered is the excellent statement of 1882, with which the comparison is made, and hence the company could suffer quite a large loss of income and yet maintain a surplus of profits above its dividend requirements. The truth is, the company had in 1882 in its favor no less than $2,340,107, after paying all interest charges, full 7 per cent on its stock, and after having contributed nearly half a million to sinking funds and allowed for over 2 millions on its account with the United States Government. This surplus, too, was irrespective of land sales, which netted $1,088,495 more. For 1883 we have as yet only the statement of net traffic earnings, which show a decrease from 1882 of $1,211,154. This is on the basis of all lines operated. The company's income account however is made up on the basis only of the 1,821 miles composing the Union Pacific system proper, the result on the branches coming in as profit on investments, &c. In 1882 and 1881, the net income so arrived at did not differ materially from the total of net earnings for the whole system. If the same should prove true in 1883, then the loss of $1,211,154 in net earnings would mark the total loss of net income. Still, some doubt may be entertained on this point because of the building of the Oregon Short Line and the issuing of additional bonds on that account during the year. There are 12½ millions of these bonds now out, or 8½ millions more than twelve months ago, and the total interest charge on the entire issue would be $750,000. As the road was in process of construction it is not unlikely that interest on a portion of the bonds was paid out of construction funds, as this is the course usually pursued by new lines. But the interest on some portion of the debt no doubt had to be met out of earnings, and to that extent the loss of $1,211,154 above in net income would be augmented. In addition, $250,000 will have to be allowed for the interest on the $5,000,000 collateral trust bonds of the Union Pacific issued during 1883. This interest might be met out of the interest on the securities put in trust for the bonds, in which case income from investments would be diminished accordingly, or it might be met directly out of the company's treasury, the result being the same in either case. The former course is pursued with regard to the earlier issue of collateral trust bonds (that of 1879), which together with the fact that the interest on the Kansas Pacific general consolidated bonds is met from land sales, accounts for a total payment for interest of only $4,976,204 in 1882, while the actual charge on the debt then outstanding foots up as much as $5,486,531. We have, then, a loss of $1,211,154 directly in earnings and of $250,000 more on account of interest on debt, or somewhat less than 1½ millions together, to be increased in larger or smaller amount on account of the Oregon Short Line debt. Against this, there was, as said, a surplus of $2,340,107 from ordinary income and $1,08[illegible],495 more from land sales. And this latter amount must have been more than doubled in 1883, since the sales for the year reached $3,402,324, against only $1,164,468 in 1882.

Denver & Rio Grande is also to hand with a brief statement of its gross and net income for 1883. Since the completion of its western extention to Ogden, Utah, this road has again commanded a larger share of attention. The line was open through only part of the year, and has had to contend with bitter rivalry on the part of the existing lines. The statement now submitted shows that gross earnings increased $956,566 over 1882, but that operating expenses increased nearly as much—$921,987—which is perhaps not surprising considering the unfavorable rates that prevailed. Counting miscellaneous income, the company had total net earnings of $2,732,965, against $2,620,627 in 1882, a gain of $112,338. But charges for interest, taxes, insurance, &c., were heavier than in 1882. The total is figured at about $2,575,000 (including in this the rental of the Denver & Rio Grande Western on the mileage operated during the year), while in 1882 the amount was about $2,245,000, an augmentation of $330,000, leaving the surplus for the year at $158,000, against $375,000 the year before, which, in view of the circumstances, is a not unsatisfactory result. We should say that this allows in both years full interest on the rolling stock trusts, but nothing on account of the redemption of the principal of the same.

In the current year the charges must be expected to be still larger, since a part of the debt did not bear full interest during 1883. Taking the direct debt of the Denver & Rio Grande as now outstanding, the interest (including that of car trusts), foots up about $2,261,000. Then there is the rental of the Denver & Rio Grande Western. This is 40 per cent of that line's gross earnings, which, however, must be enough in any event to pay the interest on its debt. As this debt amounts to $6,157,000, and bears 6 per cent interest, the charge on that account will be at least $369,420, making the total call for interest about $2,630,000. If now we add on $250,000 for taxes, insurance and other items—the amount in 1882 was nearly $300,000—we get an aggregate charge of $2,880,000 against the $2,575,000 actually paid in the past year. Hence, the company's income in 1884 will have to meet an increase of $300,000 in the requirements in this particular, which any addition to debt would of course enlarge. The belief that this increase will be fully covered is based upon (1) the fact that the company will operate the Utah lines for the full year; (2) the probability of obtaining better rates and a larger share of business; and (3) a reduction in the ratio of operating expenses, which some of the officials seem to think can be effected.

Chicago & Alton is the first prominent company to issue a full pamphlet report of its operations for 1883. This property has always been well managed, and ranks high in the estimation of investors. This is shown by the fact that the shares command 136 in the market, though only 8 per cent is paid on them. As much as 10 per cent was paid at one time, but in the period of depression after the crisis of 1873 the rate was reduced, though even then it did not get below 6 per cent in any year, and now has for three years been 8 per cent. Unlike so many other systems in the same territory, the Chicago & Alton has not been increasing its mileage from year to year, the only important addition within recent times being the extension to Kansas City, opened in 1879, which has proved a wise venture. It is owing to this fact, no doubt, that the company has been able to make steady progress in its business each year since 1879. The report before us shows a total net income for 1883 of $4,215,425, out of which the company paid $782,872 for interest and sinking funds, $1,208,277 for rentals, $221,709 for taxes, &c., $1,194,184 for 8 per cent dividends on its stock, applying besides $749,759 in the purchase of additional property and equipment, and yet had a surplus on the year's operations of $67,624.

A feature of some interest in the company's affairs is the proposition to exchange the stock of one of its leased lines—the St. Louis Jacksonville & Chicago—for its own stock, share for share. If the arrangement should be perfected the Chicago & Alton would assume that road's debt, and pay the stockholders of the same like dividends with its own. According to the present agreement the Alton pays the other road a certain rental per year, which is dependent upon the leased line's gross earnings. This rental sufficed to give both classes of Jacksonville stockholders—common and preferred—10 per cent in 1883, but in some of the earlier years the common got nothing and the preferred but 6 per cent. As the Alton pays only 8 per cent on its own stock, it might be supposed that there would be some hesitation on the part of the leased road's stockholders to exchange their 10 per cent stock for it, but the report states that the consent of more than three-fourths of the holders was obtained in writing early last year, and that it is expected that the proposition will be ratified at the annual meeting of the Jacksonville road in April. Taking the rental paid in 1883, we can form an idea what the effect of the change would be upon the Chicago & Alton. The Jacksonville road has $1,293,000 of common stock and $1,034,000 of preferred stock, which at 8 per cent dividends would call for $186,160 per annum. Then there are $2,725,000 of first and second mortgage bonds, bearing 7 per cent interest, which the Alton would have to meet. Adding $190,750 on for this, we get a total charge of $376,910, which might possibly be increased in some small measure by miscellaneous expenses incident to the lessor's corporate existence. The payment for rental by the Alton in 1883 was $461,705.

Money continues abundant at this centre at an average of about 1½ per cent on call, and there is a fair inquiry for loans on stock collateral running to the end of the year. The offerings are not very liberal, lenders feeling disposed to take their chances of an active market at intervals rather than tie themselves up with time loans. The following statement, made up from returns collected by us, exhibits the week's receipts and shipments of currency and gold by the New York banks.

The above shows the actual changes in the bank holdings of gold and currency caused by this movement to and from the interior. In addition to that movement, the banks have lost $500,000 through the operations of the Sub-Treasury. Adding that item therefore to the above, we have the following, which should indicate the total gain to the New York Clearing House banks of gold and currency for the week covered by the bank statement to be issued to-day.

The Bank of England reports a gain of £343,000 bullion for the week. This represents £28,000 received from abroad and £315,000 from the interior. The Bank of France shows an increase of 12,801,000 francs gold and of 2,206,000 francs silver, and the Bank of Germany since our last has gained 7,360,000 marks. The foregoing table begins at the date of the adoption of the tariff of 1824, when the policy of a "protective tariff" first took definite form and consistency in an Act of Congress. The close of the war of 1812 found Henry Clay of Kentucky, John C. Calhoun of South Carolina, and others, earnestly advocating what Clay termed the "American system" for the fostering and promotion of home manufactures, whereby our country might be made less dependent upon European productions than it had been during the war. New England and New York were then more engaged in commerce than manufactures, and the Eastern members of Congress, including Daniel Webster, were more devoted to the support of maritime interests and fisheries than to the building up of factories. A notable exception to this tendency in New England was found in the small company of men, Jackson, Lowell, Booth, Appleton, and their associates in Massachusetts, the Slaters of Rhode Island and Batchelders of New Hampshire, the founders and leaders of cotton manufactures, since grown to be one of our most important industries.

Thirty-five years is a short time in the life of any nation; especially is it a short time in which to construct, organize and adjust the government of a new nation, and bring all of its functions into harmonious working order. Hardly had our constitutional system been arranged when the French Revolution and succeeding events brought on a state of war almost continual and general for nearly twenty years in Europe. In spite of our strict neutrality—even to laying an embargo on our own shipping—the hostile powers seized the persons or property, or both, of our citizens, impressing the former and confiscating the latter, in violation of our neutral rights, until our Government was forced to a belligerent attitude with France, and actual war with England from 1812 to 1815. When our own peaceful work could again be pursued, it was under the burden of a debt caused by the expenses of the war, and with fiscal affairs of both Government and people seriously disordered. Between 1816 and 1824 the work of governmental organization was completed in very nearly its present form, while the people worked out their own release from debt and disabilities. In the works of Congress were included the re-charter of the United States Bank, its establishment on a sound basis of capital and credit, and a gradual construction of the tariff system which found expression in the Act of 1824.

(1824–1832). This was a period of quiet and general prosperity in the United States, though of great financial disasters in England. The mercantile marine and fisheries of our maritime States, always a leading and profitable industry in Colonial days, were growing rapidly. Immigration from Europe had yet moved only in a small way, but inter-state migration, as from New England and other Atlantic States to the States and territories bordering on the Ohio and Mississippi, grew from the beginning at the close of the revolutionary war into a large movement of population. The public revenue from customs, land sales, etc., covered the yearly expenses of government, including some improvements, such as the "National Road," and after gradually paying off the national debt, soon supplied a surplus for distribution among the States. Agriculture was profitable wherever its productions were within reach of consuming or exporting markets, and that other and larger fertile regions might have access to markets the Erie Canal and similar water-ways were in construction for bringing to the seaboard the food crops of Western New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, etc.

But evil days had fallen upon England. Resuming specie payments in 1821, after 24 years of suspension, her people had three years of wonderful prosperity; in its latter half attended by wild expansion of credits, creation of debt and inflation of values, which culminated in 1825–26 in a financial crisis and panic, more terrible than ever known in England before or since; the disastrous effects of which were felt for many years, and in later years (1832-1840) no doubt contributed much to the carrying through of the great "reform" measures which then changed the whole policy of England's legislation from restriction and protection to free trade, free food and free ships. But we have now to consider only what had a direct bearing upon our own affairs and legislation.

England in 1824, as since, was largely the foremost of manufacturing and trading nations of the world. The exigencies of her great wars had brought to most effective service the best skill of her inventors to make steam their powerful and obedient servant in impelling machinery and utilize the vast beds of iron and coal that had lain through the ages waiting for man's need of them, and her people had amassed great wealth by conquest and by trade, which now was also brought into service with those other agents. England's markets in 1825-26 were large for that time, but would be insignificant now, and were then easily over-supplied, as was seen when the bubble of inflation had exploded. Yet production, though reduced, continued, and prices were ruinously low compared with the cost of production. These conditions brought up the teachers of the new doctrine in economics, that protection in England had not only ceased to protect her home industries, but so much enhanced the cost of production as to be destructive. This new doctrine finally prevailed and then brought to England forty years of marvellous prosperity and increase of wealth; but there were years of transition to the accomplished change, and in those years markets at some price must be found for England's factory productions. The surplus must be forced off at what price it would fetch, and it were better policy to force those sales in competing countries than at home or in her Colonial markets. Therefore, large shipments of these goods were sent to the United States and sold. It came to be noticed that English textile fabrics and other goods suited to our uses were imported here, paid our 45 per cent duties, and then were sold for less than similar goods could be sold for from American mills. It had been observed that our revenues were needlessly large; it was asserted that our people were made to pay for their cloths their hardware, cutlery, machinery, etc., twice as much price as English producers were getting for these articles sold here, and that this burthen of taxation failed to build up factories that could compete here with those of England. Here was a mistake of fact although having an undeniable foundation of other fact to rest upon, only the latter was temporary and due to the embarrassments under which England was suffering.

Then began the anti-tariff contest, and John C. Calhoun, who had a few years before been as earnest a champion for protection to home manufactures as Mr. Clay himself, became the leader against the tariff, carrying his hostility even to nullification of United States laws in South Carolina. But Andrew Jackson was President, and had sworn to enforce the laws of the United States. Daniel Webster of Massachusetts had changed from his early opposition to restrictive legislation to an advocacy of the established system—the protection tariff—and the great expounder of the Constitution sustained the President in his enforcement of the law. In that exigency, when South Carolina and Georgia were divided into two hostile camps, the nullifiers and the Union men, and the whole country was disturbed, not by fear of successful resistance to law, but by the presence of just cause of complaint against excessive taxation under pretence (in part) of protection, Henry Clay, then strong as ever in his faith in the American system, brought forward the terms of the Compromise Act of 1832, by which all import duties were to be reduced yearly, until from and after December 31, 1842, there should be no higher duty than 20 per cent of value levied on any article of foreign production imported. The result was to be substantially a reduction of all customs duties to a dead level of 20 per cent, or less, perhaps, on a few dutiable articles.

(1832–1842). After 1832 came the withdrawal of Government deposits from the United States Bank; successive vetoes of acts for the re-charter of that bank; the selection of "Pet Banks" as depositories of the public funds; creation of a large number of banks in all the States and territories, most of them without adequate capital, and many with no real cash capital at all; inflation of the paper currency in notes of banks forced into circulation by loans upon all sorts of security, or no security, for payment; creation of the "Independent Treasury"; expansion of debt and inflation of values; all driven along by a whirlwind of financial delusions, until, in the summer and autumn of 1837, a crash came that quickly brought about the confessed bankruptcy of three-fourths of all the debtors, whether banks, firms or individuals, in the United States, and the destruction of all credit except the small remainder that was well founded on assured solvency. The next five years, 1837 to 1842, were years of business prostration, of large suspension of productive industry in manufactures and trade, of poverty and suffering among the laboring people and bankrupts, and of liquidation. The national Bankrupt Act of 1841 was the great liquidation, and its discharge of the almost universal debt set free from its burden many thousands of business men whose ability and energy contributed much to the renewed activities, which rapidly restored employment to labor and capital, and prosperity to all wholesome industries.

It is impossible to make out of the events of those ten years—five of wild whirling towards destruction of credit and capital and five of toilsome liquidation and recovery—any clear analysis of relation between the tariff and these events. Cause and effect cannot be traced; only coincidents and sequences can be noted. But just when the tide had turned from adversity to prosperity, and before the last reduction of the Tariff Act of 1832 had taken effect, trivial as that effect would have been in the presence of greater forces, Congress passed the Tariff Act of 1842, which materially increased most of the duties from the rates reached in the "sliding scale" of the Act of 1832, and was a confessed return to the protective tariff policy, to which and the passage of a national bankrupt law the Whig party had been pledged in the election contest of 1840. The prosperity which had already begun, continued, and was, for a time at least, increased under the encouragement to manufacturers offered by the new Tariff Act.

(1842–1846). The Democratic party came into power in 1845, under a banner inscribed "Polk, Dallas, Texas, and the Tariff of 1842." Though the last clause was inserted to carry Pennsylvania, the party was really devoted to the policy of a revenue tariff as against a protective tariff. (Forty-years later the same tactics seem to be employed.) In July, 1846, the House passed what was known as the "Walker Tariff," by which all duties were levied ad valorem. This act reached the Senate only about ten days before the date assigned for adjournment of that session of Congress; it was referred to the Finance Committee, of which Senator Lewis of Alabama was chairman, and was promptly reported back to the Senate "without any amendment, so much as the dotting of an i or the crossing of a t," under caucus command to avoid the risk of its return to the House. The bill was shown by its opponents to be crude, defective, and even wrongful wherein it lowered duties on manufactured articles while retaining relatively high duties on materials entering into their manufacture, and faulty in excluding all specific duties. The debate was all on the side of opposition, led by Evans (Whig) of Maine and Niles (Democrat) of Connecticut; the edict of party forbidding reply in which denial of the alleged defects by any intelligent Senator was impossible. That edict forbade discussion of the merits of the bill by its friends and forced the voting. On a motion to postpone the bill to December the casting vote of Vice-President Dallas was necessary to dissolve a tie, and the act was passed as it came from the House by a vote of 28 to 27. This was the Customs Tariff of the United States from 1846 to the beginning of the Civil War, except as modified by the act of March, 1857, which reduced some rates of duty, especially on materials for manufacture, without restoring specific duties.

As years after the crash of 1837 it was clearly seen that the seeming prosperity of the previous five years was wholly unreal, the effect of a financial craze, and in no proper sense any more an effect of the compromise act of 1832 than was the subsequent period of extreme adversity, 1837–1842, so later on it was seen that the recovery of prosperity so apparent after 1842, had already begun before the adoption of the tariff of that year, the chief real effect of which was its inspiration of confidence, with some defensive effect against importations from England, which country was yet struggling with its great reform.

(1846–1861). When the Tariff Act of 1846 was passed, war between the United States and Mexico had already begun. The annexation of California was followed in 1848 by discovery of the gold fields there, and this by discovery of the gold fields in Australia. Low prices of many leading articles of merchandise prevailed at times in 1845 to 1848, middling cotton falling to 4½ cents in Southern markets and 6 cents in Boston, and standard cotton sheetings sold as low as 6½ cents per yard. Tariffs, high or low, had no part in making these prices. In the winter of 1847–48 began the political disturbance in Europe which shook many thrones, deposed some rulers, including the king of the French, to whom succeeded the republic, the presidency of Louis Napoleon, his coup d'etat and empire, and then came the rule of order throughout Europe to receive and employ the newly-discovered gold that came by hundreds and thousands of millions of dollars to enlarge and quicken the business of the world.

The period 1846 to 1860 was one of remarkably steady progress and prosperity in the United States. Its interruptions were the financial crisis of 1857, an effect of excessive expansion of credits, and their sudden contraction under alarm, caused by some unexpected failures, all of which passed away in a few months; and the mismanagement of the public finances in the last two years of President Buchanan's administration by the influence of a hostile Cabinet and Senate. Excepting these incidents, with which the tariff had no visible relation, the history of the fifteen years following 1846 tells of a wonderful advance in every element of material prosperity. In view of the population and accumulated wealth in 1846, these were the best fourteen consecutive years known since the adoption of the Constitution. It was in that period that our people and their government acquired the strength that enabled them to bear the strain of the greatest civil war ever known.

This review is necessarily imperfect, omitting many facts of greater or lesser importance; but it presents salient points worthy the study of every one who would understand the reasons for and against further tariff reform.

The table shows that while the average duty collected on dutiable goods in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1833, was 43·47 per cent of their value, the average rate collected under the war tariff of 1861—for the year ending June 30, 1862, was 36 20 per cent, and in 1832, fifty years ago, was only 42·96 per cent. Yet the last was under the high tariff act of 1824, adopted to encourage, protect, and nourish our infant manufactures. Are these industries in need of protection against foreign imports as much now as half a century ago? or are they not suffering under tariff burdens imposed by the tariff, as on materials, raw or in first process, on sugar and other supplies for laborers, on machinery and tools, on iron and steel—aye, on everything needed from abroad to cheapen the cost of our productions? Is not the want of the times relief rather than protection? Further reference to the table is pertinent, for true answer, in part at least of the facts, to these questions. Note that the periods of lowest average customs duty—as from 1846 to 1861—have been the periods of most steady and general prosperity to all the great material interests of our people, their capital and their labor, including those of manufactures. If high tariff does enhance cost of production (who can deny it?) it must be hard for capital and eventually harder still for labor, as these are employed in production. If while increasing the cost of what is produced, it also reduces the price obtainable for the productions—as must be when the accessible markets are oversupplied—is the excess of the tariff a blessing or a curse? Real protection has been good; when by the change of relative conditions, the benefit is converted into an injury, by its excess only, why not reduce it to its measure of beneficence?

| The value of dutiable imports was | $68,330,956 | $473.716,384 = 1 to 7·23 |
| Population was | 11,200,000 | 54,000,000 = 1 to 4·8 |
| Accumulated wealth | $1,750,000,000 | $49,642,000,000 = 1 to 28 |

If reform and some reduction of tariff—say to an average rate of 33⅓ per cent of dutiable values—are needed, what better time than this? Disturbance exists, and will not down until this be settled for a term of years. No reformers of any note ask great change; no fair-minded and intelligent business man would deny the need of some change. Do not let the exigencies of either of the political parties defeat now what must come eventually, beneficially now, perhaps hurtfully then.

The events of the past week have by no means brought any relief in the general position of commercial and financial circles. Taken as a whole, it may, on the contrary, be said that there is a greater feeling of despondency, not because gold continues in demand for Australia, but because there is undoubtedly much unsoundness on the Stock Exchange and in many departments of commercial business. On the Stock Exchange this week there has been the failure of a very old-established firm, the first existence of which dates back from the close of the last century. In fact, it is said to have existed more than one hundred years. The firm was styled P. W. Thomas & Co., of 50 Threadneedle Street; but it appears that the head of the firm, Mr. William Evan Blakeway, who was the leading spirit in the undertaking, has disappeared, and it is to be apprehended that this is a repetition of recent occurrences. It is unfortunate that at a time when the public seemed to be forgetting the circumstances which have attended the large failures of the last few months, so unexpected a revival of matters bound to exercise an adverse influence should take place. The question of the custody of securities by bankers is again revived, and the public are becoming even less inclined to court the society of the Stock Exchange, as far as business is concerned. It must, nevertheless, be admitted that the announcement of the failure produced no great immediate effect except to check business. Prices did not decline much, because, no doubt, they are low; and it appears that those most interested had some intimation of the state of things some days previous. Stock Exchange business is now upon so limited a scale that such occurrences as this and its predecessors have a very damaging influence, not unlikely to be somewhat permanent, The liabilities of the firm are estimated at £300,000.

This week's steamer for Australia conveys a large supply of gold to Australian ports, viz.: To Adelaide, £150,000 in gold coin, to Melbourne, £70,000, and to Sydney, £200,000, making a total of £420,000. The money market has hardened in consequence, and the rate for three months' bank bills is now 2¾ to 2⅞ per cent. The New York exchange at 4 88½ for cable transfers leads naturally to the belief that an export of gold from the United States to Europe is very probable. The value of money in this country has improved to a moderate extent, and should more gold be forwarded to Australia, an advance in the Bank of England rate of discount to 4 per cent may be looked forward to at an early date. Should such a change be necessary, the effect upon the leading money markets of the world would be considerable; but it would not be wise to check too rapidly a movement which may have substantial and beneficial results. We have for a long time past been complaining of the bad state of trade, resulting from the relatively small number of consuming markets. It is well known that our own and the world's power of production is great, both as regards the raw material, articles of food, and manufactures. New districts are being opened up in our colonies and in the United States, and the process incurs an outlay which is necessarily not immediately productive. The course of progress may sometimes be tedious and disappointing, but there are occasions when it is unexpectedly rapid, and, taken as a whole, there is not much reason for regret unless undue haste is exercised. The governments of our Australasian Colonies have been, as far as we can learn in this country, constructing some works, which can scarcely fail to be reproductive, fresh tracts of land are being opened up, and there will be greater facilities for immigration. In this way, we may hope in time for more numerous and better customers.

The position of the Bank of England has not materially changed during the week. The export demand for gold has been almost entirely met by the arrivals from abroad, and by the liberal return of gold coin from provincial circulation. Beyond this, there is no feature in the return. The proportion of reserve to liabilities is 41·55 per cent, against 41·72 for last week.

In reference to the state of the bullion market during the past week, Messrs. Pixley & Abell remark:

Gold—The demand for bars for the Continent and India, and for sovereigns for Australia, has been very active this week, and in addition to the arrivals undermentioned, no less than £524,000 in sovereigns have been withdrawn from the Bank; on the other hand, £25,000 has been sent in. We have received from Central America, £83,000; West Indies, £46,000; Australia, £46,530; total, £175,530. The P. & O. steamers have taken £175,085 to India and Australia, and the W. I. Mail £17,800 to the River Plate.

Silver—A further slight rise has taken place, and 51d. is the quotation for to-day, the demand being almost entirely for the East. The arrivals comprise £24,000 from the West Indies and about £45,000 from New York; total, £69,000. The exports by the P. & O. steamer were £238,800 to India.

Mexican Dollars, after improving to 49 11-16d., slightly relapsed on the arrival of the West Indian steamer with about £80,000; for these only 49⅝d. per oz. could be obtained, and this is the quotation for to-day. The P. & O. steamer takes £56,900 to China and the Straits.

On the Corn Exchanges of the Kingdom there has been continued dulness, and buyers seem to be quite indifferent about operating to any considerable extent. No desire is shown to purchase, except to supply actual wants, or to maintain stocks, which, as far as the millers are concerned, are considerable, and consequently the rise in the value of produce in the United States has not exercised much influence. A continuance of dulness in the trade is looked forward to. The report regarding the condition of the crop of wheat in this country is regarded as satisfactory, but there is an impression that the plant is "winter proud," owing to the mildness of the weather, and it is therefore apprehended that an adverse spring will have an adverse effect. Buyers are still masters of the situation, and from that position it is not probable that they will be deposed for some time to come.

The following are the quantities of wheat, flour and Indian corn estimated to be afloat to this country, compared with previous periods:

The following return shows the extent of the sales of home-grown wheat, barley and oats in the 187 leading markets of England and Wales during the first twenty-two weeks of the season, together with the average prices realized, compared with previous seasons:

| | 1883-84. | 1882-83. | 1881-82. | 1880-81. |
| Wheat.....cwt. | 20,259,300 | 18,435,100 | 17,681,800 | 15,881,500 |

☞ This aggregate is arrived at by multiplying the sales in the 187 markets above by 31/3, and that result is reduced to cwt. by multiplying it by 4/5. This proportion between the 187 markets and the totals for the kingdom is adopted by the London grain trade and is accepted by it as producing a result approximately correct.

NEW YORK, FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 22, 1884—5 P. M.

The Money Market and Financial Situation.—The general features of the commercial and financial situation may be summed up in the facts that trade is still dull and profits small, though there has apparently been some improvement in some of the important lines of industry, as in the glass and iron trades. The traffic and earnings of the railroads throughout the country continue to record gains, though in some cases the comparison is with small figures a year ago. Then, the general status of mercantile and corporate credit has certainly improved in the last few weeks. In addition, it is believed that the worst has been seen with reference to the development of unsoundness in the corporations whose difficulties early in the year proved such a disturbing influence. But there are some other features of the general financial situation of a less hopeful character. Thus our exports of domestic products continue small, and the rates of foreign exchange are steadily turning against us, so that considerable exports of specie are within the range of probabilities, and the movement was inaugurated this week by the shipment of $200,000 on Thursday.

In view of this probability of the exports of gold, and the continued coinage of silver dollars, there has been a revival of the question of paying the debit balances of the United States Sub-Treasury to the New York Clearing House in silver dollars, and though it is claimed by the Treasury officials that there was nothing "official" whatever in the character of the verbal inquiry made of the New York Clearing House as to what would be the effect of the Sub-Treasury offering to pay its debit balances in silver, it is positively known that the inquiry was of such a character as to elicit a written response from the New York Clearing House to the Secretary of the Treasury one day this week. The exact terms of this letter have not been made public, but it is understood that while the banks omit to answer what would be the effect, they refer to the fact that the United States Sub-Treasury became an associate member of the New York Clearing House under the rules of the Association adopted in 1878, to the effect that they would pay their balances to each other exclusively in gold and legal tender notes payable in gold.

The money markets throughout the country present the same appearance of stagnation as for some time past. Money in the New York market remains at the phenomenally low figures of 2 and 1½ per cent per annum on call loans on stock collaterals and at 3½ to 4 per cent for time loans on dividend-paying stocks as collaterals. Mercantile rates of discount keep at 4 and 4½ per cent for first-class double names for 30 or 60 days, and 4½ and 5 for single names.

At the West the dulness of trade has allowed money to accumulate in the banks, and advances are made on grain and provisions in store at 5 per cent.

The last weekly statement of the New York banks showed an increase of $3,975,100 of loans, which was construed in some quarters as having some connection with the upward movement in progress in the stock market. There was also an increase of $2,148,800 in deposits, which, being accompanied by a loss of legal tenders, caused a reduction in the surplus reserve of $1,083,600, leaving it, however, still above 20 million dollars.

The weekly statement of the Bank of England showed a gain of £343,000 in specie, the gain in the previous week having been £410,000. The percentage of reserve to liabilities, however, showed no increase, and remained at 40 13-16 per cent. The Bank of France gained 12,801,000 francs gold and 2,206,000 francs in silver. The Bank of Germany gained 7,360,000 marks in specie.

The following table shows the changes from the previous week and a comparison with the two preceding years in the averages of the New York Clearing House banks.

Exchange.—The advance in sterling exchange, which has continued now for nearly two months, brought the rates to a higher figure this week than at any previous time since 1882. The posted rates were advanced on Wednesday to 4 87 and 4 90½. The rates for actual business now are as follows, viz.: Sixty days, 4 86@4 86½; demand, 4 89½@4 89¾; cables, 4 90@4 90½. Commercial bills continue comparatively scarce at 4 84½@4 85.

Quotations for foreign exchange are as follows, the prices being the posted rates of leading bankers:

State and Railroad Bonds.—While there has been only a moderate business in the railroad bond market during the week, there has been continued firmness and a gradual hardening of values. The market for bonds seems to have been affected largely by legitimate purchases, and the gradual advance in prices would appear to indicate an increasing preference for investments in railroad bonds as compared with railroad stocks, a preference which is in accordance with the conservative tendency manifested by capital for some time past.

The following were the most important changes in railroad bonds during the week, viz.:

Advanced.—Burlington & Quincy, Denver Division, 4s, 1⅛; Chesapeake & Ohio firsts, series B, 1¼; Denver & Rio Grande Western firsts, ⅛; Kansas & Texas seconds, 1; Kansas Pacific, February and August, firsts, ⅞; Ohio Southern firsts, 2; Rome Watertown & Ogdensburg 5s, 1¼; do. Incomes, 1¾; Wabash general mortgage 6s, 2½; Oregon Short Line 6s, ⅞; Oregon Railway & Navigation firsts, ⅞; Milwaukee & St. Paul 8s, ¾; Canada Southern firsts, ¼; and Northern Pacific firsts, 1⅝. Texas & Pacific Land Grant Incomes declined 1⅛ per cent.

New York West Shore & Buffalo 5s were feverish and fluctuated over a wider range than most other bonds. The course of prices was 54¾, 52½, 54½, 54⅜. The new financial scheme for the relief of the road as stated in our issue of last week, is still under advisement, though it is understood that its main propositions have all been agreed to by the parties in interest.

Transactions in State bonds were small and unimportant.

Railroad and Miscellaneous Stocks.—The stock market during the week to Thursday (to-day being a close holiday) has been largely under the control of speculative influences, and, notwithstanding that there has been some improvement in the relations of the roads in the trunk-line pool, by the settlement of Lackawanna's percentage on West-bound freight, and also some improvement in the general aspect of the coal trade, etc., etc., very little progress towards higher prices has been made outside of the specialties which have received particular attention at the hands of those operating for a rise. In fact, the general range of prices is lower than a week ago. The public seem to be taking comparatively little part in the dealings, and the special activity in St. Paul, Lackawanna, Union Pacific, Lake Shore and Reading (which have been the features of the week), has been due largely to the operations of professional speculators and traders. Comparing last night's prices with those of Friday, the 15th, Lackawanna shows an advance of 4⅛; Jersey Central, 1¾; Oregon Railway & Navigation, 6½, and Reading 2; while Canada Southern shows a decline of 1½; Denver & Rio Grande, 1⅜; Oregon & Trans-Continental, 1; St. Paul, 1¼, and Richmond & West Point and Omaha-preferred, 1½ each. Burlington & Quincy, Canadian Pacific, Central Pacific, Erie, Illinois Central, Kansas & Texas, Northern Pacific, St. Paul & Omaha, St. Paul & Manitoba, Texas & Pacific, Union Pacific and Western Union all close fractionally lower.

Pullman Palace Car stock developed weakness on Monday and fell to 103½, but subsequently recovered and closed last night at 110, being 2 points below the price of Friday, the 15th.

ANNUAL REPORTS.

Chicago & Alton Railroad.

(For the year ending December 31, 1883.)

This company has issued its annual report promptly, as usual. The report is mainly statistical and contains but few remarks. It is stated that the amount paid for labor and personal services during the year was $2,547,236. Of the amount of operating expenses, 52·2 per cent was paid for labor, 37·1 per cent for supplies of various kinds and 10·7 per cent for miscellaneous expenses. Fifteen new locomotives, six passenger cars, two baggage cars, two express cars and 500 freight cars were added to the equipment during the last year.. The company now has 1,088 miles of track, including side tracks, of which all are laid with steel rails except 249 miles laid with iron rails.

"The agreement proposed relative to the St. Louis Jacksonville & Chicago Railroad, as per the terms of a circular addressed to the stockholders of our company, under date of April 10, 1883, is not yet concluded. The written consent of more than three-fourths in interest of each class of our shareholders was given in response to the circular; but it has been considered best that the agreement, if concluded (as we hope it will be), shall be executed on the part of the St. Louis Jacksonville & Chicago Railroad Company, in pursuance of authority conferred upon its officers by the shareholders of that company, acting at an annual meeting convened in pursuance of the terms of the charter of that company. Their next annual meeting will be held in April of the present year, when it is expected that they will act upon the proposal which our company has made to them."

The statistics of traffic, earnings, income, &c., have been fully compiled for four years for the CHRONICLE as follows:

Illinois Central Railroad.

(For the year ending December 31, 1883.)

In advance of the complete report an abstract is published in circular form, from which the following information is condensed:

The gross sum received from the traffic of the entire line, 1,928 miles, during the past year, was $13,064,743. In 1882 the lines in Illinois and Iowa, and the Chicago St. Louis & New Orleans Railroad earned $12,661,708, an increase for the year 1883 of $403,035. The net earnings from traffic in 1883 were $5,264,156; in 1882, $5,255,030—an increase of $9,126. The net receipts from all sources, after deducting fixed charges and $632,529 for permanent expenditures in Illinois and on Southern Division, left applicable to dividends, $3,056,908, or 10·541 per cent on $29,000,000. On September 1, 1883, a dividend of four per cent was paid, and there have been set apart $1,740,000 to meet the regular dividend of four per cent and an extra dividend of two per cent payable March 1, 1884. The remaining $156,908 have been carried to surplus dividend fund, and will be held as applicable to the next succeeding dividend.

The expectation held out by the last report that the "expenditures for betterments in 1883 in Illinois will probably not exceed $500,000" has been realized. The amount thus expended has been $461,432. That sum, with $171,097 of permanent expenditures on the Southern Division, makes $632,529, which has been paid out of the income for 1883.

Upon the leased lines in Iowa, a further expenditure of $80,487 has been made for improvements properly chargeable to construction, which makes the total sum charged to permanent expenditures in Iowa, $1,270,782. By the terms of the lease, the lessor is to pay to the lessee the appraised value of all such improvements at the expiration of the present lease of the Dubuque & Sioux City Railroad (October, 1887), and the first cost of all real estate furnished by the lessee, if the Illinois Central Company shall exercise its option to surrender the lease. The Illinois Central Railroad Company has, however, the option to renew the lease in perpetuity on paying the present rental of thirty-six per cent of the gross earnings

During the past year the Middle Division was extended 19·79 miles, to a junction with the main line near Bloomington, making the present length of this division 131·26 miles. The South Chicago Railroad was completed, thus affording a double track connection, 4·76 miles in length, with the important manufacturing town of South Chicago. Of the Canton Aberdeen & Nashville Railroad, projected from Kosciusko to Aberdeen, Miss., 87·7 miles, there have been completed 32·7 miles. Of the Yazoo & Mississippi Valley Railroad, projected from Jackson, Miss., to Yazoo City, 47 5-10 miles, there have been completed 39 6-10 miles. A large amount of grading and bridging has been done on the unfinished parts of both of these roads, all the rails and other material necessary for their completion, including an equipment of 406 cars and 6 locomotives, have been provided. The Canton Aberdeen & Nashville Railroad has been laid throughout with steel rails, and the Yazoo & Mississippi Valley Railroad with selected iron rails. It is expected that the former will be opened for traffic in May and the latter in March, 1884. The further outlay necessary to complete these roads is estimated at $325,000. The board have every reason to believe that these roads will not only pay a fair return upon the capital invested, but will also prove valuable feeders to the main trunk of the Southern Division. No bonds have as yet been issued upon either of these roads, which when finished will be owned solely by the Illinois Central Railroad Company.

| Middle Division | $77,503 |
| South Chicago Railroad | 63,2 6 |
| Canton Aberdeen & Nashville Railroad | 1,463,313 |
| Yazoo & Mississippi Valley Railroad | 575,709 |
| Iowa Division | 80,487 |
| | $2,260,310 |

Since the directors' last report to the shareholders the company has sold:

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| Chicago St. Louis & New Orleans 5 per ct. bonds | $1,800,000 | |
| And has issued Middle Division bonds | 58,000 | —1,858,000 |
| | | $402,310 |

Since the close of the year the directors have authorized the sale of enough Chicago St. Louis & New Orleans 5 per cent bonds to restore to the shareholders the amount of earnings thus converted into fixed capital

Some expenditures to be made on the Middle Division during the coming year will absorb the remaining $32,000 of Middle Division bonds of 1921, which can be issued under the mortgage of August 1, 1881, made to secure $1,000,000 of bonds in all.

Philadelphia & Erie Railroad.

(For the year ending Dec. 31, 1883.)

The annual report of this company for 1883 is merely statistical. Notning is said in the report concerning the negotiations with the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. for an adjustment of accounts between the two corporations. This important matter has been referred to in the Philadelphia newspapers, and it was hoped that full information would be given in the report; but nothing is said upon the subject.

The statistics of traffic, earnings, income, &c., have been compiled for the Chronicle as follows:

Lehigh Coal & Navigation Company.

The annual report of Mr. J. S. Harris, President of this company, states that "the business of the Lehigh & Susquehanna Railroad shows a satisfactory increase in every department. The gross earnings are $480,723 more than they were in 1882 and nearly double the earnings of 1879, which was a year of large traffic carried at low rates." * * * "Our net revenues from all sources were $2,194,489, an increase of $255,277 over those of 1882. The fixed charges, including rentals, decreased $30,073, and the balance, after paying these charges, which is $944,644, is $285,351 in excess of that of last year. From this balance $189,239 has been marked off for depreciation of coal improvements and the coal sinking fund of ten cents per ton; and after paying two dividends of 2½ and 3 per cent respectively, the remainder, $130,476, has been credited to the dividend fund." * *

"No serious interruption from causes affecting navigation occurred in our canal business during the year. The season was the longest for a number of years, and the total tonnage moved shows an increase over the previous season of 61,357 tons, or about 10 per cent, the gain in net revenue being $19,528, or about 16 per cent." * *

"Our Lehigh coal lands produced 920,818 tons of coal, an increase of 70,927 tons over the production of the previous year, which was itself in excess of any earlier year. The average yield for the three years from 1876 to 1878 was 529,426 tons. * *

"The conversion of the Delaware Division Canal Company's stock into our stock has continued through the year, and there are now only 8,800 shares outstanding, about 27 per cent of the whole issue. When 634 additional shares shall have been converted, we shall have the right, under the agreement of Feb. 1, 1879, to call on the remaining stockholders to exercise within twelve months their option of converting their stock into ours." * * *

"Since the end of 1877, the year in which we resumed possession of our canals and our coal lands, there has been a steady decrease in our fixed charges, so that, comparing the years 1878 and 1883, we have in five years reduced these charges $90,079, and have at the same time increased our net earnings $1,225,237, and our balance, after paying fixed charges, $1,300,505, besides having during the same period made all the expenditure necessary to increase the productive capacity of our mines from 600,000 tons to 1,000,000 tons, and having assumed the additional interest charge on over half a million dollars expended by our railroad lessees in double-tracking and otherwise improving and extending our railroads to meet the necessities of a growing business. Nor has this decrease of fixed charges ended, for we have just succeeded in lowering the rate of interest on five millions of our first mortgage loan from 6 per cent to 4½ per cent, a saving of $75,000 annually. We shall probably finish within the year the conversion of the Delaware Division stock on which dividends are guaranteed by us, and we shall have the right, after Sept. 1, 1884, to change the stock of the Nesquehoning Valley Railroad Company, on which we guarantee 7 per cent dividends, into our stock, or to make such other arrangements as may then seem advantageous about reducing the charge upon our revenues. After these reductions shall have been made, our fixed costs will absorb a materially decreased proportion of our net revenues.

"The reduction of the interest on the first mortgage loan, to which reference has just been made, was accomplished in connection with its extension at par from April 1, 1884, to July 1, 1914, and a reduction of the principal from $5,381,840 to $5,000,000, the remainder being reserved for payment into the sinking fund provided for this loan in the mortgage of April 1, 1864."

As to the lease between the Central of New Jersey and the Philadelphia & Reading, the report says: "The negotiations resulted in an agreement, under date of May 29, 1883, between the two companies just named and this company, which provides that the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad Company shall assume and become responsible for all the undertakings of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey under the original lease of March 31, 1871." * * * "That they shall continue to ship about 40 per cent as much coal as shall be shipped from year to year from the lands of the Philadelphia & Reading Coal & Iron Company." * * * "The agreement further provides that the rental of the Lehigh & Susquehanna Railroad and branches shall never in any year be less than $1,414,400; we agreeing not to demand as part of the rental in any year prior to Dec. 31, 1887, any excess which one-third of the gross revenues of the said railroads may produce over $1,728,700, nor in any year thereafter, and prior to Dec. 31, 1892, any similar excess over $1,885,000, nor in any year after the last-named date any similar excess over $2,043,000, except that to each of these maximum yearly rentals shall be added interest at the rate of 7 per cent on all construction work on the said railroads, which may subsequent to Dec. 31, 1882, be charged to our construction account under the provisions of the original agreement of March 31, 1871." * * *

"It is worthy of note, as bearing on the value of our coal lands, that Mr. Charles A. Ashburner, the geologist in charge of the Anthracite Survey, a department of the State Geological Survey, in an official report just published, gives the following estimates as the result of a most thorough and painstaking examination of our Summit lands, which has extended over several years. This property originally contained about 1,033,000,000 tons of merchantable coal, of which amount about 941,000,000 tons, or 91 per cent, remain untouched. That portion of the property which has been partially worked, which originally contained 92,000,000 tons of coal, has produced 24,800,000 tons, and will produce 6,600,000 tons more before it is exhausted, showing a production of marketable coal equal to 34 per cent of the original contents. From these data it will be seen that the unworked portion of our coal estate is capable of producing a very large tonnage for very many years. These statements, which are from the highest and most independent authority, more than justify all the statements about our coal lands that we have ever made."

An inspection of the balance-sheet shows, as the result of the operation of the road for the three months from September 30 to December 31, 1883, gross earnings of $935,023. The amount charged to operating expenses, taxes, insurance and track rentals, as shown by the same balance-sheet for the same time, was $915,169, but this included $99,602 for taxes the whole year, so that true net earnings were about $95,000.

—It is stated that the withdrawal of the Erie Railway through freight from the New York & New England Railroad on March 1 is on the notice of the latter road. North River Construction Co.—New York West Shore & Buffalo.—At the request of creditors of the North River Construction Company, Attorney-General O'Brien has made himself a party to the proceedings in the suit of Charles F. Woerishoffer against the North River Construction Co.

The first result of the Attorney-General's intervention is an order made by Judge Van Brunt, in Supreme Court, Chambers, directing Mr. Woerishoffer and Receiver Green to show cause on Saturday, Feb. 23, why the latter should not be removed from the receivership or why an associate receiver should not be appointed.

The three contractors, who are the plaintiffs, in fact the creditors, make an affidavit in which they aver that the construction company received from the railroad company $40,000,000 of the latter's first mortgage bonds, $37,000,000 par of its capital stock, and $10,000,000 of its income bonds; that the railroad company yet owes the construction company $6,000,000; that the latter expended $14,000,000 more on construction than it realized on the stock and bonds paid to it, and $6,000,000 more than it was bound by its contract to expend; that it owes $4,500,000, and that when Mr. Green became its receiver he procured the right to assets as follows: $100,000 of West Shore first mortgage bonds, $20,300,000 par of West Shore stock, $10,000,000 of West Shore income bonds, less than $200,000 par of West Shore & Ontario Terminal bonds, and bonds of the Syracuse Ontario & New York Railroad Company. Receiver Green also obtained possession, the creditors say, of stock of a telegraph company, which, according to information given them by him, he has sold for $400,000. Their main objection to the course of Receiver Green is the fact that he has made no attempt to preserve the lien of the Construction Company on the railway property by holding possession of that property. They also protest against the adoption of the plan proposed by the receiver and the West Shore Railroad Company for the extrication of the two companies from their troubles.

Pullman Palace Car Co.—Mr. George M. Pullman, the President, has addressed a circular letter to the stockholders on the subject of the subscription to the $1,000,000 additional issue of stock—the remainder of $2,000,000 voted to be issued last fall. During the fiscal year ending July 31, 1883, contracts for the operation of the cars of the company were concluded with eight additional railroads, including the Chicago Milwaukee & St. Paul and the Central and Southern Pacific railway systems, covering over 10,000 miles of road. Renewals were made with four important companies, including the Union Pacific and Louisville & Nashville systems, covering over 7,000 miles of road. The number of new cars completed and put in service during the year was 65, costing $930,315. The number since August 1, the beginning of the present fiscal year, is 37, costing $529,100. The number of cars now being constructed for service under contracts recently made is 69, the cost of which is put at $1,000,000. The letter says that stockholders will have the opportunity until March 15 of subscribing for the new stock at par to an extent not exceeding one-tenth of their holdings of record on March 1. A sufficient amount of the present outstanding stock owned by the company will be canceled to leave the increase only 20 per cent on the old stock after all the stock is issued under the last two calls. The following is an official statement for the five months ending Jan. 1, 1884:

| Gross earnings for the first five months of the present fiscal year, ending Dec. 31, 1883 | $2,059,628 |

COMMERCIAL EPITOME.

FRIDAY NIGHT, Feb. 22, 1884.

This is a close holiday, and business at the exchanges and the banks is totally suspended The floods in the Ohio Valley and other sections have rapidly abated, restoring railway transportation; but violent tornadoes have swept over many of the Southern States, killing or wounding many persons, destroying much property, and interrupting telegraphic communication. Severe weather in the Northwest has also impeded trade in that section. A failure on the Stock Exchange, though not in itself of much consequence, exerted an unfavorable influence upon the returning confidence of commercial circles. Altogether, therefore, the week has not been a wholly satisfactory one.

The provision market has been on the downward turn during the week. The declines have been due to speculative influences. Holders of "long" stock opened the week with free unloading; a re-action took place yesterday in lard, and the close appeared quite firm, while pork remained dull at $17 75@$18 for mess. Lard opened strong in sympathy with Chicago and renewed buying here; Western was quoted 9·60@9·65c; futures closed firm; March, 9·96@9·97c.; April, 10·03@10·05c.; May 10·10c.; June, 10·14@10·18c.; July, 10·18@10·22c; refined to the Continent, 10·25c.; South America, 10·35c. Beef was dull and unchanged at $24@$26 50 for city extra India mess. Beef hams firm at $28@$29. Tallow remained steady at 7 7-16@7½c. Stearine quiet at 10½c. for prime. Butter is weak at the moment; Elgin creamery, 35@36c. Cheese remains firm and in demand at 14¼ @14½c. for the best State factory.

Rio coffee has been dull both for consumption and on speculation; fair closed nominal at 12½@12¾c.; options were firmer to-day and closed at 10·85@10·90c. for March, 10·95@11c. for April, 11@11·05c. for May, 11·05@11·10c. for June, and 11·10@ 11·15c. for July; mild grades have been less active latterly, but some days ago there was a liberal trade in Padang at steady prices. Tea has been active, especially Japan, at firmer prices. Spices have been dull. Foreign fruits have been dull and weak. Molasses has been steady and fairly active. Raw sugar has been dull at the prices of last week, fair muscovado remaining at 5⅛c. and 96 deg.-test centrifugal at 6¾c.; fair muscovado sold to-day for July delivery at 6@6·02½c.; refined has been dull and weak, crushed closing at 8c., granulated at 7 9-16c. and powdered at 7⅞c.

Kentucky tobacco remains firm, and a moderate movement is in progress; 379 hhds., of which 168 were for export, changed hands from dealers; on the Exchange 575 hhds. have been sold; lugs quoted 7@8c.; leaf, 8½c.@10¾c. In seed leaf only a small trade, embracing 1,300 cases has been done, including 300 cases crop 1882, Pennsylvania, 10@20c.; 200 cases crop 1881, Pennsylvania, 6½@10c; 100 cases crop 1880, Pennsylvania, 8@ 12c; 300 cases crop 1882 State Havana seed, private terms; 100 cases crop 1882, New England, Havana seed, 15@25c.; 100 cases crop 1882, New England, 13@25c.; 100 cases crop 1882, Wisconsin, 10c.; and 100 cases sundries, 5@18c.; also 500 bales Havana at 80c.@$1 15, and 100 bales Sumatra, $1 20@$1 50.

In naval stores little of interest has occurred, beyond a slightly better tone all around. The movement has continued small; strained to good strained rosin closed to-night at $1 47½ @$1 50; spirits turpentine, 36¾c.@37c. Refined petroleum has been fairly active of late at 8⅝c. for 70 Abel test. Crude oil certificates have had a severe decline, and to-day 98½c. was reached; the close, however, was more steady at 99⅜c.@99½c Ingot copper rules steady at 14⅞c.@15c. for Lake. All other metals are quiet, but iron looks brighter, and all prices are steadily held.

In ocean freight room the berth market has been remarkably quiet and decidedly depressed. There seems to be little or no shipping interest. Oil charters have received more attention, but rates have in no way improved. To-day grain was taken to Liverpool by steam at 2d.@2⅜d.; bacon and lard, 20@25s.; cheese, 25@30s.; cotton, 3-16d.; grain to London by steam quoted 2¼@2½d.; do. to Glasgow by steam, 2d.; do. to Antwerp by steam, 3d.; refined petroleum to Bremen or Hamburg, 2s. 3¾d.; do. to Hamburg, 2s. 4½d.; crude to Rouen, 2s. 9d.; residuum to Leith, 2s. 9d.; cases to Java, 27@29c.

Business has been extremely dull on the Cotton Exchange during the past week, and to-day was a close holiday. The discussion and voting on propositions looking to reduced rates of commission have occupied much of the time and attention of members, and for two days telegraphic communication with the South has been almost wholly suspended. Yesterday there was an active opening on the very much better reports from Liverpool, and indications that the receipts at the ports continued small, and there was a further advance, the final prices, compared with last Friday, showing an advance of 2@4 points for this crop, and no decided change for the next. Cotton on the spot has been quiet and unchanged until yesterday, when holders were less disposed to sell. Quotations were not advanced, but the close was firmer at 10¾c. for middling uplands.

The total sales for forward delivery for the week are 206,800 bales. For immediate delivery the total sales foot up this week 2,410 bales, including —— for export, 2,010 for consumption, 400 for speculation and —— in transit. Of the above, —— bales were to arrive. The following are the official quotations for each day of the past week.

The above totals show that the old interior stocks have decreased during the week 11,575 bales and are to-night 62,877 bales less than at the same period last year. The receipts at the same towns have been 33,574 bales less than the same week last year, and since September 1 the receipts at all the towns are 491,315 bales less than for the same time in 1882-83.

RECEIPTS FROM THE PLANTATIONS.—The following table is prepared for the purpose of indicating the actual movement each week from the plantations Receipts at the outports are sometimes misleading, as they are made up more largely one year than another at the expense of the interior stocks. We reach therefore, a safer conclusion through a comparative statement like the following. In reply to frequent inquiries we will add that these figures, of course, do not include overland receipts or Southern consumption; they are simply a statement of the weekly movement from the plantations of that part of the crop which finally reaches the market through the out-ports.

The above statement shows—1. That the total receipts from the plantations since September 1, 1883, were 4,469,025 bales; in 1882-83 were 5,071,332 bales; in 1881-82 were 4,323,513 bales.

2.—That, although the receipts at the out-ports the past week were 65,013 bales, the actual movement from plantations was only 51,394 bales, the balance being taken from the stocks at the interior towns. Last year the receipts from the plantations for the same week were 129,076 bales and for 1882 they were 50,136 bales.

| Receipts at the ports to Feb. 22 | 4,263,731 | 4,766,393 | 4,006,508 | 4,535,165 |

It will be seen by the above that the decrease in amount in sight to-night, as compared with last year, is 639,956 bales, the increase as compared with 1881-82 is 277,905 bales, and the decrease from 1880-81 is 235,138 bales.

New Orleans reported below high-water mark of 1871 until Sept. 9, 1874, when the zero of gauge was changed to high-water mark of April 15 and 16, 1874, which is 6-10ths of a foot above 1871, or 16 feet above low-water mark at that point.

India Cotton Movement from all Ports.—We have re-arranged our India service so as to make our reports more detailed and at the same time more accurate. We had found it impossible to keep out of our figures, as cabled to us for the ports other than Bombay, cargoes which proved on to be shipments from one India port to another. The plan now followed relieves us from the danger of this inaccuracy and keeps the totals correct. We first give the Bombay statement for the week and year, bringing the figures down to February 21.

According to the foregoing, Bombay appears to show a decrease compared with last year in the week's receipts of 27,000 bales, and an increase in shipments of 7,000 bales, and the shipments since January 1 show an increase of 23,000 bales. The movement at Calcutta, Madras and other India ports for the last reported week and since the 1st of January, for two years has been as follows. "Other ports" cover Ceylon, Tuticorin, Kurrachee and Coconada.

The above totals for the week show that the movement from the ports other than Bombay is 600 bales more than same week last year. For the whole of India, therefore, the total shipments since January 1, 1884, and for the corresponding periods of the two previous years, are as follows.

This last statement affords a very interesting comparison of the total movement for the three years at all India ports.

Alexandria Receipts and Shipments.—Through arrangements we have made with Messrs. Davies, Benachi & Co., of Liverpool and Alexandria, we now receive a weekly cable of the movements of cotton at Alexandria, Egypt. The following are the receipt and shipments for the past week and for the corresponding week of the previous two years.

New York Cotton Exchange—Commission Law.—As we anticipated on the 9th inst., the proposed amendment, when put to the vote last Monday, was lost for want of the requisite majority, there being 104 yeas and 118 nays. At an informal meeting on the 20th inst. it was resolved to nominate a committee of 21, representing the various interests of the Exchange, in order to frame a law in not less than three weeks, to be laid for approval before the Board of Managers, and which would be likely to pass. The following gentlemen have been selected to serve on the above-mentioned committee, viz: Theodore P. Ralli, John B Leech, K. Meissner, C. E. Rich, E. Forsyth, Geo. Stober, John H. Inman, Meyer H. Lehman, Solomon Ranger, Thomas A. Perkins, Isaac B. Froeligh, S. A. Fatman of Walter & Krohn, Charles Messick, James W. Moses, L. de Gumoens, Henry Hentz, Henry W. Farley, Robert Moore, Robert C. Allen, George T. Dixon and Wm. J. Hochstaetter.

Expulsion.—Not long after the suspension of Messrs. J. P. Billups & Co. it was rumored that the failure had led to the discovery of some grave irregularities. The firm, consisting of Mr. J. P. Billups & Mr. Alexander Burgess, had been in good repute, and Mr. Billups, who was not only a member of the Cotton Exchange, but also a member of the Board of Managers, had become decidedly popular. The affair was consequently kept as secret as possible. Latterly, however, it transpired that Mr. Billups had been summoned, and Mr. Burgess, not a member of the Exchange, had been invited, before the Supervisory Committee for a thorough investigation of the charges brought against them. After a lengthened and careful inquiry, the committee has been compelled to perform the unpleasant duty of laying before the Board clear evidence that the accused had received advances on cotton, represented by samples of a superior grade, which proved to be of a very low quality. The losses incurred by over-advances have been partly covered, and are distributed amongst several banks of this city. Painful as it was for the Board of Managers, yet, to uphold the honor of the Exchange, and after due deliberation, it was resolved by a large majority to expel Mr. Billups. It has also been published on the blackboard that Mr. Billups's seat is to be sold by "public outcry," as the Board of Managers may hereafter direct, for the benefit of creditors who have proved their claim.

Mr. Billups now declares in writing that the frauds imputed to his firm were discovered by himself and promptly communicated to his creditors; that he had offered them ample security, which offer had been accepted by all but one, and that the latter was the only one who would suffer. He further states that on the investigation he had denied on oath that the misrepresentations were made with his knowledge and consent; furthermore, that he had been first acquitted, but that the Managers had directed the Supervisory Committee to try him a second time, when, as he has been informed, the Committee had merely returned the testimony.

Mr. Walter T. Miller, Treasurer of the Exchange and member of the Board of Managers, admits that he dissented from the resolution of expulsion, but it was only on the ground that Title 2, Article 1, Section 17 of the By-Laws of the Exchange expressly provides that on the failure of any member to meet his obligations in the Exchange, and upon his failure having been posted in the Exchange, he shall forfeit all rights and privileges in the Exchange, except the right to arbitration on claims resulting from business with members, and that the failure of Mr. Billips having been duly posted he thereupon ceased to be a member. This view, he thought, was strengthened by provisions in Section 18 of the same by-law permitting re-instatement in specified cases and conditions.

This dissent from the resolution of expulsion, however, was not from any doubt of the propriety of condemning in the strongest terms the actions of Mr. Billups as admitted by himself and partner in their statements before the Supervisory Committee.

It is said that Gen. Roger A. Pryor, as counsel for Mr. Billups, will bring suit against the Exchange to compel the re-instatement of his client.

JUTE BUTTS, BAGGING, &c.—The market for bagging has been moderately active since we last wrote, and, though orders are for small parcels, a fair amount of stock is being worked off. Buyers are not laying in any supplies for future wants, and few inquiries are reported for large lots. Prices have not changed, holders still quoting 9½c. for 1½ lbs., 10c. for 1¾ lbs., 10¾c. for 2 lbs. and 11½c. for standard grades, but a round parcel could be had a shade under these quotations. Butts have not changed, and the business is not large. There have been some transactions for present wants, about 2,000 bales, various grades, being placed, but we do not hear of anything doing for future shipment. The feeling is steady among holders as to price, and we do not hear of anything to be had below 2⅜@2½c. for paper grades and 2¾@4c. for bagging qualities.

COMPARATIVE PORT RECEIPTS AND DAILY CROP MOVEMENT.—A comparison of the port movement by weeks is not accurate as the weeks in different years do not end on the same day of the month. We have consequently added to our other standing tables a daily and monthly statement, that the reader may constantly have before him the data for seeing the exact relative movement for the years named. The movement each month since September 1, 1883, has been as follows.

| Perc'tage of tot. port receipts Jan. 31.... | 70·99 | 79·27 | 68·53 | 75·31 | 73·52 | |

This statement shows that up to Jan. 31 the receipts at the ports this year were 401,923 bales less than in 1882 and 226,117 bales more than at the same time in 1881. By adding to the above totals to Jan. 31 the daily receipts since that time, we shall be able to reach an exact comparison of the movemen for the different years.

This statement shows that the receipts since Sept. 1 up to to-night are now 467,013 bales less than they were to the same day of the month in 1883 and 276,934 bales more than they were to the same day of the month in 1882. We add to the table the percentages of total port receipts which had been received to February 22 in each of the years named.

Bjornstjerna Bjornsen, bark (Nor), before reported ashore at the mouth of the Mersey. The masts of bark Bjornstjerna Bjornsen (Nor.), from Charleston, having been all cut away Feb. 1, considerable work was necessary to prepare sheerlegs and appliances for getting out cargo. These were about completed on the above date and a commencement would be made forthwith. The cotton would be landed into the railway trucks at Preston.

BREADSTUFFS.

Flour has been more active at times, but as a rule rather quiet. Winter wheat grades have been firm, owing to the moderate supply available; good brands, notwithstanding the comparative slowness of trade, are being purchased faster than they arrive; spring flour, on the other hand, is quite plentiful and more or less depressed in consequence of this fact and the sluggishness of business. Yesterday (to-day being a holiday) there was only a moderate trade in any description and prices were unchanged.

Wheat has been only moderately active on speculation, and the export trade has been comparatively insignificant. It is even said that East Indian wheat is selling in London at 5 per cent less than the prices current for American. Meanwhile, mild, spring-like weather in Great Britain has favored the sowing of beans and peas, and preparations are rapidly being made there to sow other grain crops. The British fall-sown crops are reported in a favorable condition. In this country there appears to have been little or no damage to the winter wheat by the recent rains and floods, or by the more violent storms in Kansas and elsewhere. In the existing dulness of trade, therefore, prices have been more or less depressed. It is stated, moreover, that some of the more powerful bulls recently unloaded, and that there is rather less disposition now to manipulate the market with a view to higher prices. To-day there was a moderate trade at irregular prices, the market opening ¼c. to ½c. higher, but losing the advance later on, and declining slightly. The visible supply in this country was stated Thursday at 303,000 bushels less than a week ago, while the quantity afloat for Europe showed a decrease of 600,000 bushels. A failure in the trade during the week had only a momentary effect. No. 2 red closed at $1 14 in elevator, $1 08¼ for February, $1 08¾ for March, $1 10⅞ for April, $1 13⅛ for May and $1 14⅛ for June, showing a decline for the week of ¼c. to 1⅝c in options, the greatest depression being in the distant months, while cash wheat is slightly higher than a week ago.

Indian corn has been quiet, both for export and on speculation, and prices have declined. This cereal always sympathizes with wheat, and the decline is largely attributable to this fact, though a fall in the price of pork has not been without some influence. The receipts of corn at Chicago have been small, but there is said to be considerable in the interior that will be sent to markets on the Atlantic seaboard on the re-opening of navigation. The proportion of corn of contract grade in the receipts, however, is reported as small, and in the strictly speculative branch of the market there are those who favor purchases for future delivery. To-day the market was quiet, and in the later transactions slightly lower. No. 2 mixed closed at 63¼c., delivered; 62⅛c. for February, 62⅝c. for March, 63¾c. for April, 65⅛c. for May and 65½c. for June, showing a decline for the week of 1½c.

Rye and barley have been quiet and about steady. Oats have been dull and declining To-day there were sales of No. 2 mixed at 41c. for March, 41½@42c. for April and 42¼@42⅝c for May.

THE DRY GOODS TRADE.

FRIDAY, P. M., Feb. 22, 1884.

In the dry-goods market the volume of business has not realized expectations the past week. The jobbing trade is backward in most sections of the country, because retailers are deferring their purchasrs of spring and summer goods until the weather becomes more favorable for their distribution. Operations on the part of wholesale buyers were consequently light, and almost wholly confined to a few specialties required for the renewal of assortments. Domestic cotton goods were less active than of late, but the tone of the market continues steady, and the supply in first hands is not now excessive, because of a material curtailment in the production by the mills. There was only a limited inquiry for heavy woolens by the clothing trade, and the business in imported goods was spasmodic and irregular. No failures of importance have occurred, and collections are being made with comparative ease by the wholesale houses.

Domestic Cotton Goods.—The exports of cotton goods for the week were 4,447 packages, of which 2,056 were shipped to China, 661 to Chili, 566 to Great Britain, 313 to Brazil, 132 to Hayti, 131 to Mexico, 107 to U. S. of Colombia, &c. The demand for cotton goods at first hands was quite moderate, but prices were steadily maintained at the late advance. Brown sheetings were in fair request as regards Eastern corporation makes, but Southern brands were mostly quiet. Bleached shirtings and wide sheetings met with a fair distribution, but colored cottons were lightly dealt in. Fancy prints were dull in first hands and sluggish with jobbers, but a good business was done in indigo blues. Print cloths ruled dull, and quotations are a trifle easier (in spite of the partial strike at Fall River), closing at 3 9-16c. for 64x64s and 3⅛c. asked for 56x60s. Ginghams, chambrays, seersuckers and wash fabrics were fairly active with jobbers, and agents experienced a steady call for small re-assortments. White goods and hosiery continued in fair request, and liberal deliveries were made by agents in execution of former orders.

Domestic Woolen Goods.—Transactions in men's-wear woolens were rather more frequent, but the demand was characterized by a good deal of irregularity, and some disappointment was expressed at the results of the week's business. Clothiers seem inclined to pursue a very cautious policy, owing, in a measure, to the discussion of the tariff question in Congress, but some fair orders were placed for heavy worsteds, cassimeres, overcoatings and satinets for future delivery. Ladies' cloths, tricots, &c., were in fair request by jobbers and suit manufacturers, and there was a fairly active movement in Jersey cloths and stockinettes. Kentucky jeans and doeskins were in light and irregular demand at first hands, but rather more active with jobbers. Worsted and all-wool dress fabrics continued to move in fair quantities, and the most desirable makes are firmly held.

Foreign Dry Goods.—There was an irregular movement in imported fabrics, and the week's business, though showing a slight improvement, was by no means large. Some important sales of plain and fancy silks were made by importers, but at very low prices, and a moderately good business was done in fancy dress fabrics. Men's-wear woolens ruled quiet, but ladies' cloths were in steady request. White goods and embroideries were moderately active, but linen goods were somewhat sluggish in first hands.

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION.

No essential change has occurred in the business outlook since our last issue. Uncertainty, if not distrust, seems for the time being to be widely prevalent. This was of course aggravated by the suggestion of last week to the Clearing House that the Secretary of the Treasury might be led to pay his balances in silver dollars or certificates, for that question brought our people face to face with the evil influence they have so long been quietly fearing. Hence the currency problem suddenly became the absorbing topic, the public being rudely awakened to the possible prospect of losing what it spent so much of misery to attain during the years previous to 1879.

Still, like all popular movements quickened by a fear, this one has been hasty. As we said last week, we can repeat authoritatively this week, there is no reason for anticipating that the Government will take this suggested step now, or until it is compelled to do so. Anyone, however, acquainted with currency laws knows that the event, if the coinage of silver continues, is as sure to happen as the sun is to revolve, and the action this week only suggests how suddenly and in what shape it will come when the forces now in operation have worked out their legitimate result. For instance, the feature this week is the evidence that merchants have been particularly active in hoarding gold. Over $5,000,000 gold coin has thus been withdrawn from the Sub-Treasury since February 21st, and only a small portion of it for shipment, the remainder being now held in the vaults of the banks against checks, which have been drawn in favor of customers, made payable in gold and certified. This has been done at the instance of merchants who have taken alarm at the fact that from ¼ to ½ of 1 per cent has been bid for the privilege of calling gold at 101 for the remainder of the year. But as it is now known that the Secretary of the Treasury has no present intention of changing the existing relations with the Clearing House, this withdrawal movement is evidently premature, and likely soon to cease. So far as the bidding for the privilege of calling gold at a premium is concerned, it may be dismissed as purely sensational, intended for effect upon the stock market and to keep alive an unsettled feeling in the community. Although several bids have been reported, we hear of but one actual transaction, and that was the payment of ¼ of 1 per cent to call $1,000,000 gold at 101 for the remainder of the year.

In the meantime the exchange market continues strong, and the feature on Thursday was an advance in the long rate, caused by a demand for this class of bills by bankers who have hitherto confined their purchases to short bills and cable transfers. Another reason was the easier feeling in the London discount market, the rate for money falling to 3⅛ per cent. While this distributes the demand between the two classes of exchange, the inquiry is sufficiently urgent to keep the sight rate close to the gold-exporting point, although at current figures there is, as we stated last week, a very small margin of profit in making shipments. If the demand should be so large for to-day's steamers as to exhaust the supply of bills, it is probable that considerable shipments will be made by bankers who have not heretofore been disposed to assume the risk and trouble. At this writing we can verify only $1,100,000 gold as having gone on board the Adriatic, $500,000 for Von Hoffman, $100,000 for J. Kennedy Tod & Co., and $500,000 for Kidder, Peabody & Co. The supply of bills this week has been fair, and from a variety of sources, and some bankers report shipments of securities in moderate amounts. The new Pennsylvania railroad loan for $3,000,000, which was promptly taken between New York and London capitalists, will probably furnish some exchange and other drafts may be made against foreign funds invested in Western lands, comparatively large amounts now going into those enterprises. But the united offerings from all such sources and from exports of staples cannot be expected to make more than a temporary impression upon the market, and to slightly diminish gold shipments.

In view of all these facts, is not this a favorable opportunity to make an appeal to Congress for the suspension of silver dollar coinage? Can not our mercantile organizations at all our monetary centres be led to act in the matter? The emergency is urgent; and if our Chamber of Commerce would take the initiative, good might result. It seems not improbable that, as gold begins to go out more freely, the claims of business interests will be heeded. There is a further circumstance to encourage those who may contemplate such a movement, and that is, not for many a year have our legislators in Washington shown so little fanaticism and given so decided evidence of conservatism as at present. This impression may all be changed by future legislation, but up to this time it remains true. We have conspicuous evidence of the fact this week, not only by the passage of the McPherson banking bill in the Senate, by the remarkable vote of 43 yeas to 12 nays, but also by its report to the House through the Committee on Banking and Currency, by a vote of 8 in favor to 4 against such a report.

We give the bill in full in another column, as it deserves a record, whether it ever becomes a law or not, as illustrative of the changed spirit which has come over Congress on financial questions, or at least in matters affecting banks. Evidently one truth has taken root at Washington now, and that is that it is not popular to attack or harm our present banking system without proposing a better. We do not mean that the McPherson measure will be accepted by all parties interested as the best proposed, or that it can in any event be more than a temporary relief. We hope the House will add to it the tax remission clause which the Potter bill proposes. If so amended and adopted, a large body of the smaller banks are likely to increase their circulation, so that for a year at least forced bank currency contraction will be avoided. The call at the close of last week by the Secretary of the Treasury of 10 millions more of the 3 per cent bonds suggests the urgency of the need for speedy action. We have heard some criticism of Mr. Folger for making this call. No criticism, it seems to us, could be more unjust. He has delayed action until his surplus has forced it. In fact his management in this particular has been so considerate that he has carried a largely increased balance all the year. The only remedy lies in Congress, first to pass without delay some one of the measures now proposed for making note issues less burdensome to the banks and next to cut down the revenues to the lowest possible limit.

The tendency of the stock market has been irregular and generally downward this week. Reading was sharply advanced on Monday and Pacific Mail and Lackawanna on Tuesday, and this favored the view that manipulation, similar to that which has been in progress for the last four weeks, was to be further continued. The movement in Reading could not readily be accounted for upon any other theory than that it was being advanced for the purpose of influencing the other stocks on the list. It was observed, however, that the supply of stock came from Philadelphia, and in view of the fact that the earnings show a large decrease an attempted unloading was believed in, and can be readily understood. There is a suspicion that the buying here was more apparent than real, and that the large reported business in this stock and in Lackawanna was due to the execution of matched orders, for the purpose of conveying the impression that the demand was legitimate. After the upward movement in Pacific Mail and Lackawanna on Tuesday the market assumed a heavy tone, and it was evident that clique support was gradually being withdrawn. This encouraged the bears, and on Thursday they resumed their operations, being aided by reports of cutting of rates on Colorado business between the lines in the Western Pooling Association and the Quincy, Atchison and the St. Louis & San Francisco. The falling off in the traffic of many of the lines making reports tended to confirm rumors of a loss of business by all the roads, and the severe weather in the Northwest more or less affected the stocks of roads in that section.

The withdrawal of clique support from the market may have been for the purpose of encouraging a fresh short interest as the basis for another rise. The manipulators have doubtless succeeded in marketing upon the shorts a large proportion of the stocks they bought preparatory to the commencement of the upward movement a month ago, and perhaps they are not unwilling to see a decline now, particularly as a continuation of the advance would necessitate large purchases. This change of front may have been influenced to some extent by the sudden change in the financial situation discussed above, tending to unsettle confidence among non-professionals for whose benefit mainly the market was manipulated, the object being to encourage investment or speculative purchases. Still, the bulls have made a very successful campaign, and are in a position to take advantage of any favorable change in the situation to again turn the market upward. Indeed, they seem to have re-asserted their power yesterday afternoon, when a pretty general advance was established, West Shore bonds being conspicuous in the upward movement, on the announcement that Mr. W. H. Osborn, formerly of the Illinois Central, had gone into the management of the road.

We have already referred to the unfavorable statements of earnings and income that have come to hand as an influence on the stock market this week. For a long time railroad earnings have kept up remarkably well, but now they, too, are beginning to feel the effects of continued bad business. The New York Central return, as we shall show below, can hardly be regarded as favorable, while the January exhibit of the Pennsylvania is markedly unfavorable, and that of the Reading records no improvement on the poor result for December. Then Western roads, too, are beginning to lag behind. St. Paul has now for two weeks recorded a decrease, while the Northwest has had only a nominal increase. East of the Mississippi the Illinois Central is still running from $15,000 to $20,000 a week below 1883, while down in the South the Louisville & Nashville also records a continuous falling off. Altogether, the situation in this respect has been less favorable than for a long time past.

New York Central earnings, made public this week, are taken from the first quarterly report to the New York State Railroad Commissioners. The exhibit covers the period ended December 31, 1883. It shows a surplus of about $50,000 above all charges of every nature, and above the quarter's proportion of the 8 per cent dividends being paid. This would be a very satisfactory showing were it not for the fact that it embraces the best quarter of the company's year—that is, the period in which earnings are much larger usually than in other quarters. Besides, it is clear that at present at least the traffic conditions are not as good as they were in the three months under review. In fact, there was a change in this respect even before the period closed, which must have affected the showing somewhat. Thus we know that in October both the Pennsylvania and the Erie recorded large gains in net; in November the Pennsylvania again had a very large gain, but the Erie had a small loss; in December the Pennsylvania also had a loss (the Erie figures for that period not yet having been received). Further, the Pennsylvania now comes out with a loss of over $600,000 for January, which emphasizes the distinction between the present quarter and that ended with December.

Hence, it is clear that the statement submitted offers no guide as to what may be expected in the remaining nine months of the fiscal year. Of course, if we had the figures for the same three months of 1882 we could easily determine whether the company had gained or lost thus far in the new fiscal year. But, unfortunately, we have not even the gross earnings for that period. In 1879 and 1880, however, monthly gross receipts were published for a time. Using these figures to arrive at the gross earnings, the items of interest, rentals and dividends can be got by taking one quarter of the amount paid in the full twelve months of which the quarters formed a part. As to expenses, we attempt only an approximation to the actual figures. In the fiscal year 1879–80 the ratio of expenses to earnings was 54 per cent. We use that for the quarter, October to December, 1879. In the year 1880–1 the ratio was 60½ per cent, but we use 58 per cent for the quarter, since the ratio for the twelve months was raised by the rate war that prevailed in the latter part of the year. As to taxes, we are somewhat puzzled. What the company usually gives as taxes is simply the State tax on earnings and capital, amounting in the fiscal year 1882–3 to $323,135, the tax on real estate (aggregating nearly a million more) being included in ordinary operating expenses. But in the statement just to hand the item of taxes counts for $323,750 in a single quarter. It hardly seems likely that the company would bring full taxes on earnings and capital into one quarter. On investigation, we are inclined to think that the quarter's taxes has been made to embrace those on real estate, the company having taken them out of operating expenses to conform with the report of the Commissioners, who, in drafting their blank schedule, evidently intended to embrace all taxes in the item of that name. Hence it will be understood why the amount is so much larger in the present quarter than in the corresponding periods of 1880 and 1879. With these explanations we present the following statement.

* On the basis of an assumed ratio of 58 per cent. † On the basis of the ratio of expenses for the full fiscal year, as shown in the report for that year—54 per cent. ‡ One quarter's proportion of the charge for the year. § One quarter's proportion of tax on earnings and capital only—tax on real estate having been included in operating expenses.

Thus we see that the surplus of $50,000 in the three months of 1883 compares (as nearly as can be determined) with a surplus of almost three-quarters of a million in the same period of 1880 and of nearly a million dollars in 1879. Gross earnings (which are actual in all the years given, and about which therefore there can be no doubt) prove to be $632,000 smaller than in 1879 and $1,062,000 smaller than in 1880.

Philadelphia & Reading's January statement has also been received and is unfavorable, as it was expected it would be. The reason for this is the same as in January—namely, a partial suspension of coal mining, under which the Railroad had a coal tonnage of only 440,402 tons in 1884, against 576,211 tons in the same month in 1883. Another adverse circumstance was the diminished tonnage of general merchandise, which in December had kept pretty close to the preceding year. The loss for the month was 57,889 tons, while in December it was only 11,536 tons. The passenger movement, on the other hand, was larger than in the previous year (as was also the case in December), for, deducting the movement over the Central New Jersey, the number carried in 1884 reached 997,136, against only 948,282 in the same month of 1883. The effect of the smaller tonnage of coal and merchandise, not only on the Reading directly, but also on its leased line the Central of New Jersey, is seen in net earnings (after allowing for the rental of the Central of New Jersey) of only $197,234 in January, 1884, against $664,878 in January, 1883. It does not seem to be generally understood that the Reading's earnings include in the present year those of the Central, and that these latter have to be deducted to obtain a proper comparison of operations with the previous year, and that after this has been done the loss on the lease must also be allowed for to arrive at the actual net result. The following statement for January and the two months of the company's fiscal year is correctly made up.

| Items. | January. | | Two months. | |
| | 1884. | 1883. | 1883-84. | 1882-83. |

| Actual net result | $197,234 | $664,878 | $492,590 | $1,508,661 |

*Loss.

Thus the company had left to it in the two months of the current fiscal year only $492,590, against $1,508,661 in the same two months of the preceding fiscal year—a loss of $1,016,071. Lest, however, too much weight be given to this unfavorable result during these two months, we would say that the company's officials are not at all alarmed at the showing, but state that they anticipated such a result for the early months of the year as a result of the restricted production of coal. In December the company had nine idle days, and by agreement with the other coal roads there was to be a suspension of mining during 39 days through January, February and March. So the officials expect poor results for two months more, but after that, with production resumed in full, think they can confidently count upon very large profits.

Pennsylvania Railroad's exhibit for January is of the same kind as that of the Reading. On the lines east of Pittsburg there is the large loss of $355,124 in gross and of $304,922 in net, while on the lines west of Pittsburg there is a deficiency of $106,556 in meeting liabilities, whereas in the previous year there had been a surplus of $221,810, a difference against 1884 of $328,366. In other words, on all lines operated—both east and west of Pittsburg—the company lost no less than $633,288 during the month, as compared with 1883. The month this year afforded only a moderate volume of through traffic, while local traffic was no doubt unfavorably affected to a large extent by the existing depression in manufacturing and other industries, which play so important a part in the company's business. To show how the present exhibit compares with that for the corresponding month in previous years, we give below the gross and net earnings on the lines east of Pittsburg (those west are not furnished) each year since 1879, adding also the loss or profit on the Western lines, so as to get at the atcual result of all operations.

* Surplus. † Deficit.

Thus the company had a smaller profit in 1884 than in any of the six years given—smaller even than in 1879. In none of the years except the present have the Western lines returned a loss. The net earnings on the lines east of Pittsburg are somewhat larger than in 1882, when, however, the rate war had reduced them. They are also better than in 1879, but only a trifle, though meanwhile gross have increased over a million dollars, and this brings us to a very important feature in the returns, namely, the heavy expenses. As compared with the preceding year, there is, as already stated, a falling off of $355,124 in gross, but expenses have declined no more than $50,202. This would appear to show that wages and other items of expenses are still maintained at a comparatively high figure. If that be so, then there is a likelihood that though gross business may continue to fall off, the company will find it possible to offset the loss by a contraction in the items of expense. Certainly, when we find that expenses are now (for a single month) $900,000 greater than in 1879, on a gross business augmented $1,031,000, there would seem to be considerable room for a reduction. And this is a circumstance which should not be lost sight of in discounting the future unfavorably,—either in the case of this company or of others.

Money on call has not been affected by the unsettled feeling regarding gold, and the supply continues abundant. Should the hoarding of gold continue, however, and the amount in the custody of the banks be regarded as a special deposit, and not counted as part of the reserve, the effect upon the market would be a decided contraction, and be soon felt. The policy of the banks in this respect will doubtless be indicated by this week's bank return. The following statement, made up from returns collected by us, exhibits the week's receipts and shipments of currency and gold by the New York banks.

The above shows the actual changes in the bank holdings of gold and currency caused by this movement to and from the interior. In addition to that movement, the banks have lost $3,900,000 through the operations of the Sub-Treasury and by exports of gold. Adding that item therefore to the above, we have the following, which should indicate the total loss to the New York Clearing House banks of gold and currency for the week covered by the bank statement to be issued to-day.

The Bank of England reports a gain of £246,000 bullion or the week. This represents £275,000 received from the interior and £29,000 shipped. ## CANADA BANKS AND CIRCULATION.

Our monetary relations with our very near neighbor Canada have of course always been intimate. Of late years, however, though tariff restrictions have fettered trade, the financial connection with this city has become closer. This is due in great measure to the fact that the taxes our New York banks were able to pay in years of inflation were suppressive when bank privileges became less profitable, driving domestic capital out of the business and forcing our people to a larger extent than formerly to depend upon foreign banking capital. Thus it is that the New York Clearing House represented more capital in 1857 than it does now—then the total was about 64½ million dollars, now it is only about 61¼ millions, whereas in 1871 and for a short time thereafter it reached about 84½ millions.

Then again the building of the Canadian Pacific Railroad and the obligations it has put out and is about to put out, connect that people more closely with the investing public, giving wider interest to every fact relating to financial affairs in the Dominion. But the special circumstance which turned our attention to the banks at this time, was a meeting of bankers held at Buffalo on the 13th of February to consider the propriety of longer taking Canadian money which now circulates in Buffalo almost as freely as our own bank bills or legal tenders. There seems, however, to have grown up there a general feeling of dislike for these notes, the complaint being that "they "are not so well secured as our own, and when a bank "fails there is no provision for the redemption of its "bills." This is a practical question and has led to our making arrangements with the Canadian authorities under which we shall receive and publish hereafter the returns the banks are required to make within the first twenty days of each month. We give them to-day in detail on a subsequent page, but below is a summary for January and a comparison for previous months.

It will be noticed that in the above the two sides of the account do not balance, the assets for January being $3,103,267 in excess of the liabilities. The natural inference is that the difference covers the profits over and above the $17,512,718 set aside and stated in the above as reserve. We ought to add perhaps that the capital subscribed is about two millions more than the amount given in our statement as paid up, and the capital authorized is about eight millions more.

But, as we said, the point of special interest is the currency and the provisions of the statute under which it is issued. Undoubtedly the banking system in operation in Canada is in many respects less perfect than our own, and yet it seems to be pretty well guarded. The laws grant quite full powers, great freedom and provide very little government supervision. On the latter point, however, we notice that besides the monthly returns, which are required to be full and under oath, there is another mode of obtaining information as to the condition of a bank; that is, through the provision which gives to the Minister of Finance "power to call "for special returns from any particular bank whenever in his judgment the same are necessary in "order to a full and complete knowledge of its condition." This, with the penalties attached for false statements, and for omissions to make statements, &c., would seem to furnish ample machinery, if faithfully used, for the discovery of any impairment of capital or over-issue of notes.

But the marked difference between the two systems in the matter of circulation is in the nature of the security provided, and the mode of payment in case of insolvency. With us confidence is complete, because the notes are issued through the agency of both the Government and the bank, and hence cannot be emitted in excess, while back of the note stands the Government bond with more than ample margin. In case of insolvency no depreciation of the note occurs, as the security is lodged with the Government, and the process of redemption continues uninterrupted. In the Canada system a wholly different plan prevails. There is no bond and no Government registry, but full authority to the bank to issue notes, the only limit being in the following provision: "The amount "of notes intended for circulation issued by the bank and "outstanding at any time shall never exceed the amount "of its unimpaired paid-up capital."

At first sight this will seem a very loose, irresponsible arrangement to the American reader, who has been accustomed to look for safety to the Government inspection and the Government bond. But such a conclusion is by no means warranted. The truth is, the Canada law in the matter of note issues is formed on a different theory from ours. Its purpose is to let commerce provide its own currency, so it gives the authority, and then, in case it is used, holds the bank, the management and the stockholder, for security. Hence it is enacted (1) that no bank shall issue notes, &c., * * * until five hundred thousand dollars of capital have been subscribed, * * * nor until it shall have obtained from the Treasury Board a certificate to that effect; (2) that the unimpaired paid-up capital shall be the limit of the power of issue;" (3) that the outstanding circulation shall be the first charge upon the assets of the Bank in case of insolvency"; (4) that the shareholders if the assets are insufficient, shall be further liable in a sum equaling the full amount of their shares; (5) that a certified list of shareholders, with their residences and number of shares each holds, shall be transmitted every year to the Minister of Finance before the appointed day for the opening of Parliament; (6) that persons who have "transferred their shares, or any of "them, &c., * * * within one month before the commence"ment of the suspension of payment by the bank, shall be "liable for calls on such shares," the same as if they had not transferred them.

Thus we see that the law makes the notes a first lien not only on the capital, but on all the assets of the bank, and makes the stockholders further liable to the amount of their stock (with no chance of skulking, as the Government has a record of them), while the total issue is under severe penalties confined to the amount of the unimpaired capital. If, in connection with these provisions, we recall the requirements as to reports to be made monthly, and whenever called for, and the penalties for any false statement in such reports (so that impairment of capital or excess in note issues would be quickly disclosed), it would seem as if the feature of safety had been well considered and guarded in the law. Of course the other point referred to at Buffalo—delay in redeeming notes in case of insolvency—is a possible contingency. And yet with the currency a first lien on all the assets, and these calls on the stockholders also possible, there would appear little need for delay. We notice that the law contemplates the business being closed up by the directors in some cases of insolvency.

We do not know precisely how the business of redemption is carried on in the Dominion. If it was perfect it would limit the power to issue notes to the wants of commerce. The statute says that a bank "shall "not be bound to redeem in specie or Dominion "notes at any place other than where they are made payable." The fact that the notes in circulation are now down to 30 millions, and have decreased 3½ millions during the month, and 6½ millions since the previous December, would indicate that redemption arrangements were quite effective.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL AND ITS LATE POLICY.

The Illinois Central report for 1883 presents flattering results. The figures submitted show that the company was enabled to meet the obligations assumed on account of the leased line, to pay 10 per cent dividends on its stock, to provide $632,529 for betterments, and yet to retain a surplus on the year's operations of $156,909. This is flattering, since it demonstrates anew the great strength of the company's position and its continued prosperity.

And yet there are certain features of the report which, when critically examined, tend somewhat to modify this very favorable conclusion. To one of these we alluded early in the year, when we urged the making public of the figures on which the action was based declaring an extra dividend of two per cent, calling for $580,000 Using our knowledge of the company's charges, in connection with the published totals of gross earnings, we contended that the payment of such extra dividend could leave the company only a very small working balance on the year's income. The exhibit now furnished fully confirms our surmise. The surplus remaining is shown to be no more than $156,909, which for a large concern like the Illinois Central (particularly now that it embraces the line to New Orleans) is certainly very insignificant in amount.

It may be claimed that the $632,529 spent for betterments in the year should be added to reach a correct total of the year's surplus. But the present report is not exceptional in this respect. For a long time it has been the policy of the management to devote a portion of the earnings to this purpose, in order to improve the road's facilities for doing business without at the same time increasing its liabilities and charges. Besides, that policy is in the direct line of the recommendations made by the committee of Dutch and English stockholders who came here in 1877 (the day of the company's adversity), to report on the road's condition and prospects, they laying down the broad principle that "if the railroad is to have "a permanent value, it is necessary that the capital expen- "diture of the company should not be increased, except "for matters which produce an actual increase of traffic, "such, for instance, as new branch lines," and that it would be "highly imprudent to continue the system of charging "to capital a portion of the expenditures for works which "are merely improvement on an existing state of things," which principle in effect other roads have also found it advisable to adopt.

It is proper to note, too, that this expenditure for betterments in 1883 is not large, as compared with other recent years. Thus, while on both the Illinois line and the Southern line no more than $632,529 was spent in this way in 1883, no less than $1,271,452 was spent on the Illinois line alone in 1882. In 1881 the amount on the same division was $925,380, in 1880 it was $842,324. In 1879, when the item first came into prominence, the amount was $386,016. Or, if we take out these outlays for improvement and add them to the company's surplus, the comparison would stand as follows for each of the years named.

|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| 1878..... | $746,205 | 1880..... | $1,343,965 | 1882..... | $1,427,326 |
| 1879..... | 1,003,221 | 1881..... | 976,510 | 1883..... | 789,438 |

On this basis, then, the balance in 1883 was smaller than in any year since 1878. Had the two per cent extra dividend not been declared it would have been $1,369,438, even then less than in 1882, and but a trifle above what it was in 1880.

We should not have dwelt upon this feature except for the circumstance that 1884 will be even more than 1883 was, experimental, with the conditions such that a repetition of the 10 per cent dividends becomes improbable. With 1883 the road virtually entered upon a new period in its career. Previously it had only its lines in Illinois and Iowa to take care of; with 1883 the base of its operations was extended over the Southern line, to New Orleans. It is true that this Southern line had for many years before been under its management and control, but not till 1883 did the Illinois Central incur any annual obligations on its behalf. With that year not only did it assume the whole of the Southern line's interest charges, but it also guaranteed dividends on its stock, distributing last July the portion of said stock held in its own treasury and which to that extent would have diminished the requirement by reason of its guaranty. We are not arguing that this was not a wise step, nor that the leased line may not be able to take care of the whole charge itself. In fact though we have not the income account of the leased road, yet from the monthly figures of gross earnings and certain information contained in the report, we should judge that net earnings of the Southern line in 1883 were more than sufficient to meet the rental ($1,486,203) in full.

This, however, was the best year the company has ever had. There was comparatively little competition on its business, and the cotton crop of 1882 (largely marketed in 1883) was the heaviest on record—the line being, like so many other Southern roads, dependent in a great degree upon this one kind of traffic. As a result, the gross earnings for the twelve months reached $4,350,000. To what extent this will be reduced the present year under a smaller cotton crop and the new element of competition to be introduced (to which latter we shall refer presently) is of course a question. But a point of equal uncertainty is the cost of operating the road, and here's where the Illinois Central is trying what we call an experiment. Prior to 1883 the whole of the leased road's earnings were applied to operating expenses and improvements—all except what was necessary for interest, and this the road had to pay in full in only one year, a part of the debt not bearing obligatory interest till Dec. 1882. Now, not only interest but the dividend on the stock as well, has to be earned. In turning the road over to the Illinois Central in 1883, Mr. Clarke, the general manager of the line (now president of the Illinois Central) estimated it could be operated for 60 per cent. Perhaps that may be for a year or two, but can it be permanently operated for that percentage? The Mobile & Ohio, which is also a Southern longitudinal line, though in some other respects less favorably situated, under the economical and conservative management of Mr. William Butler Duncan, could not be operated for less than 72¼ per cent in 1882–3, and for less than 74 per cent in 1881–2. Suppose that the Central's Southern line should earn no more than it did in 1882 (which though it was not a very favorable year, was on the other hand not a very bad one), and that it took 65 per cent of the earnings to operate the road—even on the basis of the very large earnings of 1883, only a small surplus would be left above the rental.

All the more striking does this appear when we bear in mind that this Southern line will now have to contend with an increased number of competitors for its business. Up to 1883 it constituted substantially the only line between Cairo and New Orleans. The Mobile & Ohio could be used to reach the latter city, via Mobile, but this was a very circuitous route. Towards the close of 1883, however, the Erlanger people opened their New Orleans & Northeastern road, forming, in conjunction with the Mobile & Ohio, a very direct line to New Orleans, and this new road has been getting a good deal of business since, though whether this has been at the expense of the Illinois Central line we do not know;—we only know that there has been a contemporaneous falling off in the earnings of that line. But very soon there will be still another competitor. A line is being built (in the interest of the Chesapeake & Ohio) along the east bank of the Mississippi, from Memphis to New Orleans. The work is already well advanced towards completion, and it was recently announced that the road would be in running order by May 15 next. Above Memphis, of course, the Chesapeake & Ohio already has a line, so that this would make another parallel road to the St. Louis & New Orleans (Illinois Central) all the way to Cairo. Thus there will soon be three routes north from New Orleans, where six months ago there was but one. It cannot but be that the Illinois Central will be adversely affected by this fact. It may in part overcome the adverse effects, as far as gross business is concerned, through the opening of the branches now under construction—one to Aberdeen, Miss., from Kosciusko, and the other to Yazoo City, from Jackson, Miss. But will not the increased competition decrease the tonnage and force a reduction of rates? and will not those circumstances in turn increase the ratio of operating expenses? At least to us it would seem more conservative to await the outcome of such uncertainties as these, rather than sanguinely disregard them.

But the company is also at the same time increasing its debt. A year ago, in reviewing the work done to the end of 1882, we called attention to the fact that the debt then was actually smaller than in 1877, though mileage had been increased 220 miles in the interval. Now that the St. Louis & New Orleans road has been taken into the system, it is of course impossible to make a direct comparison. But we find that the $5,028,000 of Chicago St. Louis & New Orleans five per cent bonds which the Illinois Central held in its treasury at the beginning of 1883 had at the beginning of 1884 been reduced to $3,228,000, and that since then a further reduction to $2,826,000 has taken place. So long as these bonds were held in the treasury, the interest charge on account of the Southern line was to that extent diminished, and in our calculations of 1883 we were led to disregard them, since we assumed that for all practical purposes they might be treated as if they had never existed. When a company has such large means immediately available, there is always a strong temptation to use the same, and recognizing this fact, Mr. W. H. Osborn was led to recommend the cancellation of this five millions of bonds. His words, and the warning they conveyed, have a special significance at the present time. Mr. Osborn, it should be said, was for more than a quarter of a century identified with the Illinois Central, and to his management its present prosperity is largely due. To his energy and watchfulness, too, the success attending the investment in the Southern line is also attributable. In his final communication to the Illinois Central, of date Dec. 30, 1882, after urging the cancellation of the unused bonds, he says: "It seems unwise to hold $5,000,000 of your own exe- "cuted obligations available at any moment. The expe- "rience of nearly thirty years strengthens my impression "that prosperity (leading to unwise expenditures) is "oftentimes as dangerous as adverse crops, with the con- "sequent loss of traffic affecting income. The specific for "accuracy in accounts and economy in expenditures, ap- "pears to be—to take all expenses, including construction, "out of income, and divide the surplus only." We doubt whether Mr. Osborn expected that the pertinency of his utterances would so soon become manifest.

It should be said, however, that the money derived from the sale of the bonds has not been squandered, but has been used in prosecuting the construction of two branch lines, already mentioned, in Mississippi, which may be necessary and ultimately profitable. But the point is, that it seems to mark a less cautious policy than heretofore, to make an extra 2 per cent dividend, (leaving a smaller surplus than for several years), in the face of these facts. Thus the sale of St. Louis & New Orleans bonds, and the distribution last July of nearly all of the stock of the same company, will have as an effect an immediate reduction of the company's income. Among the miscellaneous receipts in 1883 were $298,009 credited as interest on bonds and dividends on shares of the Southern line. As the company now holds only $2,826,000 of the bonds and $641,600 of the stock of the leased road, the income from this source in the current year can be no more than $166,964, involving a reduction in this item from 1883 of $131,000. In the same connection, and as showing the less favorable state of business at the present time, we may mention that up to the end of the third week of February gross earnings in 1884 (all lines) recorded a falling off of $202,828.

There are also some other features of the report that do not wear so favorable an aspect as heretofore. Thus the company is now carrying a working stock of supplies smaller than in other years, though its mileage has been increased 578 miles by the addition of the St. Louis & New Orleans road. The total is given at $532,566, while a year ago it was $841,975 (including in this that of the Southern division), and the year before that (on the Illinois line alone) was $534,678. Then the item of "cash and other assets," amounting to $2,316,487, is not quite clear. How much of it is cash, and how much something else? There was the same uncertainty a year ago, but the amount is very much larger now, as it should be, because of the heavier liabilities for interest and dividends. We know that in 1882 the item embraced at least $383,000 of Kankakee & Southwestern railroad stock, which we should hardly be inclined to consider an available asset. Finally, the company in supplying current reports of gross earnings, refuses any longer to furnish the figures of the Southern line separately, as it should. Certainly, this is quite in contrast with the openness that has always characterized the company's conduct of affairs in the past. What can be the reason for withholding the figures? Even if they are unfavorable (as there is reason to suppose they are) nothing can be gained by concealment. Secrecy in corporate affairs never inspires confidence.

In all these facts, is there not evidence of some lack of the conservative spirit so long dominant in the company's affairs? It will be seen that we do not base our remark upon any one incident in the recent career of the property, but upon a whole series of events all apparently having the same tendency. We might be less inclined to lay stress upon this apparent departure, if it were not for rumors connected with some of the late changes in management.

FINANCIAL REVIEW OF FEBRUARY, 1884.

In comparison with the extraordinary events happening one after another in preceding months, the course of affairs in February was quiet and uneventful. The supply of money was yet superabundant, and some of the bankers with money to lend were even inclined to take a favorable view of an export movement of gold, as one means of diminishing the glut of money and advancing the rates of interest.

At the Stock Exchange the movements were comparatively healthy during the later weeks of the month—healthy, at least, so far as the steadiness of prices was concerned. It was an open secret that some of the heaviest stock speculators of New York—usually known as capitalists—had joined their forces together late in January to stop the downward turn in prices which had been so conspicuous in the latter months of 1883 and was again felt very forcibly in January this year. After the syndicate had taken the Northern Pacific and Oregon Railway & Navigation stocks, as mentioned in our last report, the market was sharply turned, and the support then put under it, together with the twisting of parties who had sold short, caused a large advance throughout nearly the whole list. Certain stocks were particularly advanced as Delaware Lackawanna & Western to 132½, for the purpose of helping the rest of the market. There was but a small interest taken by the public at large, but considerable trading among professional operators, until the 27th and 28th of the month, when prices began to sag and closed at a considerable re-action from the best prices.

While the decline in prices in the last half of 1883 was made in the face of large railroad earnings, the upward movement of February, 1884, was made in spite of many unfavorable reports of railroad earnings which were coming to hand. Thus the Pennsylvania Railroad and the Philadelphia & Reading lost heavily in December and January, and the condition of earnings generally since the first of the year could not be looked upon as particularly good.

One of the principal features in February was the advance in foreign exchange prices to the specie-shipping point and the consequent exportation of a moderate amount of gold. The trade movement was certainly not as much in favor of the United States as in the preceding year—especially in the diminished exports of breadstuffs—but this cause was hardly sufficient to account for the gold shipments, and it was believed that the balances were affected by the movement of securities,—both the return of some stocks from abroad and a less active demand than usual for our securities from the foreign markets.

The following summary shows the condition of the New York City Clearing House banks, rate of foreign exchange, and prices of leading securities and articles of merchandise, on or about the 1st of March, 1832, 1833 and 1884.

The more prominent feature during the past week has been an advance in the Bank rate of discount from 3 to 3½ per cent. An alteration was not generally looked forward to, but at the same time the change occasioned no surprise. There has during the last three months been a steady export inquiry for gold, the result of which has been that the stock held by the Bank of England has been depleted to the extent of about £3,000,000. This demand, having to a large extent been for small amounts, has not attracted the attention which it deserved; but the export movement to Australia has brought the subject forward in a somewhat novel form. The advance in the rate of discount has given satisfaction in most quarters, and the effect upon the exchanges has been favorable. Some gold has been sent into the Bank, and the New York sterling exchange has risen to a point which leads to the conclusion that if we shall have to export further supplies of gold, we shall be able to draw it from countries which are indebted to us.

The rise in the value of money is by many attributed wholly to the Australian demand for gold. Undoubtedly, that unexpected movement has, as stated, exercised considerable influence; but it is much to be apprehended that distrust is the more prominent cause. The condition of our trade is very unsatisfactory. The Board of Trade returns confirm this remark, and there are no indications of immediate improvement. There are apprehensions of important failures, and in nearly every department the greatest caution prevails. A desire is therefore naturally shown to strengthen one's position as far as is practicable, in order to provide against unforeseen contingencies. These doubts about the future check business very seriously, and there is no evidence at present which justifies a belief that new enterprise is likely soon to be undertaken.

The following are the quotations for money and the interest allowed by the discount houses to-day and same day of the previous five weeks:

In reference to the state of the bullion market during the past week, Messrs. Pixley & Abell remark:

Gold—The inquiry for bars has somewhat fallen off, but more sovereigns, to the value of £100,000, have been taken from the Bank for Australia. A small shipment of £6,000, sovereigns, from Spain has been sent to the Bank. The arrivals have been very small, comprising only £9,276 from Buenos Ayres. The Don has taken £4,410 to the West Indies; Rohilla, £10,000 to Bombay; Sorata, £100,000 to Australia; total, £114,410.

Silver—The market has been very steady at 51d. per oz. during the week, the orders being almost entirely for the East. The arrivals have not been very large, and are only £23,000 from New York and £1,096 from Buenos Ayres. The P. & O. steamer has taken £100,000 to Bombay. The Aconcagua, from Chili, may be expected to-morrow at Liverpool with £40,000.

Mexican Dollars—About £45,000 have arrived during the week from New York. The price since our last has been steady at 49⅝d. per oz.

The Bank of England has given notice that it is prepared to receive tenders for £2,000,000 Liverpool Corporation stock, bearing interest at £3 10s. per cent per annum. No tender will be accepted below £99 for every £100 stock.

Tenders were received at the Bank of England on Tuesday for £1,500,000 Treasury bills. The amounts allotted were: In bills at three months, £1,435,000, and in those at six months, £65,000. Tenders for the former at £99 5s. will receive in full, and those for the latter at £98 11s. 4d., 35 per cent, and above in full. This result is equal to a discount rate of 3 and 2⅞ per cent per annum respectively, the average rate being for three months' bills £2 14s. 1d. and for six months' bills £2 17s. 3d.

A prospectus has been issued of the London, Paris & American Bank (limited), with a capital of £1,000,000, of which £500,000 is to be first issued. The bank has been established to acquire as a joint concern the banking business of Messrs. Lazard Freres at San Francisco.

The Secretary of the British Iron Trade Association has distributed an advance proof of the annual report, from which it appears that the total make of Bessemer steel ingots in the United Kingdom in 1883 was 1,553,380 tons, a decrease of 120,269 tons, or 8 per cent, as compared with that of 1882. The principal decrease in the make took place in the Sheffield district, but this was chiefly due to the removal of the Dronfield works of Messrs. Cammell to Workington. The decline of 25,018 tons in the make of the Cleveland district was mainly due to labor difficulties. The productions of South Wales and West Cumberland show increases, that in the latter district being of course due to the new works started by Messrs. Cammell. The production of Bessemer steel rails was 1,097,174 tons, a reduction of 138,611 tons.

The public sales of Colonial wool will be commenced on Tuesday next. A leading circular says: "The circumstances attending the consumption of wool hardly improve as the new year wears. There is, indeed, no distinctly retrograde movement to record, but a rather quieter tone prevails in many quarters—a fact which tends to heighten the cautious attitude assumed by almost all sections of consumers, in view, perhaps, of a rather exaggerated estimate of the forthcoming supplies of new material. Other conditions, however, suggest the improbability of any material variation in value, among which may be especially cited the moderate level of prices which prevails, and the general absence of any considerable excess of stocks, whether of manufactured goods or raw material. On the whole, however, indications which are readily discernible point rather towards weaker than stronger rates, though any development in this direction may be less perceptible than might otherwise be the case, if the character of much of the new clip should bear out the features of intrinsic superiority which are claimed for it. The provisional programme of the first series, which will open on the 12th inst., and, as at present arranged, last till March 19, has been issued; but as the arrivals to date include only a total of 222,515 bales, and the list will (subject to a maximum limit) remain open till the 19th inst., some modifications at a later period may be rendered necessary."

In consequence of the defalcations and failure of Messrs. P. W. Thomas & Sons, stockbrokers, the London Chartered Bank of Australia lose about £120,000.

The number of failures gazetted last week was 53, against 248, showing a net decrease in 1884 to date of 471, compared with last year.

The principal dealers and brokers in the American market on the London Stock Exchange have agreed that on and after Feb. 28, 1884, all transactions in New York Ontario & Western Railway shares entered into with any of them shall be for certificates, with the ticket of the London committee attached, unless otherwise specified.

The Board of Trade returns for the first month of the year, which have just been issued, confirm the reports which have prevailed of the slackness of our trade. Of cotton piece goods the falling off is very considerable, viz., from 410,793,400 yards in January, 1883, to 341,651,300 yards last month. To the United States the shipments were only 7,668,900 yards against 8,550,100 yards, and had it not been for a very large export to Brazil the results would have been quite serious. To that country the exports were 18,612,900 yards against 15,068,900 yards in 1883. To China and British India the reduction is very serious. In fact, nearly every branch of our trade has suffered; wool being the principal redeeming feature; and even in that department the aggregate improvement is not great, the total value being £1,935,093, against £1,851,913 last year. The iron trade has also been less active, the total value of the exports being £3,073,484, against £3,601,743 in 1883. The following are the leading particulars.

| Exports in January | 19,820,693 | 20,308,639 | 19,352,541 |

The trade for cereal produce has been very dull during the week, and prices are still lower. Some very good flour has been sold at 24s. for 280 lbs., being about the lowest price on record. Wheat is cheaper to sell, especially East Indian descriptions. The trade is in a position which causes great anxiety, as supplies are heavy and millers are buying from hand to mouth.

The following are the quantities of wheat, flour and Indian corn estimated to be afloat to this country, compared with previous periods:

The following return shows the extent of the sales of home-grown wheat, barley and oats in the leading markets of England and Wales during the first twenty-three weeks of the season, together with the average prices realized, compared with previous seasons:

Converting quarters of wheat into hundred-weights, the totals for the whole kingdom are estimated as under:

☞ This aggregate is arrived at by multiplying the sales in the 187 markets above by 31/3, and that result is reduced to cwt. by multiplying it by 4 1/3. This proportion between the 187 markets and the totals for the kingdom is adopted by the London grain trade and is accepted by it as producing a result approximately correct.

Annexed is a return showing the extent of the imports of cereal produce into the United Kingdom during the first twenty-three weeks of the season, the average prices of home-grown wheat, the sales of home-grown produce, the visible supply of wheat in the United States, the quantity of wheat and flour afloat to the United Kingdom, and the exports for four months, compared with previous seasons:

Bank Currency Bill as it Passed the Senate.—The following is the text of the McPherson Bank Currency Bill with the amendment of Mr. Morrill, which passed the Senate last Monday by a vote of 43 yeas to 12 nays.

"A bill to provide for the issue of circulating notes to national banking associations:

"Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, that upon any deposit, already or hereafter made, of any United States bonds, bearing interest in the manner required by law, any national banking association making the same shall be entitled to receive from the Controller of the Currency, circulating notes of different denominations, in blank, registered and countersigned as provided by law, not exceeding in the whole amount the par value of the bonds deposited; provided, that at no time shall the total amount of such notes issued to any such association exceed the amount at such time actually paid in of its capital stock; and that all laws and parts of laws inconsistent with the provisions of this act be, and the same are, hereby repealed.

"Sec. 2. That the associations organized for the purpose of issuing notes payable in gold under the provisions of section 5,185 of the Revised Statutes of the United States upon the deposit of any United States bonds bearing interest, with the Treasurer of the United States, shall be entitled to receive circulating notes to the amount and in the manner prescribed in this act for other national banking associations.

"Sec. 3. That all laws and parts of laws of the United States inconsistent with the provisions of this act be, and the same are, hereby repealed."

New York Central & Hudson River.—The report of this Company made to the New York State Railroad Commissioners for the quarter ending Dec. 31, 1883, gave the following figures. There is no comparison to be made with the previous year, as no report of monthly or quarterly earnings has ever been published for 1882. Gross earnings, $7,914,128; operating expenses, $4,435,799; net earnings, $3,478,328.—Charges—Interest, $826,617; taxes, $323,750; rentals, 489,633; total, $1,641,000. Applicable to dividends, $1,838,328. The charge for dividends was $1,788,609, which leaves a surplus of $49,719.

Spring Mountain Coal.—This company has been leased for ten years to the Lehigh Valley Company, which pays a fixed annual royalty amounting to about 7 per cent on the stock. The lease expires in December, 1884, and it is said will either be renewed at 5 or 6 per cent guarantee, or the stock will be called in and bonds issued for it.

Toledo Cincinnati & St. Louis.—A press dispatch from Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 26, said: "In the foreclosure suit against the Toledo Cincinnati & St. Louis Railroad Company, on argument before the United States Court, attorneys were granted ten days to consult with their clients before any order will be entered. Joint action on the part of the court was made necessary by the fact that the road extends through the districts of Judges Drummond and Baxter, and the rolling stock is under the jurisdiction of each. Among the claims is one of $2,000,000 for rolling stock. The holders of the equipment bonds have no other security than the liens upon the equipment of the road, and as the receiver was appointed and took possession of the same, and has since made no payment for the use of it, the bondholders are anxious to have some adjudication defining their rights."

—The attention of the cotton trade is called to the notice in our advertising columns to-day of a change in the old and favorably-known firm of Messrs. Ware & Schroeder, by the retirement of Mr. H. H. Ware. The new firm will be composed of Mr. G. Schroeder, the remaining partner, and Mr. H. J. Creighton, who has been for many years with the old firm. These gentlemen are reported to have ample means and facilities for conducting the business to the satisfaction of the friends of the old house as well as any new ones who may wish their services. The new firm will be known hereafter as G. Schroeder & Co., and will give special attention to the execution of orders for the purchase and sale of contracts for future delivery of cotton, and make liberal advances on consignments. Mr. Ware recommends his old friends to the new firm and will in future have his office and address with them.

—The Maine Savings Bank of Portland, Me., publishes its annual statement in excellent form, showing every item of its assets and the valuation put on the same, the total showing a surplus above all liabilities of $593,212 over and above the amount due depositors, including the earned dividend payable in January.

NEW YORK, FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 29, 1884—5 P. M.

The Money Market and Financial Situation.—Within the last week there have been some indications of the beginning of "spring trade," and the daily customs collections at the New York Custom House have more than doubled since a week ago. There has also been some improvement in the situation of industrial affairs, one item of which is that the strike among the factory operatives at Fall River is gradually breaking up and some of the mills have resumed work. The general status of mercantile credit seems to show constant improvement, and though prices are low and profits unusually small, business is on a sounder and safer basis than at any previous time for a couple of years.

The question of the payment of the Clearing House balances of the New York Sub-Treasury in silver certificates has had some further discussion among the bankers and Treasury officials, and although there is no present purpose to make such payment, the discussion has developed the facts that just about 25 per cent of the customs collected at the New York Custom House are paid in silver and silver certificates, while on the other hand the Clearing House balances of the New York Sub-Treasury are paid, under the rules of the Clearing House, exclusively in gold and legal tenders; and the effect of course is to diminish the Treasury's gold supply.

During the nine days to the evening of Friday, the 29th, the total withdrawals of gold from the United States Sub-Treasury in New York were $5,105,000, nearly the whole of which was in double-eagles. Up to the same time the total shipments of gold, including the engagements for $1,000,000 to go by the steamship Adriatic on Saturday, the 1st, have been nearly two millions. It is understood, however, that some of the withdrawals from the Treasury were made with a view to exports later on if the market for sterling should continue firm.

The aspects of our foreign trade continue unfavorable in the facts that exports of domestic products are steadily diminishing, while imports, for the time being at least, are rather large.

There seems to be no symptom of change in the stagnant condition of our American money markets. The higher rates of interest in London than in New York are favorable to the movement of capital in that direction in the form of gold exports, and are unfavorable to the purchase of American securities on foreign account. In the New York market the rates for call loans on stock collaterals have not varied from 1¼ and 2 per cent in the last week. Time loans on similar collaterals can still be had at 3½@4 per cent. Mercantile discounts remain unchanged at 4 and 4½ for first-class double-name paper for 60 days or 4 months and at 4½ and 5 for single-names. At the West the supply of idle money is larger than ever known before at this season of the year, and notwithstanding the unusually large accumulation of grain and provisions at Chicago, which is all being carried by the banks, money is plenty for further loans at 5 and 6 per cent.

The last weekly statement of the New York banks showed a decrease in all items, but the surplus reserve still remains very large, viz., $19,761,350, as compared with only $1,209,000 last year, and as compared with a deficiency of over $1,000,000 at the same dates in both 1882 and 1881, thus reflecting the present abnormally plethoric condition of the banks and the stagnation in the money market.

The great foreign banks have all gained in specie by their last weekly statements, a fact which reflects the dulness of trade, as this specie has been drawn in chiefly from the local circulation. The Bank of England's weekly statement showed an increase of £246,000 in specie. The percentage of reserve increased to 40⅞ from 40 13-16 last week. The Bank rate of discount was left unchanged at 3½ per cent. The Bank of France recorded a gain of 2,650,000 francs in gold and a loss of 50,000 francs in silver for the week. The Bank of Germany in the week gained 6,780,000 marks.

The following table shows the changes from the previous week and a comparison with the two preceding years in the averages of the New York Clearing House banks.

State and Railroad Bonds.—The firmer tone noted a week ago in the market for railroad bonds was pretty well sustained for two or three days early in the present week. But during the last few days it has been influenced more than usual by the decline in the stock market, the result of which is that the majority of issues show a decline as compared with the closing prices of last Thursday, the 21st. There has also been more evidence of activity in some of the speculative issues, and this is especially noticeable in the West Shore 5s, which have fluctuated between 58½ and 57, with increasing daily transactions until Friday, on which day they were nearly $2,850,000. The following are the net changes in the principal issues on Friday evening, the 29th, as compared with the closing prices of the 21st, viz.:

Declined—Burlington & Quincy debenture 5s, 1⅛; Chesapeake & Ohio firsts, series B, 1; do. currency 6s, 1½; Denver & Rio Grande consols, 1; Denver & Rio Grande Western firsts, ½; East Tennessee incomes, 1; Erie second consols, ½; Louisville & Nashville general mortgage 6s, ¾; New York Chicago & St. Louis firsts, ¾; Rome Watertown & Ogdensburg 5s, ¾; Texas & Pacific land grant incomes, 1½; do. Rio Grande Division firsts, ⅜; Wabash general mortgage 6s, 4, and Fort Worth & Denver City 6s, ½. Advanced—Evansville & Terre Haute 6s, 1⅛; Indiana Bloomington & Western seconds, 1; Jersey Central debentures, 2; Lehigh & Wilkesbarre consols assented, 1¾; Metropolitan Elevated firsts, ⅝; and do. seconds, ½.

Railroad and Miscellaneous Stocks.—The stock market for the past week has been unfavorably affected by a variety of influences, viz., the beginning of exports of gold, the agitation of the silver question, the rumors of rate-cutting at the West, apprehensions of hostile legislation by Congress in regard to the land-grant roads, &c., &c., all of which has deterred the general public from investing freely, notwithstanding the prevalent belief that dividend-paying stocks are as a rule quite low at present prices. But the most telling influence used against the market has been the report that leading operators like Mr. Gould and Mr. Vanderbilt had sold on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday a good many of the stocks they had accumulated during the previous month, in the endeavor to advance prices. This was the immediate cause of a decided decline of from 1 to 7 per cent on all the active speculative stocks up to Thursday evening. But on Friday afternoon the belief gained ground that the bull party had not yet abandoned their project of advancing prices, and there was a sharp recovery, which, however, still left the active stocks from 1 to 5 per cent lower than a week ago. As compared with last Thursday, Pacific Mail, Spring Mountain Coal and Manhattan Elevated show the largest advances, while Chicago Burlington & Quincy, Canada Southern, Central Pacific, Denver & Rio Grande, Lake Shore, Michigan Central, Missouri Pacific, New York Central, Western Union, Union Pacific, and the stocks of all the Northwestern roads, show the heaviest declines.

Philadelphia Wilmington & Baltimore.

(For the year ending Oct. 31, 1883.)

The President's report says: "Last spring the railroad, the franchise and all other property of the Dorchester & Delaware Railroad Company was sold at auction, under foreclosure of their first and only mortgage.

"This company were owners of a large portion of their bonds, and became purchasers of the whole property. The company was re-organized under the title of the Cambridge & Seaford Railroad Company, the entire capital stock of which belongs to this company.

"The Cambridge & Seaford Railroad is 27·28 miles in length, and connects the town of Cambridge with the Dorchester & Delaware Branch of the Delaware Railroad Company, whose lessees we are." * * *

"The road when it came into our possession was in such a poor condition that a sum largely in excess of its gross earnings has necessarily been expended upon it, and it is not probable that it will directly pay its expenses during 1884; but as a feeder it brings to this company a profit sufficient to compensate for its own deficiencies, as is the case with the other roads controlled by this company, whose expenses are above shown to be in excess of their gross receipts.

"The Delaware Railroad Co. earned in excess of its rental $54,015, of which one-fourth part is a direct profit to this company and three-fourths parts were returned to us in part payment of losses incurred by this company in past years in paying as rental sums in excess of the net earnings of that road. Since 1872 the claim of this company allowed by the lessor has been reduced from $291,303 87 to $183,526 95, and there is little doubt that the claim will be liquidated ere the termination of the lease." * * *

"There was no charge made to 'road' or construction account during the year, but the Treasurer's report herewith shows that the cost of certain real estate, wharf property and side tracks not properly chargeable to operating expenses charged 'income' account for the year was $102,854 30.

Cincinnati New Orleans & Texas Pacific.

(For the year ending Dec. 31, 1883.)

This company operates as lessee the Cincinnati Southern road, from Cincinnati to Chattanooga, Tenn., 335·3 miles, which is owned by the city of Cincinnati, and forms a part of the great through line, known as the "Queen and Crescent" route, between Cincinnati and New Orleans. The annual report of Mr. John Scott, President, has the following in regard to the small increase of only about 1 per cent in the gross earnings of 1883: "The causes for this small increase are several. The floods of February, 1883, caused a decrease in receipts of $32,085 36, which was not recovered. The wheat crop showed a large falling off as compared with 1882. The cotton crop along the lines of other roads is short, so far as present returns indicate, some thirty per cent. The Louisville Exposition resulted in a large deduction of business from the city of Cincinnati, as many buyers who have been purchasers of goods and supplies went to Louisville, as is evidenced by my returns. The year 1883 has not been a good year for business. General stagnation has prevailed, and this has been especially felt in the iron trade. The pig iron has been steadily increasing in volume, but such has been the flatness of the market that the lowest rate in the sliding scale of charges has been in operation for the whole of the year. The pig iron tonnage for the year 1883 was 97,953 tons, the receipts on which were $163,110·16, or an average per ton of $1·665. As most of this iron traversed your whole road, you will see that the average rate per ton per mile was only $0·0049. I anticipate a much greater ratio of increase for the coming year, as trade indications are better, and your road will derive increased business from the opening of the Queen and Crescent Route, the shortest line from Cincinnati to New Orleans, between which cities solid passenger trains are now being run. The Vicksburg Shreveport & Pacific Railroad, extending right across the State of Louisiana to the Texas State line, will also be opened in a few months, and it will bring increased revenue to your road.

"The operating expenses, including taxes, have amounted to $1,800,168 03, which is at the rate of 69 34 per cent. This is a still higher figure than that for 1882, which was 64·32 per cent.

"I alluded in my last year's report to the condition of the road, which, as we became better acquainted with it, developed more and more unsatisfactory features. Your chief engineer's report of last year showed that the expenditures on the road-bed must still be considerable, and that it has been so the figures for this year plainly show." * * * "In two years, while fulfilling in the most honorable and complete manner every obligation contained or implied in your lease of this property, having vastly improved a road which your chief engineer very justly describes as run down and in need of re-construction, you have been made to pay in two years 6 per cent upon the whole of your capital, because you have leased a railroad which runs into a great city over a bridge and ends on a gravel-bank in a mud-hole. Since the date of the lease your company has not received the benefit of an inch of space from whatever purchases the trustees may have made, and such land as has been purchased by them will need an expenditure of hundreds of thousands of dollars to make the same available for railroad purposes. To fill this land is not incumbent upon your company. The lease recites that the trustees shall, to the extent of their trust funds, provide lands in the city of Cincinnati for the erection of work-shops and depots, and for other terminal facilities and rights of way.

"This would show that they incurred the obligation of providing such lands, and I do not anticipate that a single stockholder knew the money at command would virtually do the lessees no good.

"In any event, you leased a railroad which had not, and has not now, either terminal, or other facilities, at its largest terminus.

"There is a system of roads south of Chattanooga, having a total mileage of 811 miles, and worth $35,000,000, occupying a splendid strategical position, which is worked in complete harmony with the Cincinnati Southern. This makes a total mileage of 1,147 miles without anything like proper provision for its business at Cincinnati.

"The intended future action of the leasing company is deserving of the most serious attention. Your obligations have been more than met on every hand, and the spirit as well as the letter of the lease has been fully complied with. On the other hand you have had charges imposed upon you which you should not have had to bear, and the trustees have given you nothing of the needed facilities which are necessary, not only for the road, but which you must have to enable you to bear the heavy burden you have assumed.

"It will readily occur to you that the expenditure which will not be available for the benefit of the leasing company at the expiration of the lease should be provided for. It has been now arranged to ascertain such sum each year and to charge transportation year by year with the proper proportion of the sum total needed to exhaust the capital so disbursed.

On the expenditure to date the sum needed each year is..... $35,000 for the 2¼ years ending December, 1883. This sum is placed as a debit against the $60,000 appropriated for sinking fund purposes in 1882."

Expenditures on capital account last year were $308,070, of which the sum of $183,405 was charged to track and road-bed, $52,211 to equipment and the balance to bridges, buildings, etc.

The traffic as reported was as follows:

| | 1883. | 1882. |
|---|---|---|
| Passengers carried | 597,975 | 476,122 |
| Passenger miles | 27,449,005 | 25,282,683 |
| Tons freight carried | 843,737 | 806,238 |
| Average receipt per ton | $2·12 | $2·22 |

The earnings for the year were as follows:

| | 1883. | 1882. |

| Freight | $1,792,629 | $1,793,120 |
| Passengers | 631,940 | 617,810 |

GENERAL INVESTMENT NEWS.

Burlington Cedar Rapids & Northern.—At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Burlington Cedar Rapids & Northern Railroad, held in Chicago Feb. 26, four of the five retiring directors were re-elected; the fifth, John I. Cincinnati Indianapolis St. Louis & Chicago.—At the regular monthly meeting of the directors of the Cincinnati Indianapolis St. Louis & Chicago Railway Company in Cincinnati, a committee consisting of Messrs. Colorado Coal & Iron Company.—A circular has been issued to the stockholders of the company, which states that the board of directors of the company, on January 25, 1884, adopted the following resolution:

"Resolved, That in the opinion of this board it is advisable, in order to protect this company's interests, that the present board be re-elected at the next annual meeting, and the officers of this company are hereby authorized and directed to solicit proxies for that purpose."

The annual meeting will be held at Colorado Springs April 7 next.

The circular says: "The depression in market prices has been general, and furnishes no real, honest criterion as to the intrinsic value of the company's securities, its financial position or business prosperity. The annual report will approximately show that during the past year 599,000 tons of coal have been mined, as against 350,894 tons in 1881 and 512,363 tons in 1882; 125,000 tons of coke have been produced, as against 47,640 tons in 1881 and 90,256 tons in 1882. At its works at South Pueblo and Denver, it has manufactured in 1883, 25,000 tons of pig iron, 16,000 tons of steel rails, 63,000 kegs of nails, 4,500 tons of merchant bar iron, besides joints, spikes, and other products. The iron mines have shipped a total of 39,000 tons of iron ore. The company has no floating debt. And although the principal of the ten-year bonds ($1,500,000) of a predecessor company fell due at a difficult moment, before new bonds could be negotiated, that debt, with all other debts, has been paid. It is not denied that this imposed difficulties and sacrifices, but they were overcome, and

"The company has in its treasury over $400,000 of interest-paying securities, chiefly Denver & Rio Grande consols. The litigation involving our title to certain coal lands in Southern Colorado is now pending in the United States Supreme Court, where the final result is expected to be favorable." * * *

"The only perceptible cloud on the horizon is the recent attempt, on the part of the new administration of the Denver & Rio Grande Railway, to violate the long-standing contracts and time-honored policy under which both companies have grown up from their birth. Long ago, when the Denver & Rio Grande was embarrassed, it received at different times financial aid from the companies whose consolidation has formed this company, which mortgaged their properties for the purpose, and accepted, as part of the consideration, long-time contracts, solemnly executed and since repeatedly ratified by the railway stockholders, whereby, among other things, the latter promised to give us as good rates over its lines as should ever during their life-time be given any other shipper; which contracts were wise in their inception, proved to be of mutual advantage, and enabled both companies to develop their resources, and have been deemed inviolable in the past. This company, conforming to them, has given all its freight to that company and ignored competing carriers, until it became the largest customer of the railway, furnishing it over 30 per cent of its entire freight earnings. But on Jan. 7 last, in the midst of our increasing trade, an order was issued by the officers of the railway company, the effect of which was to give largely preferential rates to other shippers and, temporarily, at least, destroy all our newly-established trade in Utah, Nevada and California." * * * "When we learned of the solicitation of your proxies for a revolutionary board, we had no alternative, as your representatives, but to lay the facts before you. The issue is thus clearly made. Your board did not raise it or seek the controversy; it is thrust upon them. We sought and seek in this business only what is due to your company, to wit, 'rates never to exceed the best rates per mile given to any other company, association, or individual.'" * * * "Even if no contracts existed between the companies, their respective interests are such that, under present conditions, their management should be kept separate and independent of each other. Transfer control, and you give the administration of the railway the power to construe both sides of your contracts, or annul them if they choose; to fix prices on fuel, rails, and other material used by them, and set limits to your trade, as may seem best to subserve interests elsewhere, at your expense."

Proxies are solicited for the re-election of the present board.

Connotton Valley.—At a special meeting, held in Boston on the 21st inst., the following was adopted:

Whereas, The interest due upon the bonds of the Connotton Valley Railway is now past due and in arrears; and whereas, there has been appointed a receiver of all the said railway and property; and, whereas, action has been taken, or is about to be taken, by the bondholders for the purpose of foreclosure and sale of said railway and property; now we, the stockholders of the Connotton Valley Railway, this day assembled, do hereby constitute and appoint R. P. Ranney of Cleveland, O., H. A. Blood of Fitchburg, William Roteh, J. M. Watson and J. M. Everett of Boston a committee to act in conjunction with a committee of the bondholders for us and in our behalf, with authority to take such action as shall best secure for us our equitable and legal rights in any reorganization or sale of our railway or property, or take any action which shall stay proceedings until our rights shall be recognized. Said committee are requested to report such recommendations as they may deem advisable; and said committee are further authorized to fill any vacancy and add to their number.

The meeting then adjourned, subject to the call of the committee.

Delaware Lackawanna & Western.—At the meeting this week the following officers and directors were elected: President, Samuel Sloan; Secretary, Frederick F. Chambers; Treasurer, Frederick H. Gibbons; managers, John I. Blair, George Bliss, Percy R. Pyne, William Walter Phelps, Elias S. Higgins, Benjamin G. Clarke, Jay Gould, Sidney Dillon, Russell Sage, Edgar S. Auchincloss, Andrew T. McClintock, Abraham R. Van Nest and Gardner R. Colby. The two last named are new members of the board.

East Tenn. Virginia & Georgia.—State Treasurer Speer of Georgia has been in New York and received about $750,000 State of Georgia bonds from the East Tennessee Virginia & Georgia Railroad Company on account of the balance due from the sale of the Macon & Brunswick Railroad, now a part of the East Tennessee Virginia & Georgia system.

Flint & Pere Marquette.—This company's earnings from all sources in 1883 were $2,542,943; operating expenses and taxes, $1,735,517; net earnings, $807,426. Interest charges, $314,127, leaving for dividends, $493,299, out of which seven per cent was paid on $6,500,000 preferred stock, amounting to $455,000, and the surplus, $38,299, was added to the surplus of $35,613 from last year, making a total surplus of $73,912.

Lehigh Coal & Navigation.—In Philadelphia, February 26, at the annual meeting of this company, the President stated that the floating debt had been decreased $60,000 and $130,000 worth of scrip had been paid off out of the earnings. The proposition to dispose of 18,900 shares of the company's stock at par to extinguish the floating debt was discussed, and it was resolved to leave the time and mode of such distribution to the discretion of the Board of Managers. The following officers were elected: Board of Managers—Joseph S. Harris, President; Francis C. Yarnall, Vice-President; Edward W. Clark, Francis R Cope, Fisher Hazard, Charles Parrish, George Whitney, John Leisenring, James M. Willcox, Edward Lewis, T. Charlton Henry, and Samuel Dickson. The vacancy caused by the death of Charles Wheeler was not filled.

— The Philadelphia North American says it is reported that the Lehigh Coal & Navigation Company has extended its $800,000 floating debt at 4 per cent for one year, with the option of prolonging the period to five years. If true, this removes all necessity of issuing the 18,900 shares of stock. It is also understood that the company has arranged with the largest holders of Nesquehoning Valley stock (on which the 7 per cent guarantee under the lease expires next September) to reduce the dividend to 5 per cent after that date. The alternative of accepting this is the sale of the stock at par to the Lehigh Navigation Company. The reduction in the Lehigh's fixed charges by this operation will be nearly $26,000.

Long Island Railroad.—The lease of the Central (Stewart's) road to the Long Island Company has been extended for ten years. The road is about eleven miles long and runs from Hinsdale through Garden City to Farmingdale and Babylon.

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| Gross earnings | | $11,275,000 |
| Operating expenses (62½ per cent) | | 7,046,875 |
| Net earnings | | $4,228,125 |
| Taxes | $200,000 | |
| Interest account | 3,400,000 | 3,600,000 |
| Net | | $628,125 |
| Scrip outstanding ($3,000,000 at 6 per cent) | | 180,000 |
| Net over all | | $448,125 |

The company reports that $5,000,000 of the $8,000,000 second incomes have been converted into the general-mortgage fives, and that conversions are progressing steadily. These new fives being mortgage bonds, and amounting in all to $10,000,000, will increase the cash interest charge of the company about $500,000 per year.

New York Chicago & St. Louis.—The operations of the New York Chicago & St. Louis road for the quarter ending Dec. 31, 1883, show gross earnings, $854,000; operating expenses, $479,000; net, $375,000; other receipts, $27,500; total net, $402,500; all charges, $376,000; surplus, $26,500.

N. Y. West Shore & Buffalo.—It is reported that the new interest in this company is represented by Mr W. H. Osborne, formerly President of Illinois Central, and that he was prominent in drawing up the financial plan. Last week the road averaged 195 through east-bound pasengers daily from Buffalo to New York. The Grand Trunk on Sunday delivered West Shore 56 through freight cars from Chicago. In the first 15 days of February, West Shore earned enough to pay operating expenses for 26 days. The Financial Record says: "Attention is called to the point that 10 per cent of the original 1881 subscription to $16,000,000 West Shore bonds has not been called, and inquiries as to when the call would be issued have been met by the answer that due notice would be given. On payment of this 10 per cent 20 per cent of the bonds and all the stock on the subscription are deliverable. This 10 per cent would give the company $1,600,000 cash. The injunction against the North River Company prevents the calling of the 10 per cent and the delivery of the bonds and stock."

Norfolk & Western.—The earnings and expenses for January, 1883 and 1884, have been as follows:

| | 1884. | 1883. | Increase in 1884. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Gross earnings.... | $213,020 | $200,487 | Inc., $12,533=6 per cent. |
| Expenses..... | 129,647 | 122,603 | Inc., 7,044=6 per cent. |
| Net earnings.... | $83,372 | $77,884 | Inc., $5,488=7 per cent. |

—The Virginia & Tennessee Enlarged Mortgage bonds for $990,000, which mature July 1, 1884, have been extended for thirty years, at 5 per cent. This was done in place of issuing a like amount of the general mortgage sixes, the company thus saving the difference in interest.

Northern Central.—The comparative statement of gross earnings and expenses for January, 1883 and 1884, is as follows:

| | Jan., 1884. | Jan., 1883. |
|---|---|---|
| Gross earnings | $409,845 | $499,252 |
| Operating expenses | $244,794 | $282,925 |
| Extraordinary expenses | 28,259 | 58,108 |
| Total expenses | $273,053 | $341,033 |
| Net earnings | $136,792 | $158,219 |

Ohio & Mississippi.—The directors of this railroad have issued the following in regard to the new bonds:

"Cincinnati, O., Feb. 25, 1884.

"At the meeting of the directors of the Ohio & Mississippi Railway Company, held in this city to-day, resolutions were passed by a very decided majority authorizing the Executive and Finance committees to dispose of the new five-per cent-mortgage bonds of the company to the extent necessary to pay off all arrears of indebtedness, so as to release the railway and other property from the custody of the courts and put the company again in control. Strong confidence was expressed by the committee of their ability to place the bonds with very little delay, and provision was made for an early application to the court for the proper order to restore the railway to the company and for the settlement of the Receiver's accounts. It is believed this valuable property will soon be again operated free from the restrictions which necessarily trammel the Receiver and enable its managers to place it in a strong and independent attitude, so as to command the traffic to which the line is fairly entitled."

The Commercial-Gazette of Cincinnati says: "The $3,000,000 of the bonds are to be placed at a limit of 80 cents, and the B. & O. stands ready to take the lion's share at that figure. The commission is not to exceed 2½ per cent."

Pennsylvania Railroad.—The gross and net earnings in Jan., 1883 and 1884, are specially compiled for the Chronicle in the table below. In January, 1884, there was a decrease of $355,124 in gross earnings and a decrease of $304,922 in the net. On all the lines east and west of Pittsburg the net returns show a decrease of $633,288 in January, 1884, compared with January, 1883.

As to the lines west of Pittsburg and Erie, the monthly reports issued in 1883 and for the current year show the results below. The company's returns, however, state a loss for January in the present year compared with January, 1883, of $328,366.

The gross receipts of the Philadelphia & Reading Coal & Iron Co. in January were $979,019 and net loss $91,666. The total receipts of both companies together (not including Central of New Jersey, leased) for each month of the fiscal years 1882-3 and 1883-4 were as follows:

The Commercial Times.

COMMERCIAL EPITOME.

Friday Night, Feb. 29, 1884.

The weather for the past week was generally favorable to trade till toward the close, when it turned excessively cold, snow falling as far south as central Mississippi. The floods in the Mississippi Valley have risen to such height as to do some damage, but no serious or general overflow has occurred, and none is now apprehended. Depression has again prevailed on the Stock Exchange, and its influence has been felt to some extent in mercantile circles, speculative prices of several staple products having materially declined. The regular spring business opens with a fair degree of activity.

There has been severe depression in the lard speculation, in sympathy with a selling movement at the West, but to-day there was a stronger, though quiet market, the decline being partially recovered, with a firm closing at 9·77@9·80c. for March, 9·83@9·85c. for April, 9·90@9·92c. for May, 9·95@9·97c. for June and 9·96@10c. for July. Lard on the spot closes nearly nominal at 9·75@9·80c. prime Western, and 10@10·05c. for refined for the Continent. Pork is very dull at $18 for mess. Bacon quoted nominal at 9¾c. for long clear. Cut meats are quiet; pickled bellies 8¾@9⅛c.; do. hams, 12@12¼c.; do. shoulders, 8¼@8½c. Beef dull; extra mess $12@$13, and packet $13 50 per bbl.; India mess $24@$26 per tierce. Tallow 7⅛c. for prime; stearine 10@10⅛c. Butter firm at 16@37c. for common to choice. Cheese in good demand at 11@15c. for State factory.

Rio coffee has been quiet as a rule and closed weak at 12½c. for fair, though sales were at one time made at 12¾c.; options were rather quiet until to-day, when the transactions were liberal, though at some decline; March and April both closed at 10·80@10 85c., May at 10·85@10·90c., June at 10·90@10·95c., July at 10·95@11c. and August at 11@11·05c. Mild grades have been quiet and closed weak. Tea has at times been quite active at very firm prices, but the trade has decreased within a few days, both on speculation and for consumption; Japan sold to-day at 29½@29¾c. for March, 31⅞@32c. for April and 33¼@33⅜c. for May, while black sold at 25c. for March, 36c. for April and 37¼@37¾c. for May; Japan closed steady, but black, though firm on the spot, was weak for future delivery. Rice has shown no change. Refining molasses has declined to 2¼c. for 50-degrees test; grocery grades have sold fairly at about steady prices. Raw sugar has been dull, weak and nominal, and at the close 6 11-16c. was quoted for fair refining, though this figure could not be obtained; 96-degrees test centrifugal was nominal at 6⅝c.; refined has been dull and lower; crushed, powdered and cut loaf closed at 7¾c., and granulated at 7⅝c. Spices have been quiet and foreign fruits dull and generally weak, though prunes have been steady.

The movement in Kentucky tobacco has latterly been very moderate, but holders maintain firm figures; lugs quoted 7¼@8c.; leaf, 8@11½c; sales for the month, 1,927 hhds., of which 878 were for export, 406 to jobbers and 643 to manufacturers. Seed leaf has continued slow, but all prices remain steady; sales for the week, 950 cases, including 200 cases crop 1882 Penn., 10@20c.; 400 cases crop 1881, Penn., 6@10c; 200 cases crop 1881, New England, 11@25c.; 150 cases sundries, 4@18c., and 500 bales Havana 80c.@$1 15; also 150 bales Sumatra, $1 20@$1 50.

There has been little or nothing done in naval stores, but holders have maintained a firm front; spirits turpentine is held at 36c. and strained to good strained rosins $1 48@$1 50. Refined petroleum has been dull until to-day, when a better tone was noticed, and 25,000 bbls. 70 Abel test for the first half of March delivery sold at 8⅝c. Crude oil certificates have also assumed a brighter position; there were sales to-day at $1 00⅞@$1 02½, and the close was at $1 02⅜. In metals little has been done, but iron remains quite firm; steel rails receive some attention at $34@$35, deliverable at the mills. Oils are quiet but firm. Wool and hops are quite neglected.

The week in ocean freight circles has been quite indifferent. The movement has been a trifle better, but rates have shown a disposition to assume a lower plane. To-day grain to Liverpool by steam was taken at 1¾d.; flour, 12s. 6d.; bacon, 15s.; cheese, 20s.; cotton, ⅛d.; grain to London by steam, 2½d.; do. to Copenhagen by steam, 2s. 3d. per qr.; refined petroleum to Calcutta in cases, 21c. There were no charters of barrel petroleum, and rates at the moment are little more than nominal.

FRIDAY, P. M., February 29, 1884.

THE MOVEMENT OF THE CROP, as indicated by our telegrams from the South to-night, is given below. For the week ending this evening (Feb. 29) the total receipts have reached 76,487 bales, against 65,013 bales last week, 105,921 bales the previous week and 111,481 bales three weeks since; making the total receipts since the 1st of September, 1883, 4,340,218 bales, against 4,901,714 bales for the same period of 1882-83, showing a decrease since September 1, 1883, of 561,496 bales.

The speculation in futures has been only moderately active and prices, without fluctuating widely, have been variable and unsettled. Receipts at the ports were larger on Saturday and Monday, but have latterly again become small. Business in some of the Southern markets has been partially interrupted by Mardi-Gras festivities, and the Liverpool market has been dull and unsettled. Prices on our Cotton Exchange were without much change, but made considerable advance on Monday and a further improvement on Tuesday, but declined slightly on Wednesday and Thursday. The advance of Monday and Tuesday was taken advantage of by many distrustful holders to "unload." To-day the opening was dull and unsettled, with some depression at mid-day, but there was a rally at the close, which was slightly dearer than yesterday, and as compared with last Thursday 5@9 points dearer for this crop and 7@8 points dearer for the next. Cotton on the spot has been quiet, but holders have shown strength, and quotations were advanced 1-16c. on Tuesday and again on Wednesday. To-day there was no change and the close was quiet at 10 7/8c. for middling uplands.

The total sales for forward delivery for the week are 397,500 bales. For immediate delivery the total sales foot up this week 3,027 bales, including 300 for export, 2,017 for consumption, 710 for speculation and — in transit. Of the above, — — bales were to arrive. The following are the official quotations for each day of the past week.

THE VISIBLE SUPPLY OF COTTON to-night, as made up by cable and telegraph, is as follows. The Continental stocks, as well as those for Great Britain and the afloat, are this week's returns, and consequently all the European figures are brought down to Thursday evening. But to make the totals the complete figures for to-night (Feb. 29), we add the item of exports from the United States, including in it the exports of Friday only.

The above figures indicate an increase in the cotton in sight to-night of 46,066 bales as compared with the same date of 1883, an increase of 158,541 bales as compared with the corresponding date of 1882 and an increase of 305,358 bales as compared with 1881.

AT THE INTERIOR TOWNS the movement—that is the receipts for the week and since Sept. 1, the shipments for the week, and the stocks to-night, and the same items for the corresponding period of 1882-83—is set out in detail in the following statement:

RECEIPTS FROM THE PLANTATIONS.—The following table is prepared for the purpose of indicating the actual movement each week from the plantations. Receipts at the outports are sometimes misleading, as they are made up more largely one year than another at the expense of the interior stocks. We reach therefore, a safer conclusion through a comparative statement like the following. In reply to frequent inquiries we will add that these figures, of course, do not include overland receipts or Southern consumption; they are simply a statement of the weekly movement from the plantations of that part of the crop which finally reaches the market through the out-ports.

The above statement shows—1. That the total receipts from the plantations since September 1, 1883, were 4,518,327 bales; in 1882-83 were 5,193,646 bales; in 1881-82 were 4,356,135 bales.

2.—That, although the receipts at the out-ports the past week were 76,487 bales, the actual movement from plantations was only 49,302 bales, the balance being taken from the stocks at the interior towns. Last year the receipts from the plantations for the same week were 122,314 bales and for 1882 they were 32,622 bales.

|---|---|---|---|---|
| Interior stocks on Feb. 29 in excess of September 1 | 178,109 | 291,932 | 297,647 | 283,620 |
| Tot. receipts from plantat'ns | 4,518,327 | 5,193,646 | 4,356,135 | 4,953,706 |
| Net overland to February 1 | 414,671 | 472,320 | 337,278 | 374,919 |
| Southern consumpt'n to Feb. 1 | 150,000 | 160,000 | 125,000 | 110,000 |
| Total in sight February 29 | 5,112,998 | 5,825,966 | 4,818,413 | 5,438,625 |

It will be seen by the above that the decrease in amount in sight to-night, as compared with last year, is 712,968 bales, the increase as compared with 1881-82 is 294,585 bales, and the decrease from 1880-81 is 325,627 bales.

WEATHER REPORTS BY TELEGRAPH.—In general the weather has been favorable at the South during the week. In Texas, farming operations are becoming active. The Mississippi River is very high at some points; our Memphis correspondent reports it at eleven inches above the danger line and stationary, and from Helena our advices are that it has risen, and is still rising rapidly. The Red River has overflowed at Shreveport, and many plantations are under water.

Galveston, Texas.—It has rained on two days of the week, the rainfall reaching thirteen hundredths of an inch. Average thermometer 59, highest 75 and lowest 37. During the month of February the rainfall reached eighty-nine hundredths of an inch.

Indianola, Texas.—We have had no rain during the week. There are indications of an early spring; farmers are busy plowing. The thermometer has averaged 59, the highest being 73 and the lowest 39. Rainfall during February, fifty-eight hundredths of an inch.

Palestine, Texas.—It has rained on two days of the week, the rainfall reaching nine hundredths of an inch. There have been two killing frosts. Planting preparations are active. The thermometer has averaged 55, ranging from 28 to 75. February rainfall, one inch and seventy-eight hundredths.

New Orleans, Louisiana.—It has rained on two days of the week, the rainfall reaching eighty-two hundredths of an inch. The thermometer has averaged 61.

Shreveport, Louisiana.—The weather has been in general clear with a light rain on Wednesday, the rainfall reaching twenty-two hundredths of an inch. The water is stationary. Nearly all river plantations for 100 miles above the city are under water; below the city the flooded district extends 90 miles, and on the west side all except a few elevated places are covered. On the east side the banks are higher and the country is not so badly overflowed, although several plantations on that side are under water. The loss to the planters in houses, fences and stock is large. The thermometer has ranged from 28 to 75.

Vicksburg, Mississippi.—It was showery on one day during the early part of the week but the latter portion has been cold, dry and pleasant. The rainfall reached thirty-one hundredths of an inch. The weather has been too cold, there having been frost, but not killing frost. The river is forty-five feet above low-water mark. The thermometer has ranged from 30 to 71.

Meridian, Mississippi.—Telegram not received.

Greenville, Mississippi.—Telegram not received.

Columbus, Mississippi.—It has rained on two days of the week, the rainfall reaching one inch and five hundredths. February rainfall, eleven inches and fifty-one hundredths.

Little Rock, Arkansas.—It has been cloudy, with snow on one day and rain on three days of the week, and the remainder of the week has been fair to clear and cool. The rainfall reached one inch and six hundredths. Average thermometer 41, highest 61 and lowest 18. It rained on fifteen days during February, and the rainfall reached nine inches and three hundredths. The thermometer averaged 44 and ranged from 18 to 70.

Pine Bluff, Arkansas.—We have had rain on two days, and the remainder of the week has been pleasant. The rainfall reached one inch and ten hundredths. Ice formed on two nights. The thermometer has averaged 44, the highest being 64 and the lowest 21.

Fort Smith, Arkansas.—We have had rain on two days and snow on one day of the week, the rainfall reaching forty-one hundredths of an inch. Roads are becoming passable. The thermometer has averaged 40, ranging from 18 to 68.

Helena, Arkansas.—It has rained on two days and has been cloudy on two days of the week, the rainfall reaching one inch and sixty-eight hundredths. The river has risen ten inches in twenty-four hours, and is now rising at the rate of half an inch an hour. It is feared that we will see the highest water known, which will do great damage all the way to the Gulf. The thermometer has ranged from 20 to 68, averaging 36.

Monticello, Arkansas.—Telegram not received.

Newport, Arkansas.—It has rained on one day of the week, the rainfall reaching ten hundredths of an inch. The weather has been too cold. The thermometer has ranged from 24 to 70, averaging 35.

Memphis, Tennessee.—We have had rain on five days of the week, the rainfall reaching one inch and ninety-nine hundredths. The weather is now clear and cold. The river is eleven inches over the danger line and stationary. The thermometer has averaged 45, the highest being 61 and the lowest 22·5.

The following statement we have also received by telegraph, showing the height of the rivers at the points named at 3 o'clock February 28, 1884, and March 1, 1883.

| | | Feb. 28, '84. | | Mch. 1, '83. | |

New Orleans reported below high-water mark of 1871 until Sept. 9, 1874, when the zero of gauge was changed to high-water mark of April 15 and 16, 1874, which is 6-10ths of a foot above 1871, or 16 feet above low-water mark at that point.

India Cotton Movement from all Ports.—We have re-arranged our India service so as to make our reports more detailed and at the same time more accurate. We had found it impossible to keep out of our figures, as cabled to us for the ports other than Bombay, cargoes which proved on to be shipments from one India port to another. The plan now followed relieves us from the danger of this inaccuracy and keeps the totals correct. We first give the Bombay statement for the week and year, bringing the figures down to February 28.

BOMBAY RECEIPTS AND SHIPMENTS FOR FOUR YEARS.

| Year | Shipments this week. | | | Shipments since Jan. 1. | | | Receipts. | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | Great Brit'n. | Continent. | Total. | Great Britain | Continent. | Total. | This Week. | Since Jan. 1. |
| 1884 | 19,000 | 36,000 | 55,000 | 107,000 | 136,000 | 243,000 | 42,000 | 348,000 |
| 1883 | 18,000 | 58,000 | 76,000 | 84,000 | 158,000 | 242,000 | 68,000 | 400,000 |

| 1881 | 15,000 | 29,000 | 44,000 | 55,000 | 98,000 | 153,000 | 34,000 | 238,000 |

According to the foregoing, Bombay appears to show a decrease compared with last year in the week's receipts of 26,000 bales, and an decrease in shipments of 21,000 bales, and the shipments since January 1 show an increase of 1,000 bales. The movement at Calcutta, Madras and other India ports for the last reported week and since the 1st of January, for two years has been as follows. "Other ports" cover Ceylon, Tuticorin, Kurrachee and Coconada.

| | Shipments for the week. | | | Shipments since January 1. | | |

| 1883 | 1,000 | ..... | 1,000 | 47,000 | 10,800 | 57,800 |

EXPORTS TO EUROPE FROM ALL INDIA.

| Shipments to all Europe from— | 1884. | | 1883. | | 1882. | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|

| Total | 65,500 | 297,000 | 77,000 | 299,800 | 87,600 | 399,700 |

This last statement affords a very interesting comparison of the total movement for the three years at all India ports.

Alexandria Receipts and Shipments.—Through arrangements we have made with Messrs. Davies, Benachi & Co., of Liverpool and Alexandria, we now receive a weekly cable of the movements of cotton at Alexandria, Egypt. The following are the receipt and shipments for the past week and for the corresponding week of the previous two years.

This statement shows that the receipts for the week ending Feb. 27 were 34,000 cantars and the shipments to all Europe 8,000 bales.

The New York Cotton Exchange.—The corner stone of the new Exchange was laid last Monday. Mr. Walter T. Miller, the chairman or the Building Committee, deposited a box containing various documents relative to the Exchange, several newspapers, coins, &c., and stated in a short address to the members present that the Committee had decided to postpone more formal ceremonies until completion of the building, which might take rather more than a year. The light colored stone of the lower part of the structure is carried high enough to give a good idea of its effect, and meets with general approval. A seat offered for sale at auction on 26th inst. realized $2,750.

East India Crop.—From Messrs. Wallace & Co.'s cotton report, dated Bombay, Jan. 25, we have the following:

"Advices from Oomrawuttee continue unfavorable as to the out-turn and quality of this crop, and, judging from present small arrivals, it is the general impression that in both respects the crop will be disappointing. There are, however, a few very nice parcels classing between 'good' and 'fine' to be picked up every now and then, for which fancy prices are asked. Recent rains in the Oomrawuttee districts have caused further damage, and it is now expected that the second pickings will also suffer to some extent from stain. How far this report will be borne out cannot be ascertained till the second crop commences to arrive, by end of February. Rain has also fallen in the Broach and Dhollerah districts, but very slightly, and it will be, if anything, beneficial to these crops. It is still maintained by some authorities that neither the Broach nor Dhollerah crops will exceed last year's yield, but even assuming that there will be no falling off in these growths, looking to the undoubted deficiency in the quality of Oomrawuttee descriptions available this season, it seems very unlikely that the exports from Bombay to Europe for the half-year ending June 30th will be so large as last year, the probability being that one million bales is as much as they are likely to total."

Jute Butts, Bagging, &c.—There has not been any change in the position of bagging since our last report, and the market is rather quiet. Buyers are only supplying their present wants and are not disposed to lay in stocks at present figures. Sellers continue firm, however, and no shading is being done, the market closing with 9½c. for 1¾ lbs., 10c. for 1¾ lbs., 10¾c. for 2 lbs. and 11½c. for standard grades, the asking quotations. Butts have been rather dull and prices are rather nominal, though not quotably changed. There have been several arrivals during the week, part of which were placed previously and the balance goes into store. The close is quiet, with sellers naming 2⅜@2½c. for paper grades and 2¾@2⅞c. for bagging quality.

Comparative Port Receipts and Daily Crop Movement.—A comparison of the port movement by weeks is not accurate as the weeks in different years do not end on the same day of the month. We have consequently added to our other standing tables a daily and monthly statement, that the reader may constantly have before him the data for seeing the exact relative movement for the years named. The movement each month since September 1, 1883, has been as follows.

| Monthly Receipts. | Year Beginning September 1. | | | | | |

| Per'tage of tot. port receipts Jan. 31 | 70·89 | | 79·27 | 68·53 | 75·34 | 73·52 |

This statement shows that up to Jan. 31 the receipts at the ports this year were 401,923 bales less than in 1882 and 226,117 bales more than at the same time in 1881. By adding to the above totals to Jan. 31 the daily receipts since that time, we shall be able to reach an exact comparison of the movement for the different years.

We add to the table the percentages of total port receipts which had been received to February 29 in each of the years named.

BREADSTUFFS.

FRIDAY, P. M., Feb. 29, 1884

Flour has been in rather better demand and prices have advanced. The rise is due more, however, to the comparative scarcity of flour than to any other influence. There is no activity in any description. Buyers prefer winter wheat flour, and of this there is only a moderate supply. The stock of spring wheat grades, moreover, if being steadily reduced, and it is now by no means excessive. To-day there was a moderate trade at steady prices.

Wheat has been very quiet for export, and still only moderately active on speculation. Options have therefore declined, despite the efforts of the bulls here and at the West to sustain prices. Both here and at Chicago the trading has been largely among brokers. The dulness of the export trade is a heavy weight on the market, and tends to discourage speculation, while the unusually large supply in this country likewise exerts a more or less depressing influence. The supply in Chicago on the 23d inst., for example, was 13,102,000 bushels, against only 5,999,000 bushels on the same date last year and 3,774,000 bushels in 1882. At other important centres of the grain trade the stock is relatively quite as liberal, and it is well known that Europe is abundantly supplied. The course of the market latterly has not been steadily downward, however, as the covering of shorts has enabled the bulls to occasionally advance prices a fraction; and in Chicago it is asserted that the market has been over-sold. The weather has been in the main favorable. To-day there was a moderate business at a slight advance. No. 2 red closed to-day at $1 13¼ in elevator, $1 08 for March, $1 10⅜ for April, $1 12½ for May and $1 13½ for June, showing a decline for the week of ½c. to ¾c.

Indian corn has been easier and very quiet both for export and on speculation. The trading in options has, in fact, been trifling compared with the transactions of active times. On several days the sales here have not much exceeded half a million bushels. There is little disposition to speculate largely either here or at Chicago. The visible supply in this country is not much larger than at this time last year and, compared with that held at this date in 1882 and 1881, it is an important item smaller; but it is none the less true that it is more than ample for the existing wants of the trade, and it is, moreover, slowly increasing. At Chicago indeed the stock is still much larger than for some years past. The feeling everywhere is feverish and distrustful. There is a disposition to await the course of events before embarking on what seem hazardous speculations on either side of the market. Some consider that the largeness of the supply is offset by the fact that little of the corn coming to market is of contract grade. Others think Europe will want much less than usual of our cereals this year. To-day there was light trade at a fractional advance. No. 2 mixed closed at [illegible]½c. in elevator, 62½c. for March, 63⅝c. for April, 64⅞c. for May and 65⅜c. for June, showing in most cases a trifling decline, though cash and March are slightly higher.

Rye has advanced, while barley has declined. Both have sold fairly. Oats have been very dull, and show a slight decline for the week. To-day No. 2 mixed sold at 40⅜@40½c. for March, 41½c. for April and 42⅛c for May.

THE DRY GOODS TRADE.

FRIDAY, P. M., Feb. 29, 1884.

The past week has developed few new features of special interest in the dry goods trade, and the general situation is unchanged. There was a fair representation of wholesale clothiers in the market, who placed some pretty good orders for clothing woolens; but otherwise business ruled quiet with the commission houses, and the demand for foreign goods failed to realize expectations. The jobbing trade was spasmodic and irregular, owing to the stormy condition of the weather which existed at times, but a fair aggregate distribution of staple and department goods was made in this connection, and retailers from all parts of the country are arriving in such force that an active business is expected by jobbers in the near future. There was a slight shrinkage in values of printing cloths, because of the comparative failure of the strike among the Fall River operatives; but in other respects the tone of the market was steady.

DOMESTIC COTTON GOODS.—The exports of cotton goods for the week were 2,409 packages, including 651 to U. S. of Colombia, 418 to Brazil, 409 to Argentine Republic, 348 to Hayti, 292 to Great Britain, 113 to Mexico, &c. There was a continued light demand for plain and colored cottons at first hands, and the jobbing trade was moderate. The best brands of brown sheetings remain steady in price, but some makes adapted to conversion purposes are a trifle easier, in sympathy with print cloths. Bleached cottons and wide sheetings were in moderate request by package buyers, and most descriptions of colored cottons ruled quiet but unchanged. White goods were in steady request and firm. Print cloths remained dull, and prices are lower (owing to an accumulation of stocks on hand), closing at 3⅛c for 64x64s and 3 1-16@3⅛c. for 56x60s. Prints were quiet as regards fancy styles, but indigo blues, shirtings, fine sateens and furnitures were fairly active, and a good business was done in dress ginghams, chambrays, seersuckers and wash fabrics, by the principal jobbers.

DOMESTIC WOOLEN GOODS.—There was a slight change for the better in the demand for men's-wear woolens by the clothing trade, some fair orders for all-wool and cotton-warp cassimeres, worsteds, overcoatings, &c., having been placed for future delivery. There was, however, an evident reluctance on the part of buyers to take hold with their customary freedom, owing in a measure to the uncertainty in regard to the probable action of Congress upon the tariff question. Ladies' cloths, tricots, &c, were in moderate request, and a fairly active business was done in Jersey cloths. Satinets and Kentucky jeans have not shown much animation in first hands, but fair sales of the latter were reported by jobbers. For all-wool and worsted dress goods a steady demand was experienced by agents, and the jobbing trade was of very fair proportions. Carpets were less active, but prices remain steady.

FOREIGN DRY GOODS.—The jobbing trade in foreign fabrics was more active at times, but the business done by importers was restricted in volume, the tariff agitation having rendered buyers very cautious. Silks ruled quiet, and prices are low and unsatisfactory to importers. Dress goods were in irregular demand, but mostly sluggish, and there was a limited inquiry for housekeeping linens; but specialties in white goods, embroideries and laces were in steady request.
